"It was one of those things," said one Mrs. Weidler. "Our families weren't acquainted.'

"But they are now," she quipped.

The Weidlers get along so well they even have a joint bank account. The brothers deposit the money and all four write checks.

It's probably just as well that way. How could the bankers tell them apart.

Indiana Toll Road Commission Plans To Auction Houses

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—The Indiana Toll Road Commission planned today to sell "a million dollars worth" of houses at public auction because a section of the east-west toll road was relocated.

Spokesmen said the property represent 54 houses bought for $1,022,483 in the Calumet area.

The owners were paid for the homes as land acquisition agents bought right-of-way through Lake County. Later, a six-mile section was relocated and the commission found it didn't need the 54 houses after all.

The commission will lose on the deal because most of the homes won't command as much money as their owners received, spokesmen conceded. However, they emphasized their belief the loss will be more than offset by savings made because of the relocation.

No One Seems Able To Understand The Kids These Days

GENEVA (UP)—No one seems to be able to understand kids these days.

Take the United States. It has the highest standard of living in the world. Junior has a television set, good clothes, a nice home, plenty of sports equipment and maybe his own or use of the family car.

Hardly a finger is laid upon him—psychiatrists have convinced his parents he will grow up to hate them if they do.

So the United States has one of the highest—if not the highest—juvenile delinquency rates in the world.

Now take Britain. It was bombed heavily in the last war, which the United States was not. It is only now beginning to emerge into some reasonable form of prosperity. Its parents are pretty strict and in school the teacher can use stick on pupils if he thinks it necessary.

YET England's juvenile delinquency rate keeps dropping while America's keeps soaring.

It's pretty much as baffling a problem in the rest of the world, too. So next Monday some 500 experts from 59 countries are meeting under United Nations auspices here to study the causes, the symptoms and the possible cure of juvenile delinquency.

The meeting is officially the first United Nations world congress on the prevention of crime and the treatment of offenders.

It will also discuss treatment of prisoners, training of prison officials and types of prisons.

The United Nations has gathered a library-full of reports on juvenile delinquency. There are many other documents drafted by specialized agencies.

While these reports will be secret until the congress, the contents of some of them are known.

In countries with a very high standard of living such as the United States, prosperity itself tends to pull apart the family: Both parents may be working and the natural cohesion of the family has to compete with such attractions as television, the theatre, films. the automobile and all the other forms of recreation available to children from the age of 14 up.

It's natural for parents to want their children to have as much as possible out of life, but at what point does indulgence begin to breed juvenile delinquency? the congress hopes it will produce some guidance for parents.

In countries such as Spain, France and Italy children do not have the advantages of the American child. This leads to increased dependence on the family. But is this the reason their delinqunecy rate is lower? Superficially that seems to be so but again the congress will try to reach some helpful conclusion.

Doctor Predicts Cure For Cancer By Year 1975

FREDERICTON, N.BB. (UP) — There will be a cure for cancer by 1975, Dr. B.R. Baker of the Southern Research Institute at Birmingham, Ala., predicted Wednesday night.

"Drugs for the cure of the major types of cancer will be found within the next 20 years," Baker told the seventh summer seminar on the chemistry of natural products at the University of New Brunswick.

He said chemotherapy, the cure of diseases by drug treatment, should be applied to cancer as it had been "outstandingly successful' against such bacterial diseases as pneumonia and tuberculosis.

"With the advent of sulfa drugs and the antibiotics, one rarely dies from pneumonia today," he said. "The strides in TB treatment have been so great that many of our important sanitoriums have been closing their doors for lack of sufficent patients."

New Polio Cases Reported Last Week Jump 26 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U.S. Public Health Service said today that the number of new polio cases reported last week jumped 26 per cent over the previous week.

The service also noted a rapid increase in the disease's incidence in Wisconsin in additon to Massachusetts, which has been hit by an epidemic.

It said that 1,781 new cases were reported last week as compared to 1,412 in the previous week. This total, however, was 6 per cent less than the 1,904 reported for the comparable week last year. No reports were received from Vermont and Wyoming.

In the four weeks ended Aug. 13, the service said the number of polio cases increased rapidly in Wisconsin. The state reported, 40, 56, 105, and 135 new cases in the four weeks.

It said that the highest attack rates have been in Outagamie County (Pop. 82000) in which the rate is about 130 per 100,000 population. The service said this is far in excess of the rates for any of the counties in Massachusetts.

"While a considerable number of cases have occurred in Milwaukee,' the service said, "the number reported does not suggest epidemic proportions."

Although Massachusetts reported a 30 per cent increase in new cases last week, the state's Department of Public Health said there was little extension of the disease.

The 411 new cases reported occurred principally in communities which had been involved in previous weeks.

The service said the 158 paralytic and 141 non-paralytic polio cases among Salk-vaccinated persons have been reported.

The number of polio cases for the year stood at 9,720 as compared to 12,695 last year; the number reported in the disease year, beginning April 1, was 8,657 compared to 11,142 in the same period last year.

Rain Cuts Speech

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UP) — Russell K. Britton, director of instruction in the Denver city school system cut short his outdoor commencement address at Colorado A&M College Friday when rain began falling.

"This is a state institution," he said, "but we don't believe in soaking the public."

2 Deaths, 3 Injuries Among Teen-Age Squirrel Hunters

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Two deaths and at least three injuries among teen-age squirrel hunters in the first five days of the 1955 season are causing concern among Indiana conservation officials. They pleaded with parents not to let their children go hunting without being accompanied by an adult.

"Very few boys 12 to 15 years old are capable of handling a gun without supervision," said State Conservation Director Harley Hook.

Hook added that most youths do not realize that a gun is a deadly weapon. He said the hunter "can become the victim if he has had no training or supervision in the use of firearms."

The first teen-age death of the 1955 season was Richard Marietta, 15, Blanford. He was killed Aug. 13, opening day of the season, when a 13-year-old hunting companion accidently shot him through the heart with a shotgun.

Robert Baker, also 15, Seymour, died Tuesday when a rifle he was loading in his home discharged and a bullet struck him in the temple. He was alone at the time.

Three youths have been reported wounded while hunting without supervision.

Gerald Minnich, 15, Veedersburg, was wounded severely in the knee when a shotgun in the hands of his 16-year-old brother was accidently discharged.

Kurt Jones, 14, Taylorsville, lost part of a finger when he was toying with a shotgun in the woods near his home.

Robert Haas, 13, Huntingburg, suffered a broken leg when his 14-year-old cousin shot at a squirrel on the ground and the bullet struck Haas.

Disease Threatens Many Flood Devastated Northeast Towns

COMES OF AGE—This informal portrait of Britain's Princess Margaret, with her pet dog, was taken by photographer Cecil Beaton in the garden of Clarence House, London, in honor of her 25th birthday. In royal circles, a princess "comes of age" when she is 25. Margaret's coming of age takes on added import because of much speculation regarding her choice of a husband. At 25, she is free to marry without the Queen's consent, providing she gives Parliament a year's notice and no objection is raised in Parliament.

French Troops Destroy Nine Arab Villages, The Centers Of Uprisings

ALGIERS, Algeria (UP) — French troops today destroyed nine Arab villages described as centers of violent Nationalist uprisings which have bathed the French North African empire in blood.

French authorities set the tentative death toll in the weekend massacres, riots and disorders at a minimum of 834. They said 584 were known dead in Algeria, 24 in Morocco and 1 in Tunisia.

The destroyed villages were evacuated of all women and children before the French blasted them to bits with shells and applied the torch.

Fears were expressed that the death toll would rise well above 1,000.

Today marked the start of the Arab new year, the 1,333rd anniversary of the Hegiria, the flight of the prophet Mohammed from Mecca, and there were fears the date might signal more of the uprisings which brought consternation to a shocked French government.

The start of the Arab new year, coinciding with the second anniversary of the French ouster of the sultan of Morocco, brought a weekend bloodbath that flooded through Morocco and Algeria and overflowed into selfgoverning Tunisia, the international port of Tongier and Spanish Morocco.

It was the worst uprising in Morocco since France took over Morocco 44 years ago and the worst

President Plans To Study Flood Reports, Speech

Prepares For Conference With Lewis Strauss

DENVER (UP)—A tanned and relaxed President Eisenhower returned to chores at his summer White House offices at Lowry Air Force Base today after temporarily abandoning his mountain vacation retreat near Fraser, Colo.

The President studied a revised draft of a speech scheduled before the American Bar Association in Philadelphia Wednesday, poured over accounts of flood ravages in the East, and prepared for a conference with Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The President planned to get in a round of golf at the Cherry Hills Country Club before tackling correspondence which piled up during his five-day trip to Fraser.

Mr. Eisenhower motored back to Denver late Sunday after a five-day stay at the Byers Peak Ranch of Denver businessman Aksel Nielsen on the western slope of the Rockies. He was accompanied by his grandson, David, 7.

Strauss was to arrive late today to give the Chief Executive a first-hand report on the recent Atoms For Peace conference at Geneva Strauss was not expected to see the President until Tuesday, but will fly back to Wasnington with Mr. Eisenhower then to confer during the five-hour plane trip.

The arrival of Strauss gave rise to speculation the Philadelphia speech might include some reference to the Geneva conference.

The President will leave for Washington Tuesday morning and confer there with State Secretary John Foster Dulles on the international situation. He will spend the night in the White House, then fly to Philadelphia Wednesday morning for the speech.

Mrs. Eisenhower, who rested at their Gettysburg farm under doctors' orders this week, was to meet the President at Washington for the trip back to Denver Wednesday night.

First Annual Shrine Horse Show Is Well Attended; Large Number Of Horses Entered

The First Annual Shrine Horse Show at the show grounds north on State Road 9 was well attended Saturday. A large number of horses were entered in the show, but officials believed earlier advertising could have created more interest among owners.

Most of the horses entered were from stables of Ohio and Indiana, but one horse came from as far west as Oregon. The time limit prevented other distant owners from attending the show.

A sparse crowd of a few hundred persons were on hand when the show started Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. There were slightly more persons at the afternoon show at 1 p.m. A sizeable crowd was present for the evening performance beginning at 7 p.m.

Trophies, Prizes Given

Winners in the morning classes were presented with trophies and ribbons; the first five places being considered. Winners in the afternoon and evening were awarded cash prizes of $15, $10, $5, $3, and $2 for the first five places, except in the first two events in the afternoon. In the Pet Pony Under 48 Inches and the Children's Flag Race events, the fifth-place winer received a ribbon.

Only one entry was judged in the Arabian model class in the morning, since it was the only one present; only two entries competed in the American Saddle Bred event. Event number 9, Five Gaited, and Event number 27, Fancy Turn Out, both were eliminated because of insufficient interest.

The show under the auspices of the Indiana Saddle Horse Association was sponsored by the Mizpah Shrine Mounted Patrol.

Judges were Paul J. Schuh, Lafayette, for the Western Division; and Warren Godby, Perryville, Ky., for the English Division.

The show was opened in the morning by the entrance of the color guard carried by the Junior Three River Saddle Club, Fort Wayne. The Allen County Sheriff's Posse performance was a colorful attraction midway in the evening program of the show.

The first-place winners in each event are listed below:

Arabian: Sham, shown by Jim Dunmate, Fort Wayne, was the only entry in the Arabian model class and was awarded first place.

American Saddle Bred: First place Genius Golden Knight, shown by Mrs. M. K. Warner, Fort Wayne; Second place Lady Slipper, Dale Lockwood, Auburn; only

President, Dulles Expect To Tackle Prisoner Problem

Will Confer Tuesday On World Situation

WASHINGTON (UP) —President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles are expected to tackle the problem of American prisoners in Red China when they meet here Tuesday to review the world situation.

Mr. Eisenhower is interrupting his Colorado vacation to make a speech in Philadelphia Wednesday. He will confer with Dulles during a brief stopover here.

American officials are hoping Russia's decision to free three U.S. prisoners will inspire Red China to do the same in the case of the 41 American civilians it holds.

But they are not optimistic about any quick action. The negotiations with the Chinese Reds in Geneva are still very much deadlocked over Communist demands for control over Chinese students in this country.

Some U.S. diplomats have been discussing the idea of calling a recess in the Geneva talks to prod the Chinese into some action. This may be one of the issues taken up by Mr. Eisenhower and Dulles.

The State Department announced Saturday that Russia has agreed to release three Americans long held behind the Iron Curtain. They are Army Pvts. Wilfred C. Kumis, Amesburg, Mass., and Murray Fields, N. Y., and Frederick Charles Hopkins, a man nobody has been able to identify.

The Russians said the men would be released shortly but did not specify when. They presumably will be set free in Berlin.

Officials said they expect Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson will try to talk Red China into following Moscow's lead when the Geneva talks resume Tuesday. But Red China doesn't seem to be in a receptive mood at the moment.

During a weekend broadcast, Radio Peiping charged that the United States has been jailing and intimidating Chinese students to prevent their return to the Communist mainland. The State Department promptly denied this.

Salesman Destroys Car, Transformer As Vehicle Leaves Road

Robert Eugene Salesman, 31, of R 1, South Whitley, escaped injury but his car was a total loss from an accident in which his car ran off the road in front of the Wilbur Egolf residence and business just north of the city on State Road 9 at about 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

The car ran up into the Egolf's yard struck a tree then swung to the right and knocked out an electrical transformer and light pole near the scene. Damage to the car was estimated at $3000, to the transformer $75 and to the tree and Egolfs' lawn $20.

According to Sheriff Galen Adair, who investigated the accident, Salesman was evidently driving too fast as his southbound vehicle approached a curve. Egolf told Adair that he was attempting to avoid an oncoming car an dran off on the right berm of the road losing control of the vehicle.

Salesman was charged with reckless driving in that his car was going at unreasonable speed. He is scheduled to appear in city court Tuesday morning to answer to the charge.

Six-State Strike Scheduled For Midnight Tonight

Fort Wayne Plant Involved

CHICAGO (UP) — A six-state strike against 18 International Harvester Co. plants was scheduled to start at midnight tonight and thousands of workers had already "jumped the gun" and walked out.

Negotiators for the company and the CIO United Auto Workers, representing 40,000 Harvester employes, were to meet today in a last-ditch attempt to forestall a strike.

The company has offered a 10-cent hourly wage boost, plus a so-called guaranteed annual wage which would provide partial pay for a 26-week layoff. But the union said its demands on grievances and seniority still hadn't been met.

Union officials reported that locals called pre-deadline walkouts Sunday at the huge McCormick works and tractor plant in Chicago, and at plants in Memphis, Tenn.; East Moline and Rock Island, Ill.; and Louisville, Ky. Company officials at Louisville, however, said no employes had walked out.

The strikes weren't authorized by the UAW international. But they were official" as far as the locals themselves were concerned, union officials here said.

The president of Local 1301 in Chicago, Peter Neputy, said "the workers got tired of speed-up, low wages, lousy security and jumped the gun. They intend to stay out until local plant issues are settled, along with the settlement of national issues."

The union-company contract is due to expire at 12:01 a.m. tonight.

Other plants which would be involved in a strike are at Richmond and Fort Wayne, Ind.; Springfield and Canton, Ohio; Rock Falls, Ill.; Stockton and Emeryville, Calif.; and two more at Chicago.

When he located the vehicle Saturday, it was parked further west on Ellsworth than where he had originally left it, he said. He told police that the car did not appear to have been driven many miles when he found it. Neither Durfey nor the police have any lead as to who might have taken the vehicle, a 1937 Chevrolet.

Injured Airman, Body Of Captain To Be Returned

At Korisal In Neutral Zone

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — Communist North Korea Tuesday will return to the United Nations an injured American airman and the body of an Army captain whose plane was shot down by Red anti-aircraft fire.

The Reds agreed at a meeting of the military armistice commission Sunday to return Air Force 2nd Lt. Guy H. Bumpass of Jackson, Miss., and the body of Capt. Charles W. Brown of West Louisville, Ky., at the village of Korisal in the Neutral Zone.

At the same time, U.S. Air Force Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks, senior U.N. officer, warned the Communists that they will be risking Allied artillery fire if their planes cross the border over South Korea.

The Communists told the United Nations command that Bumpass "appeared to have a cracked skull" but was "in a good mood, conscious and has a normal appetite."

The plane carrying Bumpass and Brown, a T6 trainer, was riddled by Communist anti - aircraft fire as it flew over the Neutral Zone between North and South Korea last Wednesday.

The U.N. said the unarmed plane was on a routine training mission and flew over the Neutral Zone by mistake.

The Communists claimed that Bumpass has denied this but Parks replied that "I don't believe he made such a statement."

The Red claim could mean that Bumpass will be questioned under President Eisenhower's new "Code of Conduct' for prisoners of war, which forbids giving military information to the enemy.

Communities Dig Out Under Bright August Sun Today

Fear Death Toll May Reach 300

NEW YORK (UP) — Disease threatened flood-devastated northwestern towns today.

Mud, debris and shattered transportation, communication and utility lines were immediate problems in hundreds of communities digging out under a bright August sun. Dead still lay beneath the receding waters, and it was feared the death toll may reach 300.

The toll stood at 211 in eight states at mid-morning — 110 in Pennsylvania's northeastern corner of industrial towns and vacation camps; 68 in the factory-stilled river valleys of Connecticut; 19 in Massachusetts; 6 in New Jersey; 4 in New York; 2 in Virginia; 1 each in Delaware and Rhode Island.

At Washngton, the American Red Cross said it had counted 34,169 families forced from destroyed or seriously damaged homes with the final total expected o be "much higher."

It said health problems in Pennsylvania particularly were complicated because of thousands of drowned chickens and livestock whose bodies were polluting water sources.

Health authorities faced with a massive sanitation problem sped disinfectants to towns where sewers had run with rivers through the streets. Water purification pills were dropped from helicopters to still-island towns. Typhoid inoculations were ordered for all survivors.

Jobs Are Gone

And as they counted their dead and spread mud-soaked bedding to dry, the homeless and bereaved "are wondering where the money is going to come from to eat," one Connecticut resident said.

Whole towns in Connecticut's heavily industrialized river valleys watched their means of livelihood swept to destruction with with homes. There were fears that some factories would never rebuild.

State and federal agencies moved, however, to alleviate the distress as quickly as possible. And the hardest hit were sparing of tears.

"I have 13 people living in my house," said a Torrington department store clerk. "I don't know most of them and they don't know me — or at least they didn't be-

MENTAL PATIENTS NEED YOUR HELP

Many appeals are made annually by organizations to further their program of social welfare. Quite often we give without ever knowing the exact use to which our contribution is put. But almost all of us know of the wonderful program of the Indiana Association for Mental Health in its aid to mental patients.

Last year the association organized the collection of Christmas presents, so that each patient in the mental hospitals received presents.

However, presents alone do not make Christmas, so the association obtained the cooperation of 300 organizations from communities in which hospitals are located and arranged for a cheerful, friendly party in each ward, where a patient spends most of his life.

The Christmas program is only one of the many programs that the association carries on to aid the victims of this tragic sickness. It also has come to the rescue of the forgotten patient, fought to keep the mentally ill persons out of jail and assisted in rehabilitating the discharged patients.

This week, during the local Mental Health Campaign, when you are asked to support the work of the state association, stop to consider how you would feel if you or one of your loved ones were stricken by mental illness.

American Farmers Showed Good Will

LONDON (UP)—Radio Moscow said today the American farm delegation that recently visited the Soviet Union showed "good will" and "frienldy criticism."

"The true friend is not he who praises all the time, but he who speaks the truth," said the broadcast which was monitored here.

Radio Moscow said, "the characteristic of the U.S. farmers' visit was good will.

"After their trip, the American farm delegates spoke of the things they had seen, and they also offere dsome criticism of certain shortcomings they had noticed.

"We are aware of these shortcomings and dont try to hide them and we want to overcome them.

"The friendly criticism made by the American delegates will help us. And the very fact that this criticism was offered is another sign of the cordial healthy atmosphere in which the American farmers made their tour of the Soviet Union."

Honeymoon At County Fair Is Different, To Say the Very Least, Says Mrs. Livingstone

Editor's note: The following account of the Tippecanoe County Fair by Mrs. David Livingstone was given the Post and Mail by Mrs. Elmer Heimbach, Columbia township.

Mrs. Livingstone was married to David Livingstone, formerly of the Post and Mail staff, August 13. He is now staff reporter on the Lafayette Journal Courier. He received his master's degree at Indiana University in June.

The account of a city girl's first visit to the fair is published as another reminder that this is fair week in Whitley County.

By EMMA LIVINGSTONE

When a girl marries, she goes on a honeymoon. That's what the book says; that's what the national advertisers say. Is that what really happens? Well, usually, there is a trip to the nearest big city, a cruise to Bermuda, a trip to Niagara.

Me? Now, don't be rediculous I went to the Tippecanoe 4-H fair. Ever try hunting down a new husband in a strange place? Names don't mean a thing. How can you describe the guy you think is great stuff? An official with laugh lines around his eyes, grins at you and says laconically:

So off you go on the hunt. When you find him, he isn't where he said he'd be and where he does he take you? Back to a tiny office just off the pig barn.

Fond of Vegetables

Now you take me, I'm a town gal. I spent my summers on a farm, and I like vegetables. They don't bite nor make whuffling noises at you. They sit right where you put them and quietly grow. Vines run about a bit, but let's face it, they just don't grunt. Moreover, vegetables don't smell as if they'd just died.

I never saw a county fair, and I never smelled a pig barn. Therefore, it was a slight shock to find myself on rather close terms with a new husband who took me out to lunch an dsmelled faintly but very distinctly like pigs. I deceided he must have interviewed some of them. Oh well, I decided, this was what I deserved for making rash promises in a marriage ceremony.

Later, while waiting around, I heard an odd sound behind me. A very unpleasant noise—a disgusted whuffle. Couldn't be anyone I knew—not in Tippecanoe county. I turned around and found myself facing a white and pik hog, sex unknown, breed unknown—intentions obvious — to scare me half to death.

With another well - accented whuffle and a one-sided sneer, the hog succeeded. If he sneered once more, I decided, dignity or no dignity, I was taking to the top of the counter.

With a final glare in my direction, the hog turned and trotted off with his owner hazing him along in what must have been traditional herding style.

No Witnesses

I looked around. Good, no one had paid any attention to how scared I was.

Now maybe going to the fair is old stuff to you, but it's not to me. The steers smell better than the hogs and seem much better mannered—almost polite. But it was the pigs that interested me.

Then came the pig judging. I decided to stay and watch the fun. Not that I would understand any of it, but I couldn't see how they could judge an animal that smelled so bad and looked so good spread out on a blue plate special.

First of all, pigs are not pigs—they have names. Fancy names like Duroc, Yorkshire, Chester Whites, Tamworths, Poland Chinas, and Spotted Polands, Berkshires, and Hampshire. The come in all colors: white, red, brown, and black. Then they run to spots—white on black, black on white, black on grey on white.

None of the spectators seemed to be interested in the colors or kinds of pigs; they were cheering for their kids to win that ribbon—regardless of its color.

Everyone but me seemed to know when to cheer. Wise words swirled around my head like:

"Well sir, I tell you she had the prettiest belly line you ever saw—even and pretty."

But, "she was too lean through the rump. All the boy had to do was sho wher good. We won, too."

Impressions at a hog show? I got 'em. I enjoyed every minute of it, and right or wrong here's what I saw:

The red Durocs are a nasty, small-eyed, bad tempered lot — anxious to give anyone an argument.

On the other side the arena, the Yorkshires were'nt mad at anybody — just loafing along. They were trotting about with a quiet dignity that made the Durocs look like barbarians.

Then came the cross breeds—the potpourri of the swine classes. I like them best of all.

Variety of Noises

Suddenly, the arena came alive with pigs and youngsters — the place boiled with them. Grunts, squeals, snorts, and the hard decisive crack of canes dealing out discipline were the sounds one heard.

The youngsters, themselves, were quietly intent on showmanship. What difference does your age mean when you have a good pig to show — one you raised yourself. The poise and dignity of an eight-year old showing off an animal is an amazing and delightful thing.

Those 4-H club boys and girls trotted after their pigs with canes, pig boards, and stiff bristled brushed. The patted, poked, prodded and pushed the pigs into position.

It was hot in the coliseum; the youngsters were steaming, but they took the best of care of their pigs. They sprinkled them down with watering cans. They gave those pigs beauty treatments as if they were entering them in a Miss America contest.

Standard equipment around pigs, depending upon its color seems to be either a bottle of oil or a can of talcum. You oil the dark pigs and powder the white ones. A pat on the rump of a white pig will raise a cloud of talcum that takes five minutes to clear away.

And brushing a pig is just another way of keeping him quiet and clean at the same time. So the whole time in the arena, there was a regular rash of brushing, patting, washing— once in a while —powdering and generally keeping the pig well groomed.

Kids Were Great

The pig? You think he was interested. Don't be silly. To my untrained eye, if a pig thinks at all, it is in a circle or at best an elliptical. These kids were great at second guessing their animals Some tried to run their animals down, others quietly followed along, and still others kept their animal quiet, on the move is necessary, and controlled them as much as it was possible to control a creature whose sole desire seems to be to bury himself up to his snout in sawdust.

The ribbons were handed out and accepted with great dignity and thanks. Exhibitors of the champions and reserve champions are justifiably proud of their animals.

And it is the poise and dignity of these youngsters that gets you. It's the interest they take in their animals that makes you realize there is some hope for the world of tomorrow. These youngsters will make grand champion citizens—they're blue ribbon stuff.

Oh the pigs. All I can do is paraphrase an old rhyme:

"I never saw a pleasant pig,
Someday, perhaps, I'll see one.
But I can tell you, anyhow, I'd rather see than be one."

Over five hundred persons attended the golden anniversary reunion. Eldest alumnus present was Mrs. Hattie Shriver Weybright, member of the class of 1891, second high school class to be graduated at South Whitley.

A convertible carrying Mrs. Weybright had a featured place in the alumni parade. The parade, which passed by the site of South Whitley's former high school building which was razed in 1954, was led by the blue and white South Whitley high school marching band and included the entire fire department, a truck carrying the bell from the old school, and decorated cars bearing class numerals from 1891 to 1955.

William Gingher, member of the class of 1917, spoke Saturday evening following a baked steak banquet served in the grade school auditorium. A past president of the Fort Wayne Lions Club, he is presently associated with the Norwalk Trucking Company in Fort Wayne.

Also on the evening program were vocalists George McGlennen and Harriet Wensettler, dancers Connie and Kelley Johnson, pantominist Marinelle Freund and a vocal octette composed of Monica McLean, Pauline Mink, Patricia Brock, Alice Clapp, Ruth Darley, Neva Glassley, Jane Stump and Betty Lancaster.

Dinner music and accompaniment for the floor show were provided by an orchestra assembled by Hugo Fox and directed by Corlyle Drake.

Alumni queen Nancy Lilly and her court of Gwen Whitesell, Sharon Lynn Wilson, Marilyn O'Grady and Suzette Graf presided over the alumni dance held from 10:30 on in the high school gymnasium, decorated for the occasion by Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bolinger in a wishing well theme.

Meet The Woman Responsible For 'Hard-Top' Autos

By REY W. BRUNE
United Press Staff Correspondent

DETROIT (UP)—A woman who liked the looks of convertibles but not the "top-down" winds which mussed her hair was responsible for introduction of "hard - top" automobiles which now make up one out of every four cars built in the United States.

The woman singled out by Buick officials as being responsible for the automobile style they pioneered in 1949 is Sarah Ragsdale, wife of Buick's general manufacturing manager.

When she ordered a new convertible in the spring of 1948, her husband couldn't figure out why she insisted on a convertible when she never put the top down.

"I like the sporty appearance of a convertible but I don't like to put the top down because the wind musses my hair," she explained.

On Drawing Boards

Her husband thought it over and then called Harley Earl, General Motors' vice president in charge of styling, to find out if General Motors couldn't build a convertible with a steel top.

Earl dipped into the files and found a model that had been on the drawing board for years. He said Ragsdale was the first person who'd shown an interest in it. When Earl showed the drawings to Harlow Curtice, who then headed the Buick division, it was decided that such a car would be built.

A model was shown in early 1949 and it proved such a hit that hard-tops soon were being built for public sale.

Buick only built 4,343 that year. But this year the total will swell to about 470,000 hard-tops, including the new four-door hard-tops which Buick and Oldsmobile introduced this year.

Higher Priced Cars

The hard - top idea quickly spread to other car makers. Last year 17.5 per cent of all cars built were hard-tops and so far this year the figure has been running better than 24 per cent.

The figure can be expected to jump still more in the 1956 field. So far most of the hard-top styling has been confined to the higher priced cars, where some 40 per cent of all cars are of that variety. The lower priced cars have turned less than 10 per cent of their output to the hard-tops.

Buick has quit building its Century four-door sedans, concentrating on hard-tops instead.

The lower priced auto makers are expected to push more into the hard-top line in 1956 models, when their styling won't be revamped completely as it was this year. Hard-tops could be a real selling point.

Princess Margaret Has 'Real' Birthday Party Barbecue Today

BALMORAL, Scotland (UP) — Princess Margaret, attended by the handsome son of a Scottish nobleman, had a birthday barbecue today on the grounds of ancient Balmoral Castle.

Margaret turned 25 Sunday and became free to marry whom she chooses.

But the royal family, deferring to Presbyterian Scotland's strict ideas about the observance of Sunday, contented itself with a visit to Grathie Church, a picnic on the moors and a sail on Lock Muick.

The "real" birthday party was the barbecue today on the lush green lawns of the Gothic castle where the royal family, besieged by thousands of tourists and newsmen, is vacationing.

The only non-royal guest was tall, handsome Dominic Elliot, son of the Scottish earl of Minto, a graduate of Eaton and a member of the swank Scots Guards.

Thousands of tourists and newsmen haunted the outer walls of Balmoral in hope some announcement would be made of Margaret's marriage plans. But some observers predicted that any such plans would be kept within the royal family until the current excitement dies down.

Elliot was a new name among Margaret's suitors but most of the British press regarded him as just a friend and possibly a "stalking horse" to take some of the heat off speculation of a romance between Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Now that Margaret is 25 she is free to marry without the consent of her sister, Queen Elizabeth II, provided she gives Parliament a year's notice and it raises no objection.

The fact that Townsend is a divorced man was the main stumbling block, if Margaret really wants to marry him.

Lesson for August 21, 1955

Dr. Foreman

MANY Christians today become confused when they read the prophecies of the Old Testament. They do not seem to be either plain or profitable, because they are written in a strange style and the reader has no way of knowing, without help, just where and why and when and to whom these words were first spoken or written. This column is much to short a space for straightening out the tangles in even one chapter. The thing to bear in mind is that there is enough in Scripture that is plain to any man, enough to give him all he needs to know about God and his will for us. This column this week will consider one general thought: the promises of God, as they are found in the pages of the prophets particularly.

The Prophet

The promises of God are never made directly, as by a loudspeaker in the sky. The same promise may be made to many persons; but not all at once. The message first takes shape under the skull of one man, a holy, sensitive man, with spiritual insight, generally with great courage and persistence: in short, a prophet. We do not know for certain just what the process is by which a divine truth gets into the human mind of the prophet; but when first the divine truth enters the human sphere, it comes as an idea, a thought, in some prophet's mind. Sometimes more than one prophet may say the same thing, as when Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel were all predicting the return of the Jews to Jerusalem. Sometimes the prophet stands entirely alone. But the prophet is like the lookout in the crow's nest of a ship, sighting the dim landfall before any one on deck can see it.

The Promise

Sometimes the signal the prophet's keen spirit caught from on high spelled disaster; sometimes it was like "news behind news," a commentary on the why of events in past or present. But often, indeed more often than anything else, the message of the prophet is a promise. You can sum up all the promises there are into one sentence: God is good; he desires the good of all his children; and he will bring good to pass. One writer in the New Testament suggests that the prophets did not always understand their own messages; they were like radio receivers crossed by static. Be that as it may, we know from reading the Gospels that the people who read the prophets, even the professional interpreters, did not always understand what they read. The promises were set in obscure language, often in poetry. One feature however is clear. The focus and center of the prophet's hope and dream was the Messiah. It is true, their descriptions were so misread that when Jesus Christ came, most of his fellow-countrymen, measuring him by the literal words of these promises, did not recognize him. But there were those who did. The Christian discovers that all the best good that God desires for his children is summed up in Christ and what he does for men.

The Present

What can a Christian today do with the promises passed on by the prophets? Some of them refer no doubt to events long since past, as when Ezekiel and Jeremiah predict the destruction of Babylon. The Christian can take such promises to support his faith that God does rule in the history of men; that his decrees are certain, his foreknowledge sure. Some of the promises are still unfulfilled, as when a prophet predicts the utter destruction of evil from this earth and the coming of a time of universal peace. A Christian can live by such hope even when (just as in the prophet's own days) the hope seems out of reach entirely. Where the prophet speaks of God's Servant the Coming One, we can use such promises to deepen our understanding of what Christ is to mean to the world. But every once in a while, in reading the prophets, one discovers that spans past, present and future. It was a promise made good long ago; it will come true in centuries to come; it is true this present hour. Such a promise is to be found, for instance, in Isaiah 55:6-7.

Rebel Convicts Set Fire To Prison Property

Are Subdued By Shotguns

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP) —A state investigation began today into the second riot in five days at the strife-torn Nebraska Penitentiary.

Once again, rebel convicts set fire to prison property and were subdued by shotguns Sunday.

Prison guards, backed up by National Guardsmen, advanced upon the prison's two-story segregation building, firing shotgun blasts as they came.

The 16 rioters prompuy ended their 15-hour rebellion and surrendered with their hands in the air.

Prison authorities said 13 of the rioters were ringleaders in an uprising of more than 300 convicts at the prison last Tuesday and Wednesday.

The state Board of Control was called in to investigate the third outbreak at the penitentiary in five months. No reason was given for the latest riot, although Warden Joseph Bovey commented "they don't need a reason to start an uprising."

Buses, Trolleys Roll Out At Last In Washington

First Time In Nearly Two Months

WASHINGTON (UP)— Trolleys and buses rolled out of moth balls and onto their regular schedules today providinig thousands of government workers and capital residents with public transportation for the first time in almost two months.

A company spokesman saiid "everything's going smoothly" shortly after service was resumed about 4 a.m.

The 53-day-old strike was the second longest transit walkout in any major American city. It was topped only by a 56-day strike in Detroit in 1952.

Residents paid a little more for rides today than they did before members of the AFL Transit Union struck July 1 against the Capital Transit Co., headed by financier Louis E. Wolfson.

The 20-cent cash fare remained unchanged, but token fares and weekly permits were increased.

Settlement of the strike was reached under terms of a special law enacted by Congress and signed by Mr. Eisenhower. Under the law, Capital Transit will operate until Aug. 14 of next year, at which time its franchise will expire.

The 3,000 striking transit workers agreed to accept a 15-cent wage package including about $30 a month in pension and other fringe benefits. This boost was far below the union's original demand for a 25-cent hourly wage increase for drivers earning $1.90 and 30 cents for top mechanics earning $2.03.

Every citizen knows that the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor holds a torch in her upraised right hand. But not many know what her left hand holds—the Declaration of Independence—or what lies at her feet—the broken chains of tyranny.

Truman Gives Views On Delinquency

WASHINGTON (UP)— Former President Truman thinks more stay-at-home mommas and poppas and more chores for children are the cures for juvenile delinquency.

Mr. Truman volunteered his views in a letter he sent July 19 to Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) of the Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency.

Kefauver had written the former President to express regret that they had missed one another while in Chicago last month. Mr. Truman was leaving as Kefauver arrived.

In a reply disclosed today by Kefauver's office, Mr. Truman wished the Tennessee senator "every success" in the subcommittee's work.

"If you want my opinion, which you did not request but which I gladly volunteer, the best cure is for the mommas and poppas to stay at home and raise their families," Mr. Truman wrote. "The responsibility of bringing up the next generation rests solely on their shoulders.

"I do not believe in babysitters or sending children to boarding schools just because the parents are too lazy to look after them. Besides, children nowadays have too many gadgets to fool with and not enough chores."

Permier Edgar Faure arrivied in the Alpine resort of AixLesBains with his "inner cabinet" to consult with the robed and bearded North African leaders whose demands for more self government brought Franch a crisis as grave as that which lost Indochina.

Moroccan Resident General Gilbert Grandval and Algerian Governor General Jacques Soustelle flew from Africa for the talks. Joining them were the inner cabinet "committee of five" - Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay, Defense Minister Perre Koeng, Justce Minister Robert Schuman and Tunisian Affairs Minister Pierre July.

They had called the meeting in hopes of averting the demonstrations but faniitacal Nationalist leaders ignored the last-minute effort and goaded their followers into attacks with their long knives, clubs and guns against Europeans and proFrench arabs.

Official spokesman refused to enlarge on this or to give the names of the delegates. But authoritative sources said the United States took the initative to answer some of the most pressing questions of the atomic age.

These inicluded such problems as the disposal of radioactive waste from atomic plants and the question of the effects of radiation on present human life and the unborn generations of the future.

The main Atoms For Peace conference which ended Saturday concluded that science as yet has no definite knowledge of what radiation may be doing to man's heredity, but several scieintists warned that its effect could be harmful.

Foreign Minister Says Portugal Stands Firm

Against 'India's Imperialistic Designs' On Tiny Goa

By DONALD MACKAY
United Press Staff Correspondent

LISBON, Portugal (UP) — Foreign Minister Paulo Cunha said today Portugal stands firm against what he termed India's "imperialist designs" on Goa, the tiny enclave on the west coast of India.

Cunha, in an exclusive interview, reiterated his proposal to negotiate with India as neighbors on mutual problem but "the thing Portugal refuses to examine in negotiations is an impossible transfer of sovereignty for something that has belonged to Portugal for 450 years."

India's demand that Portugal cede its ancient territories on the Malabar coast flared into bloodshed a week ago today when thousands of "peaceful resistance" demonstrators invaded Goa and were turned back by Portuguese police.

"When they violate frontiers of a foreign state the so-called 'satyagrahis' are nothing but violent invaders, not peaceful ones," Cunha said.

"They are violent by their action itself, which is aggression against foreign sovereignty, and violent because of their behavior."

"World opinion has been enlightened and understands now what is really behind this business," he said. "The Goa question is neither more nor less than the imperialist goal of the Indian union which resorts to all kinds of tricks in order to conceal it."

"An impressive thing is this press chorus of all the world, seeing through the so-called 'peaceful invasion' Aug. 15 and recognizing its true character of unlawful violence and cowardly provocation.

"The world is discovering that New Delhi pacifism and international correctness is just window dressing. . .

"The reprehensible practices against Goa, Hyderabad, Kashmir, Nepal and the French possessions are finally spoiling the vestal aura with which India surrounds itself in international relations."

Cunha, former professor of civil law at the University of Lisbon and foreign minister since 1950, said it "is time for the Indian union to change its methods, to give up its imperialist designs on others property in order to be really sincere in its desire for peaceful co-existence."

TV Cameraman Hurtles To His Death Sunday

Faulty Hydraulic Mechanism Is Cause

NIAGARA - ON - THE - LAKE, Ont. UP)— A faulty hydraulic mechanism sent a 26-year-old Canadian Broadcasting Co. television cameraman hurtling to his death at the World Boy Scout Jamboree Sunday as he dangled high in the air from a bucket attached to a truck.

Ian G. Murray of Scarborough, Ont., regarded as a top TV-cameraman in Canada, fell from his precarious perch while rehearsing for a nationwide telecast. He suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Doctors operated in an effort to save Murray's life but he died while being placed in an ambulance to be rushed to Toronto for further surgery.

The driver of the truck from which Murray was suspended, William I'. Woodyatt of Toronto, said the cameraman was preparing shots from the perch when the hydraulic mechanism suddenly failed. The bucket tipped and Murray tumbled out.

None of the 10,000 Boy Scouts camped there witnessed the accident which occurred about 6 a.m. while they slept in their tents.

The program Murray was planning was called "Let's Take a Trip.' It included interviews with scouts from several nations and was aired jointly by CBS and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Offenders Visiting Police Convention

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Police tore up parking tickets plastered on two cars that stood for two days in a bus stop zone after learning the owners were visiting delegates to a police convention here.

NEW YORK (UP)—The day was hot and, besides, Edward Quinn, 25, isn't the sort of chap to pass up a dare. So, when friends dared him to dive from the Staten Island Ferry, Quinn did.

He was fined $25 for delaying the ferry an hour while crewmembers fished him out.

Interpreter Needed

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Joan Barrios, just returned from a Mexican tour to brush up on her Spanish, was amazed when a department store clerk here called for an interpreter.

The mystery was cleared up when Miss Barrios realized she had absent-mindedly used Spanish when asking for lipstick.

[illegible] food. We're having a fine time together, especially at our [illegible] cook-outs. That's the only time we can forget for a while."

At [illegible], Conn., the town's [illegible] wedding of the summer came off almost as scheduled, in the midst of almost total destruction. But the reception baked meats were given to an emergency feeding center.

Main Street Is Gully

"The scene here is so fantastic that most of us even now can't believe it's happened," Thomas A. Haggerty, 81-year-oid editor of the Winsted Citizen, said.

Winsted's main street, Haggerty said, is a 10-foot deep gully for one-third of a mile. "It looks as if someone fought a war here."

At Torrington, where 75 per cent of the town's industry was crippled, the American Brass Co. asked its workers to come back as quickly as possible, and please bring shovels.

Federal funds for re-building will be available under the disaster decree of President Eisenhower.

Connecticut's Gov. Abraham Ribicoff moved to alleviate immediate distress. He ordered the Conneeit Labor Department to cut red-tape so the jobless may begin drawing unemployment insurance immediately. And he put a hold order on some $34,176,000 of scheduled state construction so that it will not compete for credit, men and materials with flood re-construction projects.

Massachusetts estimated damage to its roads and highways alone at nearly 20 million dollars.

Baily pontoon bridges were being rushed from as far away as Ohio to restore at least temporary communication with stranded towns. Railroad service was restored in some areas but will be detouring for weeks around heavy washouts in New England and Pennsylvania.

National Guard troops patrolled the debris-strewn flood areas to guard against looting, reported to be rampant in some areas. Nineteen persons were arrested for looting in Waterbury, Conn.

Hush of Death

At Stroudsburg, Pa., the hardest hit town in the broad flood area, the hush of deatn hung over rescue operations which already have recovered 65 bodies. Joint church services were held by radio Sunday at Stroudsburg. Ministers, priests and rabbis prayed for the dead and gave thanks for the living by radio because the town's churches were either ruined by flood waters or filled with evacuees.

Many of the Stroudsburg casualties occurred at Camp Davis where 35 of 46 campers died in the muddy waters. Fourteen bodies still were missing.

A rainstorm hit the New York area Sunday night but weather officials said the rainfall was not heavy and did not expect it to contribute to the flood threat.

Connecticut Gov. Agraham Riibicoff said the death toll in Waterbury threatened to exceed 100. Reports from Waterbury said 19 to 24 bodies had been found and the estimate of missing ranged from 50 to 70.

Night of Horror

Emergency workers in Waterbury said 2,500 persons were homeless. Governor Ribicoff said 300 new homes were needed.

The Connecticut governor also echoed the plea of officials in all the flood areas: "Sightseers must remain home, for heaven's sake."

Putnam, Conn., residents told of a night of horror Fridiay night and early Saturday when exploding drums of magnesium and gasoline bobbed through the flooded town. Explosions at a magnesium plant ruined a large section of Putnams business district.

Estimates of damage ran into the billions of dollars for the entire flood area. Many of the towns hit, especially in the New England area, were industrial towns and whole plants were wiped out.

Damage Is Staggering

Damage to homes, public utilities, small businesses and highways was staggering and defied an accurate estimate by its enormity.

In the town of Putnam alone, three industries were wiped out. The magnesium plant, a textile mill and a button factory were the center of the towns economic life and all were ruined.

Officials said the flood threatened to be the nation's second worst in history in terms of lives lost. The worst flood on record was the Johnstown, Pa., flood of 1889 in which 2,200 persons died. Flood in 1937 on the Mississippi, Ohio and Allegheny rivers took 250 lives, the second worst flood disaster in U.S. history.

Damage estimates from last weekend's floods appeared to be well above the one billion dollar damage estimate of the 1951 Kansas-Missouri floods.

American Red Cross Makes Appeal For Funds

For Relief Program For Floodstricken East

WASHINGTON (UP)—The American Red Cross launched a nationwide appeal for funds today to help finance a "tremendous" disaster relief program for the flood-stricken East.

E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the ARC, telegraphed the 3,713 Red Cross chapters throughout the nation to begin an immediate appeal for funds. He said incomplete surveys of damage and destruction indicate that 8,000 families will ask for Red Cross assistanee.

Harriman also messaged President Eisenhower, honorary Red Cross chairman, that all the resources of the relief agency have been thrown into the effort to relieve suffering in the northeast flood areas.

He said on the basis of preliminary figures it is estimated Red Cross relief in the flood disaster may reach or exceed 5 million dollars.

Minoso's Blazing Finish May Be What White Sox Need To Win First Pennant Since 1919

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

It took Minnie Minoso a while to get started this year but his blazing finish may be just what the Chicago White Sox need to win their first American League pennant since 1919.

Off to a slow start and then the victim of a tough break when he was beaned by Bob Grim on May 18, Minoso has suddenly caught fire in the last two weeks to spark the White Sox in the time of their greatest need. He's been belting the ball at a .411 clip since Aug. 7 during which time the White Sox have reeled off 10 victories in 13 games.

The 32-year old Minoso enjoyed his best day of the campaign Sunday when he collected six hits in nine tries and drove in three runs as the White Sox beat the Detroit Tigers, 2-0 and 8-2. The victories enabled the White Sox to sweep their four-game series with the Tigers and move to within two percentage points of the first - place New York Yankees.

Johnson Hurls Four-Hitter

Minoso had two hits in the first game and his sixth-inning homer broke a scoreless duel between Connie Johnson and southpaw Billy Hoeft. Johnson, recalled from Toronto on July 1, hurled a four-hitter to notch his sixth triumph, second shutout and reduce his E.R.A. to 1.97.

In the nightcap, Minoso drove in two runs witih a triple and three singles as the White Sox celebrated Dick Donovan's return to the firing line with a 15-hit assault on three pitchers. Miinoso now has hiti safely in 13 straight games and lfted his once-sickly average to .281.

Donovan, sidelined since July 26 walked only two batters and struck out three. The Tgers have lost five straight and 13 of 20.

Don Larsen won his fifth straight game since the Yankees recalled with appendicitis, pitched an eighthim from Denver in an easy 6-1 conquest of the Baltimore Orioles. Bill Skowron, Mickey Mantle and Hank Bauer hit homers for the Yankees, who have won 10 of their last 11 games. Larsen, who struck out six batters, now has a 6-1 record for the campaign.

The third-place Cleveland Indians took advantage of 10 walks by Art Ditmar to beat Kansas City, 9-4 giving them a 16-4 season mark over the Athletics. Bob Lemon started for the Indians but Jose Santiago was credited with the victory although he needed help from Sal Maglie.

Batterymates George Susce Jr. and Sammy White collaborated in leading the fourth-place Boston Red Sox to a 4-1 victory over the Washington Senators. Susce scattered nine hits in winning his seventh game while White hit his ninth homer in the sixth inning and doubled home a run in the Red Sox' three-run eighth inning rally.

In the National League, the Philadelphia Phillies completed a sweep of a three-game set when they downed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-4. The Dodgers are deep in a throes of a hitting slump haven't had a victory from a startiing pitcher this month and have dropped 10 of their last 14 games. It adds up to a seriousslump but the Dodgers still have an 11-game cushion against disaster.

Willie Jones' grand slam homer was the big blow as Herman Wehmeier won his 10th game for the Phillies. Carl Erskine was the loser.

Bob Buhl won his 12th game as the Milwaukee Braves won their fifth straight, an 8-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs and rookie Don Gross pitched a four-hitter for his first big league shutout as the Cincinnati Redlegs beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-0, in other games. New Yorks scheduled doubleheader at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Your Professional Football Roundup

By UNITED PRESS

The Cleveland Browns, who parlayed a stout defense and the kicking of Lou Groza to nine straight professional football division titles, appear to have shored up the defensive holes that were so obvious in their recent game with the College All-Stars.

The collegians daringly bolted through the veteran Cleveland line while former Notre Dame quarterback Ralph Guglielmi, now of the Washington Redskins, completed 10 of 19 passes for 129 yards in a 30-27 upset of the defending National Football League champions.

But it was like old times Saturday night when the Browns rode over the Green Bay Packers, 13-7, on the strength of two field goals by Groza and a brilliant last-ditch goal line stand.

Spot Packers Touchdown

After spotting the Packers a touchdown in the opening period, the Browns tallied their only touchdown in the second quarter and Groza added a pair of field goals, one in the second and the other in the third to close out the scoring.

But quarterback Tobin Rote, passing and running, helped move Green Bay down to the Cleveland 13 for a first down with two minutes remaining in the game. The Packers, however, were stopped on the third and fourth downs with only a yard to go for a first down on the three as the Browns' forward wall held.

The goal line stand was reminiscent of the one the Browns staged against the Philadelphia Eagles late last season at Cleveland in tking out a 6-0 victory in what proved to be the turning point of the 1954 campaign in the Eastern Division. With three minutes to play, the Browns stopped the Eagles after Philadelphia had driven to a first down on the Cleveland one yard line. Groza scored the six points on a pair of field goals in that one.

The New York Giants and the Chicago Cardinals earned the supposedly weaker Eastern Division a clean sweep in other NFL weekend exhibition games.

Giants Beat Forty-Niners

The Giants bottled up the San Francisco Forty - Niners' running game and swept to four touchdowns themselves in a 28-17 victory before 49,000 fans in Seattle, Wash., while the Cardinals downed the Chicago Bears, 21-6, before 20,000 fans in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla.

Quarterback Don Heinrich, who gained national prominence with the University of Washington while playing on the same field, passed for one touchdown—a 61-yarder to end Ken McAfee — and completed 12 of 25 tosses in all for 178 yards. Bobby Epps and Alex Webster, who starred in Canada's Big Four Union last year, accounted for the other touchdowns, Webster scoring two of them.

The passing of Lamar McHan and the running of Johnny Olszewski and Ollie Matson paced the Cardinals to their upset win over the Bears. George Blanda accounted for all the Bears' points with two field goals.

Happy-Go-Lucky Luke Easter Bangs Out 27th Homer

By UNITED PRESS

Happy-go-lucky Luke Easter, unabashed by his recent run-in with American Association authorities, banged out his 27th homer of the year Sunday night to give Charleston a 3-2 victory and all but end Toledo's hopes of a championship.

Big Luke got into hot water last week because he allegedly broke some rules by being over-friendly with a group of children during a game at St. Paul.

But he showed no lack of confidence as he stepped up to bat in the eighth against Toledo and slapped out the homer which gave the last place Senators a 3-1 edge in the series and sent the Sox tumbling from fourth to fifth place in the standings.

Louisville moved into the fourth-place breach with a 3-0 win over Indianapolis. R.G. Smith allowed seven Indianapolis hits, but none of them was good for a run.

Easter's blow left Minneapolis, Denver and Omaha fighting for Millers were pulling steadily head of the pack.

Monte Irvin, late of the New York Giants, gave the Millers another push upwards with two homers against St. Paul. Monte hit his first to spark a five-run Minneapolis first and then slammed another during the Millers' three-run fifth. The Millers emerged with a lopsided 9-3 win.

Third-place Omaha meanwhile moved closer to runner-up Denver with a 9-1 triumph over the Bears. Denver got 11 hits, but could make only one count in the scoring column.

Chicago White Sox Pennant Hopes Are Skyrocketing Today

United Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UP)—The return of Dick Donovan and Minnie Minoso's hitting sent Chicago White Sox pennant hopes skyrocketing today.

Donovan's eight-hit victory over the Tigers Sunday gave the White Sox a clean sweep of the four-game Detroit series and moved them within two percentage points of the league-leading Yankees.

Donovan said he felt "the same as ever" after winning his first start since being sidelined by an appendix operation July 31.

"The doctors must have done a beautiful job on me," Donovan said. "I feel great."

The ace right-hander racked up his 14th win against 4 defeats, second best won-lost record in the American League, in going the full nine innings in 98 degree heat.

Manager Marty Marion was bubbling over with optimism in the dressing room after the performances of Donovan and Minoso. Minoso slammed out six hits in nine trips for his best day of the season to boost his batting average to .280.

"How would you feel," he asked reporters, "if your top pitcher turned in a performance like that after being out three weeks?

"Well, I'll tell you how I feel," Marion said. "I feel fine, and Donovan is still my No. 1 pitcher. He'll be working every four days from now on and that should help a lot."

Marion said he knew the Sox would start getting more runs when Minoso started hitting, "and that's just what happened."

Minoso is on a red hot hitting binge, having hit safely in 13 straight games. During the streak he's hit .414, including five doubles, four triples and two home runs, and his average has jumped from .257 to .280.

"I feel better," Minoso said. "I've got my confidence again, and I want to prove to everybody I can hit like I used to."

Minoso finished second in the American League batting race last year with an average of .320. But he has been in a miserable slump up until this month.

Many Titles To Be Decided At The Grand American

VANDALIA, Ohio (UP)—Grand week firing opens today at the 56th Grand American Trapshoot tournament after three days of preliminary shooting.

Titles to be decided will be the champion of champions, women's juniors, veterans and special races, plus a shootoff to determine the Class AA winner.

Herb Bush, 46-year-old diesel mechanic from Canton, Ill., shattered all 200 clay targets from the 16-yard line Sunday to pace the final preliminary shooting. Cliff Doughman, Morrow, Ohio, professional, was second with 199 out of 200 birds.

Fred Debell of Denver, Colo., and P.J. Smith, pro from Lakewood, Colo., tied for third with 198 scores. High among women shooters was Mrs. Hortense Wood of Salt Lake City, Utah, who broke 191.

Class AA competition resulted in a five-way tie at 197 between A.M. Feltus, Washington, Miss.; George Genereux, Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Can.; Mercer Tennile, Shreveport, La.; Ernest Jelley, Kansas City, Mo.; and M.A. Knox, Onida, S.D. Feltus and Genereux were eliminated in a 25-bird shootoff Sunday, so the other three men fire at another 25 today for the class championship.

O.C. Voss, Columbus, Ohio, won the Class A title with a 197 score, J.T. Jones, Birmingham, Mich., the Class B title with a 197, Kenneth C. Smith, Washington Court House, Ohio, the Class C title with a 193, and J.C.Williamson, Winchester, Ky., the Class D title with a 194.

Nocero Favored Over Paolo Melis

NEW YORK (UP) —Rinzi Nocero, young New York middleweight, is favored at 8-5 to beat Paolo Melis of Italy and Montreal tonight in their television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

Each is a slam - bang "club fighter" but only a fair puncher. Each had three fights this year, won two on decisions and was stopped in the other.

Melis, former welterweight champion of Italy who moved to Montreal last year, won decisions over Frederico Escalera and Che Vinci but was stopped by Chico Vejar in the fourth round on April 29.

Nocero was stopped by Rafael Merentino in the eighth round on Feb. 21, but he came back to win decisions over Vic Cardell and Tex Gonzales.

Melis, 26, has had much more experience than Rinzi, but the New Yorker is favored because of his youth, aggressiveness and durability. Nocero suffered but one knockout in his 27 fights, won 25, lost 2 and scored 8 knockouts. Melis' 32-8-2 record includes six kayoes, and two of his defeats were by knockouts.

National Doubles Tourney On Again

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UP)—Second - striing tandems, vaulted into championship contention by a rain-forced rash of withdrawals, settled down to scalping each other today as the 75th National doubles tourney resumed after a five-day layoff.

The four remaining seeded tandems in the men's domestic division and upstart unseeded teams had the field to themselves after the forced postponements stripped the tourney of "name" tandems.

Weather permitting, third round matches will be finished today. The Longwood Cricket Club tourney, originally due to end Sunday now is scheduled to wind up Thursday.

Top contenders for the title vacated by Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert were Eddiei Moylan of Trenton, N. J. and Cliff Mayne of Berkeley. Calif., fifth in domestic seedings.

Seixas and Trabert, aces of the American Davis Cup team, were off to Forest Hills, N. Y., where Cup challenge round play begins Friday.

They, along with teammates Ham Richardson and Gil Shea, and the Australian Cup team who will meet the Americans in the classic, left Boston Friday. They were forced to default when rain washed out play for five days, pushing the tourney into conflict with challenge round preparations.

Three other seeded tandems were eliminated in early round play.

Moore Takes Verbal Pop At Rocky

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (UP) — Archie Moore, who can't resist taking a verbal pop shot at champion Rocky Marciano whenever the opportunity presents itself, leaves for New York for official signing ceremonies today and a face-to-face meeting with his Sept. 20 opponent for the heavyweight championship. "Rocky butted Joe Walcott, hit Ezard Charles low and socked Don Cockell when he was down," Moore quipped. "I guess he's getting ready to kick me."

Palmer Sets Sights On Labatt Open

MONTREAL (UP) — Canadian Open winner Arnold Palmer, who "couldn't afford to remain an amateur," will today set his sights on the rich $26,800 Labatt Open tournament in Montreal this week.

The broad - shouldered Latrobe, Pa., golfer oddly enough holds both the U.S. Amateur title and the Dominion Open crown.

"At least I will for the next two months until somebody wins the 1955 Amateur," he said.

Palmer turned pro after his big victory last year at the Country Club of Detroit and incurred the displeasure of U.S. Amateur officials who charged that Palmer used the event as a springboard to the pros.

"I can understand that they want the winner to defend his title, but I just couldn't afford to remain an amateur," he said in an interview.

But until Saturday, the 25-year-old son of the golfing pro at Latrobe, Pa., Country Club picked up only "about $3,.00 since I became eligible for prize money," and hadn't won a major tournament. He won the Canadian classic Saturday with a 23-under-par 165, just two strokes shy of the Canadian record set by Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C. three years ago at Winnipeg, Man.

"That first one sure felt good. I guess that's the toughest one of all," he said afterward.

Asked if the pressure bothered him when Freddie Hawkins of St. Andrews, Ill., narrowed his lead to two strokes, Palmer said, "No, I don't think so."

"I always make a rule to play the course rather than my opponent. I did the same thing when I won the Amateur and that was match play. I just keep shooting and hoping to play the best I can" he added.

His best was good enough to win the $2,400 first prize money by five strokes over runner - up Jackie Burke Jr., Kiamesha Lake, N. Y.

Owner Says Swaps Will Be Even Better In August Match

CHICAGO (UP) — Owner Rex Ellsworth said today his flashy 3-year-old Swaps would be "even better' in his August 31 match race against Nashua than he was Saturday when he won Washington Park's $146,425 American Derby in record tying time.

"I'm extremely confident that he'll repeat his Kentucky Derby victory over Nashua," Ellsworth said. "He needed this tougher competition after his layoff."

If Saturday's field was competition, Swaps didn't recognize it. A quarter mile after the start of the mile and three sixteenths grind, he was in front by a length and he sayed there despite what appeared to be a tight hold by Jockey Willie Shoemaker.

At the finish, Shoemaker let him run briefly when Clifford Mooers' Traffic Judge came up. After this short sprint, he was clocked at 1:53 3-5, breaking a track record established in 1952 by Volcanici and equalling the American mark set a month ago by Hasty House Farms Platan at Arlington Park.

Weeks said release of the documents is the forerunner of a broader program in which the Atomic Energy Commission will give the Commerce Department research reports as quickly as they become available, for general distribution.

Trapped Coal Miners Play Cards

(UP)—Three coal miners trapped 650 feet underground since Thursday whiled away their time today playing cards because they are not due to be rescued till Tuesday.

Rescue workers drove a tiny rescue tunnel through 110 feet of rock Sunday to reach them.

The men will not be brought out until Tuesday morning when the shaft can be enlarged so they can crawl through it to safety, an official said.

"They are in absolutely no danger. The rescue tunnel is now 40 centimeters (15 inches) in diameter, and if there was an emergency we could bring them out now.' He said they had food and a telephone.

Telephone Hour Will Ring Bell For 800th Time

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) —The Telephone Hour, a radio program dedicated to music performed by the world's most gifted artists, rings the bell for the 800th time tonight.

It was back on April 2, 1940, that its members began making beautiful music together. Over that span, they have stuck together with a tenacity almost equal to that of the Lone Ranger and Tonto.

Musical Director Donald Vorhees has worked on the show since its beginning. So have 26 members of the 57-piece orchestra. Its musical announcer, Floyd Mack, has kicked around the premises for 15 years and commercial announcer Tom Shirley for 13.

It's had the same sponsor during its lifetime, the same Monday slot and judging from its fan mail, an audience that heeds its call with an awe-inspiring regularity comparable to that of Pavlov's dog.

Showcase For Artists

Since its birth, the Telephone House has acted as a showcase for some 120 artists. Jascha Heifetz, who is to the violin what Willie Hoppe is to the billiard cue, ranks as the champion guester—he has fiddled away 53 times. Coloratura Lily Pons is a close second with 46 dates and Ezio Pinza has shown up on 44 enchanting evenings.

The program has scored a notable number of firsts. Feruccio Tagliavini, the Italian tenor, was first introduced to an American radio audience on the show. It was the same with Renata Tebaldi, the Italian soprano. Coloratura Barbara Gibson made her professional debut on the Telephone Hour and so did violinist Michael Rabin.

Rabin, incidentally, ranks as the youngest performer ever to appear on the program. He was 14 at that time. Fritz Kreisler holds honors in the oldster department, with an appearance one month after his 75th birthday.

Mostly Longhair Artists

For the most part, the show concentrates on longhair artists, but there have been a few exceptions. The Yale Glee Club was spotted in one program of charcoal - gray favorites and a platoon of Waves also contributed to one show. Benny Goodman, the mellow custodian of the clarinet, dropped in for a solemn session with the classics and Bing Crosby once appeared in a program of folk songs.

There was even an offbeat occasion on which Fred Allen guest-starred as the narrator in Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf."

Usually, no selection is performed more than once every two years, but on at least one singular musical clambake the same number was played twice. That was when Heifetz played his version of "Hora Staccato" then stood by and listened to the orchestra take a whack at it.

Naval Maneuver Efficiency

On most weeks, the Telephone House operates with the efficiency of a naval maneuver, but there have been a few untoward incidents.

Jose Iturbi, the pianist, failed to show up one night as the program neared air time. A frantic search party was sent out and the unperturbed Iturbi was discovered in a nearby empty studio busily tickling the keys. It seems he had gotten his directions mixed.

More serious was the time when Heifect was scraping the strings in the middle of an intricate violin passage when his E-string snapped.

Heifetz, however continued on three strings and a prayer until he came to a break. Then he borrowed the concert-master's violin.

On another occasion, Nelson Eddy, scheduled to take two choruses of a ballad, had to call a halt after the first round when he developed a heart flutter. The orchestra had to play the second chorus alone.

Hoosier Woman Is Accused Of Killing Policeman

JUAREZ, Mexico (UP)—The fate of a former Indiana woman accused of shooting a policeman to death was in the hands of a judge today—unless appeals are successful.

Judge Francisco Silva Jr., handed down a ruling Saturday that amounted to an indictment of Mrs. Patricia Arthur, 18, native of Cayuga, Ind. the charge was homicide.

Mrs. Arthur is accused of shooting Albert Arreola, 24, in a Juarez cafe August 8. Arreola, separated from his wife, was on the El Paso, Tex., police force, just across the border.

Under Mexican law Silva will act as both judge and jury. Either the defense or prosecution can appeal the homicide charge. Otherwise Silva will try her and pronounce sentence if he finds her guilty.

Farmers Of United States And Russia Swap Yarns About Surpluses And Shortages Today

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The No. 1 farmers of the United States and Russia sat down together today for the first time in history to swap yarns about surpluses, shortages, and their other troubles.

The occasion was an unprecedented meeting today between Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson and Vladimir Vladimirovich Matskevich, first deputy minister of Soviet agriculture.

A get-together like this would have been unthinkable in the old days of the cold war. But in the present relaxed atmosphere, it's right in style. Besides, Matskevich is getting to be a pretty familiar figure.

Last Leg Of Trip

He's the head of the 12-man delegation of Russian farm experts who have been touring American farm lands for the last 44 days. The delegation came into town Sunday night from Los Angeles on the last leg of their trip.

They'll get red-carpet treatment while they're here today and Tuesday. Benson interrupted a vacation to take personal charge of the reception.

He met privately with Matskevich, arranged to see the whole group immediately afterward, and planned a lunch in their honor later.

The delegation also will hold a series of conferences with top Agriculture Department experts on everything from livestock production to farm machinery.

They said they will sum up their views on American farming in an appearance before the National Press Club Tuesday. In Berlin Sunday, a group of American farmers who have just completed a tour of Russia reported that Russian farmers have only the "bare necessities" of life but are content because their lot is now better than ever before.

"Live Wire Guys"

The Soviet delegation also will visit the department's experimental station at Beltsville, Md., Tuesday to see such things as disease-resistant corn hybrids and new silo styles. They expect to leave late Tuesday for New York or Canada.

When the tanned and somewhat weary Russians arrived Sunday night, they had traveled more than 11,500 miles through 12 states. John Strohm, who managed the trip for the United States, said they also had drunk 200 gallons of lemonade and attended 25 Chamber of Commerce luncheons. And, he added, "they liked it."

"They really are live wire guys who knew what they wanted and asked many questions," Strohm said. "They're a very likeable bunch."

Strohm is from Woodstock, Ill., and is agriculture editor of the Ford Almanac.

Rocket Scientists To Prepare For World Of Tomorrow

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP) — About 150 of the world's top rocket sciențise met today to prepare for the world of ttmorrow.

The meeting took on added significance as a result of the government's recent announcement of plans to launch earth-circling satellites into the outer atmosphere os possible forerunners of space ships.

Billed as th efirst national conference on gas dynamics, the three-day symposium was expected to concentrate on "one of the major problems" of the rocket age—combustion of fuels at high speeds.

James Harford, executive secretary of the American Rocket Society, said:

"One of the major problems in developing large liquid fuel rocket engines such as those which will be used on an intercontinental ballistics missile or perhaps in the launching of satellites is combustion instability."

The "very techncal" symposium is sponsored by the Rocket Society and the Northwestern University Technological Institute, in cooperation with the Air Research and Development Command.

I. U. President Leaves For Europe

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UP)—Indiana University President Herman B. Wells left for Europe Sunday on three missions for the Education Committee of the International Cooperation Administration.

He will visit the American University of Beirut, Lebanon, attend a conference at Istanbul, Turkey and a meeting at Hamburg, Germany.

BUSINESS IS RELYING ON NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING TO KEEP SALES CLIMBING

In 1955's first half, newspaper advertising has made its biggest contribution on record to the continued growth of American business.

In the first six months, business invested more dollars in newspaper advertising than in any half-year in history.

Manufacturers' advertising set a new record.

So did retailers' advertising – including department stores, chain stores and all the rest.

So did classified advertising – mainstay of real estate, used cars and many another business.

Manufacturers and retailers alike are profiting from the salespower of newspapers – the salespower that stems from the fact that newspapers are the shopping medium – where consumers look eagerly for advertising – and from the fact that nowhere else can manufacturers' ads and retailers' ads work together so effectively to increase the productivity of both.

IF YOU ARE • a manufacturer • a retailer • a distributor • a merchandise broker • a manufacturer's salesman

...ASK YOURSELF: Is newspaper advertising being called on to do all it can to keep my sales going up?

HERE'S THE RECORD*

1955 VS. 1954

	June	1st Six Months
National advertisers	Up 15.9%	Up 9.5%
Retail advertisers	Up 8.9%	Up 6.8%
Classified advertisers	Up 17.8%	Up 14.4%
All advertisers combined	Up 12.5%	Up 9.2%

In each category—

Biggest June on record

Biggest six months on record

*SOURCE: Media Records 52-City Index. Available data from 291 smaller newspapers reporting to the Bureau of Advertising, ANPA, indicate substantial gains in these newspapers, too—e.g. national advertising in these 291 smaller newspapers was up 13.8% for June; up 4.8% for the first half—vs. 1954.

134 Teachers At 10 County Schools Fall Term; 4 Less Than Last Year

The faculties of all county schools have been completed, according to a list released by the office of Harry T. Yoder, county superintendent of schools. The staffs at the 10 schools were completed recently with the filling of vacancies at Larwill, Columbia township, Jefferson Center, Coesse and Churubusco.

The list shows that a total of 134 teachers, including principals, will be employed by the schools in the 1955-56 school year. This is only four less than the number of teachers last year, even though five less are required at Washington Center where the high school was discontinued.

However, changes in number of teachers at other schools shows one less employed at both Churubusco and South Whitley and one addition made at Columbia township.

The list of teachers and principals at the 10 county schools is as follows:

Train-School Bus Collision Kills 10, Injures 30 Others

Tennessee Governor Orders Investigation

SPRING CITY, Tenn. (UP)—Gov. Frank Clement today ordered a three-way investigation of a freight train-school bus collision which killed 10 small children and injured 30 others at a Spring City grade crossing.

The speeding train Monday plowed into the side of the yellow bus toward the rear, tearing it into a twisted mass and scattering the killed and mangled children for 300 feet.

Among the slightly injured was the driver, Raymond Moore, 38, who said he saw the train and "prayed I would make it" but it was too late.

Clement promised stunned parents of Ideal Valley, where most of the children lived, that the state would "leave no stone unturned" to prevent a recurrence of such a disaster.

Governor To Meet Parents

The governor announced Monday night in Knoxville, Tenn., that he would arrive today to meet personally the parents of the dead children and tour hospitals of four other towns where the injured were taken.

Mayor Leonard Pack, an early arriver at the scene, said the freight train was traveling at full speed along tracks through the heart of this town of 1,725 population and "burst the rear of the bus like a bubble."

Mrs. Sybil Hardaway, a newspaper correspondent, said that when she arrived "the bodies of the children were scattered over the ground, all covered with blood, all mangled."

This farming town in the Cumberland Mountain foothills has no hospital. The injured children were rushed by ambulance and private automobile to hospitals in Chattanooga, Rockwood, Crossville and Dayton.

The bus driver, a part-time farmer, said he had been driving his newly-bought school bus only since the school term began little more than a week ago. He was charged with manslaughter and released on bond.

"I stopped at the crossing but didn't see the train," Moore said. "When I started across the tracks

Prolific Tree Blooms In August

Mrs. Fred Yontz, 115 East Jackson street, has a magnolia tree.

In June she read in the Post and Mail that Mrs. Paul Morsches also has a magnolia tree which was blooming during that unseasonable month. Mrs. Yontz's tree wasn't blooming then, although it had bloomed during April and May.

Then Mrs. Yontz's tree bloomed again in July and now, during the latter part of August, Mrs. Yontz's tree is blooming more profusely than before.

Mrs. Yontz said Monday she thinks it's the weather tha's making her tree so prolific.

Indiana Losing Crop Land At A Rapid Rate

Over 710,000 Acres Diverted In 10 Years

INDIANAPOLIS, — Indiana is losing crop land at the rate of almost one county every two years to urban, industrial and public development, according to a survey just completed by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

C. E. Swain, State conservationist for SCS, says that more than 710,000 acres of land formerly in crop production have been used for subdivisions, industrial expansion, roads, parks, airports and other private and public uses during the past ten years. This is the same as the removal from cultivation of all the crop land from about 5 average Indiana counties during this 10-year period.

"Every mile of four-lane highway constructed through rural areas takes at least 40 acres of farm land out of agricultural use," Swain explained. "Subdivisions, surburban country homes, shopping centers and industrial sites are taking large blocks of land around almost every city and town. Because it is more economical to build such facilities as streets, sewer and water systems on level land, the best crop land is often perferred to less valuable land for industrial and residential developments."

The survey was conducted in all counties in the state and acres of crop land withdrawn for both private and public developments for each 5-year period for the past 15 years were determined. County Agents, agricultural committees, highway department, Soil Conservation District Supervisors and other county, city and town officials provided information to complete the studies.

In addition to this reduction of crop land that is taking place, the soil surveys show that an additional 575,000 acres of land now in cultivation in the state should be taken out of row crops and put in permanent pasture or trees. This is land that is either too steep, badly eroded or the type of soil that cannot be continued in cultivation without serious deterioration and loss.

More than 22,000 farmers are now cooperating with the 68 Soil Conservation Districts in the state, Swain reports, and are planning and carrying out sound soil and water conservation practices on the 3,250,000 acres they own or operate. Many other farmers are carrying out similar needed practices with the assistance of other agricultural programs and agencies.

Huge Stage Is Being Set For The State Fair

268-Acre Tract Is Taking On Color

INDIANAPOLIS The 268-acre stage is being set and the properties and scenery are getting into place for Indiana's biggest show—the 1955 Indiana State Fair.

Tents for concessions, exhibits, and the machinery field are in all stages of completion over the grounds, and there is activity in all of the permanent buildings.

If you could take a tour around the grounds this week, you'd be greeted at the 38th Street entrance with a signboard being set up by Indianapolis Yard Parks reminding fairgoers to keep the fairgrounds clean.

The largest state fair cattle barn is swept clean, the manufacturers building is getting its bright blue drapes hung and the lights in its year old aluminum marquee tested, and the women's building has fine arts exhibits in it already.

As you drive into the fairgrounds, you'll see the yawning doors of Purdue building straight ahead, and a staff from Purdue setting up 22 exhibits, including a farm pond in the center of the building, complete with a little mechanical farmer fishing and a moving tractor displacing dirt.

There will be a special classification in floriculture judging in the agriculture and horticulture building as florists prepare arrangements depicting the theme of this year's Fair, "Communications—Its Role in Agriculture and Industry."

If you progressed on past the administration building, you'd see more cars parked there than will be room for during the fair as the ticket department, entry department, publicity office, secretary-manager's office, and State Fair Board try to dig out of the mass of last minute work there.

Next door, the old Farm Bureau building, is being readied by the American Dairy Association,

To Get Funds For Flood-Stricken Eastern States

Has Conference With Governors Of Six States

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—President Eisenhower said today he would call a special session of Congress "if necessary" to get federal funds for disaster relief in the flood-stricken eastern states.

Grimly and forcefully, the President pledged the full facilities of the federal government during a conference with governors of six hard-hit states at Bradley Field, Windsor Locks, Conn., near here.

He met with the governors immediately after landing in gloomy weather this morning for an aerial inspection of the flood-ravaged areas. His view, however, was partly spoiled by soupy weather and low-hanging clouds. Mr. Eisenhower made the flying survey after a night flight from Denver, where he has been vacationing.

Appeals for Help

His face reddening and his voice rising with feeling, Mr. Eisenhower said in a statement for press, radio, and newsreels that he will ask congressional leaders immediately for authority to spend as needed to help the flood areas.

He said he hopes a way will be worked out so the money can be obligated now and appropriated when Congress reconvenes in January.

But "if necessary, I will call a special session to get the money," he declared.

E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the American Red Cross, and Federal Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson flanked Mr. Eisenhower as he sat at a plain table in a cavernocs aircraft hangar on the gloomy, overcast airfield.

Injured American Walks To Freedom Today; Communists Treatment O.K., Considering

By ROBERT BROWN
United Press Staff Correspondent

KIRISIL, Demilitarized Zone, Guy H. Bumpas walked to freedom today with his injured head swathed in bandages and said the treatment he received by the Communists who shot down his plane was "O.K., considering the circumstances."

A few moments later the Reds handed over a wooden casket containing the body of Army Capt. Charles W. Brown of West ouisville, Ky., who was killed a week ago when "trigger happy" Red gunners shot down the light plane piloted by Bumpas.

Bumpas, 23, of Jackson, Miss., arrived at this lonely exchange spot in a white ambulance. He stood wearing the flight suit in which he crashed, two Communist nurses at his side, while the United Nations command negotiated the final details of his release.

Bumpas return to freedom was delayed 10 minutes while the U.N. command insisted that the Communists turn over the wounded man before delivering the casket of the dead Army captain.

Flown to Hospital

Because of the lieutenant's physical condition, the American officers said, he should be returned first. The Reds hesitated a few minutes and then agreed. They indicated earlier Bumpas had suffered a fractured skull.

Lt. Col. Harold Dye of Atlanta, Ga., head of the U.N. joint observer team in the area, formally received Bumpas and the body of the dead captain. He signed a receipt and handed it to the Reds.

About 30 North Korean and Chinese Communist officers and soldiers took part in the dramatic exchange near a bombed-out bridge in the no man's land of the Korean truce.

Bumpas shook hands with his Red captors when freedom finally came and he walked to the waiting Americans and a helicopter which

Train-Bus

I saw it and heard the engineer blowing the whistle. I prayed I would make it but I knew I was too late."

Stunned Parents Arrive

Paul Giles, engineer of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific freight train, said he was traveling at full speed but that the warning light was blinking at the crossing.

He said the bright yellow bus moved upon the tracks when he was about 150 feet from the crossing and his Diesel engine struck it about six feet from the rear.

The bus had picked up the children at the grammar school two blocks away and was taking them toward their homes at scattered Ideal Valley farms and at Grandview Community 2½ miles west of Spring City.

Mrs. Hardaway said the parents later began arriving in town to learn why their children had not reached home.

The stunned men and women began picking up shoes, bits of torn clothing and textbooks and note pads they recognized as belonging to their own children, Mrs. Hardaway said.

Then they would locate their children's bodies, she said, or else trace their children to the hospitals at other towns or cities.

Rain Drums Again On Coastal States

Rain drummed again today on Atlantic coastal states still mopping up from the most damaging flood in U.S. history.

The new rains fell over the flood areas of Pennsylvania and New York. Brookville, Pa., got 1.27 inches in six hours and Parkersburg, Pa., 1.20. Farther south, Baltimore, Md., was soaked by 1.93 inches in six hours and Washington D.C., with 1.40.

The floods, spawned by hurricane Diane's rains last week, have caused 209 deaths in a six-state area and left many more missing and feared dead. About 100,000 persons are homeless and damage is estimated at a record three billion dollars.

In Ontario, Canada, a new wind and rain storm swept the eighth World Jamboree Boy Scout camp Top Scout officials were caught in falling tents and a huge outdoor arena was damaged.

Meanwhile, the Brownsville, Tex., and Miami, Fla., weather bureaus said they have reports of two separate potential hurricane areas in the Caribbean Sea and the Gulf of Mexico.

Another band of thundershowers stretched from the Texas Panhandle across Oklahoma to Arkansas.

Texas 163 was closed between Juno and Comstock in southwest Texas by seven inches of water and a 50-mile-per-hour gale sent flagpole sitter Richard Blandy crashing 50 feet to the ground at Oklahoma City Okla. He suffered a skull fracture.

To the north, cool Canadian air continued to push back a heat wave. The cool front dropped temperatures as much as 24 degrees in the Midwest Monday and was draining southward across the Great Lakes into the Ohio River Valley today.

Third Outbreak In Nebraska Prison Within One Week

Prisoners Set Fire To Papers And Rags

INCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Nebraska Reformatory prisoners yelled and set fire to paper and rags Monday night in the third outbreak at a Nebraska prison within a week.

Reformatory Supt. George Morris said the uprising was prompted by more serious riots earlier at the Nebraska Penitentiary. More than 300 convicts put prison buildings to the torch last Tuesday and Wednesday and 16 rioters were quelled by shotguns in penitentiary "hole" Sunday night.

The reformatory uprising was put down when Morris and a dozen unarmed guards marched into the cell block and yanked the ringleaders out of their cells. The rebels were taken to the maximum security building and locked up.

Morris said about 75 of the 300 reformatory inmates took part in the outbreak. They started shouting and set fire to rags and paper which they tossed out of their windows.

The uprising lasted only an hour, ending at 11 p.m. when Morris and the guards went into the cell block. The superintendent denied it was a riot calling it merely a "minor disturbance."

The reformatory is located a few miles southwest of Lincoln, scene of the earlier riots.

Three-Ton Circus Elephant Breaks Loose

KENNEWICK, Wash. (UP) —A three-ton elephant named Judy broke loose from the Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey Circus here Monday night and plowed a two-mile path of destruction before it was subdued.

The huge beast was cornered and finally put under control in a grape vineyard. Panting circus workers and an estimated 150 volunteers helped corral the elephant.

When Judy was back where she belonged, circus officials started making the damage estimates from irate farmers and housewives. Grape vines, fences and clothes lines had been ripped out by the giant pachydern.

Miss Sarah Ruth Brow n Of Winona Lake Weds Charles Rhoads Winston Saturday

Mrs. Charles Winston

Miss Sarah Ruth Brown, formerly of this city and now of Winona Lake, was wed in a double-ring ceremony Saturday evening to Charles Winston, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Winston of Brussels, Belgium. Miss Brown is the daughter of Mrs. M. Ruth Brown of Winona Lake and the late Grover C. Brown.

The marriage lines were read in the Winona Lake Free Methodist Church by Rev. Stanley Watkins. Baskets of white gladiolus and pink asters, and candelabra formed the background at the altar.

The traditional wedding marches were played by Miss Katherine Carmichael of St. Louis, Missouri. Mrs. Ruth Rodeheaver Thomas of Winona Lake, and Roland Felts of Wilmore, Kentucky, sang "I Love Thee" and "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony.

Bride Chooses White

Miss Brown was given in marriage by her brother, Max W. Brown, of Fort Wayne. The bride's gown was fashioned of Chantilly-type lace over satin, featuring a scoop neckline and sleeves which tapered into points over the hands. The bouffant skirt fell into a chapel train, accented with tiers of pleated nylon tulle. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was attached to a small crown of lace and seed pearls. The bride carried a cascade of pink sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Mildred Ford of Chicago. Miss Ruth Kaiser, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and Miss Rose Marie Hesselgrave of Indianapolis, served as bridesmaids. Rachel Rhoads Williams, 3-year-old cousin of the groom, was flower girl.

Attendants Wore Blue

The attendants wore identical gowns of iridescent blue taffeta. The modified long torso bodices, of tucked taffeta, were detailed by scoop necklines and short sleeves. The very full skirts were waltz length with bustle bows. Matching blue halos of flowerettes, with eye veils, completed the costumes. The attendants carried colonial bouquets of white mums and pink sweetheart roses.

Joseph Winston served his brother as best man. John S. Williams of Rock Island, Illinois, and Oong Choi, Philadelphia, seated the guests.

The bride's mother chose a soft gray taffeta dress trimmed with seed pearls. White accessories and a corsage of pink carnations completed her outfit.

Reception In Rainbow Room

The reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the Rainbow Room of the Westminister Hotel, at Winona Lake. Assistants at the reception were Mrs. Richard Messner, Ashland, Ohio; Miss Lois Barndollar, Johnson City, New York; Miss Katherine Newburg, Philadelphia; and Miss Joyce Terjung, Akron, Ohio. Mrs. Richard Hoffman, of this city, kept the guest book.

The bridal couple will make their home at Wheaton, Illinois, upon their return September 1 from their wedding trip to Dallas, Texas. For her going-away, the bride chose an aqua dress of silk crystallette with a matching duster. Her accessories were in white, and she wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Graduates of Wheaton College

Miss Brown was graduated in June from Wheaton College, Wheaton, Illinois. Mr. Winston also attended college at Wheaton, where he was graduated in 1954. This fall he will enter graduate school there.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Williams of Wheaton, Illinois, uncle of the groom, and John C. Winston, Jr., Albuquerque, New Mexico, brother of the groom.

The group spent two days at Spider Lake, near Traverse City, Mich., went to the Straits of Mackinac, and crossed into Canada on a ferry at Sault Sainte Marie.

They traveled through the mining areas down to Niagra, viewed Niagra Falls at night and during the day, and returned to this city via New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

Eisenhower

The governors of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey and Pennsylvania and other officials sat at the table or clustered behind them as the President, Harriman and Peterson spoke.

Mr. Eisenhower said the Red Cross appeal "is a chance where each of us can rise to an emergency and prove that the American people, regardless of governments, regardless of the limitations on them, can meet an emergency and ot it well.

A "Terrible Thing"

Peterson estimated it may take 75 million dollars federal aid for the eight states in which major disaster areas have been declared by Mr. Eisenhower. Only 11½ million dollars is available now in the President's emergency fund, he said.

Mr. Eisenhower renewed his urgent appeal for the American people to contribute heavily to the American Red Cross drive for emergency funds to help the flood victims.

He said the federal, state and local governments cannot do it all because of necessary laws restricting their activities.

"Everybody within the sound of my voice will sleep better tonight if he turns in everything that he can spare to meet this great disaster that has happened to our fellow Americans," the President said.

Mr. Eisenhower s only good look at the flood-damaged area was in the Naugatuck River valley around Ansonia and Derby, Conn. Some of the worst damage of last week's disastrous floods occurred in that highly industrialized valley.

He told newsmen aboard his plane that the flood is a "terrible thing," and "the big thing is to get relief in here."

Federal Disaster Areas

Mr. Eisenhower returned to Washington at 11:32 a.m. EDT and will fly to Philadelphia Wednesday for a speech to the American Bar Assn. He will stop briefly in Washington after the speech. There he will be joined by Mrs. Eisenhower, and then fly back to Denver late Wednesday to resume his work-and-play vacation.

The weather was so bad the President was forced to cancel the last three legs of his original itinerary. He had planned to fly from the Ansonia area to Providence, R.I., from there to hard-hit Woonsocket, R.I., then to Worcester and Springfield, Mass., and south to Hartford.

Governors meeting the President here included Averell Harriman of New York Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts, Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, Dennis J. Roberts of Rhode Island and George M. Leander, of Pennsylvania.

Federal Diaster Areas

Sections of all of these states have been declared federal disaster areas. All of them too have counted flood fatalities, damage in the millions of dollars, crippled industries, unemployment, homeless and extreme suffering.

Two other states, Virginia and Delaware, also had fatalities from the vicious floods spawned by Hurricane Diane, the second hurricane and the fourth major storm of the season along the Atlantic seaboard.

Ribicoff said before the President's arrival that his visit would provide a "terrific boost to morale."

"The people of Connecticut and the nation are grateful to the President for taking this deep humanitarian interest in the suffering of the people in the flooded areas."

The death toll at the time of the President's arrival in the flood area stood at 209. Many more were still missing and feared dead.

The latest count showed Pennsylvania had 113 fatalities, Connecticut 60, Massachusetts 22, New Jersey 6, New York 4, Virginia 2, Delaware 1 and Rhode Island one.

Some 100,000 persons were reported homeless, approximately 20,000 were left without jobs, and damage was expected to reach 3 billion dollars.

Worst Flood Dollar-Wise

The damage figure was three times as great as the 1951 Kansas-Missouri floods, the worst until then in dollar damage.

State by state, the flood aftermath presented this picture at the time of President Eisenhower's arrival on the scene:

Pennsylvania: Plans made to evacuate 10,000 children from summer camps in Poconos Mountains which suffered severe flood casualties. Eleven persons still missing and presumed drowned at Camp Davis. More than 11,000 persons received anti-typhoid shots. Acute water shortage reported at Scranton. Plans made to rush construction of temporary bridges.

New York: Southeastern section declared federal disaster area. Gov. Harriman reported after personal survey that there was "widespread suffering and heavy damage to private and public property." He instructed heads of state departments to do everything in their power to assist in restoration and rehabilitation of industries, businesses, homes, and farms.

Connecticut: Seventy - four persons still missing in addition to 60 confirmed dead. Damage reestimated at one billion dollars. Thousands without jobs. Uemployment situation critical in some areas. Thousands homeless. Governor ordered 34 million dollar state building program suspended to give priority to reconstruction in stricken areas.

Massachusetts: Many missing in addition to 22 confirmed dead. Additional victims expected to be found in ruins of buildings, mud and silt. Some refugees reported being victimized by profiteers. Authorities said it would be months before flooded area is dried out and the damage repaired. American Optical Co. at Southbridge reported 20 million dollars damage to its plant.

New Jersey: Damage estimated at 100 million dollars. Damage to state and county roads alone set at 7 million dollars. Health authorities scheduled vaccinations against typhoid. Department of Institutions and Agencies alerted to match municipal welfare funds for homeless.

Federal agencies rushed into the flood area to deal with the gigantic rehabilitation problem.

The White House said Mr. Eisenhower was giving federal Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson what amounted to a "blank check" to pour federal aid into the disaster area.

flew him to the 121st Evacuation Hospital at Ascom City near Inchon.

Reporters asked him about his treatment.

"It was all right . . . It was O.K. considering the circumstances, I was treated very well," he said. "I got all my personal belongings back."

When asked about medical care in North Korea he replied, "I am no doctor but as far as I know I seem to be getting along all right.'

But he refused to talk further about his experiences or about the crash of his plane after Red anti aircraft guns blasted it down last Wednesday and the United Nations denounced the Reds for their "barbarous act.'

The Communists said Bumpas' plane was on a reconnaissance mission and quoted the young pilot who has been in Korea only three months as saying, "From where I was first fired on in the north to where I landed was about 10 miles south." This would have plaed him over Red territory.

But South Koreans who saw the incident said the tiny plane was not over Red territory and Parks told newsmen he did not believe Bumpas made such a statement The Reds themselves reported Bumpas unconscious from his head wounds.

Key To First Place To Be In Cellar Tonight, In Keeping Of Last-Place Baltimore Orioles

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The key to first place will be in the cellar toinght—in the keeping of the last-place Baltimore Orioles.

"Frankly, I don't give a hang whether Cleveland, Chicago or New York wins the pennant if we can't win it ourselves," says Baltimore Manager Paul Richards.

But tonight, anyway, Richards' Orioles will determine which club shall lead the American League. Here's why:

The White Sox are a half-game out of first place but they can take over the top rung by two percentage points if they sweep a twi-night doubleheader with the lowly Orioles tonight. The pace-setting Yankees, who meet the Tigers in a night game, can't do a thing about soping Chicago even if they beat Detroit.

Richards, who left the White Sox at the end of last year to come to Baltimore, thinks Chicago "has the necessary pitching to win the pennant," but he doesn't intend to make it easy for his old ball club.

Orioles Troublesome

The Orioles have given the White Sox as much, if not more, trouble than any other club in the league this season and Richards says there's liable to be a lot more in store for them.

Marty Marion, who succeeded Richards as White Sox manager, has nominated Virgil (Fire) Trucks and Sandy Consuegra for tonight's tell-tale twin-bill while Erv Palica and George Zuverink will pitch for Baltimore.

The Yankees, who just swept three games in a row from the Orioles, will rest their hopes on fastballer Bob Turley against Tiger rookie Frany Lary.

Cleveland, only game out of first lace, will send southaw strikeout ace Herb Score against Frank Sullivan of Boston in another key night game while in the other American League contest, Alex Kellner of Kansas City is scheduled to face Bob Porterfield of Washington.

Over in the National League, where Brooklyn's lead has recently been shaved from 16 games to a "mere" 11, the Dodgers will find out how much good Monday's 90-minute batting drill did when they meet the Cubs.

Clubs Enjoy Off-Day

All big league clubs enjoyed an off-day Monday but Dodger Manager Walter Alston, concerned by 9 losses in the last 13 games, put his charges through an hour and a half batting drill.

Don Newcombe will go after his 19th victory for the f itfiht omte-19th victory for the fifth time tonight against Bob Rush, who will be shooting for his 11th triumph.

The Milwaukee Braves who still entertain faint pennant hopes themselves, oppose Robin Roberts, the majors' only 20-game winner. At Philadelphia, with Lew Burdette going for Charlie Grimm's second-place crew.

In the other two National League night games, Willard Schmidt of the Cardinals was nominated to go against southpaw Johnny Antonelli of the Giants, while Vern Law was the choice of the Pirates to face Art Fowler of the Redlegs.

Paolo Melis Defeats Nocero; Now Matched With Chico Vejar

NEW YORK (UP)—Paolo Melis of Montreal, former welterweight champion of Italy, was matched today for a 10-round TV fight with seventh-ranking Chico Vejar at St.Nicholas Arena on Oct. 17 as a reward for Monday night's victory over middleweight Rinzi Nocero.

Melis, an 11-5 underdog, won a unanimous 10-round decision over Nocero of Brooklyn in their TV bout at St.Nick's. Toughy Nocero lost two rounds on low-blow fouls and was warned four other times for rough-house tactics.

Matchmaker Tex Sullivan said today, "We have closed for Melis and Vejar on Oct. 17. But, of course, if anything happens to Vejar on Sept. 14 in his fight with Tony DeMarco in Boston, we'll have to get another opponent for Melis."

That other opponent would be the winner of next Monday night's fight at St. Nick's between welterweights Gene Poirier of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Chris Christensen of Denmark, Sullivan said.

Marciano, Moore Bout Seems To Be A Private Hassle

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore are legally bound today to battle for the heavyweight crown at Yankee Stadium on Sept. 20 but it would take the combined talents of Sherlock Holmes and the Mark Brothers to untangle the maneuvering involved.

The official signing almost hit a snag when Al Weill, Rocky's manager, demanded a $100,000 forfeit for a return bout. This delayed Monday's proceedings some 2 hours and 35 minutes.

It must have been quite a private hassle.

Chronologically it went like this: Weill showed up at the commission offices looking like the proverbial canary-stuffed cat. Quoth the wily Alsatian: "This fig ihtnst' the wily Alsatian: "This fight isn't signed yet, and wouldn't have been unless our terms were met."

They had been, he smiled. Moore's camp would post the bond with Promoter Jim Norris for a return within 90 days — if Marciano loses.

All Newspaper Talk

Charley Johnston, Moore's manager, arrived next and sputtered that he thought the demand "was all newspaper talk." Now he believes what he reads in the papers.

"We thought it was just talk, although even Moore knew about it," Johnston fumed. "If the Marciano camp isn't worried, as they claim, why are they worrying about the forfeit. It's ridiculous."

Moore, trailing in his wake, fouled up Johnston's lines.

"I didn't even know about this $100,000 business," he said.

Then Julius Helfand, the chairman of the New York Boxing Commission, had his say.

"The signing was set for 12:30 p. m., but I was told that Moore had been delayed in transit."

Moore at 12:30 was sitting in the nearby offices of the promoting International Boxing Clob. Rocky was in town at noon. The managerial masterminds must have been settling their differences in a sound proof room because mid - town Manhattan seemed quite serene.

Helfand added that he had refused to accept the forfeit memorandum and the return bout cluase a spart of the contract for the fight. But he did estimate privately that even without commission sanction they apparently would be quite legal.

Rocky Appears Unconcerned

Ordinarily such maneuvering behind closed doors, and such tangled statements, might lead one to be suspect of the pending embroglio. But Rocky, the man with the most at stake, appeared quite unconcerned. He was calm and dispassionate despite the heat, the wait and the overplayed reports of his anger at Moore's optimistic precombat claims.

"I was annoyed when Moore was trying to get this fight," he explained. "He seemed to be trying to make people think I was afraid of him. But I'm not angry now. We'll settle this on the night of the 20th."

Moore still was making his claims that he would win in "the greatest fight in 50 years."

That, of course, remains in doubt. So does what happened before they signed the contracts Monday.

Isaac McConnell Also Has Collection Of License Plates

The newspaper has received a letter from Isaac McConnell, R 1, Churubusco, who states that he also has a collection of all Indiana vehicle license plates issued from 1911, the date they were first authorized by the state.

We printed a story and picture in last Wednesday's newspaper of Keith Marks, who lives on the William Gipe plase, R 4, showing him with a complete state license plate collection which he received in a will from his uncle, Otto Rossman, LaGrange. We quoted Marks as saying that it might be the only such collection made by one car owner, meaning one person had purchased all the plates.

According to the McConnell letter, he was also issued each plate in his collection. McConnell said that he made the plate in 1911 by painting a number on a sheet of tin. He said that he mailed the secretary of state $1 and was issued a number only.

Since the Marks collection was made in LaGrange county, possibly the McConnells have the only such collection made in Whitley county.

Following publication of the license plate article and story, a 1913 plate was brought into the Auto License Branch by Si Johnson, who formerly worked for Mel Miller's Ford garage when it was located where Pontiac Sales and Wolfe's garage are now. It was the first modern styled plate issued and was metal, covered with porcelain similar to a bathtub.

If any other readers know of complete State vehicle license plate collections, we would appreciate hearing from them.

Hopes For Keeping Tennis Crown In U.S. Rests With Youngsters

CHESTNUT HIL, Mass. (UP) — American hopes for keeping the National tennis doubles crown in the United States rested today with a pair of promising but unseeded youngsters who have already downed to seeded tandems.

The lads in question, Jerry Moss and Bill Quillian, saw to themselves, in fact, that they were tops in contention by disposing of the only remaning domestic seeded entres in the 75th doubles tourney Monday.

Moss, a 19-year-old from St. Petersburgh, Fla. who is rated the best junior singles player in the nation, and his 21-year-old Seattle, Wash., teammate, squeaked by fourth seeded Eddie Moylan of Trenton, N. J. and Cliff Mayne of Berkeley, Calif., in third round action Monday, 6-4, 6-2 1-6 57 63.

With the demise of Messrs. Mayne and Moylan only two seeded tandems remained — and they were both foreign.

The rest of the ranking teams have either defaulted in the rain-delayed tourney in order to play in the Davis Cup challenge round, or were eliminated earlier.

British Bomber Completes Lap 1 Of Round Trip

May Finish Trip In Less Than 14 Hours

NEW YORK (UP) — A british twin-jet bomber completed the first lap of a one-day round trip across the Atlantic in 7 hours, 30 minutes and 53 seconds today and took off again at 10:23:40 a.m. EDT for London.

If the plane finds return tail-winds equal to the headwinds it battled on its westward lap, it should finish the trip in less than the 14 hours hoped for by its two crewmen.

The bullet-nosed English Canberra was officially clocked over the Floyd Bennett Naval Air Station, Brooklyn, at 9:48:46 a.m. EDT and landed at 9:53 a.m. It was back in the air, after re-fueling by a U.S. Naval Reserve crew, a brief breakfast for its pilot and weather briefing for its navigator, in just half an hour.

Pilot John William Hackett, 32, said the men had had "a very pleasant trip' after their official timing out of Croyden Airport, London, at 7:17:53 a.m. (2:17:53 a.m. EDT).

Navigator Peter J. Moneypenny, 28, said the plane traveled at an average speed of 440 knots—about 497 miles an hour—at 48,000 feet with headwinds of 40 to 45 knots. Seven hundred of its 4,100 gallons of fuel were left on landing—"enough to get to Baltimore or Washington if the weather was too bad in New York."

The pilot and navigator, both Royal Air Force veterans now employed by a commercial airline, said they had flown over the clouds to Newfoundland but found the weather progressively worse as they approached New York.

2 Drivers Sentenced To 20 Days In Jail For Drunken Driving

Two drivers were sentenced to 20 days each in the Whitley County Jail in Circuit court Monday when they pleaded guilty to charges of operating motor vehicles while under the influence of intoxicating beverage.

Both men also had their driver's licenses suspended for a period of one year and received fines of $10 each.

William Sidney Putyrae, 40, was arrested Sunday while driving on U.S. highway 30 by Trooper Norman Pierce of the Indiana State Police. Alvin Wegner, 31, was arrested, also by Pierce, Saturday on highway 30.

Both men received six-month sentences to the Indiana State Farm, but the terms were suspended, except for the jail sentences. Counts of public intoxication against each of the two men were continued indefinitely.

A charge of public intoxication against a third man, Charles E. Brown, also arrested by Pierce, was dismissed by the court Monday for lack of sufficient evidence, on a recommendation by Edward J. Meyers, Jr., prosecuting attorney.

Italian Police Crack Spy Ring

ROME (UP)—Italian police said today they had cracked a dangerous spy ring involving "high personalities and officials on the other side of the Iron Curtain."

Three men under arrest were described as leaders of the espionage network for "not less than three years." Police said more arrests might be made.

The three, apprehended late Monday, were found to be in possession of documentary evidence of espionage, including letters linking the plot to officials of an unidentified Communist country.

U.S., Red China Envoys Meet

GENEVA (UP)—Envoys of the United States and Communist China met for 27 minutes today to discuss release of 41 American civilians detained by the Reds.

But there was no indication of progress when the 10th session of the talks adjourned with agreement to meet again Wednesday.

A brief joint communique said only that agenda item one, the return of civilians of both sides to their respective countries were discussed. The session opened the fourth week of the talks.

Eli Lilly Rushes Medicine To East To Combat Disease

INDIANAPOLIS, (UP) Eli Lilly &Co. is rushing air shipments of medicines to flood-stricken eastern states to combat threatened outbreaks of disease.

The Indianapolis firm, also the nation's largest Salk polio vaccine manufacturer, sent immunizations against typhoid and tetanus, primarily to Connecticut, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

A spokesman said by nightfall 60,000 doses were sent. Most of them will go to wholesale druggists whose stocks were wiped out.

Lilly also said it will replace free of charge any of its products damaged or destroyed in retail stores by the flood. The firm began making such replacements after the 1906 San Francisco earthquake, the spokesman said.

Norwegian Premier, Wife To Visit Russia

In accepting the Soviet invitation, the premier said there were no political problems of major importance to be discussed during his visit.

Vienna To Have Hilton Hotel

VIENNA, Austria (UP) — An American financial agent was returning to New York today to report on successful preliminary negotiations on construction of a Hilton hotel here.

Ernest Barth of New York, after discussions with Austrian financial groups, said he expects the new hotel to increase Austria's dollar earning power and help ease Vienna's hotel shortage.

The slide rule was originated by Edmund Gunter, an English mathematician, in 1620.

Russian Farmers At Ag Department's Big Research Center

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
United Press Staff Corresponden

WASHINGTON (UP) — Visiting Russian farm experts journeyed today to nearby Beltsville, Md., for a long look at the Agriculture Department's big research center where most of this country's better farming techniques originated.

The dozen Russians, who have spent 45 days studying U.S. farming methods in the field, were scheduled to see better farming in the laboratory.

The Beltsville visit started early —shortly after 7 a.m. EDT — so that the Russians could attend a National Press Club lunch and then start back to the Soviet Union via New York. The Beltsville program included observations and demonstrations of the latest research on livestock, crops and home economics and home nutrition.

Specific projects included disease-resistant corn hybrids; corn harvesting, storage of corn silage and different types of silos; baling alfalfa with an experimental electric field baler; improvement of dairy herds through use of proven sires and artificial insemination; plant science research; animal industry research; new meat - type hogs; functions of the meat laboratory and newly designed farm kitchens.

The first day of the Russians' Washington visit included a lunch given by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson and conferences with various department officials. The Russians asked scores of questions, mainly about the statistics of U.S. farm production and farm machinery production.

They also visited Mt. Vernon, home of George Washington, thus observing a tradition that an official Washington visit is not complete without a trip to the first president's home.

At Mount Vernon, they laid a wreath on Washington's tomb.

The farm experts were honored at a reception Monday night at the ornate, red-carpeted Soviet Embassy. There were hundreds of guests, including Benson and scores of newspapermen.

Weather Bureau Wants To Borrow Pre-1870 Diaries

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Weather Bureau would like to borrow your great - grandfather's diary.

The weathermen promise not to give away any family secrets. They aren't interested in our ancestor's romantic or financial affairs. But the are curious to know, for example, if it was snowng so hard on Nov. 10, 1850, that your great-grandfather had to cancel a trip to town. Or if a long rainy spell made him postpone spring planting in 1855.

Tidbits of information like that, if enough of them can be gleaned from the attics of America, will make it possible for scientists to compile something they need very badly—a reasonably accurate recorc of the weather conditions that prevailed in various parts of the country prior to 1870.

They have detailed daily records of the weatner since 1870, the year in which the Army Signal Corps established a weather service which later became the present Weather Bureau.

From this 85-year history, they have concluded that the climate of North America is gradually changing. Over large parts of the country, for example, the average temperature is several degrees warmer than it was nearly a century ago.

If climatologists can obtain reliable data on a longer span, they can tell when this warm-up cycle began, and can make a more accurate guess as to how long it may continue. Experts are now sharply divided on this subject. Some hold that the trend toward milder winters and longer summers will continue for many more years; others contend that it will start getting colder again in the 1960's.

More than scientific curiosity is involved. The change in climate already has had profound effects on agriculture, because northern areas now have longer growing seasons and can successfully raise crops which once were precluded. If the trend continues, there could be far-reaching effects, not only on farming, but on other branches of the economy, such as the heating, insulating and air conditioning industries.

Whle the need for earlier weather history has long been recognized, it was not until this summer that the Weather Bureau embarked on the tremendous project of compiling it.

Tragedy Strikes Honeymoon Cruise Of Elderly Couple

ERIE, Pa., (UP)—The planned 6,000 mile honeymoon cruise of a 78-year-old Spanish-American War veteran and his 70-year-old bride ended in tragedy Monday when a sudden storm smashed their cabin boat to bits on Lake Erie and the husband died.

Mrs. Louise Hecker, New Port Richey, Fla., whose husband died in her arms as they bobbed in life preservers, said their boat "just opened up and split apart."

She struggled desperately for more than two hours to save her husband, Cat. Harvey Hecker, before she was rushed by Coast Guard boat to an Erie Hospital.

Coroner Millard Turner said Hecker died of a combination of drowning and exposure.

The Coast Guard rushed to the scene about 14 miles east of here when Herbert Durst, a farmer, heard Mrs. Hecker's screams a short distance off shore. He said he found the woman struggling to remain afloat. She was clutching the body of her husband who had died about 30 minutes before.

Mrs. Hecker and her husband were on a 6,000mile honeymoon cruise which they began at New Port Richey last May soon after their marriage. She had never sailed before.

They piloted the 18-foot craft north along the Atlantic Coast into the Great Lakes and had intended to continue on to Chicago and to return to Florida by way of the Mississippi River and the Gulf of Mexico.

The couple had nearly reached the halfway mark of their journey Friday night when they arrived at nearby Dunkirk, N.Y. They resumed their journe Saturday morning but were driven back by bad weather. The same thing occurred Sunday.

When they left port Monday the weather was fair and the lake calm. Four hours later the fatal storm struck.

Tarzan On TV

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Film producer Sol Lesser said today Tarzan, famed fictional jungle hero created by the late Edgar Rice Burroughs, will be brought to television in a series of films starring Gordon Scott.

Lesser holds the rights to the Tarzan character for motion pictures. Scott is the 11th actor to portray Tarzan in films.

Strikes Affect Many Thousands Of Hoosier Workers

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—A strike at 18 International Harvester plants across the nation idled more than 10,000 Hoosiers today.

The Indiana members of the CIO United Auto Workers union went on strike at plants in Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Evansville and Richmond. There were approximately 3,000 out at Indianapolis, 3,500 at Fort Wayne, 2,900 at Evansville and 800 at Richmond.

The walkout became official at midnight as a five-year contract expired. Many IH workers jumped the gun and walked out earlier.

At Evansville the pickets showed up with signs and marched past gates at the plant which manufactures refrigerators and rifles. Late Monday, they parekd cars along the highway and snarled traffic.

Hobert P. Butler, local UAW president at Evansville, accused the company of "chiseling" in negotiations by saying one thing and writing another into contract proposals.

Workers at the Fort Wayne truck factory planned a "solidarity demonstration" to lend weight to picketing activities.

At Richmond, the farm equipment workers set up a picket line shortly after midnight. This multiplied the eastern city's labor strife, since strikes already are in progress at Perfect Circle Corp. and Crosley Corp. plants in the city.

At the Indianapolis plant, where truck engines are made, pickets let salaried, maintenance and management personnel into the plant but production workers stayed out.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. UP)—The Allis-Chalmers plant here remained idle today because of a walkout by about 900 CIO United Autd Workers.

Workers walked out at noon Monday and set up picket lines. The company and union are conducting negotiations in Milwaukee, and workers voted for a company-wide strike recently if no settlement is reached. But no strike date was set.

Company officials branded the walkout illegal under the present contract.

The walkout caught some non-union members out to lunch, and they were not permitted to re-enter the plant.

INDIANAPOIS (UP) —More than 16,000 Chrysler Corp. workers in Indiana may be on strike Sept. 1 unless contract talks in Detroit are successful.

The CIO United Auto Workers union resumed talks Monday after the nation's 139,000 Chrysler UAW members voted overwhelmingly for a strike if necessary. The current contract expires at midnight Aug. 31.

Chrysler's biggest Indiana plant is the automatic transmission plant at Indianapolis, with 5,000 workers. The New Castle parts factory employes 4,100, and two Evansville plants have a combined work force of 6,000.

A Kokomo transmission plant has 1,200 workers with another one under construction.

HAGERSTOWN, Ind. (UP)—The Perfect Circle Corp. announced today it has purchased a Rushville foundry to offset production losses due to a four-week-old strike.

The plant will augment production of piston ring castings at the strike-bound New Castle foundry. About 65 persons will be hired at Rushville probably "sometime in September," the announcement said.

The violence - marked strike against Perfect Circle plants in Hagerstown, New Castle and Richmond began July 25 in a contract dispute over the union shop and other issues.

Ralph R. Teetor, company president, said purchase of the factory formerly occupied by the Dill Foundry Co. would have no affect at New Castle under normal conditions. The Rushville foundry will not replace the one at New Castle he said.

CHICAGO (UP) — About 40,000 CIO United Auto Workers went on strike against 18 International Harvester Co. plants in six states today, but negotiations to reach a settlement continued.

The nationwide walkout became official at 1:01 a.m. EDT when the old five-year company - union pact expired. Almost 30,000 workers had already jumped the gun and walked out at nine of the farm machinery company's plants.

Negotiations continued after the strike deadline, but were recessed at 3:30 a.m. EDT. They were scheduled to resume later today.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice-president in charge of Harvester workers, said early today "We are far apart on a number of issues . . . but none of the unsettled points is beyond settlement if management is as willing to apply itself as is the union."

The plants involved are located in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, and California. Some of the biggest concentrations are in the Chicago area, where four plants employ 17,000 workers, and in the Illinois quad-cities region, where there are two plants.

There were no reports of violence as picket lines were set up early today. However, company officials at the Evansville, Ind., plant said "gun jumping" strikers tied up traffic by parking their cars on a four-lane highway Monday.

The strike started after the union turned down a company offer of a 10-cent hourly wage boost and a so - called guaranteed annual wage plan. The plan would give eligible employes 65 per cent of their take-home pay during four weeks of layoff and 60 per cent for the next 22 weeks.

Harvester employes now make an average of $2.07 an hour, company officials said.

More than 200 truckloads of dirt and tanbark were raked over the Coliseum floor to prepare for the $50,000 horse show with Russ Morgan's Orchestra, September 4 through 9, and for Frankie Laine, Nat "King" Cole, and Tennessee Ernie, who will headline there September 1 through September 4.

The Indiana University building is weaving the communications theme into a mural in the center of the building, and into university radio and newspaper exhibits. The sheep barn with its $350,000 addition and the swine barn have stacks of straw to be spread on their floors.

The radio building is deserted waiting for stations to move in just before the fair, and only a dozen or so horses are working out around the grand circuit harness racing track as the rest come in just before Fair time from other races around the country.

The new section of highway 37 that leads into the east gates of the Fairgrounds is almost ready to open to provide five new lanes part of the way and three new lanes the rest of the way on the fairground approaches.

Around the track, the machinery field looks as colorful right now as the midway usually does. Red, green, and yellow farm implements are already parked there with displays mushrooming up around them.

The new $450,000 farmers building has plenty of color, too. Modern formica-topped tables and four colors of chairs provide seating for 400 in the cafeteria, and the 1,000 capacity auditorium has just gold metallic curtains hung on the stage.

The 4-H Youth buildings are cleaned and arranged for the Boy's and Girls' School.

All this gigantic stage needs now is the millions Hoosiers.

French Troops Launch General Offensive Today

Against Rebellious Tribes In Morocco

CASABLANCA, Morocco (UP)—Tank and air-supported French army troops launched a general offensive today against rebellious tribes responsible for the mass slaughter of French settlers in Morocco's wild interior.

Thousands of soldiers jumped off at 5 a.m. along a 65-mile front into the desolate reaches of the Khenifra and Khouribga region where four Berber tribes rose against French rule in a series of savage butcheries that brought death to nearly 1,200 in Morocco and Algeria.

First reports said the French had encircled the rebel territory at the foot of the Atlas Mountains and moved off into the arid rock-strewn hills to blast out all resistance nests in a series of systematic attacks against the Berber villages.

French forces attacked rebel forces in Algeria in the second day of a campaign there to wipe out the anti-French insurgents reported still fighting in the fourth day of bloody terror.

Today's offensive in Morocco centered in the rugged hill country 100 to 150 miles southeast of Casablanca and to the north of Marrakesh. It is wild mountain country where savage Arab tribesmen have lived for centuries.

Khouribga is a phosphate mining center devastated in the uprisings as if hit by a tornado. It's near the town of Oued Zam, scene of some of the bloodiest carnage of the entire rebellion.

The security forces attacking today were aided by Vampire jet fighters and tanks.

Air Force Plane Crashes, Killing Nine Persons

Three Houses Destroyed By Crash

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UP) — A C119 Flying Boxcar faltered on takeoff, crashed into a Negro residential area near the Charleston Air Force Base and exploded early today, killing 9 persons and injuring 11 others.

The Air Force announced that 5 of the 11 members of the plane crew died in the flaming ruins of the plane. Four civilians sleeping in three small houses were killed when the plane demolshed the structures, and five others were injured.

The six survivors, the Air Force said, are not seriously or critically injured.

The big troop carrier "hit three houses," the Air Force said.

"The aircraft was demolished. Only the tail section remained. It wasn't very high and had some kind of trouble almost immediately after takeoff."

The crash occurred at 2:05 a.m., EST. The plane was taking off for a routine night mission from the Charleston base when the accident happened.

Newsreel cameraman Bob Kennedy of Station WCSC-TV said "the only part of the plane remaining is about 20 feet of one tail assembly. The damage is complete. One house is leveled to the ground."

A car parked behind the house, some 15 feet from the building "has only the front seat and the motor left," Kennedy said. The crash sheared off the rear half of the vehicle.

Olin Downes, Music Critic, Dies Monday

NEW YORK (UP)—Olin Downes music critic of the New York Times and often called the dean of American critics, died Monday of a heart attack at the age of 69.

Downes, who had been music critic of the Times since 1924, had been ill for three weeks. He died at the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

Born in Evanston, Ill., Downes went to work for the Boston Post as a music critic when he was 20 years old. He worked for the Post for 18 years before joining the Times.

Syria Frees Four American Students

JERUSALEM, Israel (UP)—Syria today freed four American theological students who were seized by Syrian soldiers while they swam in the Sea of Galilee but refused to let them return to Israel.

The Israeli government agreed to deliver the Americans' car to Jacobs Daughters Bridge over the Jordan River and they will continue their Middle Eastern tour.

(In Washington, the U.S. State Department said it was trying to arrange for the American students to go to Turkey once they get their car back.)

The four were identified as Paul Mayer, Arthur Rithinger, and Fred and Tom Freudenhauer, all naturalized Americans who were born in Canada of German extraction. Their home towns were not given.

Eisenhower Says We Must Not Sell Freedom For False Peace

NO DIET FOR HIM—There's an unusual reason why Myron A. Hoff, Mondamin, Iowa., feed dealer, is enjoying this between-meal "snack." His prize in a livestock judging contest is a silver dollar for every ounce he weighs. He scales $2832 worth now, but the official weighing will not be until Nov. 28. So not even the contest sponsor, a Brooklyn, N.Y., manufacturer of animal feed antibiotics, can blame Hoff for extra eating until then.

Township Representatives Voice Objections To Appropriations

Several representatives of Washington, Jefferson and Union townships presented remonstrances Wednesday morning at separate hearings on additional tax appropriations for those townships' share for payment of the architect for the new joint high school in Columbia City. George F. Gable, a representative of the State Board of Tax Commission, presided at the hearing.

According to the contract with the architect, the board of the new high school is to advance $36,000 for the cost of drawing up the plans for the building. The joint high school board designated the amounts of this total advance to be paid by each township affiliating in the new school.

These shares are as follows: Columbia township $4320, Columbia City $12,960, Thorncreek $7200, Jefferson and Union $3960 each, and Washington township $3600. The trustee and advisory board of each of the townships approved the additional appropriations for those amounts.

Ten persons representing Washington township attended the hearing. Harley Bridge, acting spokesman for the group, expressed the belief that the money was being loaned by his township for paying the architect, and therefore was illegal. However, it was pointed out by Gable, the state representative, and John Whiteleather and Robert Gates, attorneys for the school board, that the money to be advanced is part of the total cost for the new school which participating school corporations would pay eventually.

Arthur Hilligoss, township trustee, was present at the meeting, and he stated that no persons appeared to object when the hearing on the additional appropriations was held August 8 in Washington township.

A total of 13 persons appeared at the hearing on the additional appropriations for Union township. Harold Wherry, who was a plaintiff in the original suit filed to prevent the township from affiliating in the

Britain Holds Record Round Trip Crossing

Of Atlantic In Canberra Bomber

LONDON (UP) — Britain today held a record "breakfast-to-supper' round trip crossing of the Atlantic [illegible] by a Canberra Bomber and there [illegible] were predictions such flights would be commonplace in the near future.

The Royal Aero Club said Pilot John Walter Hackett, 32, established a record timing Tuesday of 14 hours, 21 minutes, 45.4 seconds for the on[illegible] [illegible]lon New York and back flight of 6,[illegible]15.92 miles.

Hackett and Navigator Peter Moneypenny, 28, guided the bullet-nosed Canberra at an average speed of [illegible]481.52 miles per hour although the twin-jet bomber often exceeded 5[illegible]50 miles an hour.

Chairman Sir Miles Thomas of British Overseas Airways sent congratulations to the crew on the "historic flight. "He said he was "sorry that the Canberra was not carrying a payload of passengers or freight but that will come."

British newspapers had a field day of backpatting. The Daily Mirror agreed with Thomas that the flight was only a sample of things to come.

County 4-H Center Taking On Its Annual "Fair Look," Livestock Begins To Arrive

The Whitley County 4-H Center is taking on its annual 4-H Fair look, as tents have sprung up and workmen are "busy as ants" readying the livestock barns to receive the show stock. Whitley County REMC workmen have strung up electric lines to the temporary tents. New farm machinery and household appliances are hurriedly being moved in for display.

The pens have been set up in the swine and sheep barn, and temporary stalls were set up this afternoon in the cattle barn. The large Community Building has been cleared and tables are in place to hold the exhibits of the girls' clubs. Livestock will begin arriving at 4:00 p.m. today.

Whitley county's 4-H program one of the best in Northeastern Indiana (WE think) has shown growth again this year by about 50 members, reports the county leader, Harold Buckenmeyer. Practically all of the animal projects show increases this year, with the swine club leading the way, having gained about 50 more members than last year. The 140 members will show approimately 300 pigs Thursday morning. The dairy club has also expanded a great deal this year, as there will be approximately 20 more animals exhibited this year over the 1954 showing. There should be from 70-75 dairy animals exhibited this year by the 54 members. The beef club remained about the same. There are 45 members who will show about 60 animals. The sheep club shows a slight increase with 14 pens of lambs to be judged Thursday morning.

Club Leaders

The 4-H club leaders in the county who have done much to encourage the members to complete their projects are: girls' leaders Miss Joan Martin, county leader; Mrs. Robert Fry, Thorncreek; Mrs. Ed Willey, Washington; Mrs. A. L. Palmer, Union; Mrs. LeRoy Kreider, Cleveland; Miss Roxie Barcus, Smith; Miss Marjorie Gillespie, Columbia City; Mrs. Lewis Miller, Etna-Troy; Mrs. Willard Knisley, Columbia; Mrs. Gerald Wallace, Jefferson, and Miss Mary Ellen Schuman, Richland township.

Retarded Child Is First A Child And Second Retarded

Advises Mrs. Huber At Local Meeting

"Remember always that the retarded child is first a child and second retarded," advised Mrs. Robert Huber, in speaking before the meeting sponsored by the Whitley County Council for Retarded Children in the city Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Huber, the former Isabelle Nickey of Smith township was introduced by Mrs. Bernard Hoover, secretary of the local organization. Mrs. Huber told the group of her experiences in starting a school for retarded children at Burlington, Vermont.

The school was started in an old fire station belonging to the city with an adjoining lot used for a playground. The school is administered by a board of directors. Ages were from 6 to 16. Only one new child at a time is started in the school.

Mrs. Huber emphasized the importance of helping train the child to be socially acceptable. Children learn to dress themselves. Practical arithmatic as counting, telling time and making change are taught. Refreshments are served at tea parties to teach table manners.

Mrs. Huber answered many questions and gave suggestions on making budgets, financing, testing and making achievement reports and discipline problems. The school curriculum is reviewed by the state director of special education.

A group from the Fort Wayne Council attended the local meeting.

Huntington Has Machine

Both companies' machines are similar in construction and both are mounted on a three-wheeled trailer. Herbert Kneller, director of streets and sewers, argued in favor of the Trojan Company machine, the one chosen. Its main advantage over the American Steel model is its pall for assuring level winding of the cable. The accepted model is also $76 less than the rejected one.

Several city officials had seen the type procured demonstrated at Huntington, which city recently purchased one. The new machines will replace an old "drag type" model which is presently being used for sewer cleaning.

The council was to have a hearing between businessmen of South Line street and residents of South Chauncey street concerning water draining on the latter's property. However, none of the residents appeared at the meeting. The residents of Chauncey street's 500 block had complained that the raising of the level of the property on South Line street had allowed water to drain east onto their yards.

Herbert Kneller, had investigated the complaint since the last council meeting. He found one six-inch tile in the alley between the two streets. He agreed to investigate further with a view to enlarging the size of the drain or adding another one.

Firemen Get New Masks

Russell D. Wolfe, city fire chief, reported at the meeting that the department had received the new fresh air fire-fighting masks which were ordered in the spring. Wolfe said that the equipment had been placed on the trucks and will be tested at a meeting next Tuesday.

In other business, the council asked Wilbur Steel, superintendent of public utilities to investigate a request by Mrs. Alice Mason, Westwood Park, for a street light near her residence.

The council voted not to raise the price of rental of the shelter house at John Baker Memorial Park. Various organizations often use the house and are charged only 50 cents. It was stated that those organizations have co-operated in keeping the building clean and that since the structure is for the benefit of the community, the price for its use should not be raised.

The council discussed plans for the new steam heat plant at the City Hall and for a water tower at the north end of town. It was agreed that construction of the heat plant should wait for next spring to avoid curtailing the heat for the building this winter.

Flood Aid Appeal Received By Red Cross Chapter

President Greider Names Collection Points In Whitley County

An appeal for disaster funds to aid flood-stricken areas in the east was received today by Waldo Greider, Churubusco, chairman of the Whitley County Chapter American Red Cross.

Greider announced the emergency appeal following reports made to him by the national headquarters of the organization. The Red Cross began its disaster relief operations almost immediately following the flood, which has wiped out whole towns in seven northeastern states.

More than 8,000 flood-stricken families are expected to receive direct aid from the Red Cross, according to the reports made from the organization's national headquarters. In addition, more than 260 trained disaster workers have been sent to the needed areas. By Monday, the Red Cross was operating 107 shelters to house and feed 12,000 homeless persons. More than 400 nurses and 150 doctors have volunteered their services and have been working on full-time schedules.

The Red Cross' first allocation of funds was for $2,000,000, E. Roland Harriman, national chairman, said in a report to the Whitley County Chapter. Additional appropriations will be made as needed.

No direct solicitation for funds will be made in Whitley County, Greider said. Banks in the county, the Columbia City Newspapers' office and the county Red Cross office on the second floor of the City Hall in Columbia City will serve as collection points for the diaster funds.

In Churubusco, the Churubusco State Bank will receive the funds while the Mayer State Bank in South Whitley will receive the contributions there. In Columbia City, the Farmers Loan and Trsut Company, the Citizens' State Bank and the Post and Commercial-Mail office will receive the contributions from individuals.

Contributions from Whitley county residents will be forwarded by the local Red Cross office to the national disaster offices, Greider said.

Vice President To Fly To Africa And The Near East

In November To Strengthen U. S. Relations

WASHINGTON (UP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the administration's unofficial goodwill ambassador, will travel to the Near East and Africa in November to strengthen U.S. relations with the key area on Russia's southern flank.

The White House, in announcing the mission Tuesday, said Nixon is making the trip at the request of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. The 42-year-old Californian previously has made highly successful goodwill missions to the Far East and Caribbean areas.

The announcement said the vice president will visit the region "to become acquainted with the leaders of the countries in the area... to hear their views and to convey the sincere greetings of the people of the United States to the peoples of the area."

Nixon will be accompanied by his wife, Pat, and representatives of the State Department.

The State Department will work out details of the trip with countries involved. It said Nixon's itinerary has not been fixed but that the timetable will depend upon how much time the vice president can devote to the trip and the political situation in the area. Nixon may spend up to a month on the journey.

It was believed certain that he will visit both Egypt and Israel. If so, he will probably make a strong plea to both Israeli and Arab leaders for a final end to their long dispute. The United States has long felt the Arab-Israeli controversy is a major problem barring the region from realizing its full potential.

Nixon probably will touch on problems of the other nations he visits. If he stops at Algeria and Morocco, officials said, he probably will discuss troubles that have led to recent violent rioting.

But officials said the Nixon trip is primarily aimed at winning goodwill for the United States, not solving problems of the area. The United States has long considered the region of vital importance because of its position on Russia's southern borders.

Tommy Martz ,12, Rescues Ben Lott From Gravel Slide

Ben Ott, Thorncreek Township farmer, was rescued from a slide at a gravel pit by Tommy Martz, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martz, Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Lott had taken neighbor Tommy along for a ride on a trip for gravel to the David Weigold farm. He had backed the pick-up truck into position and was starting to load when the gravel began to slide and engulfed him up to his shoulders, pinning his arms at his sides.

Tommy shoveled the gravel away enough to free Mr. Lott who, later in telling a neighbor, said "I'm sure glad I took that boy along."

Dick Deubner Wins First Safe Driving Award

Courtesy Campaign Now Being Conducted

Dick Deubner, R 2, city, is the first winner named in the local traffic courtesy campaign, being conducted this week by the Chicago Motor Club with the cooperation of the Columbia City newspapers.

Dick, an employee of Tenney Motor Sales and also a farmer in Columbia township, was selected for the $5.00 cash award and a safe driving certificate on the basis of courteous and safe driving practices.

Russel D. Wolfe ,city fire chief, was the judge who picked Mr. Deubner for the award. The judge stated that the award winner was driving his car on Van Buren street at about 5:00 p.m., during heavy traffic hours, and stopped his vehicle in order to permit another motorist to back from the curb. This was purely a courtesy gesture by Mr. Deubner to let the other driver, who had probably been waiting some time, back onto the street. Dick did not want the parking place, as he was on his way home from work. He also executed proper hand signals during the time he was being observed by Chief Wolfe. The winner's driver's license was also in order.

Dick is the son of Clarence Deubner, Greenville, Ohio, and Mrs. Remonda Deubner, Columbia township. He graduated from Washington Center high school in 1952 and served two years in the Army, being discharged March 12, 1955. He plans to marry Miss Mildred Bowlby September 24.

Spirit Of Geneva Must Inspire To Correct Injustice

An Opportunity To Realize Aspirations

PHIADEPHIA (UP) — President Eisenhower said today the United States "can never accept" a divided Germany, Russian satellites and continued Communist subversion "as a part of the peace we desire and seek."

He also said this nation must not, in its "eagerness to avoid war," make any agreement that would sell out "the freedom of men for the pottage of a false peace."

Mr. Eisenhower said the United States asserted at Geneva — "and we shall always hold—that there can be no true peace which involves acceptance of a status quo in which we find injustice to many nations, repressions to human beings on a gigantic scale, and constructive effort paralyzed in many areas by fear.'

"The spirit of Geneva, if it is to provide a healthy atmosphere for the pursuit of peace, if it is to be genuine and not spurious, must inspire all to a correction of injustices, an observance of human rights and an end to subversion organized on a world-wide scale," he declared.

Cannot Accept Wrongs

"The division of Germany cannot be supported by any argument based on boundaries or language or racial origin. The domination of captive countries can no longer be justified by any claim that ths is needed for purposes of security. An

Egypt Withdraws From U.N.-Sponsored Talks With Israel

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—Egypt today angrily announced her withdrawal from the United Nations-sponsored talks with Israel, aimed at pacifying the embattled frontier area of the Gaza strip.

The talks began under the supervision of the United Nations late in June in the hope that direct Israeli - Egyptian contacts could ease the tension along the Gaza strip and halt the frequent bloody incidents.

However, the Egyptians broke off the talks today after two incidents in the Gaza area in 24 hours.

Egypt Tuesday accused an Israeli patrol of opening fire on an Egyptian outpost late Monday in the second clash of the day. An Egyptian communique said the Israelis suffered an undetermined number of casualties in the attacks.

Modern Method Of Sowing Rye In Field Of Standing Corn, By Plane, Is Much Easier

Not very many years ago when a farmer wanted to sow rye in a field of standing corn, he had quite a job cut out for him, and for his one horse pulling a one-horse drill. As the farmer walked behind the drill between two rows of corn, the leaves bit at his face and the tall corn kept cooling breezes away from man and beast. By being able to sow only a 30-inch strip at a time, it would take a farmer days to sow a large field.

But things have changed, cutting the length of time it takes to sow the field and the walking has been eliminated.

The modern method of sowing a field of standing corn to rye, which will be plowed under next spring as green fertilizer, was carried out on two Columbia township farms Tuesday. Wilson Frank and Dick Hoffman hired an airplane to sow a total of 179 acres Tuesday. Mr. Frank has 144 acres seeded to rye, and Mr. Hoffman sowed 35 acres.

The process is a simple one. The plane loads up with about six bushels of grain and makes a sweep across the field. One man is stationed at each end of the field with a white flag. After the plane makes one sweep over the field, the pilot must shut off the flow of grain while he turns the plane around. By that time the men on the ground have measured off the distance of sowed ground and hold their flags as a guide for the pilot to follow back across the field.

Mr. Frank reported he had previously employed this method of providing green fertilizer for plowing under in the spring of the year. Last fall he sowed rye by airplane and states he had an excellent stand.

Faure Rushes Back To Paris

PARIS (UP)— Premier Edgar Faure broke off his urgent talks with Moroccan political leaders at Aix-Les-Bains today and rushed back to Paris in an effort to stave off a parliamentary revolt threatening his government.

A group of rightist deputies, claiming to speak for nearly 208 coalition deputies, have informed Faure they will withdraw their support of his 6-months-old government if he makes important concessions to the revolting Moroccan nationalists.

France announced that 60,000 reserves will be called up to help stem the bloody North African outbreaks which have cost more than 1,500 lives in Morcco and Algeria.

Faure will discuss details of the new call-up of reserves with French military leaders before returning to Aix-Les-Bains tonight.

Magazine Says Ike, Truman In Bitter Feud

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower and former President Truman speak of each other in "top sergeant" language in a real hell-for leather grudge, Look magazine reports.

The once warm friends, the magazine says, have developed a bitter feud which began during the 1952 presidential campaign.

A reconciliation still is possble, the magazine quotes friends of both men as saying, if one or the other would make the first move.

The Eisenhower-Truman friendship began to disintegrate during the 1952 campaign, the magazine reports, when Mr. Eisenhower endorsed the candidacy of all Republican candidates, including Sens. William E. Jenner (Ind.) and Joseph R. McCarthy (Wis.), without defending Gen. George C. Marshall.

Both McCarthy and Jenner had bitterly attacked Marshall, questioning his competence and loyalty. Mr. Truman several times had called Marshall the "greatest living American."

Look, in an article in its current issue, said the former Democratic President has been in Washington four times since his departure in 1953 but never has been invited to the White House.

When Mr. Eisenhower went to Kansas City in October, 1953, Mr. Truman telephoned the GOP President's suite at the Muehlebach hotel to say he would like to pay his respects, the magazine said. It said the phone call was never returned.

Look said the Eisenhower staff professes total ignorance of such a call. But the magazine said this has only added to the antagonism that shows no signs of crumbling.

new high school, acted as spokesman for the group. He said the persons objected to appropriating the money, and he received the same answer which the Washington representatives were given. Wherry also presented written remonstrances against the appropriations signed by about 100 persons.

Jefferson township was represented by 24 persons at its hearing. Fred Taylor, Fort Wayne attorney who resides in the township, spoke for the group. He also questioned the legality of the appropriation claiming that it amounted to a loan, since the money probably would be returned to the townships. However, it was pointed out that the township is merely providing its share of the cost of the plans for the new high school.

Taylor presented written remonstrations purported to contain 422 signatures from residents of the township.

Gable advised the representatives of each township that they had approved the organization for forming the joint high school by signing petitions last fall. He also said that advancing the money to hire the architect was legal in all respects.

He advised those at the hearings that the requests for the additional appropriations, along with the remonstrances, would be presented to the State Board of Tax Commissioners. That board will approve or disapprove the requests, he said.

Coleman Wins In Mississippi Runoff Primary

JACKSON, Miss. (UP)—Crusading Atty. Gen. J. P. Coleman swept to victory today in a Democratic runoff primary for governor in which party officials systematically discouraged Negro votes.

Coleman, pledging strict enforcement of Mississippi's segregation and anti-liquor, soundly defeated young attorney Paul B. Johnson Jr. after a campaign of bitter name calling.

Johnson, making his third try for the job, conceded defeat just before midnight when Coleman's lead, steadily fattened since early returns, mounted toward the 50,000 vote mark.

Returns from 1,687 of the state's 1,828 precincts gave Coleman 205,362 votes to Johnson's 154,456.

Both candidates ignored the racial issue, on which their stands were identical, and party officials sought to ignore the Negro voters by turning them away from the polls or earmarking the few ballots cast for challenge.

Chairman Tom J. Tubb of the state Democratic Executive Committee announced in advance that the "order went out" to county commitees to challenge the Negroes' standing as actual party members. Few tried to vote.

The New York headquarters of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said it would seek "prompt and immediate action" by the Justice Department."

But in numerous of counties across the state not a Negro showed up to vote, and the few ballots cast would have little effect on the outcome.

Coleman's victory is tantamount to election. The forthcoming general election will be only a formality.

Gov. Hugh White, prevented by law from succeeding himself, called the outcome a "clear indication that the people of Mississippi like clean-cut politics."

Justice Department Pays Informants

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Justice Department paid 47 major undercover informants a total of $43,000 in fees and expenses during a recent 21-month period.

A report released Tuesday night showed that former Communist John Lautner was the highest paid informant. He received more than $16,000 for his work in a series of trials and in other proceedings "as yet undisclosed."

The figures were released in answer to a request made of atty. gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., at a news conference four months ago. He was asked for an analysis of the salaries paid to full-time consultants as against fees paid to "expert witnesses."

Eisenhower

international political machine, operating within the borders of sovereign nations for their political and ideological subversion, cannot be explained away as a cultural movement.

"In justice to others and to ourselves, we can never accept those wrongs as a part of the peace that we desire and seek."

The President's philosophy on peace was outlined in a speech prepared for delivery to the American Bar Association convention. He spoke in front of Independence Hall as part of an association program marking the John Marshall bicentennial. Marshall was a noted chief justice of the United States.

He was to return to Washington after his address for a conference on the government's flood relief program and then depart for Denver to resume his Colorado vacation.

Geneva, the President said, "spells for America, not stagnation, but opportunity — opportunity for our own people and for people everywhere to realize their just aspirations."

Justice And Security

Mr. Eisenhower said that "the peace we want — the product of understanding and agreement and law among nations — is an enduring international environment, based on justice and security. It will reflect enlightened self-interest. It will foster the concentration of human energy . . . for the advancement of human standards in the areas of mankind's material, intellectual and spiritual life."

The Chief Executive said he believes this kind of peace is not out of the world's grasp.

"At times it may seem hopeless, far beyond human capacity to reach," he said. "But has any great accomplishment in history begun with assurance of its success?"

"We must learn to be firm but friendly," he said. "We must be tolerant but not complacent. We must be quick to understand another's viewpoint, honestly assumed.

"But we must never agree to injustice for the weak, for the unfortunate, for the underprivileged, well knowing that if we accept destruction of the principle of justice for all, we cannot longer claim justice for ourselves as a matter of right."

He said that "in the search for justice, we can make our system an ever more glorious example of an orderly government devoted to the preservation of human freedom and man's individual opportunities and responsibilities."

World Opinion Trial

He said the case of the American vs the Communist system "is on trial before the bar of world opinion," with each claiming it seeks, above all else, an enduring peace.

"But the final judgment on them . . . will depend as much on the march of human progress within their own borders, and on their proved capacity to help others advance, as on the tranquillity of their relations with foreign countries," Mr. Eisenhower stated.

The jury, he said, is made up of the hundreds of millions of "newly awakened peoples" that are now marching "toward opportunity to work and grow and prosper, to demonstrate their self-reliance, to satisfy their aspirations of mind and spirit.'

". . . the fruits of peace are manifold and rich, the Chief Executive told the lawyers, "particularly in this atomic age; because war could be the extinction of man's deepest hopes, because atomic war could be race suicide."

The CIO Steelworkers gave the Red Cross $25,000.

CIO President Walter P. Reuther, in announcing the CIO campaign Tuesday, said the funds collected would be distributed through the various states devastated by floods by the CIO's Community Services Committee or the established relief agencies.

He named CIO Secretary-treasurer James B. Carey chairman of t special fund committee and appealed to union members and the unions themselves to contribute "generously" to the fund.

American Airman Kills 3 Persons, Wounds 9 Others

Then Dies During Wild Shooting Spree

BROADSTAIRS, England (UP)—A deranged Negro airman ran amok at a U.S. air base today and shot to death two Americans and a British flier. He wounded nine other persons and finally was hunted down and died in a wild shooting spree across a crowded beach resort.

It was not clear immediately whether he was shot by his pursuers or turned a gun on himself. British police reported the deranged airman shot himself fatally after being wounded by American air police.

British police said four of the wounded were American service personnel and three British women employed at the Manston Air Base.

One of the dead was identified as Nelson Gresham, 20, of Philadelphia, Pa., an employe of the AmericanExpress Co. One was an American Air Force master sergeant.

The killer was identified by British police as Napoleon Green (hometown unknown), a supplyroom clerk at the base.

Green also struck and fired at a fourth woman employe of the air base, who escaped unharmed.

After his march of death across the Manston base, Green slipped past guards at the gate, commandeered a car and forced the driver, at gunpoint, to drive him to this popular beach resort.

Air Force officials said they had no idea what triggered Green's tragic act.

He finally was trapped at the rocky tip of the Broadstairs beach Col. H. B. Manson, commander of the American unit based at Manston.

Green was armed with a .30 calibre Army carbine and a .45 calibre automatic pistol.

He raced across the beach, crowded with hundreds of women and children, as beach attendants and police sounded an alarm and led the bathers to safety.

3. You Get A Bonus On The Resale

Bonus Beauty in Hardtops

Even the new hit in hardtops—the 4-Door Riviera — is included in our profit-sharing bonus deals today. Shown here is the 236-hp CENTURY 6-Passenger 4-Door Riviera, Model 63. Also available in the low-price SPECIAL Series as Model 43.

WHAT happens when a business has a really great year? A bonus is declared—right?

Well, sir—get set for a windfall, because this is more than Buick's greatest year. This is the greatest.

Not only is Buick outselling every car in America except the two most widely known smaller cars—but Buick is breaking every sales record in its history. Right now we're past the mark set in our best full year—and we're still going great guns.

So we're slicing a melon with you in the form of an all-out trade-in allowance—a profit-sharing bonus deal that beats even the big trades we've been giving all year. After all, we've gone way beyond our expected volume—and can now afford to stretch our trade-in allowances to practically our break-even point.

And that puts you more easily than ever before in the driver's seat of the hottest-selling Buick in history . . .

The Buick with the boldest, freshest styling of the times—with the snap and ginger of record-high V8 power—with the level buoyancy of the all-coil-spring ride—and with the electrifying performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflow, world's first and only transmission using the switch-pitch principle of the modern plane's propeller.*

Better come in and visit us tomorrow—today, if you can—and see for yourself that the thrill and the buy and the deal of the year is Buick, hands down.

Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.*

Thrill of the year is Buick—
Biggest-selling Buick in History! (So we're trading high, wide—and then some!)

Deepfreeze Is Not Recommended For Preserving Tomatoes

LAFAYETTE Is it better to can or freeze tomatoes and tomato juice? This question is often asked Miss Ann Liggett, extension foods and nutrition specialist, Purdue University.

Canning is the more economical and practical method for preservation of tomatoes. There are more tomatoes canned at home than any other vegetable, Miss Liggett says. In recent tests at the Michigan Experiment Station, it was found that frozen whole tomatoes are hard to handle, are not attractive, soften and "leak" when thawing or after being cut, and fall apart quickly.

The recommended method for canning tomatoes is processing in a water bath with one to two inches of water above the top of jars. This method is preferred to canning in the pressure canner. The tomatoes may be packed cold or hot in sterilized jars. If you want to keep the tomatoes whole for salads, pack them cold into the jars and process in water bath 35 minutes in pints and 45 for quarts.

If you are short on storage space and want your canned tomatoes to be more compact, or plan to use them in cooking, use the hot pack (which is simmering the tomatoes until they are solft). This method shortens the processing time in the water bath - 10 minutes for pints and 35 minutes for quarts.

Tomato juice may be successfully preserved by either canning or freezing, but canning is the more economical. However, some homemakers do prefer to freeze a small quantity for variety.

Beverly Kreider Files Petition For Divorce

Beverly Kreider, R 1, filed a petition for divorce in Whitley County circuit court Monday against Richard G. Kreider.

According to the petition, the couple was married December 30, 1950, and one daughter was born of the marriage. The petition also specifies that the couple separated August 22, 1955 and charges the defendant with cruel and inhuman treatment.

The plaintiff asks for custody of the child, for support during the court action and for alimony from the defendant. She also requests a restraining order to prevent Kreider from disposing of any personal property and from molesting or annoying her or the child pending a bearing on the divorce suit.

Man Must Win War In His Heart To Keep International Peace

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UP)—Men must win the wars within their hearts if they want to avoid international conflicts, several thousand delegates to the National Convocation of Methodist Youth were told today.

Dr. Henry H. Crane pastor of Detroits Central Methodist Church who has traveled widely and seen the horrors of war, was the first speaker at the five-day convocation.

He said social behavior is merely a projection of individual lives and world wars grow from inner conflicts—from tensions, envy, prejudices and the like.

"We talk of urging an "all-out" war. We fight to win an "all-out" victory. And when it is won, there is no peace," Crane said. "Conflicts begin again (and) the war continues. Why?

"The answer is indisputable. The war within the hearts of men has never been won."

He said a few individuals fight and win the conflict within themselves and "to the degree that the world is saved at all, these victorious few do the saving. But the majority continue their fightings without because of their fears within."

To insure peace, said Crane, each individual should confront himself, consider himself, choose his best self, control himself and consecrate himself.

"Concentrate oneself to the person who most completely incarnates the highest values in himing thing to me about Jesus is the matchless way in which He incarnates every virtue I admire."

Millis Tests Political Waters, Finds Them Inviting, Dives Head-First Into 1956 Race

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Indiana Revenue Commissioner Frank T. Millis, who tested the political waters and found them inviting, dives head-first into the 1956 Republican race for governor next month.

"I don't think there's a doubt in many people's mind that I'm in the running," he said, "but I don't think a formal announcement should be made until the mayoralty elections are over."

That formal declaration near the end of the year probably will make Millis the first official candidate for the nomination. Since March, the jovial, veteran state official has been in the front ranks of a dozen potential nominees.

He was the first, and one of the few, to launch a personal tub-thumping drive. He went into all [illegible] counties, chatted with GOP county and district chairmen, and found a "very good" reception.

First-Name Friends

To complete phase one of a three-pronged campaign, he hired Ernest Lee, a World War II aide to President Eisenhower, as his political agent. Lee is collecting contributions for the Millis Campaign.

Its phase two starts in September. Millis will crisscross the state again, this time in an "intensive" drive to renew old friendships and make new ones.

"Any candidate has a responsibility to his party of building himself up to win," Millis said. "There are very few towns where I can't call somebody by his first name. I want to call on my friends and they'll introduce me to their friends. I want to contact as many people as I can."

This phase of the Millis campaign, intermingled with his state duties, will take months. Phase three starts when delegates to the Republican convention are selected—then he will travel "day and night" to contact them.

The 60-year-old Millis, who respects the party organization, does not believe GOP factionalism will play much part in the gubernatorial nomination. He counts friends in factions headed both by Governor Craig and Sen. William Jenner.

Blessings Good & Bad

It is generally speculated he will win Craig's blessing. Would that help?

"In some parts of the state, an endorsement by anybody would be an asset and in some places it wouldn't," he said, explaining that applies to anyone's political blessing.

Millis, who puffs "too many" cigars and decorates his office with an artistic collection of several dozen elephant figurines, has been around the Statehouse two decades. His friends regard that experience as his big talking point.

He was in the 1935, 1939 and 1941 Legislatures as Orange-Washington joint representative, the last two as House majority leader. He was elected twice as state treasurer, 1944 and 1946, and twice as state auditor, 1950 and 1952.

He supervised formation of the State Revenue Department, helped map civil defense in the war years, handed out the World War II bonus, and now directs a staff of 700 in tax collecting.

Tax Problems Ahead

That experience should be invaluable if what Millis says is true:

"The next governor is going to be faced with tax problems because Indiana has embarked on an ambitious highway, mental health and school program. People have created a demand for better services."

He does not endorse the budgetary scare talk heard from some quarters but rather, predicts Indiana will have a 35 million dollar balance—as compared to the present 76 million—at the end of the 1955-57 biennium.

Millis grew up in Paoli and after a stint in World War I, bought a Campbellsburg drug store, got married, and raised three children.

He still is a registered pharmacist and figures "if politics knocks me off, I think I could still make a living in a drug store."

What's New In Washington

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — What's new in Washington:

Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey apparently misses his buddies who used to put on the bib with hi mat lunch in his private dining room when Congress still was about. Now, it is a rather common sight to see the secretary and one of his assistants, Andrew N. Overby, following the common herd, through the line in the cafeteria—bean soup, ear corn, liver and onions, ice tea and a slab f pie. And matching for oo checks.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration hardly knows how to answer a letter it got from a man in New York—Broadway address. The fellow wrote: "In connection with your recent plan to send a sattelite into space. . .I am assuming that space travel may become a reality soon. Would you please tell me how I can buy some land on the moon?"

The promoters of the Carter Barron Amphitheater here have been plagued with bad weather, with one hurricane after another, so for the Ice Capades this week they have brought in some man-made weather. Twenty-five tons of snow. Kids have been invited to bring their sleds in the middle of the summer and have a lot of fun. It ought to work out fine if the weather doesn't last.

Lyndon Johnson, the majority leader in the Senate, is up and about and plans to celebrate his birthday on his ranch near Johnson City, Tex., on Aug. 27. His medicos are having a time putting a halter on the tough boy from the Longhorn country, but they say he is getting along right well, and is a "fairly" good patient.

The junior senator from Kentucky, Alben W. Barkley, the former vice president, has been taking it easy in Washington but plans to get away quick to his little farm outside of Paducah. The "veep" maybe will look at his cattle and might even pitch a little hay.

President Eisenhower doesn't even have to take stick in hand to win a golf tournament. He already has been declared "honorary winner" of the $50,000 Open championship tourney at the Shackamaxon Country Club, Scotch Plains N.J., Sept. 6-11.

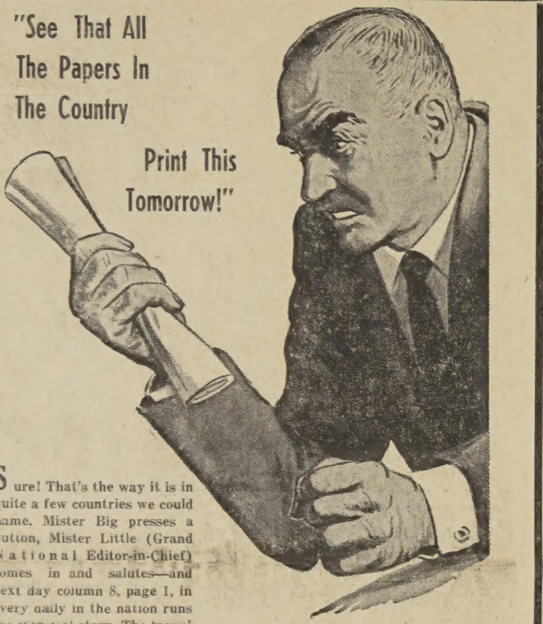
"See That All The Papers In The Country Print This Tomorrow!"



Sure! That's the way it is in quite a few countries we could name. Mister Big presses a button, Mister Little (Grand National Editor-in-Chief) comes in and salutes—and next day column 8, page 1, in every daily in the nation runs the identical story. The 'news' may be a blast at some chief of state outside the country's borders; or it may be about a parking regulation in the capital. Big or little, happy or sad, it's slanted to butter Mister Big's bread. It isn't news—it is political advertising masquerading as news—and sooner or later, even the dumbest local yokel knows it.

There's a Mister Big in this country, too. Only he doesn't sit in the White House or the State House or the City Hall. In America Mister Big is YOU—you and every one else who reads a newspaper. It is you who decides what your newspaper prints or doesn't print. For if you look at the front page and yawn—pretty soon your newspaper loses circulation. Eventually [illegible] happen to us—or any other newspaper.

This doesn't mean that our readers tell us what to print. It DOES mean that what we DO print must interest our readers—or we don't sell any papers. It DOES mean that if your newspaper prints news that is incomplete, or one-sided, or slanted, or just plain sensational-for-sensationalism's sake—it wouldn't be long before you'd realize you're not getting your money's worth and you'd buy your information somewhere else.

In a word—NEWS is a commodity like anything else. It is sold in the market place just like cars or T.V. sets or dishwashers. If it isn't dependable or complete or impartial it can't be believed; and if it can't be believed it can't be sold.

That is why a good newspaper will do almost anything before it will dilute the quality or endanger the believability of the news it publishes. That is why no good newspaper ever allows its presentation of news facts to be influenced by ANYONE OR ANYTHING—the government, its advertisers, its suppliers, pressure groups among its readers—or even its own editorial opinions.

This tremendous fact—namely, that in America the newspaper is a BUSINESS organization, unsubsidized and undominated, that must market its new competitevely to a very enlightened and discriminating market—means simply this! YOUR RIGHT TO KNOW is assured and protected as it could never be assured and protected by any other device; a commissioner in Washington, a law on the state statute books or a group of people in our own editorial rooms.

Yes—your newspaper has the same objectives as any other alert American business organization; to prosper by bringing you the very best product it can at the lowest possible price.

So—if anyone ever tells you that there should be a law limiting what a newsaper can print, agree with him only if you also feel there should be a law restricting the number of improvements an auto manufacturer can put on his car or a regulation telling the maximum price a woman may pay for a hat.

Weather Bureau Investigates Whether Its Stations Gave Ample Flood Warnings

By LOUIS CASSELLS
United Press Staff Corresponden

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Weather Bureau has launched an official investigation to determine whether its stations gave the public all possible warning of the disastrous floods in the East.

A spokesman for the bureau said today the inquiry could lead to recommendations for an expanded flood warning service in Eastern states.

The spokesman said preliminary reports from investigators in the field indicate that weather forecasters did a "generally excellent" job in predicting high water conditions on major rivers, such as the Delaware, Susquehanna and Connecticut, which are covered by the bureau's present flood warning system.

But he acknowledged that flash floods on some of the tributaries of these rivers descended on victims with little or no advance warning.

Money, Equipment Needed

He said the Weather Bureau would need "a lot more money and equipment" to extend its river forecasting services sufficiently to give adequate notice of flash floods on tributary streams. And in some mountain valleys, where heavy cloudbursts can start flash floods rolling in less than two hours, it is practically impossible to insure early warnings, he said.

Steps to improve Eastern flood warning facilities had been taken even before last weekend's floods. A river forecasting service office, previously scheduled, will open Sept. 1 at Hartford, Conn. It will cover the New England area. At present. the Weather Bureau has only one specialized river forecasting office, at Harrisburg, Pa., for the entire northeastern part of the nation.

Rainfall Prediction Off

A reporter asked whether the Weather Bureau should not have put out more specific and detailed warnings of the extraordinarily heavy rains that drenched Eastern states in the path of dying Hurricane Diane.

The spokesman said weather stations did predict rain all along the hurricane's path, but conceded that the amount of rainfall in many areas was more than the forecasters expected. He said this simply showed that "meteorologists don't know as much about storms as they wish they knew."

Asked what kind of facilities might be added to improve flood forecasting services, the spokesman said more radar stations would be one answer. Radar enables a central weather station to detect heavy rainfalls at a considerable distance, and to alert local weather observers to begin shooting in hourly reports on rainfall and river conditions when a flood is threatened.

U.S. Expects Release Of Men In Nearest Future

MOSCOW (UP)—U.S. embassy officials said today they expected the three men the Soviet government has promised to free to be released in the "nearest future."

The three men are Wilfred C. Cumish, Amesbury, Mass.; Murray Fields, Brooklyn, N.Y., and Frederick Charles Hopkins.

Cumish and Fields both Army privates, have been missing for more than seven years. The U.S. Army said both are listed as deserters. The U.S. State Department had no information on Hopkins.

The Soviet Foreign Office advised the embassy last week that the men would be released. The embassy officials said that no further word had been received from the Soviet authorities on the time or place of the release but that it was expected in the "nearest future' probably in Berlin.

The release of the three Americans was seen here by diplomatic observers as another effort by the Soviet government to clearup minor outstanding issues in the "cold war."

Prisoners of other nationalities, including British, French, Italians, Norwegians, Belgians and Japanese also have been released or will be shortly, according to announcements.

Diplomatic opinion here is that the Soviet Union wants to enter a new post - Geneva international scene with a slate cleared as much as possible of old scores.

Vandalism Reported As Number Of Strikers Mounts

By UNITED PRESS

Vandalism was reported in two Indiana cities today as labor unrest continued and the number of Hoosiers idled by strikes mounted to almost 19,000.

The vandalism reports came frm Hagerstown and Richmond. In the latter city, there are strikes at Perfect Circle Corp., Avco's Crosely plant, and an International Harvest plant.

The number of Hoosiers on strike increased when 1,200 CIO United Auto Workers quit their jobs at Gary's Bugg Co. plant. This was the third Budd walkout in a month.

National Guard officials were alerted.

Dispute Centers On Gibson County GOP Chairman

ANDERSON, Ind. (UP)—The Indiana Republican State Committee has been temporarily restrained from acting in a GOP factional dispute centering on the party's Gibson County chairman.

Madison Circuit Judge Russell Stewart issued the order late Tuesday, shortly before State GOP Chairman Alvin Cast indefinitely postponed a hearing on the matter which was scheduled for Friday.

In the center of it all is James G. McDonald, Princeton, a former sheriff who was elected county chairman two years ago. McDonald lined up with Sen. William Jenner's faction of the party and was criticized on temporary postmaster recommendations by those in the faction headed by Governor Craig.

A petition was filed demanding McDonald's removal for "neglect of duty, disloyalty and inefficiency." Cast appointed a sub-committee to hear the charges.

But McDonald filed the court, charging such a sub-committee hearing would violate state committee rules. The judge scheduled a hearing on the injunction suit for next Wednesday.

McDonald's backers claimed the dispute is part of a fight for control of the GOP's 7th District, now headed by Craig-man Wayne Kellams of Edinburg. It took Kellams 11 ballots to get elected district chairman, and then by only one vote.

The Jenner forces charged Craigs group instituted the action against McDonald before the recent election of a new Sullivan County GOP chairman. The Craig element feared a Jenner man might be elected there and thereby give control of the district, and perhaps the state committee, to Jenner, it was charged.

As it turned out, the Craig forces maintained control of Sullivan County's organization. Their hold on the district would be safer, however, with Gibson County control, too.

Steam Locomotives To Be On Display In Two Hoosier Cities

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Two steam locomotives, fast becoming relics of a bygone era, will be put on display next month in two Hoosier cities.

Indiana children, and adults, will be given an opportunity to climb around the locomotives and find out what makes them tick. Attendants will be on hand to explain the workings of the machine and make sure souvenir hunters don't carry the parts away.

The Nickel Plate Road is presenting the locomotives to Hammond and Indianapolis. Like most other railroads, Nickel Plate has switched to extensive use of diesel engines and the steam locomotives are outmoded.

Hammond will park its gift at the civic center, and Indianapolis, at Broad Ripple Park. The upstate city has no problem getting the locomotive to its resting place, since tracks run nearby, but Indianapolis will block off a street and take about a week to move the giant on a hastily constructed spur line.

The locomotives will be presented Sept. 13 in Hammond and Sept. 19 in Indianapolis.

Ted Williams Can't Win Pennant By Himself But He's Sure Giving It One Whale Of A Try

By MITON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Torrid Ted Williams can't win the pennant for the Red Sox all by himself but he's sure giving it one whale of a try and worrying all the other contenders half to death in the process.

The 36-year-old Williams, who is averaging almost a run batted in per game since coming out of "retirement" in late May, but on one of his patented performances Tuesday night in leading the Red Sox to an 8-3 victory over the Indians and to within 3½ games of the American League lead.

Williams drove in four runs, making a total of 63 in 67 games, as he boosted his batting average to .344 with his 23rd homer and a double. Ted's two-run homer in the third inning was a line drive over the right field fence at the expense of loser Herb Score while he smashed his two-run double to left center off ace reliever Don Mossi in the seventh.

Chiefly because of Williams lusty hitting, the Red Sox were the only club in the league' "top four" to gain ground.

Chicago Takes Over First

Even ough the White Sox actually lost a percentage point by dividing a doubleheader with the Orioles, they took over first place by two percentage points when the Yankees lost to the Tigers, 7-2.

The White Sox ran their winning streak to five straight games with a 6-2 victory in the opener but the Orioles ended a four-game losing streak of their own with a 10-3 triumph in the nightcap. Four Baltimore errors made it relatively easy for Vrgil Trucks to post his 13th victory and his fifth straight in the opener but the Orioles rapped four White Sox pitchers for 15 hits as George Zuverink was credited with his first conquest of the season in the nightcap. Dave Philley and Sherm Lollar hit homers.

Frank Lary halted Detroit's five game losing streak by limiting New York to eight hits. The Tigers made short work of Yankee starter Bob Turley, chasing him to cover in the second inning after he loaded the bases. An infield out and Al Kaline's single put Detroit ahead 3-1 and the Yanks never were able to catch up again.

Kansas City defeated Washington ton, 4-3, despite two homers by Roy Sievers and a homer and a triple by Carlos Paula. Vic Power drove in three of the Athletics' runs with a homer and a single. Alex Kellner was the winner but he needed relief by Tom Gorman and Art Ditmar.

The Brooklyn Dodgers put a stop to their backslide with a 6-4 victory over the Cubs that moved them 12 games ahead of the second-place Braves who were beaten by the Phillies, 4-3. In the other National League games, the Pirates nipped the Redlegs, 2-1, while the Cardinals edged the Giants, 2-1.

Carl Furillo's two-run homer in the seventh inning snapped a 4-all tie and earned relief pitcher Don Bessent his sixth straight victory without a defeat. Bressent had taken over for Dodger starter Don Newcombe, who gave up all of Chicago's runs and then left the game with a strained shoulder muscle in the third inning.

Stan Lopata's single with the bases full off Lew Burdette capped a three-run rally in the ninth inning that gave the Phils their victory over the Braves. Ed Mathews hit his 33rd homer with one on in the irst inning off Phillies' starter Murry Dckson. Reliever Jack Meyer picked up the victory.

The Pirates broke a tie in the eighth inning when Jerry Lynch tripled off Buster Freeman and came home on Frank Thomas sacrifice fly. Vern Law scattered six hits for his ninth triumph.

The Cards also fashioned their tie-breaking run in the eighth when Bill Sarni singled with the bases full off southpaw Johnny Antonelli. Paul LaPalme was the winner in a game that featured eight double plays.

Joan Eberhart Completes Blue Ribbon Project

Joan Eberhart, South Whitley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Eberhart returned home Tuesday evening from the Lutheran Hospital where she had been a patient since May 26.

Joan suffered an attack of polio in 1952 which left her with a curvature of the spine. She was placed in a cast May 27 to prepare her for spinal surgery August 9.

Joan received a blue ribbon on her sixth year 4-H clothing project when the Cleveland township exhibits were judged Tuesday. She had completed most of her project before entering the hospital.

Mrs. LeRoy Kreider, Cleveland township 4-H leader said "Joan's clothing is all finished except stitching the zipper, facing the sleeve and turning the hem and she went to the hospital as soon as school was out."

Joan will be a sophomore in South Whitley high school. She will not be able to start school in September but will enter later. She lives south of South Whitley but will soon be moving with her family to their new home being built on the site of the Carey umber company.

Producer Steve Carlin Supplies $64,000 Answer

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Steve Carlin executive producer of "The $64,000 Question," today supplied a $64,000 answer — how to go about getting a crack at all the loot.

Carlin, who helped nurse the money-winning (it's ranked number one by the rating agencies), money-losing (it's shelled out $100,560 and two Cadillacs over 10 weeks) show from the start, gets about 15,000 letters a week from viewers. Almost all suggest friends, relatives or themselves as possible contestants.

But Carlin said most of them are dumped in the waste basket right off the bat.

Long, Intelligent Letter

"To get any initial consideration at all, a letter should be fairly long and read intelligently," said Carlin. "It should include detailed information about the following—age, profession, educational background, family status, interests outside work, the hopes that can be fulfilled by winning any money.

"We steer away from maudlin letters. Someone who writes that he plans to build a house or take a trip around the world has a better chance of being picked than somone with a hard luck story. And one other thing — it helps if a photograph is included."

If an applicant passes the first screening (and only about 300 or 400 do), the show sends out a letter asking for three character references.

"We usually get about a 50 per cent reponse from this test," said Carlin, "and then we boil this batch down to about 25 possibilities."

Then comes a second letter from the producers asking for five refences — from solid sources such as a bank, landlord, employer or church. From this group of replies, come the final choices for the program.

Lure And Motor

It's Carlin's belief that this tedious screening process has been responsible for the success of "The $64,000 Question."

"The large amounts of money that we give away are, of course, a lure," said Carlin. "But the way we look at it, the $64,000 is the sparkplug of the show and the contestants the motor."

Carlin is one of a steady twosome who work up the questions fired at contestants. The other is Bergen Evans, a Rhodes scholar, gentlemen and moderator of "Down You Go." Carlin and Evans huddled for two weeks in a New York hotel room before the show opened, fashioning queries. Three other experts — in the fields of music, sports and science —also are called in when Carlin and Evans run into a snag. The names of the experts must remain anonymous.

Government Rushes Plans For 80 Million Dollar Relief Program

By RICHARD E. MOONEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government today rushed plans for an 80 million dollar relief program to carry out the "total war" President Eisenhower has ordered against northeastern flood damage.

Mr. Eisenhower was to receive a personal report on the program's progress late today after returning from a speech in Philadelphia and before resuming his Colorado vacation.

He and his top officials mapped tentative plans for vastly expanded disaster aid at a White House conference late Tuesday. They met after the President's dramatic flight over the flood-stricken area and after his pledge to do "everything possible"—even to calling a special session of Congress if necessary — to speed government aid to the area.

Special Session Unlikely

Congressional leaders generally expressed doubt that a special session would be necessary to provide funds for the relief program. But Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said it was still possible such a session would be summoned.

The White House began contacting congressional leaders Tuesday night on plans for the relief program and asking for their opinions.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson told reporters the President already has "considerable authority" to a tci i sgn nu funds for flood relief without a special session of Congress. But he said he is sure that if more authority is needed, Congress would grant it.

Speaker Sam Rayburn said that "if the President, without calling Congress into session, wants to use emergency funds for relief of the endorsement."

The White House said government aid would go mainly to the repair and rehabilitation of such public facilities as streets, water systems, schools and clearing of debris which might become a health hazard.

Civil Defense Director Val Peterson, in charge of the relief program, said the President "has declared total war on the effects of the (flood) disaster, and we are trying to move with all of the resources of the government to alleviate this situation."

He said state-by-state spending under the program probably would be as follows:

Twenty five million dollars in both Connecticut and Pennsylvania; 15 million dollars in Massachusetts and 5 million dollars each in New Jersey, New York and Rhode Island.

This amounts to 80 million dollars but Peterson said the final figure may be as high as 100 million dollars.

Only $11,500,000 is now available in the President's emergency fund. But the Budget Bureau was trying to determine whether the bill can be paid out of other funds already appropriated by Congress.

One of Peterson's first steps was to order the Army Engineers to begin helping remove debris and restore public facilities. Lt. Gen. S. D. Sturgis Jr. already was in Boston and ordered military and civilian engineering and construction specialists into the flood-torn area from corps organizations in the Midwest, South and East.

Methodist Bishop Says Civilization Will Abolish War

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UP)—Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam predicted today civilization will abolish war in ths 20th century and not be "cremated n the fires of a hydrogen blast."

"Call me naive, unrealistic, ingenuous," he told the five-day National Convocation of Methodist Youth, "but I dare to affirm the belief this will be called the century in which man abolished war, established economic justice and realized racial brotherhood."

Anyone who declares war inevitable is repudiating Chritian faith, he sad.

Oxnam, former president of DePauw University, had a run-in with a congressional committee several years ago when he defended himself against charges he had belonged to some "Communist front' organizations.

He said in today's speech that Communists "reject the affirmation of faith" and pointed to Russia as a threat to world peace.

Bombs, Gas Ineffective

"Russia is an expanding imperi alism and an infiltratng ideology," the Methodst bishop in the Washington area said. "We must never forget that an ideology cannot be demolished by atomic bombs, nor suffocated by poison gas.

"It must be met by a better ideology, equally dynamic, that when translated into reality brings more of freedom, justice and brotherhood to man; in a word, more of abundant living. We possess such an ideology.

Oxnam said America, working through theUnited Nations, "must be so strong that we can convince Russia that if sne pursues her expansionist policy she will jeopardize the peace, and having jeopardized it, because of our strength she cannot hope to win.'

To work toward world peace, said Oxnam, man must reconcile himself with God, which amounts to rejection of Communism. Then, he said, mankind must reconcile technology and brotherhood, the individual and the many, and the nation and world communty.

Newspaper Returns To Conventional Spelling Of Words

CHICAGO (UP) — The Chicago Tribune has returned to conventional spelling of certain words, chiefly in the interest of sparing "school children any needless confusion in learning to spell."

The tribune adopted simplified spelling for the same reason.

"We hoped that other publications would be attracted by the common sense and etymological rightness of 'sherif' and 'tarif' for example, but this hope has been disappointed," the newspaper said in an editorial Sunday.

Effective Aug. 15, the Tribune restored the "ph" in words like "photograph" and "sophomore,' which under the simplified method had been spelled "fotograf' and "sofomore."

In addition, the newspaper returned to the conventional spellings of these words: Advertisement, cotillion, freight and freighter, 'paean, baliff, plaintiff, tariff sheriff and soldier.

For the present at least, the newspaper said, the "og" endings on such words as "catalog" will be retained, and the "et" ending of "cigaret.' Also to be retained are "tho, "Thru," and "thoro" and the simplified form of a number of other words "which appear to have won widespread acceptance," the Tribune said.

The Tribune said not one reader wrote or telephoned about the change until a professional newspaperman queried the newspape l.ter in the week.

Moore Decides To Postpone Flying

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (UP)—Archie Moore finally has decided to give up his flying lessons, at least until after his heavyweight title bout with champion Rocky Marciano, Sept. 20. The promoters of the fight have been urging the 38-year-old Moore to postpone flying until the conclusion of the bout, but it took a near accident Friday to convince the challenger he ought to stop flying for a while.

Ellender Invites Soviet Leaders To Visit U. S.

To Make For Better Understanding Between The Two Nations

By KENNETH BRODNEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW (UP)—U.S. Sen. Allen J. Ellender Tuesday night invited five top Soviet Communist leaders to visit the United States to "make for better understanding" between the two nations.

He also said a delegation from the U.S. Congress should come to Russia to see how the country is run.

Ellender specifically invited the Russians to visit his state—Louisiana.

Asked what he thought Red-hunting Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) would say about his views, Ellender replied that "I don't know and I don't give a damn."

The Louisiana Democrat extended the invitation at a reception given by the Rumanian Embassy at Moscow's plush Hotel Sovietskaya and attended by U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen and virtually the entire Moscow diplomatic corps.

The invitation included former Premier Georgi Malenkov, First Deputy Premiers Lazar Kaganovich, Anastas Mikoyan, Mihail Pervukhin, and M. A. Suslov, a secretary of the Communist Party Central Committee.

(Top Soviet leaders, including Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev, have indicated a desire to visit the United States but so far no official invitation has been forthcoming.)

Ellender, gaily swapping jokes with Soviet leaders, said he thought the exchange of agricultural delegations between the United States and the Soviet Union was "one of the finest things that has happened —both for this country and our own."

"I feel that interchanges of more Russians and Americans visiting each other might make for better understanding between each other and more cordial relations," he said.

"We can not keep spending and spending" on defense and foreign aid, Ellender said.

He said that although there was "no question" that the Soviet Union is still a threat to the United States, "my hope is that the Russians do what they say and keep trying to find better ways to get along" with the free world.

President Has A Busy Day

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower had flood relief problems, a speech in Philadelphia a family reunion and seven hours of flying on his schedule today—with the happy target of resuming his Colorado vacation by nightfall.

White House aides still were determined their boss should get as much rest as possible during his stay in the West, but they admitted their first week's efforts in that direction were knocked cold by the apparently ceaseless pressure of presidential affairs.

Mr. Eisenhower was to fly from Washington to Philadelphia early today aboard the presidential plane Columbine III for a short get-together with two of his brothers and an address in front of Independence Hall to the American Bar Association's 78th annual convention.

He planned to be back in his White House office this afternoon for consultation with Civil Defense Chief Val Peterson, who is directing federal efforts to aid the victims of last week's devastating floods in eight eastern states.

Business done, the President was scheduled to take to the air again for a six-hour flight to Denver, Colo., with the First Lady accompanying him. Mrs. Eisenhower did not accompany the Chief Executive when he went to Denver and then on to his favorite trout stream in the Rockies nine days ago.

Gloria Lockerman Spells Sentence, Runs Winnings To $16,000

NEW YORK (UP) —Little Gloria Lockerman, the 12-year-old Negro spelling champ who ran her winnings to $16,000 on a TV giveaway show, rides back home to Baltimore today for some boning up with the dictionary and family conferences about her TV future.

Gloria confidently spelled her way through a nonsense sentence on CBS-TV's "The $64,000 Question" to earn a possible shot next Tuesday at $32,000.

Indications were that Gloria would go for the bigger money. Her divorced parents, James Lockerman and Vivian Singleton, both of Philadelphia, seemed to favor a go-ahead.

The answer that booster Gloria to the $16,000 level on the quiz program was the spelling of: "The belligerent astigmatic anthropologist annihilated innumerable chrysanthemums."

Wish Granted

APPLETON, Wis. (UP)—Probation officers granted Eugene Jensen's wish today and sent him back to jail.

Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiege sent Jensen, 27, off to serve the rest of his one-to-five year term after probation officers testified that Jensen "repeatedly" had requested revocation of his probation.

Bloomington Man Elected Governor Of Indiana Kiwanis

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (UP)—Clum Bucher, Bloomington, was elected governor of the Indiana Kiwanis at the close of the group's 38th annual three-day convention Tuesday.

More than 700 Kiwanians attended the convention, the largest number in the history of the event.

Seventeen men were selected as lieutenant governors. They are Dr. Russell Beck, Michigan City; Carl Burger, Plymouth; Hamilton Hunter, Fort Wayne; Craven Emschwiller, Bluffton; Donald Crain, Logansport; M.M. Goodnight, Lafayette; Max Mecklenberg, Hartford City.

Jay Woelfert, Alexandria; Robert Heuslein, Indianapolis; George Schetzlein, Knightstown; Tom Higgins, Linton; John Friedersdorf, Franklin; Lynn Thurston, Greensburg; Alfred Gesell, Princeton; Fred Crowe, Paoli; Vern McClellan, Mt. Vernon, and Charles Gerber, Cannelton.

Cost Of Living Increases In July

WASHINGTON (UP)—The cost of living in July showed the largest increase of the last 14 months, mostly because of rising food prices.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today the gain was .3 of 1 per cent.

Small as it was, the increase means a penny-an-hour wage rise for some 650,000 General Motors and Ford Motor Co. workers and for 200,000 in other industries.

The BLS index of consumer prices for July was 114.7, using average 1947-49 prices as a comparison basis of 100. The June figure was 114.4. The increase put the index figure just half way between the high and low figures of the last two years.

BLS also reported the take-home pay (after tax withholdings) of the average factory worker last month was at an all-time high for a July, though lower than the record set in May. For a worker with three dependents, July take-home pay averaged $69.84 a week.

The cost-of-living pay increase for GM and Ford workers will take effect in September. Aircraft and farm equipment manufacturing industries are also under contracts which give allowance for price changes, but it could not be determined immediately how or when they would be affected by the July rise.

The rising costs of housing, personal care, medical care and recreation were other factors in the rise of the cost of living in July. Rents were at their highest level on record.

Exhibitors Awarded Ribbons In Foods, Clothing, Handicraft, Home Improvement

The Whitley County 4-H club exhibits of clothing, handicraft, home improvement, food preservation, food preparation and baking were judged Tuesday and Wednesday in the 10 clubs in the county.

Mrs. Virginia Moore, Fort Wayne and Mrs. Lewis Dale, Laketon, were the judges.

The judging which takes place within each club, gives both the girls and their leaders an opportunity to confer with the judges about the products on exhibit.

The ribbons are awarded after the exhibits are in place in the 4-H community center. A name tag with colored seal gives the placing and class of the exhibit.

A purple ribbon is awarded for a superior exhibit; blue for excellent; red for good, white for fair, green exhibitor ribbon.

Dean Fritz Is Grand Winner In Sheep Show

Sweeps Show With Shropshire Lambs

Dean Fritz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fritz, Columbia township swept everything in the 4-H sheep competition this morning. Judge Walter Krueck, of Allied Mills, gave the nod to Dean with his pen of three registered Shropshire ewe lambs. When the best lamb of the three were chosen and shown by each of the 10 sheep showmen Dean again stood at the top of the list after Judge Krueck had carefully checked the lambs. When Gerald Wallace, club leader in charge of the sheep judging, informed Mr. Krueck that a champion showman was also to be selected, the judge replied, "That will have to go to the boy in first place also." He has consistently placed high with lambs in previous years.

Jeannine Vance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Vance, Cleveland township, was right behind the champion all the way. Her pen of three Hampshire-Shropshire ewes placed second and reserve champion, and her best lamb of three also stood in the reserve champion place. This was Jeannine's first year with a 4-H sheep project.

At the concludion of the judging of the pens of three lambs, Judge Krueck gave a beneficial talk to the young showmen. He suggested a manner for the youngsters to follow while showing their animals, and for the benefit of the interested audience, he briefly outlined the characteristics he was looking

3 Voiced No Objections To Appropriations

Thorncreek, Columbia Townships, City Agreed To Support Plans

Representatives of Thorncreek and Columbia township and Columbia City presented no protests against additional appropriations for plans for the new joint high school at the hearings Wednesday morning.

Residents of Union, Jefferson and Washington township appeared at the hearings to object to the additional appropriations for their shares of the $36,000 guarantee to the architect for drawing the plans for the school building.

Some confusion seems to have arisen concerning the reason for appropriating the money, since the architect will be paid for his work along with the contractor, after the holding company is formed and bonds have been issued for the cost of the school.

As explained by school officials at the hearings, the money appropriated, as such, may not have to be paid at all. The $36,000 is merely a "good faith" indication by the school corporations who will build the school that "some" money is available, before bonds are issued

According to the explanation, the money would not be paid should the bonds be issued before July 1, 1956. It would be paid then in installments of $18,000 on that date and an identical amount on December 31, 1956, if the bonds are not issued by that time.

The officials related that the amount will not constitute an "advance" to the architect for drawing and preparing the plans for the building. It merely assures him that "there is money" and is to serve as a guarantee that he will be paid for his work.

Columbia City Willing Workers Win Squires Cup

Blue Ribbons For Union, Thorncreek And Washington

BULLETIN

Columbia City's Willing Workers lived up to their name at the 4-H Fair today by winning the grand prize for their display booth.

Other ribbon winners were Union, Thorncreek, and Washington, blue; Columbia, Smith, Cleveland, and Etna-Troy, red, and Richland and Jefferson white.

The articles made by members of the girls' 4-H Clubs are on exhibit at the 4-H Fair — they're what the girls have worked on during the year.

But the booths, on which members from each township display their products are also important, since even the most beautifully-made dress wouldn't look quite so good if it were displayed at a poorly decorated booth.

Each year O. P. M. Squires Jewelry Store awards a cup to the club with the best booth.

To encourage better booth decorating, ribbons are also awarded for the best looking booths. This year the various booths were judged by Mrs. Virginia Moore.

Smith township members displayed their products on a booth which had "4-H Key to Success" as a general theme, while the Willing Workers of Columbia City used "4-H Balances Their Lives" as a theme. This booth encorporated a large balance scales with "knowledge" and "experience" at either end of the scales.

The Thorncreek 4-H Stars used the 4-H pledge and creed to center their booth, on which cardboard figuerines were displayed. A 4-H was in the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, as depicted by the Richland Merry Maids' booth.

Columbia township's booth had a large 4-H emblem, with streamers leading down to some of the products, while "4-H Sally" told what she and 4-H could do for members. "Sally" was on display at the Jefferson township booth.

The Etna-Troy township girls had their club name, the Etna-Troy Lucky Fours, above their booth, while Union township members showed the various phases of the 4-H pledge by illustrating it with figuerines.

Washington township used the 4-H emblem as the central theme of their booth, which had a large clover with streamers leading to smaller clovers showing what 4-H projects and awards are available.

Cleveland township members diagrammed the "4-H Road to Success" by means of a scale model of a city.

Mrs. Walter Ditton Is Second Winner In Courtesy Campaign

In keeping with the provisions of the local Courtesy Campaign, as set up by the Chicago Motor Club, one winner will be named each day during the campaign.

The person selected for today's publication was Mrs. Walter Ditton, 506 N. Elm street. Mrs. Ditton won the $5.00 cash award and courtesy certificate for her safe automobile driving practices.

Mayor Thos. H. Hood was the judge who selected Mrs. Ditton as a winner. He observed her as she drove from East Ellsworth street to her home on N. Elm street. Mrs. Ditton made the proper hand signals at every turn made while driving that distance, kept the speed of her automobile within the lawful limits at all times.

Committee Plans Public Forum In November

National Issues Of 1956 To Be Aired At Session; To Invite Rep. Adair

The Public Affairs Committee of the Columbia City Chamber of Commerce announced plans for a public forum on national issues some time in November at its meeting Wednesday night at the City Hall. The committee decided to extend an invitation to Congressman E. Ross Adair, representative of the Fourth Indiana District, to speak at the session.

It is planned to schedule the forum between election day, November 8, and Thanksgiving.

Six members of the committee were present for the meeting. They were Foster Riddick, county treasurer, chairman; Edward Glenn, city superintendent of schools; Richard Holden, farmer and city building commissioner; Paul Windemuth, Jr., city councilman; Woodfin Jones, executive secretary of the Chamber; and Hal Olree, of the Post and Commercial-Mail.

Committee members absent were David Walter, Jr., president of the Chamber of Commerce; Don Alberty, cashier, Citizens' State Bank; John Lillich, contractor; John Whiteleather, attorney; and Clarence Jones of Flox's Department Store.

The committee discussed several of the major issues which will be important when congress reconvenes. Most of the issues are left over from 1955. These include the public vs. private power problem, school and highway construction, health re-insurance and social security, farm price supports, natural gas, the Bricker resolution restricting treaty agreements, foreign aid and the Hoover Commission recommendations.

Riddick named eight sub-committees to study these issues with a view to leading the discussion at a public forum. Named as chairmen of the sub-committees are John Lillich, highways; Edward Glenn, schools; Richard Holden business, government and agriculture; Paul Windemuth, Jr., military and social security; Don Alberty, federal expenditures; John Whiteleather, public forum; Hal Olree, international affairs; and Clarence Jones, national affairs.

Members present voted to undertake the promotion of better relations among the communities of Whitley county as a project of the committee.

Local Girls Named To State Fair School Which Opens Monday

Three Whitley County 4-H girls will be attending the Indiana State Fair school which opens Monday at the fair and continues until September 7. The girls are chosen because of their outstanding records in 4-H club work and as community leaders.

Attending the school will be Linda Knisley, from the Coumbia township club, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Knisely; Carol Worden, Columbia township club, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Worden; Nancy Hollenbaugh, Jefferson township, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hollenbaugh.

Mrs. Charles Sohl, director of the school, states that "the purpose of the school is to give young women an opportunity to receive training in phases of home making and community building." Lectures, demonstrations and tours assist lessons in the preparation and serving of meals, personal hygiene home nursing, baking, clothing and handicraft.

Handley Says 4-H Club Members Face Big Food Demand

A PORTE, Ind (UP)—t Gov Harold Handley said today present-day 4-H Club members will be challenged with the biggest food demand in history.

Increases in population, at the present rate, will result in 228 million American mouths to feed by 1975, he said. About that time, today's 4-H boys and girls will be the backbone of the nation's farms.

"Fortunately, our next farm generation will be better equipped in every way to tackle this problem," he told a 4-H meeting. "There will be more farm mechanization, better seeds, better livestock, better fertilizier, irrigation aids and all the rest. That means better farming and better living."

Reserve Grand Champ Shown By Carl Mishler

1955 Swine Show Is Largest Ever

The 1955 Whitley County 4-H grand champion barrow was shown this afternoon by Marlon Leininger 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Leininger, Columbia township. This was the first grand championship won by Marlon in his five years of work in the pig club. In his first year, he showed the reserve grand champion. The Chester Whites shown by Marlon are raised on the Leininger farm. The young hogman has shown the first place gilts in previous years, and his purple ribbon barrow this year was selected from his pig litter project.

Marlon will sell his grand champion in the 4-H auction Friday afternoon.

Carl Mishler showed the reserve grand champion barrow this year, a Yorkshire, raised on the Mishler farm in Cleveland township. Carl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mishler.

He is 12 years old and has shown pigs for two years previously. In those two previous years, Carl showed the champion Yorkshire barrow, but this is the first time he won a purple ribbon.

In addition to showing the grand champion barrow over all breeds, Marlon Leininger also won the Swine Showmanship Award. Dean Hodge, of Purdue, was the judge for the 4-H swine show, which was Congratulations!

Congratulations to the boys and girls who have worked so hard and so faithfully to prepare their exhibits for the Whitley County 4-H Fair. The experience and knowledge they have gained will well repay them for their time and effort.

Congratulations to the leaders, without whose many hours of instruction, guidance, patience and understanding, such an educational program could not be carried out. Their reward is the satisfaction of a job well done.

Congratulations to the parents whose help is necessary to make such a program a success. The knowledge that their child has the determination to finish a task is certainly satisfying.

Congratulations to the many friends, clubs, committees, and businessmen who helped in anyway to arrange for this better-than-ever fair.

Congratulations to the people of the community who made it possible for these youngsters to have buildings in which to display their exhibits.

Congratulations on the 1955 Whitley County 4-H Fair.

Miss Shoda And Roy W. Hinen Exchange Vows Saturday At Saturn Church Of Christ

The Saturn Church of Christ was the scene of the marriage of Miss Phyliss A. Shoda and Roy W. Hinen, which occurred at 8 o'clock Saturday night. The Rev. Paul Clark received the marriage vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Shoda Washington township and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinen, R 6, Fort Wayne.

Miss Patricia Byall served as maid of honor, with Miss Sharon Hewes and Miss Sylvia Schmidt serving as bridesmaids. Peggy Dimmick, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Harmon Shoda, brother of the bride, attended Mr. Hinen as groomsman. Other atendants included Craig Miller and Angus Giant, Jr., of Fort Wayne. Johnny Edmunds, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

Organist and Vocalist

Mrs. Richard Slater played the organ and also accompanied Mrs. Carl Wagoner, the vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father before an alter banked with baskets of white gladiolus, wore a floor length gown of handclipped lace and nylon tulle over satin for the candelite ceremony. Her short-sleeved gown had scallops edging the v-neckline. The skirt featured wide lace panels which highlighted the bouffant skirt of nylon tulle and tiered ruffles. She wore matching mitts, and her finger-tip veil of silk illusion was caught to a headpiece adorned with lilies-of-th-valley. She carried a White Bible beneath pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Aqua Worn

The bridesmaids and the maid of honor each wore aqua floor-length gowns of lace and nylon net, with molded strapless lace bodices topped with lace jackets. Rows of lace and nylon net ruffles alternated on the full skirts, and each wore matching headbands. They carried lace fans of pink gladiolus and lilies-of-the-valley.

The flower girl wore a floor-length dress of white nylon over aqua taffeta.

The Misses Mary Lou McNabb, of Coumbia City, Varva Jo Bishop and Thresa Diamound and Mrs. Angus Giant, Jr., all of Fort Wayne, served the more than 300 guests at a reception following the ceremony.

The couple plans to reside in a new home in Laud.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation ...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys — tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable...with restless, sleepless nights...don't wait...try Doan's Pills... get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Get Doan's Pills today!

Suffering Eases In Northeast, Then Edith Starts

By UNITED PRESS

Suffering eased in the flood stricken northeast today under one of the most effective rehabilitation programs ever undertaken in the United States.

The hungry were being fed, the homeless were given temporary family shelters, communications functioned almost normally, most roads were cleared and open to traffic, and industries began digging out debris and drying out equipment in preparation to resume operations.

The U.S. Army Engineers, with handling a 100 million dollar government relief program, gave notice that rehabilitation was already well in progress.

Reports of partial recovery were made as a new storm Hurricane Edith, built up in the Atlantic Ocean about 750 miles east-northeast of San Juan, P.R. It was Edith's predecessor, Hurricane Diane, that created weather conditions causing driving rains that brought on the disastrous floods.

Connecticut, one of the worst hit states in the flood made a strong recovery today from the one billion dollars damage it suffered six days ago.

More than two thirds of the industries washed out by high waters were back in production or on the verge of restoration.

Gov. AVerell Harriman of New York said his state was rushing its own program to recover from an estimated 15 million dollar damage.

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker announced in Washington that "all relief request to the Army have been or are being met."

Surplus Food Distributed

Further plans were made to remove debris, health and safety hazards and restore public facilities in the six state flood area.

The Agriculture Department opened surplus food stores in the stricken states for use as needed by flood victims.

Trailer homes, prefabricated houses, factory space and other shelters were offered to the 100,000 homeless.

Millions of dollars, from the government, the Red Cross, companies, unions and thousands of individuals poured into the flooded states.

Residents of the flood area themselves contributed the greatest effort to the rehabilitation.

The International Ladies' Garment Workers union (CIO) appropriated $100,000 for flood victims. AFL President George Meany contributed $1,000 and urged affiliated unions to add to this amount.

More than 65 entertainers and sports figures, including Eddie Fisher, Paul Whiteman, Lauritz Melchior, Sherry Britton, Archie Blyer and Rocky Marciano rushed to West Hartford, Conn., Wednesday night for an all night TV appearance to appeal for aid for flood victims.

Contributions Pour In

President Eisenhower's appeal Wednesday for "spontaneous" contributions to flood relief brought widespread and immediate results.

The New York chapter of the Red Cross alone reported 5,000 contributions totaling more than $200,000.

CIO President Walter Reuther pledged $100,000 from the United Auto Workers union. The United Steel Workers (CIO) contributed $25,000. The CIO Textile Workers union prepared to send a "sub- [illegible] [illegible] for relief and re- [illegible]

The death toll in an eight-state area [illegible] by the floods was 203. Scores were still missing but no trace of their bodies had been found after days of searching through silt and debris.

The state-by-state death toll included: Pennsylvania 115, Connecticut 50, Massachusetts 23, New Jersey 6, New York 4, Virginia 2, Rhode Island 2, and Delaware 1.

Damage was estimated at 3 billion dollars.

Airman Schmidt, Wife Together Again

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—Airman Daniel C. Schmidt and his wife, Una, were back together again today in a honeymoon hideaway.

Una, who said she married another man in the belief Schmidt had died in Red China, flew to Portland from California Wednesday night for a reconciliation with the 23-year-old airman.

The meeting at the home of Schmidt's mother, Mrs. Nellie Peters, culminated in their decision to go back together. Una said, in an exclusive interview with United Press, that this time it was "for keeps if Danny wants me."

Schmidt, who said it was "one of the happiest moments of my life," smiled at his 20-year-old wife's remarks and indicated he was in complete accord by soundly kissing her on the cheek.

Benson Admits Weak Spots In Farm Economy

Not Content With Farm Price, Income

BOOMINGTON, Ill (UP) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson admitted today there are "weak spots" in the nation's farm economy and said the Eisenhower administration is "not content" with the farm price and income picture.

Benson said farmers "are not sharing as fully as I would like" in the current "unprecedented" prosperity, but added "I am convinced there are better days ahead."
Benson said.

"These are weak spots in our agricultural economy but fundamentally it is sound and healthy," road ahead, just as there have been in the past," he said. "But there will be smooth stretches, too."

Benson, in a speech prepared for delivery at 1:30 pm at the Bloomington Pantagraph's Farm and Soil Day, said the nation has been undergoing a transition "from a war economy to one more closely geared to normal markets and conditions.

Such a transition, he said, "is never easy for agriculture," yet there have been "less serious dislocations than ever before in our history as a nation."

"And I am certain that farmers infinitely prefer such adjustments as must be made to the alternative of continuing bloodshed," he said.

Benson said it was true that there has been a "sharp decline" in farm prices since the height of the Korean War, but there hasn't been the same drop in per capita income of farmers.

"Through increased efficiency, most farmers have been able to offset to a considerable extent the effects of lower prices," he said.

He took issue with critics who take "a few isolated figures" and try to "create a statistical depression in agriculture."

Benson said it isn't true to say that agriculture is in "a depression like that of the 1930s," nor is it correct to say that farmers are enjoying "unparalleled prosperity."

British Jets Will Be Obsolete When Delivered

To U.S., Hoover Commission Study Report Charges

WASHINGTON UP)—A Hoover Commission study report charges that millions of dollars worth of British-made jet planes ordered by the United States will be obsolete when delivered

It also said the British jets are inferior to American jets

The commission's task force on overseas economic operations said three British planes which the government has ordered—the Hawker, Hunter, Javelin and Swift—"have become obsolescent and unsuited for first line duty in competition with truly supersonic fighters of the latest United States and reported Russian designs."

About 200 million dollars was earmarked in fiscal 1954 and 1955 for the purchase or financing of the Javelin and Swift fighters, the Canberra light bomber and one or more medium bombers, the report said has been postponed until the plane

It said any action on the Javelin could be evaluated by the US Air Force

The task force, headed by Henning W Prentis Jr, reported that the United States had given the "stupendous" sum of $46,847,000,000 in military and economic aid to foreign countries from the end of World War II through June 30, 1954

It said that while everyone agrees this country must do all it can "within reason to contain and limit the spread of communism," future aid could be justified only if needed for the free world's defense

The task force said there was "no convincing proof" behind US aid programs that communism can be thwarted by raising living standards It said "communism, for example, is strongest in the higher wage industrial centers of Italy"

Leo Durocher Thinks Any One Of Jekyl-Hyde Contenders Can Beat Dodgers In The Series

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

It may often seem that none of those Jekyl-Hyde contenders can win the American League flag but no less an authority than Leo Durocher thinks anyone of 'em can beat the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series.

"The way the Dodgers have been playing it won't make any difference who plays 'em in the series," Durocher stated. "You'd just have to pick the American League team to win. In fact, if the Dodgers hadnt just opened a home stand they'd probably blow sky high and lose the pennant."

The Dodgers won their second straight game at home Wednesday beating the Chicago Cubs, 9-5, and restoring their lead to 12½ games but you still can't tell Dr. Jekyl from Mr. Hyde in the frantic A.L. struggle .

Yankees Back In First

The New York Yankees, who only 24 hours earlier turned in one of their worst performances of the season, barged back into first place by a half game when they beat the Detroit Tigers ,3-2 ,on ninth-inning homers by Yogi Berra beat the Detroit Tigers, 3-2, on ninth-inning homers by Yogi BBerr and Mickey Mantle.

The Chicago White Sox, "fresh" from a four-game sweep of the Tigers, meanwhile, split a double-header with the last-place Baltimore Orioles and managed only a disappointing 2-2 break in the four-game series. The White Sox played like world-beaters in the opener, rapping out 20 hits for a 14-1 conquest, then bowed, 2-1, to Bill Wight in the nightcap.

And those Boston Red Sox ,who looked so spectacular in walloping Cleveland Tuesday night, were limited to seven hits by Mike Garcia in a 2-0 loss to the Indians. The Kansas City Athletics shut out the Washington Senators, 5-0, behind Arnold Portocarrero's three-hitter in the other A.. game.

Steve Gromek limited the Yankees to four hits in eight innings but didn t retire a batter in the ninth. Berra opened the frame with his 22nd homer of the year and Mantle followed with No. 33. The blows gave Bob Grim his fifth victory although Don Larsen finished up.

Pierce Wins Eleventh

Billy Pierce scored his 11th victory and lowered his E.R.A. to 1,78 as four hits by Nelson Fox and three each by Chico Carrasquel and Jim Rivera paced the White Sox to their best offensive outburst since they clobbered the Athletics, 29-6, on April 23. But the Sox scored only on a ninth-inning homer by Sherman Lollar and eight of them struck out against Wight's southpaw slants in the nightcap.

Garcia, an "in and outer' all season, scored his second shutout and ninth win in out-pitching 6-foot, 7-inch Frank Sullivan. Sullivan pitched well enough to win most games but suffered his 12th defeat when tagged for homers by Al Smith in the first inning and Bobby Avile in the sixth.

The day proved most costly to the White Sox because they lost their edge over the Yankees in the important "loss column.' Both teams now have lost 48 games but the Yankees have won 76 to Chicago's 75 .The Indians are third at 75-49, one game behind the Yankees in each column while the Red Sox are 4½ games out with a 71-52 mark

Campy Hodges Homer

, ..Two homers by Frank Kellert and one each by Gil Hodges and Roy Campanella routed Warren Hacker and paved the way for Brooklyn's easy win. Russ Meyer, now 23-2, over the Cubs for his career ,received credit for the triumph although Clem Labrine mopped up.

Wayne Terwilliger and Ray Katt homered behind Don Little's eight hit pitching to give the New York Giants a 4-1 verdict over the St. Louis Cardinals and Dick Hall supplemented his eight-hitter with a homer in leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-0 win over the Cincinnati Redlegs. Milwaukee and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

EW YOR K (UP) —Mie ddl-

Handsome Drake of Far Rockaway, N. Y. won a lopsided 10-round decision over middleweight Danny Giovanelli of Brooklyn Wednesday night in his first main event at Madison Square Garden He was favored at 12-5

...on the electricity you'll use in 1960

You're using more electricity than ever before...and you'll be using more yet in the years ahead. New work-saving appliances still undreamed of will be commonplace in the home of 1960. And the electricity to run them must be planned for years ahead.

One of the ingenious tools we use to forecast your electrical needs is a complex device we call the network analyzer. With this mechanical brain, our engineers can determine how best to route power from source to point of use, where to place new generators, transmission lines, sub-stations. In days or hours the analyzer enables us to work out distribution problems that formerly took weeks and months.

The network analyzer is another of the many things about I&M service that you never see and rarely hear of but which help us keep your electric service dependable and low in cost no matter how many new and wonderful ways you find to use it.

French Troops Attack Rioting BerberTribesmen

Government Officials Study Reports Of 'Red Agitation'

CASABLANCA, Morocco (UP) — French troops attacked rebellious Berber tribesmen in the badlands of central Morocco while government officials studied reports of "intense Communist agitation" preceding the weekend uprisings.

At the same time persistent reports from Rabat claimed Resident Gen Gilbert Grandval had offered his resignation because of growing opposition in France to his liberal policies. French circles feared his departure might spark a new wave of violence.

Military sources announced 325 Moroccans were killed in the past four days of the French counter-offensive against four Berber tribes who rose against French rule and slaughtered 77 Frenchmen in the middle Atlas Mountains.

Investigators for the Surete Nationale, the French national police, announced they had found evidence of Communist activity when they reoccupied the prosperous settlement of Oued-Zem, Khouribga and other towns razed by the rebels.

In burned out Oued-Zem, they said, they found the body of a young rioter clutching a red flag. Survivors of the carnage reported intense Communist agitation throughout the region preceding the assaults.

Officials said it would take some time before the political responsibility is nailed down but that there was every indication the uprising had been preceded by careful planning.

Government sources said 3,000 French troops backed by 35 tanks and 40 armored cars roared off at dawn today in long columns of dusty trucks to deepen their penetration of the arid, rebel-held middle Atlas mountains, 75 miles southeast of Casablanca.

The task force received orders to flush out the nomad horsemen and herd them into valleys and disarm them of their old-fashioned rifles, daggers and sabres.

Garrett Engineer Named To Replace Asher Gray On 3 Drainage Projects

Charles T. Miser, Garrett, was appointed engineer for construction of three Whitley County drainage projects in circuit court Monday to replace Asher Gray, Wabash engineer who died July 28.

Miser will serve as engineer and surveyor for initial construction of the drainage petitioned by Lamoine Ross. The Garrett man was designated as superintendent of construction of the Lester Gilbert drainage, which is already under way.

Construction can also continue on the drainage requested in a petition by Lawrence Geeting with the naming of Miser as engineer and surveyor of that project.

Fair Grounds Kept Neat By 30-Man Crew

Committee Cleans Up Area Twice Daily, Trash Hauled Away

Merle Kyler is superintendent of the grounds committee for this year's 4-H Fair. The committee is responsible for general clean-up and neatness of the 4-H Community area.

Kyler has named 30 men for six shifts at the grounds. Shifts were scheduled beginning at 8 a.m. Friday and Saturday mornings, and for 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Those on the morning shifts clean up the grounds of waste paper and bottles from the day and evening before. The afternoon shifts aid in keeping the areas clean during the noon period.

The entire crew met at the grounds Wednesday morning to assist in setting up equipment for the fair. Such quipment include tables and chairs used for exhibits. The group also aided in setting up the outdoor stage for the Talent Show Thursday night. The entire crew will clean up the grounds at 4 p.m. Saturday after the conclusion of the event.

Members of the committee named by Kyler are Thursday: Floyd Kitson, Jesse Zeigler, Pearl Hartman, Janie E. Gambrel, and Joe Martz; Friday morning: Donald Mullett, James Baker, Harold Mullet, and Sylvester Nix; Friday noon: Leo Miller, Clyde Martz, Robert Auer, Tom Rosentrader, Wilbur Green, and Lester Souder; Saturday morning: Warren Wigent, Russell Johnson, James Bohnstedt, James Waugh, and William Snodgrass; Saturdyay noon: Homer King, Shirley Lepley, Roy McCoy, Jesse Braddock, and Kenneth Logan; Saturday noon: Clarence Raichart, Russell Schrader, Granville Miller, Clarence Fahl, and Russell Taylor.

Kyler reports that one major change in grounds-keeping has been made from former years. Instead of burning trash behind the shelter house, all refuse is hauled away in a truck.

Mr. Seivers brought with him an audience applause meter, which registered the applause. Judges who read the meter were Robert Pontzius and Gale Harris.

The $30 second prize was won by the Nix Sisters. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nix of Washington township. They played a medley of four numbers. "My Little Girl," "Hurry, Hurry," "China Town" and "Alabama Jubilee." Susan and Sharon played accordions and Shirley accompanied them on the piano.

Three bands will march in the parade. The Coesse band, directed by Miss Kathleen Tigner; the South Whitley Band directed by Leslie Pence and the arwill band directed by Miss Reba Stemen.

Included also in the parade will be the fair officials, club leaders, pet and hobby club members.

Ralph Heine is the parade superintendent. He will be assisted by Sylvester Nix, Richard Meinika, Hans Johansen and Herbert Heine.

Safety Group Directs Traffic, Polices Fair Area

23-Man Department Headed By Bolinger Helps Maintain Order

A safety department controls traffic and is responsible for keeping general order at the 4-H Fair.

Headed by Floyd Bolinger as superintendent, the department includes 45 men, but several have failed to show up for work assignments. However, Bolinger said, that he expects to have enough men on hand for the duties required of the department.

These include direction of traffic, supervision of parking of cars watchmen, both day and night, and to serve as general police in the fair area. The department is to aid in the prevention of accidents by keeping people away from any moving equipment and machinery and by curtailing any mischief. Bolinger said that he doesn't expect any difficulty.

He has assigned 23 men plus himself to assist either in the parking lots or as watchmen. Four men have been designated as evening watchmen and two during the day time.

Those who have signed up to work are Wednesday: Clarence Eberhard, Archie Hartman, Bruce Norris, and Don Gerdes; Thursday: Glen Western, Joe Bowers Clifford Esterline, Edgar Johnson, Robert Hewes, Dale Cummings Guy Jagger, and Maurice Rouch; and Marvin Metzger.

Friday: Ellis Co., Russell Bridge, Edgar Johnson, George Frazier Homer King, John Jagger, Maruice Rouch, Howard Hougendoubler Therman Martin, and Lloyd Montz; Saturday: Dale VanVoorst, Clair Henney, and Maurice Rouch.

Bolinger reports that, thus far most of the parking space at the 4-H Community Center lots has been filled while the fair is in progress. Most persons have been able to park their vehicles, because of those who visit the exhibits for awhile then leave.

The parking area around the main building driveway has been reserved for those officiating at the fair. Others park on the two lots south of the main building Bolinger said that the new parking space which was recently added is also nearly full during the fair.

Reserve Champion Gives Birth To Calf

Hugo Martz, Thorncreek township 4-H member and president of the county dairy club, brought three animals to the fair but will be taking four home with him.

His dairy heifer, which won reserve champion today, gave birth to a heifer calf at 12:30 this morning. The heifer and her baby are of the Holstein breed.

Anyone caring to do so might give Huga a few suggestions on a name for his new calf.

Architect Emerson will be present to make a public presentation and to discuss the preliminary planning of the new school.

Preliminary drawings will be shown which will include outlines and space allociations of classrooms, laboratories, shops, auditorium, gymnasium and cafeteria. The exterior view of the proposed new building and the location of the building on the site will be shown on slides.

Special invitations to attend this meeting have gone to the Township Advisory Board members and the Columbia City Joint High School Advisory Committee. The public in general is invited to this meeting. All persons who are present will have a chance to study discuss and make suggestions concerning the preliminary plans for the new school building.

The School Board, school officials, and teachers, specialists in both building and subject fields and the architect have studied the educational requirements of the five Townships and Columbia City. The architect has produced the plans in accordance with the needs of the community and the best educational practice.

Immediately following the meeting the Board of Control and the Holding Company Directors will meet to determine if the preliminary plans will be accepted or revised. Acceptance of these plans by the two bodies will determine the space allotted to each department and will permit the architect to proceed with more detailed planning of the school.

Careful Plans For Work And Menu Planning

Harold Ruckman And Mrs. Russell Geiger Head Concessions

The large crowd of exhibitors helpers, spectators and visitors at the Whitley County 4-H exhibition are fed by a committee headed by Harold Ruckman, chairman of concessions and Mrs. Russell Geiger, of the Home Demonstration clubs.

The 31st annual fair, "the fair that pies built" ran out of pies for a time Thursday evening. The chairman reported that 280 dozen buns were used on Thursday.

And where except at the Whitley County Fair can you buy a lunch from fifty to seventy cents including sandwiches, a drink, and a fifth of a homemade pie at 10c per cut.

How is it possible to serve so many people so quickly and easily?

Both Mrs. Geieger and Mr. Rickman served in the same capacity last year and reported careful plans in making a division of work and in menu planning. For example the women from Smith township make and serve the coffee, Union serves the chocolate milk, orangeade and ice cream, Jefferson the iced tea, Columbia serves the beef and sloppy Joe sandwiches, Washington and Thorncreek prepare and cook them. Richland makes and serves the ham and weiner

Large Dairy Class

Breed champions in the 1955 4-H purebred dairy show were exhibited this morning by Lillian Eiler, Jack McCoy, Charles Wiley, and Marilyn King.

Jack McCoy, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ford McCoy of Washington township, overcame the greatest competition in winning the Holstein championship. There were 44 purebred Holsteins shown. Jack's 1955 champion was a two-year-old cow, and was the same animal which won the championship for him as a senior calf in 1953.

The reserve champion Holstein was shown by Hugo Martz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martz, Thorncreek township.

An unusual story was connected with the selection of the champion Ayrshire. The champion was shown by Lillian Eiler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Eiler, Richland township, and was the heifer that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawrence gave to the Pet & Hobby Club last year to sell. The Pet & Hobby Club then gave the money from the heifer to the 4-H Clubs, Inc. The animal was a junior yearling.

The reserve champion Ayrshire was a two-year-old cow shown by Don Wilcoxson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilsoxson, Thorncreek township.

Marilyn King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph King, Richland township, exhibited the champion Jersey, a three-year-old cow. This was Marilyn's first champion in her six years of 4-H work.

Richard Kyler, son of Mr. and RESERVE GRAND CHAMPION BARROW - Carl Mishler's Yorkshire barrow won reserve grand champion honors in the judging Thursday afternoon. Here he holds his pink ribbon high.

WCTU Meets All Day Thursday

The Thursday morning session of the Women's Christian Temperance Union meeting opened with prayer by Mrs. Harley Baker, president. The group prepared reports for the state directors and departments, closing the organization year. The song "Take Time To Be Holy" and prayer by Mrs. Leota Foster were used at the afternoon meeting. Mrs. Baker gave the devotions from Hebrew 2:3 and Ephesians 2:15-18. She stressed the fact that neglect of obedience and devotion to the Christian life weakens the spiritual and moral character of the individual.

Reports were given and plans discussed for the programs for the coming year.

The following officers were re-elected for next year: Mrs. Harley Baker, president; Mrs. E. Y. Braddock, vice-president; Mrs. Nile Schrader, treasurer; Mrs. Leonard Foster, recording secretary and Mrs. Lee Johnston, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Ralph Helfrich was hostess for the day.

Steer

Darla Jean Beard, the reserve champion Hereford by Ardith Jagger, and the reserve champion Shorthorn by Wayne Nierman.

John Sanders broke into 4-H club work with a bang this year, winning championship honors as a 10-year-old. He is the foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sherbahn and bought the steer from his grandfather, Edgar Sherbahn. The Sherbahns live in Cleveland township. John sold his 910-pound black steer at the 4-H auction Friday afternoon.

Winning high honors in the beef club is nothing new for Miss Beard. She has been one of the consistent good exhibitors in the beef club for several years. She is the daughter of Mrs. Garl Beard of Jefferson township and bought her steer from Carl Kneller. In addition to showing the second place Angus steer, Darla also carried off showmanship honors.

Larry Schuman, exhibitor of the champion Hereford, has also won his share of purple ribbons in previous years. In years past, Larry has shown a grand champion, a reserve grand champion, and this year was his second time to show a champion Hereford. His 1155-pound steer was bred and raised by himself and brother, Everett Schuman. They are from Richland Township and are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schuman.

Ardith Jagger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jagger of Thorncreek township, has been in the 4-H beef club for six years, and this year was the first time she showed a reserve champion. She exhibited just one steer this year, which weighed 1070 pounds and won the pink ribbon.

The champion Shorthorn steer's exhibitor was Dan Bollinger, a small lad who paraded his 1075-pound animal into the top spot in his competition. Dan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bollinger, Cleveland township, and they raised the animal on their own farm. He sold his steer, Jim, at the auction here.

Wayne Nierman, 1955 reserve Shorthorn exhibitor, won championship honors in 1954. Heis the son of Joshua Nierman, Union township, and has been an active 4-H'er for several years. This will be his last year in 4-H, he says, and he will enter Purdue this fall.

Fierce Berber Tribesmen Lay Down Their Arms

After One Of Worst Uprisings In North Africa

CASABLANCA, Morocco (UP)—Rebellious Berber tribesmen came down from their mountain hideouts today in "sizeable numbers' to lay down their arms after one of the worst uprisings against French Rule in North Africa in 20 years.

The first large-scale surrenders came six days after the start of the uprising which caused an estimated total of 1,800 deaths in Morocco and Algeria.

The fierce tribesmen bowed to French power after being encircled in the middle Atlas Mountains of central Morocco, 75 miles southeast of Casablanca, by a powerful punitive expedition of tank - led French troops.

News of the surrenders reached here as French Resident General Gilbert Grandval prepared to leave for France on what probably will be his last official trip. But Grandval, in his brief tenure, has won the confidence of many sections of Moroccan opinion and it was feared his departure may signal new disturbances.

French officials warned they will not relax their iron grip on the Smaala tribesmen until assured of the allegiance of all the 4,000 armed men and 25,000 population of the war-like tribe.

Led by their chieftains, the nomads rode down the arid hills in small groups to pledge their allegiance and to ask French pardon.

The colorful ceremonies began at mid-afternoon. As each group laid down its old-fashioned rifles and long daggers, their submission was formally sealed by the traditional ritual of the sacrifice of a young bull.

The Smaala tribesmen participated in the massacre at OuedZem, weekend's bloody uprising.

Young Men From Opposite Sides Of Globe To Answer Tennis World's Biggest Question

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP) — Two young men from opposite sides of the globe walk out onto the famed center court at Forest Hills today to answer the tennis world's biggest question.

One is rangy Tony Trabert, the 25-year-old Wimbledon champion from Cincinnati. The other is chunky Lew Hoad, a 20-year-old blasting bridegroom from Australia.

The question to be answered is: Which is the world's greatest tennis player?

A lot of the evidence will go in today on the emerald green turf where theyll battle for the cherished Davis Cup. There is much more at stake than a mere one point of the five which will decide whether the United States keeps the huge silver bowl or the Aussies take it back down under.

Most At Stake

Trabert has the most at stake. he stepped to the front of the pack by winning at Wimbledon. Two singles victories in the current Davis Cup play — plus a win in the approaching nations—would put him solidly in line for a $100,000 professional career.

But if he loses today to Hoad it is a black eye which could extend all the way to his wallet.

Harry Hopman, the acrid little man who captains the Australian tennis tourists, started the controversy over which was the greater of the two.

"Potentially, Hoad is the No. 1 man in the world," he insisted as his charges stormed into the challenge round. "He had some tribulations but now that he has the right mental attitude he will prove he is the best before the year is out."

Naturally, the American contingent rallied behind Trabert.

"You have to take Trabert on the record of his performances during the past year, asserted Billy Talbert, non-playing captain of the United States team. "Possibly he isn't as hard a hitter as Hoad but hitting too hard is unsound. It's sort of like Mickey Mantle trying to hit a home run every time he goes to bat."

Jack Kramer, the former amateur and professional champion who would like to see Trabert come through for financial reasons, went even further.

"I'd bet on Trabert against practically anybody in the world, amateur or pro,' he said flatly. "He is much sounder technically than Hoad, although Hoad may be faster.Eventually, Trabert will play better than anybody in the world."

But it is Mercer Beasley, the wise old owl of the tennis teaching ranks, who makes the strongest case for Trabert.

"Tony is smarter," Beasley analyzed. "Hoad tries to blast every shot off the court. Trabert simply has more brains, as well as just as much power."

So it goes. But sometime late this afternoon, as the shadows settle over the huge concrete horseshoe packed with breathless fans, the issue should be settled with certain finality.

Baseball Writers Say Rance Pless Most Valuable Player

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — The Baseball Writers of the American Association today announced the selection of Rance Pless of the Minneapolis Millers as the Association's most valuable player of the year.

The 29-year-old slugging first baseman has been a strong factor the Millers' race to the Association pennant. Pless came up with the Millers in 1953 as a third baseman and shifted to first this season after Gail Harris was called up by the New York Giants.

Pless current batting average is .340. He has hit better than .300 almost every season during his career in organized baseball, but has never played in the major leagues.

Others receiving votes in the most valuable player award were outfielder Lou Skizas and catcher Darrell Johnson, both of Denver, and Bobby Richardson, former Denver second sacker now with the New York Yankees.

Negotiations Stalled In 4-Day IH Strike

CHICAGO (UP) — Negotiators doggedly stuck to their task of seeking an agreement in the 4-day-old strike against 18 International Harvester Co. plants today.

About 40,000 CIO United Auto Workers are striking in six states. Harvester officials have offered the union a "guaranteed annual wage plan" and a 10-cent-hourly wage boost, but negotiations are stalled on side issues.

Daylong negotiating sessions have been proceeding regularly.

FT. KNOX, Ky. — (UP) — An $18,000 bird cage!

The armored Training Center here has a cage constructed out of wire mesh and steel tubing into which three men crawl to learn the operations of a tank.

The tank crew trainees can operate gun controls, radio equipment and other devices found in the average Army tank, while the wire mesh makes it possible for the instructor to observe his pupils in action.

Casey Stengel's Big Gamble Pays Off; So Yankees May Leave Rivals Rolling In Dust

By FRED DOWN

United Press Sports Writer

Casey Stengel's big gamble paid off — and so today the New York Yankees were rolling at an .813 pace which threatened to leave their three rival contenders in the American League race rolling in the dust.

Stengel gambled and won Thursday night when he tossed rookie pitcher Gary (Rip) Coleman against Early Wynn in the pressure-steeped opener of a three-game series with the Indians. Coleman, recalled recently from Denver, was making only his second start in the majors but he out-pitched Wynn and received credit for the Yankees' 5-2 triumph.

As a result, the Yankees scored their 13th triumph in 16 games and dropped the second-place Chicago White Sox 1½ games off the pace. The third-place Indians fell two games behind and the fourth-place Boston Red Sox now are five full games out of first place.

Pace Tells On Rivals

Moreover, the Yankees' torrid pace of the last 18 days seems to be telling on all their rivals. During the same period the White Sox are 12-5, the Indians 11-5 and the Red Sox 9-7.

The White Sox suffered their third loss in five games with seventh and eighth-place teams Thursday when they bowed to Bob Porterfield and the Washington Senators, 6-1. The Red Sox, meanwhile, had to rebound from a 6-1 loss to gain a split with the Detroit Tigers in a 6-4 nightcap victory.

Coleman struck out four batters and yielded seven hits in 7 2-3 innings before Bob Grim came in to snuff out Clevelands eighth-inning threat and breeze through the ninth. Joe Collins, who entered the game with a .221 average, sent the Yankees on the road to victory when he tagged Wynn for a two-run homer in the second inning to touch off a four-run outburst.

It was a bitter defeat for Wynn because it was Collins who on Aug. 2 tagged him for homers in the first and 10th innings of a game at Yankee Stadium to give the Yankees a 21 triumph. Wynn's record is 14-9 and he's failed three straight times to win the 199th game of his career.

Porterfield Does It Again

Porterfield, only Washington pitcher to beat the White Sox this year, did it for the third time divielsm's three its sparked a 13-blow attack that sent Connie Johnson to his second defeat. Lone consolation for the White Sox was that Minnie Minoso extended his hitting streak to 18 games — equalling the A.L.'s 1955 high.

Jackie Jensen became the first American Leaguer to drive in 100 runs this year when he hit a two-run homer and two-run double to lead the Red Sox's 10-hit attack in their nightcap. The Tigers, however, had routed Willard Nixon in the opener to win handily behind the eight-hit pitching of Ned Garver, who posted his 11th triumph.

Art Ceccarelli pitched four - hit ball behind a 13-hit attack as the Kansas City Athletics routed the A.. game. Vic Power had three Baltimore Orioles, 8-2, in the other A. L. games. Vic Power had three hits for Kansas City.

Dodgers Lose Two

In the National League, the slumping first - place Brooklyn Dodgers lost their first doubleheader of the campaign when the Cincinnati Redlegs scored 8-5 and 6-5 triumphs. The Dodgers still lead by 11 games but have lost seven of their last 10 games and 11 of their last 17.

Wally Post hit his 32nd homer for Cincinnati in the opener and Gus Bell drove in three runs with three hits in the second game.

The Philadelphia Phillies ran their winning streak to six games and moved to within a half-game of third place with 1-9 and 8-3 wins over the St. Louis Cardinals. Robin Roberts staggered to his 21st victory in the first game while Saul Rogovin pitched a strong five hitter in the nightcap.

Warren Spahn won his 13th game as the Milwaukee Braves beat the New York Giants, 3-2, and Elroy Face out-pitched Paul Minner to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 2-1 verdict over the Chicago Cubs in other N.L. games.

Giambra-Olson 10-Rounder Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Private Joey Giambra climaxes a 15-day furlough tonight by meeting world middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson in a 10-round, non-title bout which may indicate whether the balding champion truly recovered from his June knockout by Archie Moore.

The fight will be nationally televised from the Cow Palace 8 p.m. CST with a 150-mile local blackout.

Sullen Olson, who is prepping for a November title defense against Sugar Ray Robinson, has been posted a 3-1 favorite over the Buffalo, N.Y., soldier who now boxes out of Ft. Hood, Tex.

This is Bobo's second fight since he was flattened in the third round of his assault on Moores light-heavyweight crown. He outpointed Jimmy Martinez in Portland, Ore. August 13 in the first of a combined "tuneup" and "comeback" series.

Sid Flaherty, Olson's manager, said he expects Giambra to be "troublesome for the first four or five rounds,' then figures Olson will start getting to him.

The mannerly Giambra, who who got a curt brushoff from Olson when they were introduced, hasn't made any rash predictions but Manager Mike Scanlan said "We know that knockout by Moore didn't help him any."

Olson was working on a string of 21 straight victories when Moore caught up with him in New York. His record now is 64 wins and 7 defeats in 71 bouts with 30 knockouts to his credit.

Giambra, built along the lines of a Greek hero, has won 41 of 45 fights and 24 by knockouts. His biggest victory was over Joey Giardello in 1952 after losing to the Philadelphia batler the year before. Giambra's other losses have been to Johnny Cesario in 1951 and Bobby Dykes last year. He never has been stopped.

New Storms, Heat, Floods Criss-Cross U.S. Weather Map

By UNITED PRESS

New storms, heat, and floods criss-crossed the nation's weather map today.

Hurricane Edith, a tiny but vicious infant, aimed its mounting fury on the storm-battered Atlantic Coast. It was still 1,000 miles from the mainland, but was pointed at Cape Hatteras, N.C.

Meanwhile, the New Orleans, La., Weather Bureau reported a low pressure area that might have the makings of a major storm. It was centered in the Gulf of Mexico southeast of the Mississippi River mouth and small craft warnings were posted from Pensacola, Fla., to Galveston, Tex.

Elsewhere in the nation, a new heat wave baked the Great Plains, the flood-devastated Northeast still fought to get back on its feet, and a five - inch downpour flooded homes in Minnesota.

Heat returned to the Great Plains with 100-plus temperatures from Oklahoma to South Dakota Thursday. Hill City, Kan., broiled in 105-degree temperatures, while 104s were registered at Lincoln, Omaha, and Valentine in Nebraska and at Huron, S.D.

The heat wave moved rapidly eastward, with the Chicago Area warned to expect mid-90 degree scorchers today and Saturday.

In the Northeast, where Hurricane Diane's rains caused disastrous floods, stricken residents were buoyed by promises of aid from throughout the nation. Factories and machines started up again through a five-state industrial area and an "overwhelming" response sent thousands of dollars pouring in to relief agencies.

Wadena, Minn., had a taste of flash floods Thursday night when more than five inches of rain came down in four hours. Basements were flooded, water lapped up to car floorboards, and utility lines in the area were knocked out.

Heavy rains were also reported elsewhere in central and eastern Minnesota and in northwest Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. Two inches of rain were measured at both St. Cloud, Minn., and Grantsburg, Wis.

Canada, Western Big Three Begin Informal Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — Disarmament specialists of the Western Big Three and Canada begin a round of informal meetings today to form a united front for next week's arms reduction talks with Russia.

British Minister of State Anthony Nutting flew in from London and Jules Mochaarrived by ship from France Thursday. Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament, came up from Washington Thursday night.

Paul Martin, Canadian minister of health and welfare, was expected here by plane from Ottawa to join them in their first informal meeting.

The British, French and American representatives will get together several times between now and Monday, when the subcommittee of the U.N. Disarmament Commission resumes its work at U.N. headquarters.

The Soviet government will be represented on the subcommittee by Arkady A. Sobolev, who succeeded the late Andrei Y. Vishinsky as Soviet U.N. delegate.

An informed source said the preliminary meetings were being held because "it has been in the pattern of disarmament talks that four Western powers get together and coordinate their approach, since they are fundamentally in agreement."

The first disarmament session since the summit meeting at Geneva will afford the major military powers a good opportunity to exploit the friendlier international feeling that developed in that conference.

Their success or failure will be an indication of what the world may expect in the way of smaller armies and better chances of survival.

Indiana Hot And Dry For Next Five Days

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Hot and dry weather moved into Indiana today for a five-day stay.

The weatherman predicted fair skies through next mid-week with temperatures averaging 10 degrees above normal. That means daytime highs in the mid-90s and night time lows of near 70 degrees.

There was a "chance" of slightly cooler weather in the northern portion of the state Tuesday or Wednesday but "little if any" precipitation was on tap.

Temperatures climbed as high as Evansville's 92 Thursday, then dropped down around 60 degrees throughout Indiana during the night. It was to be "fair and a little warmer" today and "fair and hot" Saturday.

Today's maximum readings are expected to reach 90 upstate and 95 along the Ohio River with night-time lows of 66 to 70 degrees.

Official Praises Ike On His Steps To Curb Inflation

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., (UP)—A savings and loan official today commended President Eisenhower for a "deed of rare political courage" in taking steps to curb inflation.

J. Howard Edgerton, Los Angeles, president of the United States avings and Loan League, referred to raising margin requirements on stock market investments, boosting rediscount rates on Federal Reserve Bank loans to commercial banks, and tightening FHA and VA loan terms.

"Clearly, if the expansion in credit had continued unabated, the boom would have been out of hand, Edgerton said at commencement for a savings and loan grduate school at Indiana University.

Edgerton said Mr. Eisenhower and his advisers took action despite the fact "it is usually more expedient politically just to talk about inflation and avoid the steps necessary to curb it."

He said since increasing down payments and shortening the maturity of FHA and Va loans will help promote stable housing prices, "it will help every buyer get more for his money.'

Edgerton said people should be "realistic" and expect to see "even greater powers" exercised by the U.S. Treasury Department to avoid "the peaks and valleys of too much credit and too little credit."

Authorities Seek Clues To Death Of Young Bride

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —Authorities today studied a series of medical reports for a clue to the strange death of a 22-year-old bride who was heiress to a food chain store fortune.

The bride, Mrs. Doris Jean Silver Oestreicher, collapsed and died Thursday while visiting friends here.

Her physician, Dr. A. Samuel Manstein, who attended the girl when she died said her death was "a mystery to me."

An autopsy ordered by Dr. Melville J. Aston, medical examiner, apparently failed to reveal the cause of death. Dr. Aston reported that the cause of death "will be determined at such a time when all necessary laboratory studies can be completed.'

Dr. Samuel H. Katz said he had been treating the attractive, red haired socialite for five years. He said her health was good except for minor ailments. Dr. Louis Tuft, an allergist of the Temple University Hospital staff, said Mrs. Oestreicher had been his patient since childhood and had been receiving hay fever treatment until last May.

Funeral services for the young heiress were scheduled for today.

Mrs. Oestreicher, eloped with Earl Michael Oestreicher, 29, a Miami Beach, Fla., motorcycle patrolman last June 24. The couple separated two weeks ago and Mrs. Oestreicher returned to the home of her parents.

Friends said the couple met while she was visiting her uncle, Samuel Friendland of Miami Beach, founder and board chairman of Food Fair Stores, Inc. Her father, Herman R. Silver, is vice president of the food store corporation.

Oestreicher arrived here by plane Thursday but declined to comment on his wife's death. His father, head of the Chicago Wood and Coal Co., said in Chicago that his son telephoned him two weeks ago about the separation but did not appear disturbed. He said his son told him his bride had become homesick for her family and that the separation would be temporary.

Election And Practice Planned By Chorus

Key Members Of Congress Regard The Reduction In Government Red-Ink Spending

By ROBERT F. MORISON
United Press Staff Corresponden

WASHINGTON (UP) — Key members of Congress today regarded a new reduction in government red-ink spending as fresh evidence that everybody's income taxes are likely to be cut in the 1956 election year.

The Eisenhower administration now has great expectations of balancing the budget this year. It has the hope — only a hope — of being able to recommend a tax cut next year.

The hopes and expectations were outlined Thursday by Secretary of Treasury George W. Humphrey and Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes.

They made public a revised federal budget. It showed that booming prosperity has boosted tax revenues beyond expectations. It also showed the administration has now reduced from $2,400,000,000 to 1,700,000,000 its official forecast of red-ink spending in the current fiscal year.

Hope To Balance Budget

Moreover, Humphrey and Hughes said, "barring some unforeseen development, we think we can" eliminate the deficit entirely and "balance the budget" before the fiscal year ends June 30, 1956.

Some Democratic tax experts believed the report was a tip-off that the administration, which blocked a Democratic tax-cutting drive earlier this year, is now planning one of its own in advance of the 1956 elections. They called it "politics."

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) foresaw the possibility of a partisan fight over the issue of "who" gets tax relief.

"When they (the Republicans) go to cutting taxes, we are going to look at whom they are proposing to cut them for," Rayburn said in a telephoned interview from his Bonham, Tex., home.

Rayburn would not elaborate, but he has charged that the 1954 tax cut enacted by the Republican Congress favored the wealthy and discriminated against the "little folks."

Expect Tax Cuts

Three Democrats on the House Ways & Means Committee agreed that Congress, with an eye to the election campaigns, will probably cut taxes next year, even if the administration doesn't recommend it. Reps. Noble J. Gregory (Ky), Frank W. Karsten (Mo) and Herman P. Eberharter (Pa) said it would be a Democratic tax cut designed primarily to benefit low and middle income families.

Like Humphrey, Sen. Eugene J. Millikin (Colo), senior Republican on the Senate Finance Committee, shied away from promising a tax cut next year.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) said he doubted the budget can be balanced this year. He said Congress, in considering any tax reduction, would look at the general level of the economy first, and would give only secondary consideration to a balanced budget.

The Constitution of the United States was signed on Sept. 7, 1787.

Fight Over Tax Cuts Looms As Political Scrap

For The 1956 Election Year

By RAYMOND LAHR

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—A bruising fight over tax cuts started shaping up today as one of the biggest political scraps looming for the 1956 election year.

With the administration already optimistic about a balanced budget for the current fiscal year, there is a widespread belief in congress that President Eisenhower will submit a balanced budget and a tax cut proposal to Congress in January.

Even if he does not propose a tax cut then, his budget for the 1957 fiscal year is expected to show enough black ink to make election year pressure for an income tax cutting bill almost irresistable.

Three Possible Groups

The evidence now suggests that Congress will divide roughly into three groups in its approach to tax

BULLETIN

The Thorncreek 4-H Stars received first placing in the parade at the fairgrounds Saturday morning. They receive a purple ribbon and the Squires Loving cup for the best marching group.

Columbia and Washington township clubs tied for second place and each received blue ribbons.

Red ribbon placings were given to the Etna-Troy, Jefferson, Cleveland, and Union township clubs.

Richland, Smith and Columbia City clubs received white placing ribbons.

Doyle Snodgrass exhibited the only Landrace pig at the 4-H fair. Doyle bought this gilt, which is an uncommon breed in this community, and explained that the Landrance has two more ribs than the ordinary pigs.

In addition to taking home ribbons from the 4-H fair, Hugo Martz will take more than that home with him. His two-year-old cow dropped a heifer calf during the fair. Besides that feat, the cow won the reserve championship.

Greider Calls Special Red Cross Meeting

A special meeting of the Whitley County Red Cross Chapter's board of Directors is being called for 7 p.m. Monday in the Red Cross office on the second floor of the City Hall in Columbia City, Waldo Greider, county chairman, announced today.

The meeting will deal chiefly with the flood disaster needs in the seven northeastern states. The board is expected to complete plans for giving the national organization assistance in the flood-devastated areas.

Crews Working On Construction Of Toll Road

In Attempt To Open Eastern Third By Next Mid-Summer

ANGOLA, Ind. (UP)—Construction crews are working night and day in northern Indiana in an attempt to open the eastern third of the state's first toll road by next mid-summer.

It will connect with the new Ohio turnpike on the east and in a matter of months be completed to the Chicago Skyway on the west, forming a New York-to-Chicago expressway.

A total of 6,283 workmen and engineers now are employed on the toll road. Though they now are a bit behind schedule, the Indiana Toll Road Commission still hopes to meet a deadline for having the entire road completed by Nov. 15, 1956.

The first 50 miles on the east—from the Ohio state line to Middlebury in Elkhart County—is mapped for opening to traffic next July or early August.

Government To Pay Subsidies To Potato Grower

Says Secretary Of Agriculture Benson

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said today the government will start paying subsidies to potato growers to divert part of their prospective record crop to starch, feed and flour.

Benson also told a news conference the administration probably will allow private traders to sell perishable commodities to Russia and other Iron Curtain countries.

He said he believes the Department of Commerce would "look with favor" upon applications by private traders for licenses to sell perishable surplus commodities. He said there is nothing to stop a private trader from buying or selling to Iron Curtain countries "providing they get a license from the Department of Commerce."

Benson said the potato diversion program will be an industry responsibility. It will be available, he said, only in those states or areas which submit a satisfactory marketing plan for its potatoes, including the diversion of cull and low quality potatoes.

He said the government will start paying subsidies on diverted potatoes "late in September, probably Sept. 26."

The subsidy payments, he said, will be 50 cents a 100 weight for 1955 crop potatoes until Dec. 1; 40 cents through March 31, 1956; and 30 cents during the remainder of the season but not later than June 30, 1956.

Any potatoes used for feed must be cut, chopped, or sliced in order to qualify. Payments will be made only for potatoes which are a minimum of two inches in diameter and are of U.S. No. 2 or better quality.

The program will be administered locally through state and

Gasoline Tanks Explode, Killing Two At Whiting

Destruction Spreads Thru Residential Area

WHITING, Ind. (UP)—Two gasoline tanks exploded at a Standard Oil of Indiana refinery today, spreading destruction through nearby residential areas and bringing death to two persons, one a child.

Police said that persons within a radius of at least five blocks were knocked from their beds by the blast.

The child, Richard Plewniak, three, was dead on arrival at St. Catherine's Hospital in East Chicago, and his 8-year-old brother Ronald was brought there injured seriously.

Standard Oil said one of its employes, Walter Rhea, 63, died of a heart attack brought on by exertion of fighting the flames.

At least 10 persons were at the hospital. They included Joseph Bemish, 43, his wife and his five children; two Standard Oil employes, and the injured Plewniak boy.

Sprays of flaming gasoline flew over the area as the tanks burst. Residents said there was one ma-

City Receives Notice To Abate River Pollution

Urges Sewage Disposal Plant

Editor's note. The following letter has been received by city officials from the Stream Pollution Control Board. The letter is printed in full.

Hon. Thomas H. Hood, Mayor and City Council
Columbia City, Indiana

Gentlemen:

On December 14, 1945 your city was ordered by the Stream Pollution Control Board to abate the pollution of Blue River by January 1, 1947. This compliance date was later extended to January 1, 1948. Plans and specifications for a sew- plant were approved on February 7, 1946. No concrete steps have been taken by your city to construct these works.

Recent droughts and ever-increasing use of water by our people and our industries have demonstrated clearly that our water resources are not inexhaustible. As time goes on conservation and the judicious use of our water will become a paramount importance to the economy of the state and the well-being of its people. Pollution abatement is recognized as one of the outstanding methods of water conservation. With proper treatment of sewage and industrial waste a given unit of water be used several times as it passes downstream through a river basin.

Since January 1946, 40 cities and towns have installed new sewage treatment plants or improved existing treatment plants at a total cost of $75,000,000. We now have 111

Angus Steer Is Best Seller At 46 Cents Pound

77 Buyers Make 1955 Auction The Best On Record

Forty-eight fat steers, 112 individual hogs, and eight groups of hogs were sold at the 1955 Whitley County 4-H Auction Friday afternoon in what was considered the best auction the 4-H has ever held.

David Walter of the Columbia City Builders Supply Co. had the winning bid on the grand champion barrow. He paid $1.25 for the 205-pound Chester White for a total of $256.25 to Marlon Leininger, the owner of the grand champion.

Walter Penrod of the Farmers Elevator at South Whitley bought the reserve grand champion barrow, a 210-pound Yorkshire, for 45 cents per pound. Its owner, Carl Mishler, received $94.05 for the barrow.

After getting off to this good start the swine auction continued at a lively pace, the local buyers giving the 4-H members a nice premium all the way through.

The champion barrows sold from 37½ cents to 45 cents per pound. Richard Shaffmaster's Poland China brought 37½ cents for a total of $70.62 from Bennett Oil Co. Don Johnson's Hampshire sold for .41, bringing $90.05 from McCoys Feed Mill. The Duroc Champion brought Bill Metzger .45 per pound and $85.50 from Bauman's Livestock Market. Fishers Service also paid .40 per pound, $80.00, for Charles Luther's Berkshire. Fishers Service paid .37½ per pound,

Government Now Tests All Salk Polio Vaccine

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government is now testing all Salk polio vaccine to make doubly sure the shots never trigger another polio outbreak like the Cutter incident.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele believes rigid testing by manufacturers and government insures that the vaccine being released to the public is as safe as science now can make it.

He said the flow of vaccine has been irregular up to now. But he predicted that it will increase substantially this fall when the mass inoculation of the nation's children is expected to get into full swing again.

In an informal conference with newsmen Thursday, the surgeon general once again asserted his confidence in the ability of the vaccine to help win the fight against polio.

He said it is too early to say—and perhaps "unscientific" — but he thinks there already are indications that the vaccine — even one inoculation — is giving children some protection against polio.

The Public Health Service reasserted its confidence in the vaccine after issuing its long-delayed report on what caused the rash of polio cases among children who received vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif.

The six-page report said live virus found in some samples of Cutter vaccine apparently gave polio to some children. But it said four months of investigation failed to reveal the "exact reasons' for the presence of the virus. No action against Cutter was recommended.

The report suggested the probable cause of the incident was the "failure" of safety tests and the process by which the virus in the vaccine was supposed to be killed. It indicated this failure could be traced to "fundamental weaknesses" in the original safety standards prescribed by the government.

These standards were overhauled drastically May 26 and are now considered adequate. The extra testing by the government, revealed officially by Scheele, is viewed as an extra guarantee.

Pretty Balky

PATERSON, N.J. (UP)—Passaic County Sheriff Norman Tattersall asked a mechanic to take a look Thursday at the station wagon used to haul inmates from the county jail to the courthouse. He said it had been pretty balky lately.

The mechanic opened the gas tank and found some marbles, livesavers, pieces of soap, paper, steel wool, stones scraps of sheet metal sugar and thumbtacks.

Tattersall said he would keep the tank locked from now on when prisoners wash the vehicle.

Walt Disney, Who Got Ahead By Building Better Mouse, Is Now Mixing Giant Mickey

NEW YORK (UP)—Walt Disney, who got ahead by building a better mouse, is mixing a giant new "Mickey' for the fall.

This Mickey, according to advance reports, should be a knockout.

Disney, who recently pushed Davy Crockett to a popularity almost as wide as that of the no-return beer bottle, has dubbed his autumn TV effort, "The Mickey Mouse Club." The show, which makes its debut Oct. 3 over some 90 ABC-TV stations, will be a one-hour, five-a-week affair.

The Mickey Mouse Club is shaping up as a kind of visual bouilabaisse. It'll be split up into 15-minute segments and on tap are such tid-bits as a newsreel geared expressly for small fry, an explorer's club, a sports series, serials and a whole slew of Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck cartoons.

Also on the menu are a circus day, a 'what do I want to be when I grow up' series and the very end, man—a Mickey Mouse Club jazz combo.

As far as sponsorship goes, the new show already is a success. It has lined up 14 sponsors in it 20 quarterhour time slots and three more backers are expected to sign up within one week. In its 5:00 to 6 p.m. spot, the program is expected to draw in the neighborhood of 25 million viewers, which, offhand, seems like a pretty nice neighborhood.

Global Film Shooting

Right now, camera crews are shooting all over the globe in preparation for the show, all of which will be on film. The kiddie newsreel, for example, will feature such items as a boy bullfighter in Portugal, a boys' kite contest in Tokyo, a junior rodeo in Washington and a marble shooting contest in New York. For its explorer's club, viewers will be taken on a shark hunt, to a wild horse round-up and down in the drink with a skin-diving family.

There will be "painless" educational bits, too, dealing with the workings of the human body, safety lessons and nature studies of everything from beavers to dinosaurs.

Music, as in most Disney enterprises, will play a large part in the club. Insiders are predicting that two numbers, "I'm No Fool" and "The Mickey Mouse Mambo,' will be sure hits. But perhaps the top contender for click status is a song that will be played every day on the show called "The Mickey Mouse Club March. Parents had better brace themselves for it.

"The Mouseketeers"

As for talent, the chief mouse on the show will be a former Arthur Godfrey performer, Jimmy Dodd. Dodd will sing, play something called the mouseguitar, supervise mousekedances and offer mousekeriddles. He'll also ride herd on a group of 24 talented kids who'll sing and dance under the elegant handle, "The Mouseketeers."

The Mouseketeers, ranging in age from 5 to 14, figure to be the most envied kids in the nation. They'll be a permanent troupe who'll cavort on the entire second quarter hour of the show five days a week.

The group will sport a special Mouseketeer uniform — a short-sleeved turtle neck sweater with their names on the front and the Mouseketeer insignia on the back.

They'll also wear special Mickey Mouse felt caps with long ears and will award free caps to other talented small fry who appear on the show as guests.

And according to Disney insiders, the dope has it that by late fall the mouse bonnets may make even Davy Crockett's coonskin old hat.

Launching Tiny Satellite Needs Multi-Stage Rocket

By ALFRED LEECH
United Press Staff Correspondent

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP) — The launching of a tiny satellite weighing no more than 100 pounds will require a multi-stage rocket larger than any yet fired, a rocket fuel expert says.

Dr. Noah S. Davis Jr. said the rocket will have to be larger than the combined WAC Corporal and V2 lanuched at White Sands, N.M., in mankind's closest approach yet to outer space.

Davis, liquid fuels specialist of the Buffalo Electro-Chemical Co., is one of the nations top rocket scientists attending a symposium on gas dynamics sponsored by the American Rocket Society at Northwestern University.

He said most of the technical problems in launching the proposed satellite already have been licked.

"It's mostly a question of manpower, materials and money," he said.

The satellite would circle the earth at an altitude of about 250 miles, he said, and this height already has been attained by the two-stage White Sands rocket.

Another stage would be required, he said, to launch the satellite proper on its orbital course around the earth.

Davis said rocket development is largely "a matter of getting back to fundamentals.'

"Actually," he said, "the rocket is one of the simplest methods of propulsion. Like the jet engine, it has few moving parts and its principle was known to the ancients.

"But before we go zooming around in outer space, we want to find the answers to some pretty basic problems. At this meeting here, for example, we have a group of scientists and engineers seeking the answer to such a supposedly simple question as "how does a flame burn?'

"Man has used fire since prehistoric times, but he always has taken it for granted. So today we still don't know too much about flame turbulence."

James H. Harford, executive secretary of the rocket society, said rockets have been traced back to 1,200 A.D., when they supposedly were invented by the Chinese. They first were used as a military weapon by the Chinese against the Mongols in the siege of Kaifeng in 1232.

News of the development spread quickly to Europe, Harford said, and for the next century rockets were commonly used as fireworks and as a "strictly unreliable" weapon. But, for a while, he said, it seemed as if the rocket might replace the cannon. Then improvements in artillery rendered the rocket obsolete.

Investigator Says 1 Of Every 13 Children In Trouble With Law

INDIANAPOIS (UP)—A juvenilve delinquency investigator says "one of every 13 children in the country" is in trouble with the law.

Peter N. Chumbris, associate counsel for a Senate subcommittee on delinquency has said the rapid rise in juvenile crime reached a peak last year. One solution, he told the opening session of the annual conference of the state Probation and Parole Assn., lies with the schools.

"Congress either must pay out money now for better schools or put out much more money later for larger jails and more policemen," Chumbris said. "Schols are the first line of defense against juvenile delinquency."

"Juvenile delinquency is the No. 1 social problem in the United States," Chumbris said. So far this year 1,200,000 youths have been arrested, he said.

Chumbris said punishment and jail are not the answer to the problem, but rather emphasis should be put on better care and increased social work.

Pressure On Red Farmers Hampers Food Production

NEW YORK (UP)— John M Jacobs, a Phoenix, Ariz., farmer said today too much "pressure" on Soviet farmers to produce as well as a lack of "incentive' is hampering the Russian agricultural production.

Jacobs, one of 12 American farmers who made a 32-day tour of the Soviet Union, arrived Wednesday on a Pan American World Airways plane from Frankfutr, Germany.

Jacobs said that Soviet farmers are working vast acreages "but their production is not up to that of the United States in either quantity or quality."

The Arizona farmer said that centralized agricultural planning in Russia without proper regard to local area conditions has been another obstacle to the Khrushchev agricultural plan.

"The planning comes from a central headquarters, and until they create more incentive for the people, it is going to be hard for them to step up their production until they permit planning at the local farm level," he said.

"The people on the farms know more of soil conditions and climate than they do in Moscow," Jacobs added.

Man Must Hold Loyalties To State, Church In Tension

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UP) —Man must hold his loyalties to chruch and state in a "constant tension," Methodist Bishop Gerald Kennedy of Los Angeles said Thursday.

He told the five-day National Convocation of Methodist Youth that man can neither withdraw from the state nor do whatever it commands.

"The christian society recognizes it has no right to make such demand," Kennedy said, "so it provides the right of men to be excused from its demands when conscience insists.

The bishop also criticized a political atmosphere which makes the "egg head' label a kiss of death.

"All the name means is that a man is intellectually inclined and interested in ideas and theories," Kennedy said. "Has the time come when American politics prefer the ignorant to the learned, the mediocre to the superior, or the second-rate to the best?"

No Sense Of Humor

MILWAUKEE (UP) — James Hudson, Dickson, Tenn., ran out of a tent at the Wisconsin State Fair shouting: "Help, a leopard bit me."

But it was a false alarm and a District Court judge could not see any humor in the situation. He fined Hudson $5 for disorderly conduct.

Prospects Look Good For Expanded Trade With Russia

WASHINGTON (UP)—Prospects are good for an expanded trade with Russia in farm products and farm machinery with no military value.

Officials made this forecast as Turi Golubash, a member of the visiting Soviet farm delegation, prepared to leave for Texas to buy beef cattle at the giant King Ranch.

A Soviet embassy spokesman said other Russians were negotiating for the purchase of American tractor attachments which so impressed the Soviets during their tour of American farm areas.

American officials were cautious in commenting on these developments, explaining that "this thing is being discussed at top levels."

One Commerce Department official said, however, that there is a "good chance" a Russian application to buy items such as cattle, hides and lard would be approved.

This official said any request to buy "certain kinds' of farm machinery "might also be considered favorably." He indicated the final test would be whether the equipment could be used in any fashion for military purposes.

A heavy Caterpillar-type tractor, for instance, might be considered a "military" item since it could be used to build airfields as well as for pulling plows. A corn planter, with no military value, would have a better chance of being cleared for export.

Hoosier Wives Will Know More About Eggs They Purchase

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Indiana housewives will know more about the eggs they buy after next Feb. 1 under a ruling adopted late Wednesday by the State Egg Board.

The new regulations will require retailers to show the size and grade of eggs on all egg packages after that date. Advertisers also will be required to identify clearly the size and quality of eggs offered for sale if the price is quoted.

Board President Charles B. VanNuys said the purpose of the rule is to promote greater confidence in Hoosier eggs. The board acted at a hearing in the Purdue Extension Center here.

The Indiana Grocers and Meat Dealers Assn., representing independent retailers, opposed the new rule, but Van Nuys said a previous survey showed 83 per cent of retailers in favor of the plan.

The freshness of eggs will be designated by grades A, B and C. Eggs also will be designated, according to weight, as jumbo, extra large, large, medium small and peewee.

Don't Let Children Rock the Automotive Boat

By Betty Skelton

Driving a car loaded with children constitutes a responsibility similar to that of the captain of an ocean-going steamer. Your coolness and know-how in handling both passengers and cargo is a responsibility today's driver cannot shirk, especially in the face of the heavy traffic of today's streets and highways.

Uncontrolled, undisciplined youngsters can be just as dangerous to driving safety as a stalled car on a railroad track when the Super-Chief is due.

For the safety of everyone concerned, you should enforce safety regulations for your passengers.

Miss Skelton

Don't look toward the back seat to order your roughnecking children to settle down. Don't take your eyes off the road; you might swerve and thereby cause a serious accident. If trouble or mutiny breaks out when you're driving, squelch it after you have pulled over to the curb and brought your car to a complete stop.

Teach Dangers

Most important of all, avoid the necessity for such stops by teaching your children that it is dangerous to jump around, and that they should sit quietly with hands — and feet — inside the car.

"A mistake women drivers frequently make," a safety officer told me recently, "is letting young children stand beside them in the front seat."

If your young John Paul Jones insists that he ride in the front seat with you, make him sit back quietly. Better still, tell him that he can be a rear admiral — and put him there. If he is under two, put him in a special baby seat.

There is one good reason for putting all children, even babies, in the back seat: children distract the driver.

Be the Captain

Be like a ship's captain, and allow no one on the bridge.

Tell the sailors in your automotive ship to stay back of the pilot at the wheel, keep arms inside portholes, and refrain from romping on the deck. Then they'll help you reach port safely without battering the hull.

(Holder of the woman's automotive speed record of 143.44 mph, noted in both the automotive and sports racing fields, Miss Skelton is now employed by Dodge as the world's only woman test driver. Her comments on women in the automotive world are authoritative and enlightening. If you have questions concerning women and driving, address her in care of this newspaper.)

35 Years Ago Friday Woman Began Move To Drawing Rooms

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) —Friday was ladies day.

Thirty - five years ago Friday woman began her move from the kitchen to embassy drawing rooms, into national politics and, who knows, some day perhaps to the nation's vice presidency.

For 35 years ago a simple sentence became part of the constitution and changed the life of America. The sentence is contained in the 19th Amendment:

"The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any state on account of sex."

The government has entered into the spirit of today's anniversary of the granting of women's suffrage.

The Post Office Department has issued a new stamp honoring Susan B. Anthony, the ardent female who fought hardest for the principles behind the 19th Amendment. It's a passionate purple. It is priced at 50 cents and carries Mark Anthony's portrait.

Bigger And Better Things

Miss Anthony probably would be amazed today at how far women have marched ahead since that day in 1853 when she shocked a New York educational convention by asking to make a speech. After a furious wrangle, thunderstruck male delegates finally granted her request. And she went on to bigger and better things.

As one fond biographer wrote. "Every girl who now enjoys a college education; every woman who earns a living in any profession or trade; every wife who is protected in the ownership of property; every mother who has an equal right with the father to the custody and control of her children; every woman who belongs to a club and works for individual and civic improvement, owes these sacred privileges to Susan B Anthony above all others."

Many enthusiasts have been suggesting that it won't be too long before a woman is named by one of the political parties as vice presidential running "mate" to a man.

In the female battle for equal rights here are some of the women who have achieved notable "firsts":

First woman to hold a federal government job: Mary Katherine Goddard, postmaster of Baltimore in 1775.

Becomes Cabinet Member

First to preside over major political convention (for short time at the Democratic national convention): Mrs. George Bass in 1920

First woman governor: Nellie Taylor Ross, elected in Wyoming in 1924. She went on to become first woman director of the mint.

First woman senator: Hattie W. Carraway of Arkansas, 1932.

First woman to become regular Army officer: Julia Stimson, superintendent of Army Nurse Corps, 1920.

First woman cabinet member: Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, 1933.

First woman ambassador: Mrs. Eugenia Anderson, ambassador to Denmark, 1949.

First woman to run for president (and maybe not the last): Victoria Claflin Woodhill, nominated by Equal Rights Party, 1872.

Report On State Tax Collection

WASHINGTON (UP) —Indiana's tax collections in the 1954-55 fiscal year were $11.90 per person below the national average, a Census Bureau report showed today.

An average of all states showed collections averaging $72.25 for every man, woman and child. The Indiana average was $60.35.

That compared to Washington's take of $115.54 per person, highest in the nation, and New Jersey's $48.35, the lowest.

Indiana was one of only seven states which showed a drop in tax revenues during fiscal 1955 as compared to the previous year. The Indiana total was 254 million dollars, an 11.2 per cent decrease from the previous year.

Check Drawn On Bank Of Anywhere

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UP)—A service station operator admitted today that he'd probably have little success getting his $8.50 back on a check he cashed which was drawn on the "Bank of anywhere, Anywhere, U.S.A."

The operator said he suspected the check might be no good but the customer gave him a telephone number to call for verification and the voice on the line said the check was perfectly good if not for more than $25.

Chicago Motor Club Makes Prediction

CHICAGO (UP)—The Chicago Motor Club predicts 14 persons will be killed during the Labor Day weekend on Indiana highways.

In addition, the club's highway experts say 490 persons will be injured and the state's economic loss from an estimated 1,600 accidents during the three-day holiday will hit 1½ million dollars.

U. S. Farm Assets Rise During 1954

WASHINGTON (UP)—Farm assets in the United States rose 1.4 per cent during 1954 to a total value of $163,100,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1955, the Federal Reserve System reported today in its balance sheet of agriculture.

The record first-of-year value of farm assets was 170 billion dollars on Jan. 1 1952, following the rise in agricultural prices that resulted from the Korean outbreak.

The Federal Reserve's balance sheet views agriculture as though it were one large enterprise. In effect, it is comparable to a consolidated balance sheet of all farms, reviewing in general the previous year's financial condition of the agricultural economy.

The greatest dollar increase in farm assets—about $2,200,000,000—occurred in farm real estate.

The value of crop inventories increased about 400 million dollars in 1954 because of increased quantities in storage. Farmers also added about 500 million dollars to the value of their household furnishings and equipment. Financial assets owned by farmers increased about 100 million dollars.

The Federal Reserve said partly offsetting these increases were decreases in the value of livestock and of machinery and motor vehicles on farms.

Each of these dropped about 500 million dollars during 1954. All major classes of machinery and motor vehicles declined in value in 1954 because purchases were not sufficient to offset depreciation.

Hospital, Church To Benefit From Mary Brown Will

Whitley County Memorial Hospital and First Baptist Church in Columbia City are beneficiaries under the terms of the will of Mary J. Brown, who died August 17. The will was admitted to probate in Whitley County circuit court Monday upon a petition filed by Roy Inks, executor.

According to the will, the hospital and the church each is to receive one-seventh of the estate valued in excess of $25,000. Five persons also are to receive one-seventh of the value of the estate. They are Herbert Brown, deceased, Mary Leaman, Indianapolis; Roy and Esther Inks, and Ruth Gardner, all of Columbia City.

The executor's bond was set by the court at $20,000 with Esther Inks, Mary Leaman and Ruth

Tax Cuts

Contined from page one

reduction:

1. A predominantly Democratic bloc seeking tax relief for the low income tax brackets, perhaps along the line of the $20-for-everybody tax cut approved by the House this year.

2. A predominantly Republican group, probably with administration support, favoring an across-the-board tax cut which would mean greater dollar saving but not larger percentage savings for the upper brackets.

3. The last-ditch budget-balancers, like Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D Va), who want to be 100 per cent sure that any tax reduction will not throw the budget into the red again.

Byrd, who heads the Senate Finance Committee, said Friday he is not sure that both a balanced budget and a tax cut can be achieved. He said it would be foolhardy to balance the budget, then unbalance it with a "premature" tax cut.

Rest On Further Cuts

The Virginia senator also said that sound budget balancing should rest on further cuts in federal spending and should not depend on increased government revenue from the current business boom.

Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga), senior Democrat on Byrd's committee, was more optimistic. He expressed the belief that there will be both a balanced budget and a tax cut next year.

Congress has been waiting for an administration tax cut recommendation in 1956, ever since Mr. Eisenhower raised that possibility last February.

"Color Psychology Affects Our Daily Lives" Experts Say

The psychology of color plays an important part in our daily lives, as well as in the profit and loss statements of large businesses and industry, according to color experts of the Painting & Decorating Contractors of America.

The housewife who nags at her husband may not need to be taken out to dinner to make her feel better -- just repaint that dingy kitchen to suit her color receptiveness, the experts say.

On the other hand, if Dad wants to get up early in the morning and go to work with a smile, he ought to have a bright and cheerful kitchen in which to eat his breakfast; it makes it easier for him to read the morning paper, too.

Whe he returns home at night he's probably been through the riner at work, and he needs a more relaxed and quiet color coordination in his den or living room.

Individual reactions to color can lead to complications, too. Most bosses aren't aware of the fact that colors in the office can affect a secretary's efficiency.

Many industries show profits or losses according to the visual reaction by the public to their products, the PDCA experts say. Many oil companies have shown marked increases in total gallons pumped at stations where a change of colors and decorations has taken place.

Department stores have found that psychology of color is important in selling the latest styles. Women's shops and departments tend toward soft pastel tints, but for a man's shop the cash register jingles only when masculine colors such as deep blues and reds are used, according to the painting contractors.

So marked is the influence of color in our surroundings on our well-being that hospital authorities have found it is an important new factor in the decoration of hospital rooms. Patients have been found to react more readily to treatment in rooms that are better suited to their color senses.

Housewives who can't decide what color to have their rooms painted may get at least a clue from results of a color psychology test conducted to determine the value of weight to color. The experiment was made on workers carrying boxes all day; some boxes were painted white, some black. It was found that workers carrying black boxes were more tired at the end of the day than those carrying white boxes.

The housewife may not want her rooms painted white or black but consideration of the importance of color in every day living is needed.

The white kitchen used to be an Americanism as familiar as hotdogs; a few years back it was yellow, and now only pink is "cherry," according to the dictates of fashion. The PDCA recommends, however, that each family follow the dictates of its own taste in color, not the fashion, because of the individual reactions of people to color.

jor blast and three smaller ones. The shock was felt at Chicago's Adler Planetarium across Lake Michigan's tip, nearly 30 miles away.

Panic-stricken neighbors began fleeing their homes after the blast. A traffic jam resulted as the curious began pouring into the area, and police blocked it off. Communications were clogged, hampering the work of fire departments from Hammond, East Chicago and Whiting.

The explosion occurred about 5:15 a.m. CST, and at 7:30 a.m. fires were still burning strongly in the area. Firemen said however that they believed the fires were "contained."

The dead Plewniak child lived about four blocks from the explosion scene.

Mrs. William Hitshire, Cedar Lake, Ind., felt the blasts at her home 22 miles away.

Buildings in Hammond, Ind., four miles away, shook, and one living about a mile away was almost blown out of his bed, police said.

municipal sewage treatment plants serving 81 per cent of the urban population. Eighteen municipalities have treatment works under construction. And present plans call for the beginning of construction at eight other places before the end of 1955.

In this same period 191 industries have installed facilities for the proper handling of their wastes. Total cost of pollution abatement works to these industries exceeds $28,500,000.

This letter is to advise you that the Stream Pollution Control Board discussed Columbia City's case at its meeting of August 23 and concluded it must ask you to give immediate consideration to your problem. The Board recognizes fully the difficulties encountered by local officials in arranging for the expenditure of public funds. However, we feel that the ten years which have elapsed since the issuance of the order have afforded much more time than is needed to arrange the financing of your project. We hope you appreciate the Board is charged by law with cleaning up the existing pollution of Indiana's waters and prohibiting the creation of additional pollution. We must, therefore, insist upon Columbia City's taking concrete steps in the immediate future towards the elimination of its contribution to the pollution of Indiana's waters.

Very truly yours,

Subcommittee Urges Broadcasters To Cut Down On Violence

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee reported today that television crime programs are taking a "calculated risk" of teaching American boys and girls "ruthless, unethical forms of behavior."

The subcommittee urged broadcasters to cut down severely on the violence they present on TV screens.

The subcommittee conceded it had no definite proof that TV programs have made youngsters go wrong. But the group argued that TV programs, like drugs, should be proved harmless before they reach the public, not afterwards.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), recommended several measures to correct the trend towards crime and violence in TV.

The subcommittee urged parents to keep close watch on children's TV programs and report offensive material.

It also said the Federal Communications Commission should set minimum program standards, and fine or revoke the licenses of stations that persistently broadcast crime and violence. Meanwhile, the National Science Foundation should study the effect of TV on youngsters, it said.

Start Or Renovate Lawn In Early Fall

LAFAYETTE, Purdue University specialists today advised Hoosier homeowners that early fall is usually the best time to start new laws or renovate old ones. ones.

Agronomists, horticulturists, entomologists and plant pathologists at Purdue have prepared a combined extension bulletin 254, "The Lawn - How to Establish and Maintain," to aid homeowners with lawn work. The publication has been revised and will provide helpful tips on drainage, soil testing, fertilization, seeding rates, and disease, weed, insect and mole control.

Seedbed preparation, fertilizer and good quality grass seed should be considered when planning to start a new lawn. Most lawn soils are deficient in nitrogen and potash and some in phosphorus. Thus, it is best to apply an abundant supply of these nutrients before seeding. Fertilizers should be worked in with 3 to 5 inches of soil as part of the seedbed preparation.

Agronomists say that it is cheaper in the long run to use the better grades of grass seed. Good seed will be high in germination percentage and purity and relatively free from weed seed.

Diseases and weeds are to enemies of the newly established lawn which are often overlooked. Chemical preparations are available as an aid in combating both these threats.

Expanding Economy Full-Fledged Boom Without Inflation

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UP) — The nation's expanding economy in the past nine months has been full-fledged boom without inflation, Indiana University economists said today.

The Indiana Business Review, published by the university's Bureau of Business Research, said:

"What started out in November of last year as a modest little boomlet...has blossomed into a full-fledged expansion with nearly full employment of facilities in some line and over-full utilization in others."

The economists said production in the second quarter of 1955 has "exceeded anything that most analysts had any reason to expect." They said "another encouraging factor" is the absence of inflation, "a usual concomitant of such a rapid rate of expansion.

"The breadth of the boom is now of such proportions that the automotive changeover and the fall slackening of construction activity, can be taken in stride,' the review said.

Indiana business in July, the review said, showed big gains over July, 1954, with only a few declines from June of this year.

POST FALLS, Idaho — (UP) — Sheriff's officers called to an area south of here by a report a naked man was running through the woods found an embarrassed city dweller who had decided to go back to nature. Trouble was, the man explained, when he got ready to return to civilization he couldn't find his clothes. After lending him a pair of overalls, the deputies helped him find the missing clothes.

Will Braves Have To Wait Til '56 For Pennant? May Clinch Flag This Year At Present Rate

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee is making elaborate plans for winning the National League pennant next year but at the alarming rate Brooklyn is tumbling the Braves may not have to wait so long.

The bewildered Dodgers suffered their 12th setback in the last 18 games by losing to the Redlegs, 4-2, Friday night, while the Braves cut Brooklyn's margin to 10 games — lowest it has been since June 10 — by defeating the fading Giants, 7-1.

Brooklyn, which led by 16½ games Aug. 12, has watched helplessly as Milwaukee has sliced 6½ games from its margin within a two-week period. If both clubs continue their present pace over the final four weeks of the campaign, the Braves will overtake the Dodgers and go on to win by three games.

The Braves played like red-hot pennant contenders Friday night while the Dodgers looked like bedraggled also-rans.

Second Grand-Slam

Del Crandall slammed his second grand-slam homer in 10 days to give Bob Buhl all the margin he needed for his 13th victory of the year. Buhl limited the Giants to seven hits in equalling his highest victory total since he entered the majors in 1953. Ruben Gomez was the loser.

Hershell Freeman took over for winning pitcher Don Gross in the seventh against the Dodgers, and allowed only one scratch hit the rest of the way. Cincinnati broke a 2-all tie and knocked out Carl Erskine in the seventh when Roy McMillan singled and Johnny Temple double for one run, and Smokey Burgess singled home another run.

A five-hit performance by rookie Willard Schmidt of the Cardinals beat the Phillies, 4-1, and snapped St. Louis' three-game losing streak. It also terminated a six-game Philadelphia winning streak.

Sam (Toothpick) Jones of the Cubs, who pitched a no-hitter against the Pirates last May 12th, held them to three hits Friday night and drove in two runs in a 6-3 victory. Jones' 11th triumph of the season snapped a seven-game losing streak for Chicago.

Yankee Lead Cut

Cleveland cut the Yankees' American League lead to one game by beating the New Yorkers 5-2, despite homers by Phil Rizzuto and Gil McDougald. Bob Lemon notched his 14th victory although he needed relief from Ray Narleski in the ninth. Ferris Fain led the Indians' 12-hit attack with three hits as Tommy Byrne absorbed the loss.

Washington sent the White Sox tumbling into third place with a 10-0 beating. Carlos Ramos held Chicago to two hits while his team mates kayoed Dick Donovan with a six-run burst in the first inning and then coasted to victory.

Left-hander Billy Hoeft of Detroit was nicked for 11 hits, including homers by Sammy White and Jim Piersall, but went the distance to beat Boston, 5-4, for his 13th conquest.

Enos Slaughter's eighth inning homer off George Zuverink gave the Athletics a 3-2 decision over the last-place Orioles. Reliever Art Ditmar was the winner.

Sam Snead Holds One-Stroke Lead

By DICK BACON
United Press Sports Writer

MONTREAL (UP)—Sam Snead, who forgot about his fishing to prep for the rich LaBatt Open Golf Tournament, held a one-stroke lead with a six-under par 134 as the $26,800 tourney moved into the third round today.

The 43-year-old veteran, who has won more than a quarter of a million dollars since coming out of the West Virginia hills, lost some of the fine putting touch he wielded the first day but still led Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B.C. and Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N.M.

Gene Littler was in contention with a 36-hole total of 67-69 followed by three shooters at 137, two at 138's and six who were tied with one-under par 139's.

"Hurting" For Big One

Snead, who admits he's "hurting to win a big one," has never won this event which was first held on this par-70, 6,515-yard Summerlea course two years ago. Ford won that one with a 15-under par 265, and Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif., took the $5,000 first money in last year's open at Scarboro, Ont.

"I just wasn't as sharp on the greens as I was the first day," said the man who has made the straw hat a trade mark.

Willie Tuggle Wins Billy Kelley Award, List Other Winners

The Whitley County Little Lea-

The Whitley county Little League baseball play officially ended Friday evening with the annual presentation of awards and the final game of three between the National and American league all-stars.

The National League won its third consecutive game by the score of 14-3 immediately prior to the presentation of awards by Roy Kilby at DeVol Field.

Heighlight of the awards presentation was naming the recipient of the Billy Kelley Award, established in memory of Billy Kelley, a baseball enthusiast who died at the age of 16.

The 1955 winner of the Kelley award was Willie Tuggle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Tuggle, Etna-Troy township, and pitcher for the Giants of the National League. Previous winners of the award have been Vance Brown, Tommy Clapp, and Larry Whetstone.

Don Wright, shortstop and pitcher for the Cardinals, was named Most Valuable Player in the National League, and Dick Egolf, third baseman and pitcher for the Tigers, was selected as the Most Valuable Player in the American League. Th etrophy for the Most Valuable Player in the Pony League was awarded to Johnny Meyers, catcher for Thomsons.

Trophies were also presented to the managers of the league champion teams. They were: Bill Hurtt, of the Tigers; Harold King, of the Cardinals, and Dale Gamble of Thomsons.

The Cardinal team won the trophy for having won the world series, and members of the All-Star teams each received ribbons. Ribbons were also presented to members of the championship and runner-up teams.

The Whitley County Association of Insurance Agents provided the trophies which were presented to the young baseball players.

Viv Wertz Has Two Strikes On Him; But He's Not Out

Editors: The following dispatch was dictated by the polio-stricken Vic Wertz to his wife, Lucille, from his Lakeside Hospital bed for the United Press.

By VIC WERTZ
Written For The United Press

LAKESIDE HOSPITAL, Cleveland (UP) — I've got two strikes on me but I'm still a long way from being out.

I know I have polio and I also know I'm going to lick it. They tell me this thing may end my baseball career but they'll never make me believe it.

Maybe it sounds daffy but I still hope to play for the Indians before this season is over.

Thinking of baseball right now is a little rough, though, because of the pain in my back and in my legs. But that'll go way in time.

A little of the pain even seemed to go away last night. Maybe that was because I was listening to the Indians beat the Yankees on the radio my wife, Lu, brought to the hospital for me.

That's another reason I'm sure I'll be okay. As long as my wife is at my side — like she has been from the first minute they brought me in here yesterday — I know I can battle my way out of the worst kind of slump. I've done it before on the ball field so why can't I do it again here?'

The one thing I want to do most is thank all the people who have sent me their good wishes. They say you can really tell how many friends you have when you wind up in the hospital. That makes me a real lucky guy. Look at that pile of letters and wires stacked on that chair."

It's mighty nice of all those people to be concerned over a lug like me.

I wish I could thank them all personally. But I can't right now. I'll try when I'm okay.

It won't take long. Only until I find out how they pitch left-handers in this league.

6 Washington Boys Among 60 Reporting For Football At CCHS

Leonard Barnum, football coach at Columbia City high school, reports that six former Washington Center high school students are among some 60 boys who reported for fall practice reeently.

Barnum said that he expects "every one of the boys will be able to help us." Three of the youths are freshmen, so if they don't play this year, they are certain for consideration in the next two or three years.

The group includes linemen Jack McCoy and Howard Fritzpatrick, freshmen; tackles Larry Ummel, freshman, and Dick Sickafoose, sophomore; and backs Joe Krider, junior, and David Sheets, sophomore.

Barnum expects Krider, an outstanding basketball player at Washington, to be of great help in this year's Eagle backfield. Ummel played junior high basketball last season and like the other boys looks like an outstanding football prospect, Barnum said.

This year's squad will also be helped by the addition of Dan Juillerat, a sophomore halfback prospect from Jefferson Center, who moved to Columbia City during the winter. Other new members of the squad are back, Johnny Meyers, a transfer from Churubusco, and Don Pynchon, who formerly attended Central in Fort Wayne, and is a tackle prospect.

Barnum pointed out an interesting observation prevalent on the football squad since rural students began attending the school several years ago. This is that of the 11 football lettermen from last year, all except four of them live outside the city limits.

He said that boys from Columbia and Thorncreek townships have consistently been among the most apt players on his teams. As evidenced by the fall turnout, it appears that Washington township will be no exception, Coach Barnum said.

Fearless Fraley's Facts And Figures

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

A top ranking amateur tennis player can "easily" make $12,000 a year, veteran tennis coach Mercer Beasley asserted today, and if you wonder why there are so many "shamateurs" consider the financial figures of the current Davis Cup play.

The three-day racquet festival which ends Sunday was a complete sellout with a gross of $135,000. In Australia, where tennis is akin to our World Series, it grossed $380,800 last year. And the 10-day national championships at Forest Hills average a gross of $150,000.

Nice Work, Too

Italian Davis Cuppers disclosed recently that they average $500 a tournament per man and they passed up the nationals because their demand for $1,000 each wasn't met. Our boys and girls abroad are said to be paid off under the table at an average of $300 with some getting as high as $600..at home, too.

Happy birthday: Today, Frank Leahy, 47, Roy Mack 67 and Peanuts Lowrey 37; Sunday, Charlie Grimm 56; Monday, Billy Cox 36, Mickey McDermot 27, and Clyde (Smackover; Scott 31; Tuesday, Vic Seixas 32, Billy Johnson 37 and Johnny Lindell 39; Wednesday, Danny Litwhiler 39.

Vinnie Richards, the former Davis Cupper who is handling U.S. Open Golf champion Jack Fleck's business affair sr v ee,asltttaheh business affairs, reveals that the upset man from Iowa will make a tour of Hawaii, the Philippines and Japan in November. Fleck will play about 24 exhibitions and compete in the Hawaiian and Philippine opens.

Kramer Still Tops

Jack Kramer, still top man among the tennis pros, is taking more loot out of the Davis Cup than any of the competing amateurs. He is writing for a New York newspaper and an Australian syndicate, working the TV show, and is a paid coach for the U.S. team... so the man who admits he was a "paid amateur" still hasn't lost the golden touch.

The United States team trained hard for the Davis Cup. Dolly Seixas and Shauma Trabert complained Friday when the matches started that it was the first time they had seen their husbands, Vic and Tony, in a week. The boys were held incommunicado at Captain Bill Talbert's apartment while prepping for the event.

Win or lose, Lew Hoad, the 20-year-old ace of the Aussie team, is anxious to get home. He has received word that his bride, whom he married at Wimbledon in June, will present him with a little "bawl" boy shortly after his birthday in November.

Borrowed Books

CAPETOWN, South Africa (UP) — The South African Supreme Court has ruled that a man is not a thief when he borrows a book and doesn't return it.

Acting Justice Beversmade the ruling in a suit brought by a man trying to recover one of his books. He said, "If this is theft, half the lawyers in town would be thieves. I have on my shelf a borrowed book that I have had for two years."

New Star Glistens Over Fight World

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)A new star glistened over the fight world today in the person of Joey Giambra, a humble soldier from Buffalo, N. Y., WHO EARNED A SHO falo, N.Y., who earned a shot at Bobo Olson's middleweight title although he lost an unpopular 10-ist.

round decision to the balding titl-

Olson scored a unanimous decision over Giabra Friday night in.a nationally televisd bout at the Cow palace, ut the verdict was loudly booed and King Bobo must have felt like a stranger in the town which used to idolize him.

At first, the rabidly pro-Giambra crowd thought an upset was in the making as Joey made Olson look bad missing, then laced him with hard right uppercuts to the head and body.

But the private from Fort Hood, Tex., began to tire in the fourth round and easily was shoved against the ropes by an angry Olson who would pound his mid-section with his feared body blows.

Referee Jack Downey voted the fight to Olson, 58-52 while Judge Vern Bybee had it 56½-53½ and Judge Ray Flores saw it 57½52½. The United Press had it Olson 56-54.

Olson weighed 166, Giambra 161.

Representatives Of Britain, Greece, Turkey To Meet

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UP) —Representatives of Britain, Greece and Turkey meet in London next week to discuss the future of this legendary island birthplace of Aphrodite, now a dangerous tinderbox threatening Anglo - Green relations.

The round - table conference, which was proposed by Britain, will ostensibly concern itself with the "defense of the eastern Mediterranean," but the recurring theme will undoubtedly be the future governing of the British colony of Cyprus.

The three nations meet Monday under pressure of mounting tension.

Foreshadowing the London talks shutters are being strengthened around Cyprus buildings.

It remains to be seen whether the isolated but irritating acts of terrorism in Cyprus over the past few weeks will flare into open hostilities, or whether the decisions reached in London will serve to soothe frayed local tempers.

Right now the atmosphere in Cyprus, like the guns of the police, is loaded.

Rifle-armed police move about the streets. Barbed wire blocks the mountain roads. Wives of British servicemen, recently moved here from the canal zone of Egypt must stay indoors after dark. The once - packed cabarets are half empty.

Only the churches are filled. and hundreds who flock there go only to hear the fiery words of the spellbinding Archbishop Makarios III, head of the Greek Orthodox Church in Cyprus.

Makarios opposed the London talks, and has described them as "a trap." He believes the United Nations is the only forum for airing Greek claims to the British colony.

"Give us liberty (from Britain) or death', he said in a recent sermon.

Trabert, Seixas Against Aussies Hoad And Hartwig

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP) — Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas, overwhelmed in their opening singles matches by a pair of 20-year-old Australians, teamed up in the doubles today against Aussies Lew Hoad and Rex Hartwig in a sudden-death struggle to retain a grip on the Davis Cup.

A lacing by the Australians today or one more setback in the remaining two singles on Sunday means the prized international tennis trophy will be packed off to kangaroo country after only a one season stay in America. Seixas and Trabert won back the trophy last December after three fruitless journeys down under.

"We've been beating them right along in the doubles," said Trabert. "I don't see why we can't keep on doing it."

Near-Flawless Strokes

Yet the manner in which the Australians ran up their 2-0 lead Friday indicated they have reached an unconquerable frame of mind to match their near-flawless strokes.

Rosewall, the Australian champion, whizzed through American champion Seixas, 63, 10-8, 4-6 62 and Hoad outslugged Trabert 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 8-6. Except for brief patches of topflight tennis, the Americans were completely outclassed.

Seixas, beaten by Rosewall in nine of their previous 11 matches, played to the only weakness he ever found in Rosewall's game — the forehand. But the canny little Aussie, anticipating the tactics which had upset him last year, was ready for everything tossed at his forehand and won in a breeze.

"Every white line seemed to have Kenny's name on it,' Seixas conceded with a rueful smile. "Every time I looked up he was raising chalk dust with a placement."

Trabert Confident

With the count 1-0 against the U.S., Trabert confidently took over the center court before the gallery of 12,000 and went to work on Hoad the Aussie block-buster.

Both of them hit with win-or-lose ideas and it was Hoad who erred the most in the first set. But in the second, Hoad's magnificent reflexes began to tell and he made almost impossible returns from then on to the finish as he humbled the 25-year-old star from Cincinnati.

Early in the second set, Trabert's racquet hand blisters, which of them popped at the base of his have been troubling him since last year, began to bother him. One right thumb but he declined to use it as an alibi and didn't expect it to hamper his doubles play.

"Lew served better than I've ever seen him," said Tony. "Thats one he deserved."

"Old Oriole" Title Deserved By Little Leaguer

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UP) — Little Rich Cominski may never have heard of the famous Baltimore club but he qualified today to be called an "Old Oriole."

Rich broke up the Little League' first "subway type' World Series Friday when his seventh - inning home run gave Morrisville, Pa., a 4-3 victory over Delaware Township, N.J. — but up until game time it didn't look like he'd even play.

Rich had injured his right hand on Thursday while playing with some of his teammates and Manager Dan Poland did not want to take the chance of letting the boy catch. At the last moment, however, Poland decided to let Rich play right field because he is one of the team's best hitters.

Rich conceded the hand hurt but he didn't let that bother him when he picked out a pitch by Tom Trotman and drilled it into the left field stands.

Trotman, who caught the first six innings for the losers before taking over for Herb Harrison, dropped to his knees when the drive cleared the fence.

"It's my fault — I lost it," he wailed.

But his teammates rushed to his side and soon he was grinning and congratulating the winners.

A crowd of about 11,000 including General of the Army George C. Marshall and Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania watched the contest between the survivors of more than 2,800 Little League teams competing in the ninth annual world championship competetion.

Morrisville trailed, 3-2, in the fourth inning but tied the score in the same frame on a homer by Skipper Fouke into the right field stands.

Colgate Football Team Is Long On Backs, Lean In The Line

HAMILTON, N.Y. (UP)—Coach Hal Lahar said today his Colgate football squad will be "long on backs but lean in the line" when it reports Sept. 1 to begin practicing for the 1955 season.

The chief problem facing the coaching staff is the lack of experienced linemen. Colgate lost 10 lettermen by graduation, including tackle Mike Morog, centers Chuck Beemus and Shelly Dow and guards Don Tomanek, Dave

Chicago White Sox Has Help On Way

CHICAGO (UP)—The stumbling Chicago White Sox had help on the way today in veteran outfielder Ron Northey. Northey, 35, was purchased from Minneapolis of the American Association, a New York Giant farm club, Friday night. As part of the deal, the Sox sent outfielder Gil Coan to the Giants along with an unannounced bundle of cash. In addition, outfielder Bill Wells from the Sox' Memphis farm will report to the Giants next spring.

Northey was hitting .345 for the Millers and drove in 56 runs in 90 games.

Replacement For Vic Wertz

CLEVELAND (UP) — General Manager Hank Greenberg said today the Cleveland Indians have received permission from Commissioner Ford Frick to bring up a replacement for the polio-stricken Vic Wertz from their Indianapolis farm club of the American Association. Greenberg said he probably would recall either Rudy Regalado or Rocky Colavito. Regalado is hitting .320 for the Indians while Colavito is batting .270.

SOW AND REAP

WILBUR, Wash. —(UP) —R. K. Maiden lost his wallet while poowing a field in April, 1953. Plowing the same field this year, Maiden turned up the wallet, torn and rotted. He took it into the bank to see if at least part of the $90 he thought it contained could be salvaged. He received $94.

EGGSPERT ADVICE

HARTFORD, Conn. — (UP) — Police Court Judge Francis P. Palotti told a chicken farmer charged with drunkenness how to avoid a return trip. "If you chicken farm workers were to carry a few eggs in your pocket, and when they broke you realized you were drunk, you would not be appearing so frequently in this court," he said.

WTTV Seeks Permit To Erect New Tower

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UP)—Officials of television station WTTV announced today they have asked the Federal Communications Commission for permission to erect a new 1,649-foot tower, to be tallest in the nation.

WTTV is seeking to move the proposed location of the new transmitter from Cloverdale, Putnam County, to Trafalgar, 20 miles south of Indianapolis.

The TV station also announced it has leased space in the state fairgrounds radio building for a remote facility studio in Indianapolis.

Bob Lemon, station manager said the new antenna would bring improved service to viewers. He added that moving the site will also bring more people into WTTV's range. It now serves over 2,000,000 viewers.

In addition to the FCC, the Civil Aeronautics Administration and Air Force officials must approve the new tower.

No date has been set for an FCC ruling.

Britain Joins United States In Dramatic Offer To Enforce Peace On Strife-Torn Arab-Israel Border

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Britain joined the United States today in a dramatic offer to enforce peace on the strife-torn Arab-Israel border by guaranteeing each side against attack by the other.

The bold proposal, designed to head off a fullscale Middle East war that intelligence reports had warned was in the making, was advanced by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Friday night, with the personal endorsement of President Eisenhower.

It won prompt support from Britain, and generally favorable comment from United Nations officials and key members of Congress.

But there was no immediate response from Israel or the Arab states, whose acceptance would be necessary to put the plan into operation.

The urgency of the situation that prompted Dulles' proposal was underscored, however, by reports of a new clash between Arab and Israeli forces along the blood-soaked Gaza frontier.

Outlines Three Points

Dulles, in a speech before the Council on Foreign Relations in New York, outlined a three-point U.S. offer to (1) help work out permanent boundaries between Israel and the Arab states; (2) pledge U.S. military force to "prevent or thwart any effort by either side to alter by force the agreed borders; and 3) put up a "substantial" loan to help resettle Arab refugees from Israel.

He invited other countries to join in the guarantees, under U.N. sponsorship.

Britain took up the invitation after commending the United States for "constructive and useful initiative" in trying to halt Middle East bloodshed.

The Foreign Office in London said in a prepared statement:

"Her Majesty's government agree with the United States government in thinking that it should be possible to reach a settlement of these problems by direct or indirect negotiations without detriment to the vital interests of either side."

U.N. Leader Applauds

Even as Dulles spoke, new clashes between Arab and Israeli forces were reported along the Gaza frontier where Egyptians said they killed 12 Jews who had crossed the truce line. The Israelis charged an Egyptian force had sneaked into Israel.

Diplomats agreed Dulles' timing was perfect and U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold voiced hope that the plan could be the "beginning of a general stabilization of conditions" in the troubled Middle East.

Dulles said the United States would be willing to join in formal treaty negotiations to "prevent or thwart any effort by either side to alter by force the boundaries between Israel and its Arab neighbors.'

Two Sisters Have Previously Unknown Type Of Blood

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Two sisters were discovered to have a type of blood previously unknown in medical history, the Milwaukee blood center announced Friday night.

The blood type is U-negative, Rh-negative. A number of people have Rh-negative blood and a smaller number U-negative blood.

But a spokesman said Mrs. John Quarles, 25, and her sister, Mrs. Katherine Brown, both of Milwaukee, are the only persons known to medicine to have both negative factors.

The blood type was discovered after Mrs. Quarles' fifth child died within eight hours of birth April 27 1954, because of faulty blood.

It was learned that a New York woman was reported a year previously to have U-negative, but Rh-positive blood.

A serum from Mrs. Quarles' blood was tested at the Lister Institute in London. Dr. Tibor J. Greenwalt, director of the Milwaukee blood center, brought the serum back to this country when he returned from a trip abroad in 1954.

A search was begun after that for other U-negative blood types. Twelve were found in New York and one was discovered in West Africa, but none of those persons examined had the Rh-negative factor.

The tests were conducted largely among Negroes after preliminary investigation indicated to Greenwalt that the U-negative would not be found in the white race.

Greenwalt said medical experts could give no reason whyU-negative was restricted nono t-.etihsw tive was restricted to nonwhites.

He said the case of the sisters' double-negative combination, "is the only one thus far."

The discovery was announced two weeks after Mrs. Quarles gave birth to a daughter in rare delivery. The baby received about 14 ounces of her mother's specially prepared blood immediately after birth.

The plasma containing most of the anti-bodies dangerous to the baby was drained from the blood before the transfusion. Then Dr. Greenwalt spent several hours giving the blood three baths in a salt solution.

The delivery was successful and both Mrs. Quarles and her baby were reported in good condition.

Steel Industry Heads For Record In Order Volume

NEW YORK (UP)— Customers yelling for steel "haven't seen anything yet," Iron Age magazine said today.

The steel industry is headed for new records in order volume, in production and in the delicacy of customers relations, the magazine stated, adding that some statements that the steel supply will be in better shape by the fourth quarter are wishful thinking."

Iron Age said the auto industry soon will be stepping up its already high level order volume for steel, and the pace of 1956 car output will be even with or ahead of last year's fast tempo.

The steel picture will be further tightened, the magazine said, as emergency calls come in from the northeastern sections of the country for large tonnages of structural and plates for bridges knocked out by floods.

Sailor Held For Questioning In Death Of McCarty

A Fellow Freighter Crew Member

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—A Hartford City sailor was held for questioning in the death of a fellow Great Lakes freighter crew member.

Richard Carlo, 33, waived extradition to Ohio before a deputy U.S. marshal Thursday. He surrendered to Hartford City police after being told by relatives he was being sought.

Federal authorities said a warrant charged Carlo with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder in Ashtabula, Ohio.

Ohio police said Carlo was wanted for questioning in the death of Charles McCarty, 29, Detroit, whose body was found floating in Lake Erie harbor July 28 with a head wound.

Authorities said they learned McCarty and two other crew members engaged in a fight aboard the S.D. Foster that same day. All three, police said, were subsequently fired.

They said Evans Branigan, the other crew member, was arrested in Cleveland two weeks ago and is now held in Ashtabula on a manslaughter charge.

Carlo told police he did not know of McCarty's death until he returned to Hartford City from the westcoast Thursday night.

Toll Road

November.

On the eastern 50 miles, four contractors share the work. One has his work 80 per cent completed and another, 66 per cent.

They have construction crews working around the clock with two 10-hour shifts on the road and two-hour breaks to service equipment.

At night, the crews illuminate the roadway being cut through farmland with giant 20-foot portable light towers. It's in this section where 35 miles of continuous concrete has been poured.

The J.E. Greiner Co., Baltimore, consulting engineers to the commission on the 280 million dollar project, reported work lagging a bit as of July 31. The Greiner firm estimated it was 21.1 per cent completed, whereas it would be 34 per cent completed if on schedule.

Land Prices Go Up

At present, commission members are most anxious to keep work on the eastern section up to date, since Ohio's toll road will be completed Oct. 1 and traffic will be ready to move onto Indiana's turnpike.

The commission has spent $63,167,761.75 on the road so far and has awarded 26 contracts totalling $135,663,588.88. All but two miles of the 156-mile road is under contract or subject to approval of bids.

Bids on about a one-mile Gary section will be opened Sept. 14 and at some undecided future date, bids will be accepted for the last section in Hammond adjoining the Illinois line.

Commission members claim the turnpike already has boosted the economy of many communities along its route. For example, they said, a Clear Lake lot which sold for $600 four years ago recently was resold for $2,500.

I. U. Donates Two Acres For State Police Sub-Post

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Indiana University has donated two acres of land northwest of Bloomington for a new state police sub-post, it was announced today.

At Bloomington, officials said the donation has the blessing of the I.U. Board of Trustees. They said the post would help ease the traffic flow, particularly on days of major sports events.

county stabilization and conservation committees.

Benson also announced that preliminary results of the producer referendum on a promotion program for wool and lamb showed 72.2 per cent in favor of the plan. The program provides for deductions from payments under the wool incentive program for the financing of advertising, promotion and related market development activities. The deductions from the 1955 incentive payments will amount to one cent per pound from shorn wool payments and five cents per 100 pounds of live weight from lamb and yearling payments.

On other subjects, Benson expressed these views:

Crop Production: It "still appears we are going to have record crop production this year." He said the recent storms have done very limited damage in relation to total crops. Benson said the main damage was to tobacco. He said the corn crop in the Middle West may be "a little lower" than anticipated because of lack of rain in that area.

Cheese: He said the department is studying the comptroller general's decision about cheese dealings last year in which some dairy companies sold cheese to the government and then repurchased it at a lower price making a profit of two million dollars. Benson said the department "did what it thought best for the American dairy industry and what was cheapest to the American taxpayer."

Famous Former Nationalist Chinese General Is Killed

HONG KONG (UP)—A famous former Nationalist Chinese general fell dead with a bullet in his back Friday night during a 20-minute battle between police and a masked trio attempting to kidnap him.

The bodies of Yu Ching-man, the former general, and one of his would-be kidnapers were found by police after the running gunbattle ended.

Lu, who arrived in Hong Kong in 1950, commanded Nationalist troops against the Japanese and later served as right-hand man to Gen. Li Mi in the civil war. He was arrested by Yunnan Gov. Lo Han but escaped to Burma and then to Hong Kong.

Hong Kong police said today Yu was seized about 11:30 p.m. as he walked toward his home in the new territories. The three armed men forced him into the house which they ransacked and then started to leave with Yu.

A servant slipped out and called police. A patrol ordered the group to halt but was met with a burst of bullets and the gun battle followed.

Police expressed two theories—that Yu was being abducted by Communist agents or that he was planning to defect to Communist China and was shot by Nationalist agents.

NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY BOWLER KNOWS HIS STUFF

BUFFALO, N.Y. — (UP) — Nine-year-old Dickie Musialowski doesn't have to take a back seat to adults when it comes to bowling.

Rolling in the city tournament with his father, the young kegler banged out games of 180, 174, and 161 for a 515 total in singles competition. Then he teamed with his dad to post 1,200 in doubles.

Dickie, the envy of many much older bowlers, first started knockdown tenpins on his father's alleys when he was only four.

Decline In Farm Prices Predicted For Indiana

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UP) — A further decline in Hoosier farm prices in the immediate period ahead was predicted today by agricultural economists at Purdue University.

The economists warned that bumper crop prospects and increased livestock marketings will depress prices, despite continued strong consumer demand for food.

However, the Purdue publication Economic and Marketing Information says corn prices probably will rise much more after harvest this year than last. It suggests farmers make extra crib space to store corn during the expected price drop at harvest because more corn will go under the support program and increased livestock will result in greater disappearance of corn.

Soybean production is expected to be 23 per cent larger than last year, but domestic and export demand is expected to keep soybeans above $2 a bushel except during the harvest.

A further decline in hog prices is expected during the fall, but at a slower rate.

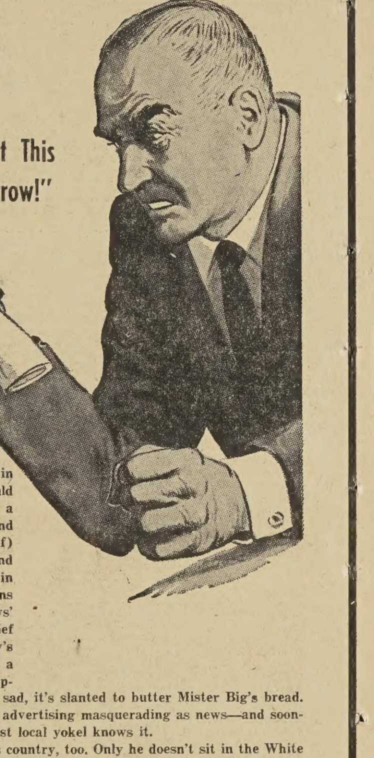
"See That All The Papers In The Country Print This Tomorrow!"



Sure! That's the way it is in quite a few countries we could name. Mister Big presses a button, Mister Little (Grand National Editor-in-Chief) comes in and salutes—and next day column 8, page 1, in every daily in the nation runs the identical story. The 'news' may be a blast at some chief of state outside the country's borders; or it may be about a parking regulation in the capital. Big or little, happy or sad, it's slanted to butter Mister Big's bread. It isn't news—it is political advertising masquerading as news—and sooner or later, even the dumbest local yokel knows it.

There's a Mister Big in this country, too. Only he doesn't sit in the White House or the State House or the City Hall. In America Mister Big is YOU—you and every one else who reads a newspaper. It is you who decides what your newspaper prints or doesn't print. For if you look at the front page and yawn—pretty soon your newspaper loses circulation. Eventually it may fold. It could happen to us—or any other newspaper.

This doesn't mean that our readers tell us what to print. It DOES mean that what we DO print must interest our readers—or we don't sell any. papers. It DOES mean that if your newspaper prints news that is incomplete, or onesided, or slanted, or just plain sensational-for-sensationalism's-sake—it wouldn't be long before you'd realize you're not getting your nickel's worth and you'd buy your information somewhere else.

In a word—NEWS is a commodity like anything else. It is sold in the market place just like cars or T.V. sets or dishwashers. If it isn't dependable or complete or impartial it can't be believed; and if it can't be believed it can't be sold.

That is why a good newspaper will do almost anything before it will dilute the quality or endanger the believability of the news it publishes. That is why no good newspaper ever allows its presentation of news facts to be influenced by ANYONE OR ANYTHING—the government, its advertisers, its suppliers, pressure groups among its readers—or even its own editorial opinions.

This tremendous fact—namely, that in America the newspaper is a BUSINESS organization, unsubsidized and undominated, that must market its new competitevely to a very enlightened and discriminating market—means simply this! YOUR RIGHT TO KNOW is assured and protected as it could never be assured and protected by any other device; a commissioner in Washington, a law on the state statute books or a group of people in our own editorial rooms.

Yes—your newspaper has the same objectives as any other alert American business organization; to prosper by bringing you the very best product it can at the lowest possible price.

So—if anyone ever tells you that there should be a law limiting what a newsaper can print, agree with him only if you also feel there should be a law restricting the number of improvements an auto manufacturer can put on his car or a regulation limiting the maximum price a woman may pay for a hat.

You Are Free To Know Because Your Newspaper Is Free To Print

Bendix Workers Added To Growing List Of Strike-Idled Hoosiers Today

By UNIED PRESS

About 9,000 Bendix Corp. workers at South Bend were added to the growing list of strike-idled Indiana workers today, bringing the total to near the 25,000 mark.

The strike against Bendix was called by the CIO United Auto Workers at midnight Saturday at the firm's eight plants around the country. A federal mediator was called into the talks at Detroit Sunday, and a union official said both sides had presented new proposals.

Observers reported that one of the chief issues was a union demand for a semi-guaranteed annual wage.

The bitter CIO-UAW strike against the Perfect Circle Corp. took a new direction today with an offer by the union to submit the issues to arbitration. The offer by the union to submit the issues to arbitration. The offer was contained in full page advertisements in several newspapers.

Negotiations Stalled Friday

State-sponsored negotiations in the walkout were broken off Friday when company officials indicated they wished to wait for results of a petition for decertification of the union before taking further action. The petition is pending before the National Labor Relations Board.

The state, in a move to head off any further violence in the five-week strike, cited an NLRB ruling to back the union's claim it remains the bargaining agent for workers pending a decision and urged that negotiations be resumed.

Several more scattered incidents were reported during the weekend, but Indiana National Guard officials said they had no plans to declare martial law in the strike unless a serious outbreak occurred.

Indiana Democrats Sport New Look Today As They Move Into Fall Mayoralty Campaign

By KEITH L. MARTIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (UP)—Indiana Democrats sported a new look today as they moved into the fall mayoralty campaign.

There was a flurry of excitement and unrest in the ranks as 1,300 party faithful ended a weekend outing at this resort town. They anticipated changes in leadership and candidates.

Former Gov. Henry Schricker was the key to it all. He formally bowed out of active politics with a statement declaring it his "duty" and "prime obligation" to "devote the rest of my active years" to the insurance firm he heads.

"Under the circumstances, I could not become a candidate for public office," he said.

Schricker thereby relinquished his long role as the ever-potential and ever-potent Democratic candidate. It meant the partys young blood could vie for top spots on the 1956 ticket and several of them immediately made overtures for nomination as governor or U.S. senator.

It also meant Charles Skillen, a Schricker man, maybe on the way out as state chairman. There was talk the party's state committee might ask Skillen to resign after the November election.

Tattletale Coats

As evidence that the young blood was ready to move, one group talked up state Sen. Matthew Welch of Vincennes for governor, Marshall Hanley of Muncie as senator and John Hurt of Martinsville for state chairman. All are in their 30s or 40s.

But it won't be that cut and dried. An important aspect of the party's new look is that there is a surplus of potential leaders. Someone commented at the French Lick Springs Hotel, "anyone wearing his coat is a candidate."

Schricker's action caused such a

French Cabinet Approves Faure Proposals Today

For Ending Bloody Moroccan Uprising

PARIS (UP) — The French cabinet today approved the proposals of Premier Edgar Faure for ending the bloody Moroccan uprising.

The decision to support Faure was taken in a stormy, 13-hour cabinet session which at times threatened to topple his government.

Faures plan calls for the ouster of both the French resident general, Gilbert Grandval, who is hated by French colonials and right-wing elements of parliament for his "soft" policy in Morocco and Sultan Sidi Mohammed Moulay Ben Arafa, who is bitterly attacked by the Moroccan nationalists.

The premier hopes by the two moves to appease both the nationalists and the French who have demanded a more stern policy toward them by the resident general.

Form Throne Council

Informed sources said the cabinet agreed to accept Grandval's resignation within the next day or two and will appoint unisian Resident General Pierre Boyer de laTour, to take his place.

If he accepts, the government will ask Boyer de laTour to leave for Rabat on Thursday to assume his difficult new post.

He served as resident general in the sister French North African protectorate of Tunisia while the difficult home-rule agreement for that area was negotiated there.

The Faure compromise plan calls for formation of a Moroccan throne council to take over the powers of the sultan. The council then will form by Sept. 12 a representative Moroccan government, including nationalists.

Henry Ward, 54, of 106½ West Van Buren street, escaped injury at about 9 p.m. Saturday when he climbed out of his stalled automobile shortly before it was struck by a Nickel Plate freight train at a county road crossing near Peabody.

William Branning Named Winner Of Safety Award

Was Selected As Safe Pedestrian

William Branning, R 1, Larwill, was selected as a pedestrian conscious of safety and received a cash award of $5.00 and an appropriate certificate Saturday in connection with the courtesy campaign being conducted here.

Mr. Branning was observed in the downtown area Saturday afternoon with his two children. Woody Jones, the judge who made the selection, stated that Mr. Branning was walking with his son, Lin, 7, and his daughter, Donna, 4. While crossing the streets, the children held onto their father's hands. The rule for pedestrians that this family group observed, according to Mr. Jones, was that they waited on the curb for the light to change in their favor. Before crossing a street, Mr. Branning and his children took plenty of time to look for possible oncoming traffic and walked through the cross-walks, not crowding anyone.

The judge who was seeking a winner for the pedestrian's award had one comment to make regarding pedestrians he observed. He said the greatest rule infraction was that people constantly stepped off the curb and waited in the street until they could cross. It was also pointed out that young children and old people were the better pedestrians.

From Shot-Down U. S. Flier; Tried To 'Exploit' Him

He Apparently Got No Medical Treatment Until Second Day

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — The United Nations Military Command charged today that the Communists withheld proper medical treatment from a shot-down U.S. flier and tried to "exploit" the dangerously wounded man for "propaganda."

The U.N. said that 2nd Lt. Guy H. Bumpas, Jackson, Miss., flier now freed by the Communists, apparently received no medical treatment from the Reds until the second day after they shot down his plane on Aug. 17.

Then the Reds only sewed up his wounds in a way which could have caused meningitus the U.N. charged at a meeting with the Communists.

Bumpas was freed on Aug. 23 near the place where his light training plane was shot down over the demilitarized zone which separates North and South Korea. He was flown to Tokyo and is being treated in a U.S. Air Force hospital.

"He cannot recall receiving any medical treatment until the second night following his crash," Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks of the U.S. Air Force told the Communists in a Korean Armistice Commission meeting. "That which was then received consisted only of sewing up his wounds." Parks is the senior U.N. member of the commission.

Congressman E. Ross Adair Speaks At Fair; Feminotes Sing; Prizes, Progress Reported

The Honorable E. Ross Adair, member of Congress from this district spoke on "Farming In Congress," at the 4-H fair Saturday afternoon for a program sponsored by the Whitley County Farm Bureau. He was presented by the president, Preston Gregory of Cleveland township.

Mr. Adair remembered the fame of the pie at the "Fair that Pies Built." He talked about some of the laws concerning farming that came before the first session of the 84th congress.

He listed three classes of laws: those that pertain to farming directly, those that pertain to everybody and those that concern farmers only in part as building highways. He said he had received many letters concerning the proposed extra gas tax, especially from Farm Bureau members who had written "reasonable, honest, intelligent, patriotic letters.

Mr. Adair named numerous laws considered by congress, some dealing with crops raised locally and others affecting farmers in other areas, as rice, cotton, or tobacco crops. Many laws were extended indicating an awareness in congress of farm problems.

Concerning price supports, Mr. Adair mentioned that the last congress "had made the law more flexible in changing it from 90 to 82 per cent." He urged giving the new price support law a chance to operate for two or three years to check down price trends.

"In disposing of surpluses through foreign relations care is needed not to upset the normal trade relations. By 1975 we will be consuming all we produce if the yield is constant and population growths continue. Of the surpluses, wheat is the major one with butter and milk acute in large supplies," he said.

Mr. Adair stated that he believed that "the government is trying to preserve peace and make a lasting and true peace. We must not expect miracles; it will take time. An adequate defense will be needed for many years. Our people and our government must work together.

Truman To Fire Second Salvo At Republicans

Tonight At Michigan Democratic Conference

By CLAIR HEKHUIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (UP) —Former President Harry S. Truman indicated today there would be no letup in his fiery "give 'em hell' campaign against the Eisenhower administration.

The former Democratic standardbearer was expected to fire his second salvo against the Republicans in the principal speech at a Michigan Democratic "strategy" conference here tonight.

He unleashed the opening round blast of his pre-election year campaign at an Indiana Democratic conference at French Lick, Ind., Saturday and immediately drew sharp criticism from administration supporters.

Mr. Truman told the Indiana conference that Mr. Eisenhower has been guilty of "misrepresentation and demagoguery" ever since his election. He said the President never misses a chance to "befuddle the issues."

He continued the attack at a press conference shortly after his arrival here Sunday night.

"The federal government is now 100 per cent dominated by big business, starting with General Motors," he told reporters after his arrival.

He also told newsmen at the press conference that he favored Adlai Stevenson as the Democratic Party's 1956 presidential candidate, that he believed the South "had learned its lesson' and will not again split from the party, and the man with a platform "for all the people" will be the next president.

After his early morning constitutional today, the former president boarded a helicopter with Michigan Gov G. Mennen Williams to attend a centennial celebration at the International Locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Man Swept Over The Niagara Falls To His Death

Clings To Rocky Ledge Five Hours

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (UP)—A prominent Buffalo investment iounsel was swept over the brink of the 167-foot American Falls to his death Sunday.

Robert H. Persons, 58, of East Aurora, N.Y., died 18 minutes after firemen rescued him from a rocky ledge about 35 feet below the top of the cataract, where he had clung for five hours. Authorities said it was the first time in memory that a person has been swept over the falls and escaped instant death.

The rescuers, laddermen Albert MacFayden and Theodore Forester, said Persons was still conscious when they reached him. he firemen were lowered in life belts attached to ropes.

They said Persons apparently landed on the narrow rock ledge after leaping into the upper rapids about 5:30 p.m. Sunday. He crawled along the ledge to a point just outside the range of the cascading water and directly below Prospect Point.

Persons' plight was discovered by an unidentified woman using binoculars who telephoned police. He was unconscious when hauled to the top and died before reaching a hospital.

Army Concerned About Labor Day Reckless Driving

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—With the Labor Day weekend approaching, the Army is concerned about losing valuable personnel through reckless driving.

Every pass and every leave paper now carries a stamp which says, simply "Drive safely; return safely."

That's pretty good advice for both members of the military and civilians too. There is no sense in reviewing the rules of the road. Like no drinking while driving, and vice versa. Also stopping for coffee breaks.

But the plain facts are that 36,500 lives—military and civilian —were lost on the road in 1954.

Menace On Highway

The Army wages a continual fight against soldier accidents on the highways. According to the Pentagon, 69 per cent of all military fatalities occur on the road in privately owned cars. During World War II, one official told me, it was not too bad. Not very many enlisted men, or officers had cars.

"But today," he said, "even a yard bird can run down to a used car dealer, put a few dollars down and drive away in something called an automobile. Unless he is extremely careful, he is a menace on the highway."

The Air Force and others have the same problem. The Air Force, for example, estimates that it loses many more men on leave on the highways than it does in the air.

"When a pilot and his crew are aloft," one general once told me, "they are especially careful. They have been taught that not only are their own necks being risked, but their hitch-hikers as well. Not to mention a couple of millions of dollars worth of government property in the form of hard-to-replace aircraft."

With A Heavy Foot

The Army knows that the reduction of accidents in private driving depends to a great extent on the voluntary action of the individual driver.

The Army, as you may know, has long had an educational program directed at the men who drive their own cars. The men, and women of the Army are smart enough to know they would be in real trouble if they violated the speed laws on their bases. But, sometimes, they get a little careless on leave when turned loose with a heavy foot on a high-powered machine.

"Soldiers," an Army man told me, "are encouraged to take public transportation on long trips during their leaves—rather than take their own cars. We would rather that they leave their hacks in the lot on the base. Both the man and the car would be safer."

The campaign seems to be making a little progress. The Army reports that during the first five months in 1955, there was a 16 per cent decrease in the number of Army deaths on the highways in private cars.

Police Hold Man In Alleged Kill For Hire Plot

To Murder Marion County Prosecutor

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — Police held a second suspect today in an alleged "murder for hire" plot to kill Marion County Prosecutor John Tinder.

But they admitted the motive for the plot was still a mystery.

Chett Allen Fowler, 60, an ex-convict from Indianapolis with a record dating back to the prohibition era, was held without bond on a charge of conspiracy to commit murder.

Fowler, picked up Saturday night, was named a participant in the alleged plot by Richard Marks, Marsks has told police Fowler 24. Marks has told police Fowler was the "contact man" in the conspiracy.

Marks, held under $50,000 bond on a conspiracy charge, said Fowler offered him $2,000 to kill the prosecutor. He also claimed Fowler gave him the gun to have been used in the slaying.

Fowler has denied any connection with the supposed plot, police said, and has given no clue to a possible motive.

Authorities foiled the plot Thursday night when Marks hired a disguised policeman to do the killing.

Police said Marks had admitted lying when he claimed Anthony Ippolito, 44, an ex-convict deported to Italy in 1951, was the "brains" of the plan. A nationwide alert for Ippolito was called off Saturday.

The U. S. Mainland Is Safe From Edith

MIAMI (UP)—The U.S. mainland is safe from Edith ,the hurricane the Weather Bureau said today.

The Eastern Seaboard was never put on actual hurricane alert for Edith, which has been over open water all the time since its discovery six days ago.

ANOTHER THEORY GOES DOWN THE DRAIN

ORONO, Me. — (UP) — Two University of Maine scientists say that brain waves do not give a clear indication of whether a man is a righthander or a southpaw.

Psychology Profs. A. Douglas Glanville and Joseph J. Antonitis measured brain-wave records of 50 students to test the theory that the strength of the waves in the right and left halves of the brain would indicate which side a person favors.

The professors said their measurements gave no validity to the theory.

One-Room School In Hoosierland Fast Disappearing

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UP)—The one-room schoolhouse is fast disappearing from Indiana's countryside.

State School Supt. Wilbur Young reported to a school health workshop at Indiana University that at the present rate, there will be few single-room schools left in the state by 1960.

There has been a 50 per cent reduction in one-room schoolhouses the past six years, he said, with 340 in use during the 1948-49 school year and only 167 during the 1954-55 year.

"The one-room school has served its purpose and served it well," Young said, "but it has no place in this day of rapid transportation and expanding community horizons."

Consolidations have taken the biggest toll, he said. For example, Elkhart County abandoned 12 one-room schoolhouses last year and moved the pupils into a single, modern building.

Costly Fire At Refinery Roars Into Third Day

Keeps 1500 Persons From Their Homes

By GENE BLUDEAU
United Press Staff Correspondent

WHITING, Ind. (UP)—A multi-million dollar oil refinery fire roared into its third day today, keeping 1,500 persons from their homes in a devastated two-square-mile area.

Standard Oil Co. officials said the flames at its giant refinery were finally under control, although three fuel oil tanks containing 750,000 gallons of fuel still burned fiercely.

One thousand company employes worked through the night fighting the fires, which burst from the core of a staggering explosion at 6:15 a.m. Saturday morning.

The blast, heard for 100 miles, roared from a 26-story cracking plant located in the 1,600-acre refinery. Chain reaction explosions among the fuel tanks sent tons of metal flying into slumbering homes. Two persons were killed, hundreds were injured, and 10 per cent of the refinery became flaming, twisted rubble.

The firefighters planned to let the fires burn themselves out while they concentrate on keeping them from spreading to more giant fuel tanks. An investigation to determine the cause of the disaster will have to wait until the flames die.

Mr. Martz sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

A gown of nylon tulle over shell pink taffeta was worn by the bride. It featured a scoop neckline, short sleeves, and a waltz-length skirt. Her organdy-trimmed cap trimmed with seed pearls caught the veil of illusion. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Harold kyler., wore an aqua, bellerina-length dress with a short-sleeved jacket. She also wore a wihte hat and carried a pendant of rose and shell pink asters.

James Forst, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom, while Harold Kyler, Roger Stampe, Larry Woll, and Carl Stay served as ushers.

About 300 guests were received at the church parlors after the ceremony. Assistant at the reception included Miss Charlotte Stanley, Miss Marjorie Miller, Mrs. Wayne Johnson, Miss Judy Woll, Miss Nancy Stampe, and Mrs. James Forst.

Guests from Florida, Iowa, Illinois, Fort Wayne, Huntington, Indianapolis, Lafayette, Churubusco, and Warsaw attended, in addition to those from the Columbia City area.

The couple plan a week's tour of the North Central states and will be at home at 517 East hanna street.

A patient at St. Joseph's hospital Fort Wayne, following surgery Friday night for injuries to her right elbow and arm which were sustained when she was struck by a motorboat while swimming at Lake Wawasee, is Mrs. Gail Lancaster, 54, of Huntington.

State Trooper C. E. Complement signed the affidavit against the Anderson youth. Beck had two girls with him in the boat and was towing two other girls on water skii.

Hoosiers Simmer In New Heat Wave

By UNITED PRESS

Hoosiers simmered in another heat wave today with temperatures threatening to hit 95. But relief was on its way.

The mercury sizzled up to 94 at Evansville Sunday and hit 93 at Fort Wayne and Indianapolis, 92 at Lafayette and 86 at South Bend.

Low temperatures during the night were in the high 60s.

Fair and hot was the forecast for today with the mercury ranging from a high of 93 in the north to a high of 95 downstate.

Showers and thunderstorms, on a scattered basis around the entire state, were expected tonight and Tuesday—the first appreciable rain in many days.

It will turn a little cooler Tuesday in the extreme northwest portion where the high Tuesday will be about 87. Ninety-degree readings will continue elsewhere, however.

The outlook for Wednesday was mostly fair and pleasant through out the state.

'Refresher' Proves Quite Expensive

CHICAGO (UP) —Robert Blate, 27, charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest, told Judge Victor Kula, "I really don't know why I'm here.'

The judge was about to continue the case when Policeman Tony Grisz rushed into the courtroom and said he could refresh Blate's memory.

He said Blate had tried to rob a young couple by threatening them with a five-pound rock and then knocked out four of his cellmates after police arrested him.

Judge Kula fined Blate $490 and costs.

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP)—Band leader Ray Anthony and actress Mamie Van Doren planned a "private and quiet" wedding here today but said they would postpone their honeymoon for a while.

Amounts Of Food Used At 4-H Fair

Figures released by Harold Ruckman, superintendent of concessions, and Mrs. Russel Geiger chairman of the womens department, give an idea of the amount of food necessary to feed the people attending the annual 4-H fair.

Mrs. Geiger reported that over 2000 pies were donated by Farm Bureau and 4-H club families.

A total of 11,298 buns were used. These included 313½ dozen long weiner buns and 628 dozen round buns. 408 pounds of hot dogs or over 4000 were consumed. 250 pounds of boneless beef were used in making other sandwiches. Eight dozen bottles of catsup topped the sandwiches.

Six tons of ice were used to cool the 4,300 bottles of soft drinks at the stands. $670 worth of ice cream was served.

stir it took the edge off the feature event at this 75th annual Democratic Editorial Association meeting—a "give 'em hell" speech by former President Harry S. Truman.

Some said it didn't even sound like Mr. Truman handed out much hell. Commented the former president:

"I never did give anybody hell. Ive been in the habit of telling the truth and it hurts some people and they feel sometimes like I am giving them hell."

"Befuddle and botch"

What he did was charge that Republicans used "misrepresentation and demagoguery" to win control of the government. He said President Eisenhower used it in his 1953 state of the union message and "has never missed a chance to befuddle the real issues in every speech he reads."

He accused the GOP administration of "foot dragging" on progressive legislation, of tearing down New Deal and Fair Deal measures "as fast as they dared,' and of "botching" the highway program by suggesting it be financed by a bond issue.

"This Republican administration has actually moved backwards," Mr. Truman said. "It is dominated and controlled by big business, which it allows to plunder our natural resources. It has let farm prices fall lower and lower.

"It has done little or nothing for labor. It has spoken prettily of a deep feeling for human needs, and then turned right around and fought against aid to education and against increased social security benefits."

Shuns Foreign Policy

His attack, notably, was all on domestic issues. Mr. Truman told newsmen the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy could not be criticized.

"It is not the business of a private citizen who doesn't know all the facts to discuss foreign policy," he said. "I was embarrassed often enough while I was the president by smart alecs who did that."

Democratic mayors and mayoralty candidates discussed campaign strategy for two hours. State Sen. Warren Martin of Clarksville was recruited to acquaint the candidates with political issues growing out of the 1955 state Legislature.

Ralph Ferguson, candidate for Anderson mayor, urged concentration on electing Democratic mayors, saying such victories will strengthen the party's grass roots and "pay dividends next year."

Terre Haute Mayor Ralph Tucker suggested coffee hours with housewives as the ideal way to find out what municipal programs the voters want, and R. Vance Hartke, candidate for Evansville mayor, said he learns from street corner rallies.

Lee J. Hartzell, Former Indiana State Senator, Dies

FORT WAYNE (UP) Lee J. Hartzell, 73, former Indiana state senator from Allen County, died Sunday night at Lutheran Hospital.

Hartzell was a Republican. He served in the Senate from 1920 to 1924 and from 1928 to 1932. He was author of the "Hartzell Act" which imposed stiffer penalties for criminal offenses.

Hartzell was an attorney for 47 years.

Mediator Enters Talks

Meanwhile, a federal mediator entered the Allis-Chalmers strike negotiations in Milwaukee. Workers resumed production at four of the company's six plants during the talks, but employes at Terre Haute and Springfield, Ill., remained out over local issues.

Negotiations at Chicago in the International Harvester Co. strike resumed today, but little hope for a quick settlement was seen.

In Detroit, lengthy negotiations continued in an effort to head off a strike against the Chrysler Corp. About 16,000 Hoosier workers would be affected.

One of the state's hardest hit cities is Richmond where workers at three major industries have been idled by strikes. In order to cope with repeated acts of vandalism in and around the city, Wayne county commissioners have appropriated $10,000 to equip 50 special deputies for strike duty.

Sheriff Edward L. Cordell said his three-man department has been working night and day and were near the point of exhaustion. Strikers are out at the Perfect Circle Company's two plants, the International Harvester plant and theCrosley plant.

The American League Pennant Race Turns Into 'Losing' Proposition; Yanks Are First

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The American League pennant race has turned into a "losing" proposition and the faltering Yankees seem quite content to back into the World Series since no one else shows any signs of heading them off.

The Yankees were in first place by a half game today but they got there more or less by default.

Cleveland paved the way by dropping a doubleheader to Washington Sunday while the buckling Bronx Bombers, who have dropped three of their last four games, split a twin bill with the White Sox.

It's a toss-up which club is playing the worst ball, league-leading New York, second-place Chicago or third - place Cleveland. The White Sox, who had a chance to take over first place Sunday, have dropped five of their last eight while the Indians, now one game off the pace, have lost four of their last seven.

At the current pace, the league could come up with its weakest World Series representative since the Tigers won the 1945 pennant with a meager total of 88 victories.

Kennedy Wins Nightcap

Home runs by Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra helped White Ford to his 15th victory as the Yankees won the opener, 6-1. But a three-run homer by Bob Kennedy in the first inning stood up all the way to give the White Sox a 3-2 triumph in the nightcap.

The Senators chased Art Houtteman to win the opener, 8-2, behind a brilliant one-hit relief job by southpaw Chuck Stobbs over the last 6 1-3 innings, and pounded out 15 hits, including four by Eddie Yost, to cop the nightcap, 13-4. Washington broke a 1-all tie and routed Mike Garcia with an eight run burst in the seventh.

Eddie Joost poled two home runs and Grady Hatton and Ted Williams one each as the Red Sox mauled the Athletics, 14-2. Hatton's homer came with the bases loaded in the first inning and big Frank Sullivan coasted to his 16th victory after that.

The scheduled game between the Orioles and Tigers was postponed because of rain.

The Dodgers gained a game and a half, increasing their National League lead to 11½ games, by beating the Cardinals, 6-1, while the second - place Braves bowed twice to the last-place Pirates, 5-3 and 2-0.

Cards Eliminated

Karl Spooner pitched his first complete game of the season for the Dodgers while eliminating the Cards from any mathematical chance of winning the pennant. Spooner struck out nine and gave up six hits, including a homer by Rip Repulski. Gil Hodges and Roy Campanella homered for the Dodgers.

Despite homers by Eddie Mathews and Bobby Thomson, the Pirates rallied for four runs in the eighth inning to overcome a 3-0 Milwaukee lead in the first game of their doubleheader while Vern Law hurled a four-hitter to out - pitch veteran Warren Spahn and rack up his 10th win in the nightcap.

The sizzling Phillies climbed to within 3½ games of second place by licking the Redlegs twice, 7-6 and 8-3, with reliever Bob Miller winning the opener and rookie Ron Negray going all the way in the nightcap.

Bob Rush of the Cubs shut out the Giants for the third time this season, defeating them 3-0 on a six-hitter. Ernie Banks led Chicago's nine-hit offensive with a pair of triples that figured in the last two runs.

Meeting To Consider Open Season On Deer, Pheasant And Rabbits

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—A public hearing will be held at the state Conservation Building here Sept. 1 to consider open hunting seasons on pheasant, deer and rabbits in Indiana.

Conservation Director Harley Hook said the first order of business will be on the advisability of a deer season and a special season for bow and arrow hunters.

"The only method we have of finding out what the people want is to have these public hearings," Hook said. "In this manner we can get the viewpoint of the hunter as well as that of the landowner and the people in general."

Fisheries Expert Issues Warning

By LLOYD NORTHARD
United Press Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UP) — A University of Michigan fisheries expert warned today a growing number of fishermen and a not growing fish supply threatens to make fishing a recreation instead of a bountiful source of food.

"The number of fishermen is growing every year," Prof. Karl Lagler pointed out. "But the number of fish in the lakes and streams is staying pretty much the same."

He said the end result would make fishing strictly a recreation because it is certain to discourage the so-called "meat" fisherman.

Lagler stressed there are two distinct types of fishermen—the ones who go fishing primarily for food and the ones who go fishing primarily for enjoyment."

"The meat fisherman usually uses live bait and heavy tackle," Lagler said. "All things being equal, he generally winds up with the biggest catch. The sportsman uses artificial lures and light tackle. He regards fishing a challenge."

He cited a recent report from Wisconsin conservation officials to show how the number of fishermen is increasing in relation to the fish supply.

The report said Wisconsin had 330,000 fishermen, one for each three acres of water and 300 pounds of fish, in 1900. But by 1950, the state had one million fishermen, one for each acre of water and 100 pounds of fish.

Wisconsin will have approximately two million fishermen by 2000, which will cut the acreage of water and fish poundage per angler to one-half of the 1950 figure.

Lagler said the Wisconsin statistics would probably parallel Michigan closely.

He said as fish become less and less plentiful per fisherman, the number of "meat" fishermen will dwindle accordingly because they won't want to work long hours for a small catch.

But Lagler said the sportsman will keep right on fishing because he takes pride in his effort. Each and every fish he lands is a personal victory.

Joe Louis defended his world's heavyweight boxing championship 25 times.

Philadelphia Eagles Now Appear Ready To Move Back To Top

By JOE SARGIS
United Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Eagles, Eastern Division kingpins of the National Football League until the Cleveland Browns moved over from the defunct All-America Conference, appear ready to make the move back to the top this season.

Philadelphia gained Eastern Division titles in 1947, '48 and '49 and then gave up the leaders role to the incoming Browns, who had pulverized the mediocre talent of the All-America Conference for four seasons. The Browns have won five straight division titles since coming into the NFL, while the Eagles have gained the runner - up spot in three of those years.

The Eagles, who just missed dethroning the Browns last year, have shown versatility, speed and a sturdy defense in winning three exhibitions thus far, while the Browns, with a 1-2 exhibition record including an embarrassing loss to the College All-Stars, have the same old tight defense but an attack that has shown signs of sputtering after nine years of peak performance.

Pihos Stars Again

Reliable Pete Pihos caught two touchdown passes, Bobby Walston kicked two field goals and quarterback Adrian Burk handled himself admirably in leading the Eagles to a 27-20 victory over the Chicago Bears during the weekend, while Cleveland bowed to the San Francisco Forty Niners, 17-14.

The Forty Niners had built up a 17-0 lead on a second period field goal by Gordie Soltau and third period touchdowns by end Billy Wilson and fullback Joe Perry. Maurice Bassett scored Cleveland's first touchdown after an interference penalty had placed the ball on the Forty Niner three. Ray Renfro caught a George Ratterman pass in the end zone in the waning minutes of the game for the Browns' second score.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, whose coach, Walt Kiesling, says "We may surprise the experts who pick us to finish last," gained their first exhibition victory after two losses by defeating the Green Bay Packers, 16-14, on Art Michalik's 14-yard field goal in the final minute of play.

Finks Sets Up Score

The Packers had held a 14-13 edge since the third period, but with time running out, Pittsburgh quarterback Jim Finks fired a 35-yard pass to end Ed Bernet on the Packer 34 to set up the decisive field goal. The loss was Green Bay's second in three starts.

Pat Summerall's 27-yard field goal with 18 seconds left to play earned the Chicago Cardinals a 17-16 triumph over the Detroit ions, the defending Western Division champions. Summerall's field goal came after Detroit fullback Lew Carpenter had fumbled with less than a minute to go. Three field goals by Doak Walker, the third coming in the final period, had given the Lions a 16-14 lead.

In a Sunday night game, the revenge-minded Los Angeles Rams battled their way to a 23-17 victory over the New York Giants in a "sudden death" overtime period.

In 11 minutes of overtime, the Rams traveled 70 yards on the ground and Tank Younger punched two yards off left tackle to break a 17-17 tie and win the hard-fought see-saw ball game.

Nashua Gets Ready For His Race With Swaps

By ED SAINSBURY
United Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UP)—William Woodward Jr.,' Nashua goes to school today to get ready for his $100,000 winner - take - all match race Wednesday with Kentucky Derby winner Swaps.

The big 3-year-old, fresh from an impressive workout Sunday, will be brought onto the turf course at Washington Park after Tuesday's second race.

Veteran trainers and horsemen, mighty reluctant about picking the winner of this one, will line the rail as Nashua is walked around the clubhouse turn to a stand on the grass at the finish line, where both colts will be saddled publicly Wednesday.

Swaps has already received two schooling lessons in preparation for the unusual saddling procedure.

To be on TV

Wednesday's match race — the first big match race since Armed beat Assault for $100,000 in Washington Park in 1947 — will be nationally televised.

Swaps is rated a slight edge on thebasis of his length-and-a-half victory over Nashua in the Kentucky Derby. A survey of eastern horsemen just before Nashua's arrival in Chicago favored the Rex Ellsworth colt to win 13-7.

But Nashua's backers point to the Nasrullah colt's fitness and to the fact that he's fresher now than when he won the one-mile Arlingon Classic in 1: 351-2.

In his workout Sunday, Nashua breezed six furlongs in 1:11 5 and galloped out seven furlongs in :24 2-5, He showed plenty of speed in turning the half-mile in a sizsling :46 15.

"He went all right," said trainer Jim Fitzsimmons, who added, I'm satisfied.

Bishop Picks Swaps

"I really didn't care how fast or how slow he went, just so he went nice and steady — and he did."

Swaps is unbeaten as a 3 year old. Nashua has lost only in the derby this year. Eddie Arcaro will pilot Nashua and Willie Shoemaker will be board Swaps.

The match race will be at equal weights, 126 pounds, over a mile and a quarter course.

Swaps' early workouts in Chicago have drawn praise from a number of onlookers, including William Hal Bishop, one of the winningest trainers in racing.

"I'm so impressed," Bishop added, "that I must pick the colt over Nashua. However, I do look for quite a tussle. This Nashua is at his peak — there's no doubt about it — but I think he's running up against a colt who just might be too good.'

Billy The Kid Trades Corporal's Stripes For Casey's Stripes

FORT CARSON, Colo. (UP)—Billy (The Kid) Martin, the guy who led the New York Yankees to their last world championship in 1953, will trade his Army corporal's stripes for one of Casey Stengel's pin stripes when he begins a 34-day leave this week.

Martin was not scheduled for discharge until Oct. 8, but he can take his 34 days of accrued leave whenever he desires. A reliable source said he probably would apply for the leave today and had already purchased plane tickets for a Tuesday flight to Kansas City where he will join the team.

Martin was not available for comment because he was on a weekend pass, but he wasn't expected to have anything to say when he returned to the post. The spokesman said Martin was told not to comment publicly because the club wanted to remain on good terms with the Army.

However, Martin was expected to submit his leave application to the commanding officer today, and it was to be acted upon immediately.

Gene Littler Wins Labatt Open In Sudden-Death Playoff

By DICK BACON
United Press Sports Writer

MONTREAL (UP) —Gene (One Putt) Littler was the No. 1 tournament winner today following his fourth major victory Sunday in the $26,800 Labat Open Golf Tournament in a sudden-death playoff at Summerlea.

The crew-cut youngster from Palm Springs, Calif., faltered briefly on the final nine when he bogeyed two holes and veteran Canadian Stan Leonard, $3, Vancouver, B. C., caught him to force a playoff.

The victory meant a $5,000 payoff in Canada's richest golf attraction and vaulted Littler into third place ahead of Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N. Y., among the leading money winners on golf's "gold trail."

Wind Up Even

Littler and Leonard wound up all even at 272, eight strokes under par, after 72 holes. The youngster and the veteran treated the crowd of 13,000 to one of the most stirring duels ever witnessed on Canadian links.

Littler was only one stroke back of third round leader Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., at 204 as the field of 60 teed off for the final 18 holes. But Leonard was four strokes off the pace at 207.

Leonard toured the first nine in a four-under 32 while Littler went out in 33. But Littler moved three strokes ahead on the 12th when he holed a 40-foot chip shot to go three strokes up.

Litler was both lucky and unlucky on the 17th, regarded as the toughest hole on the 6,515- yard course. He got a big break when he hooked his tee shot into a tree and it bounded back onto the fairway. But his second shot caught a trap and he scored a bogey-five as Leonard pulled even with a par-four.

Force Playoff

Both parred the next hole to force the playoff.

Leonard was 10 yards longer off the tee, but hooked his second shot into the crowd out of bounds, hitting a spectator and bounding into the rough. Littler was just short of the par-five 530-yard hole in two. Leonard dubbed his first wedge shot, was short with his next and missed a 10-foot putt. Littler chipped on and was inches away with a "purposely" short putt.

Leonard, a stroke behind Littler, picked up and congratulated the new champion.

Ford wound up in a three-way tie for third place with Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Ed (Porky) Oliver, Lemont, Ill. Each had 275's.

Hay, the cheapest feed crop for livestock, is cut every year on more than half of the farms in the United States.

Sports Briefs

NEW YORK (UP) — John H. Burnett of Hackensack, N.J., producer of the Mutual Broadcasting System's regularly scheduled and special sports features, has been named sports director for the network. Burnett will begin his new duties today.

BERLIN, Germany (UP)—Richard (Pancho) Gonzales of Los Angeles won the first set against Pancho Segura of Ecuador, 6-2, Sunday just before a thunderstorm and heavy downpour forced postponement of the International Tennis Tournament for professionals. Ken McGregor of Australia held a 7-5, 6-3 lead over veteran Fred Perry of England when the rains came.

CAMDEN, N. J. UP - Florida - bred Needles, perhaps the top 2-year-old in training in the nation, will be pointed for the worlds richest race, the Garden State, here this fall. Needles defeated the highly regarded pair of Polly's Jet and Decathlon for the second time Saturday in the Hopeful Stakes at Saratoga.

Nixon Says Russian Leaders Must Remove Roadblocks To Peace

BOSTON (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today that the leaders of Russia must remove "five roadblocks" from the path of peace to prove they "honestly want to reduce tensions.'

If they do this, he predicted the "beginning of the end of the cold war will be in sight.'

But if they do not, he said the smiles the Russians displayed at Geneva "will stand exposed as a sham and a delusion."

Nixon spoke bluntly in a major policy address prepared for the 56th national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. It was another move in the administration's campaign to eliminate the idea that Big Four talks at Geneva somehow ended the cold war.

The vice president said Russia has to do at least five things to convert its Geneva words into "cold facts and hard deeds." He said it must free Eastern Germany, agree to disarmament, lower the Iron Curtain, free the European satellites, and end its world-wide campaign of subversion and espionage.

He warned that the United States —even in its desire to balance the budget and cut taxes—will never reduce its defense until these things have been eliminated as a 'source of "strife and war" and there is a just peace.

Nixon also declared the United States has no present intention of recognizing Communist China supporting its admission to the United Nations, or even agreeing to any negotiations on the foreign ministers level.

If the Chinese Communists want these things, he said, they can start by releasing the 41 Americans kept behind the Bamboo Curtain, evacuate North Korea and permit free all Korean elections, renounce the use of force in the Formosa area, and stop helping Communist rebels undermine free governments in Asia.

Until Russia and Red China prove their peaceful intentions, Nixon said "we must maintain our military strength and assist our allies to maintain theirs."

Buck Willis, 45, Alexandria, was killed near his home Saturday when he was struck by a truck which was backing out of a driveway along a county road.

Four of the traffic victims were from out-of-state.

Charles F. Williamson 50, Alton, Ill., was killed when his car was struck from behind by another on U.S. 40 west of Brazil. A hitchhiking airman, Leonard King, 31, died later.

The driver of the second car, Gene D. Scarpellini, 19, Terre Haute, was released under $3,000 bond on a charge of reckless homicide. Police said Scarpellini admitted he was traveling about 105 miles per hour.

Aldrietta Barefield, 22, Cincinnati, was killed when she apparently fell asleep and her car swerved off U.S. 50 west of Bedford and overturned.

Thad G. Briley, 33, Louisville, was killed when his car left Ind. 150 at a curve east of Paoli and struck a tree.

Moore Proposes Winner Take All

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (UP) — Archie Moore, who meets champion Rocky Marciano for the heavyweight title on Sept. 20, has proposed that they tear up their present contract and fight on a winner-take-all basis. "Rocky is favored at 3-1." Moore said. "If that's the case, Rocky certainly can't object to fighting winner-take-all. I'd sign a new contract for that tomorrow."

ONE-WAY TICKET

CORVALLIS, Ore. —(UP) —You can still get a ticket at the old Corvallis railroad station, but it won't get you any farther than the hoosegow. The police department is housed in what used to be the railroad station.

Auto Dealers Offer 'Deals' Before New Models Hit Market

By LEE LINDBERG
United Press Staff Correspondent

DETROIT (UP) — This is the time of year when some automobile dealers offer everything including the kitchen sink to move out their cars before new models hit the market.

The more ardent dealers who go to extremes are accused of staging "fire sales" and engaging in "crazy credit" advertising. They're the fellows who offer deals ranging from "no down payment" to free shares of uranium stock.

The super - salesmanship isn't limited to the Detroit area, where new cars roll off the assembly line by the thousands every day.

A New Rochelle, N.Y., dealer ran an advertisement saying, "Come in today with a dime and drive your new car home."

At Omaha, a dealer put his cars on the block at "$50 over our cost."

A Kansas City dealer offered 40 new cars at cost-plus with immediate delivery. Another Kansas City dealer ran a "lucky buck" sale. Any buyer with a $1 bill bearing certain serial numbers got $100 off on his new car during the sale's three-day run.

But it took a Detroit dealer to come up with the uranium stock plan. He offered 100 shares of stock with each new car.

Carrying the gimmick a step further, the Detroiter offered to give a prospecting outfit to any buyer who didn't want the stock. The outfit included a Geiger counter, maps and books on where to look for uranium, a sleeping bag and a cooking unit.

Although not opposed to enthusiastic salesmanship, the National Automobile Dealers Assn. has gone on record as taking a dim view of such practices. NADA officials also agree that longer term installments and too-small down payments will mean nothing but trouble for dealers in the long run.

U. S. Business Firms Feature 250,000 Veeps

NEW YORK (UP)—U.S. business and industrial firms today feature a total of more than 250,000 vice presidents, most of whom have been "knighted" just to flatter the customers, Fortune magazine reported.

Some of the "veeps" are being groomed as future company presidents, the magazine said, but most of the positions are merely honorary.

The study of vice presidents was made by Perrin Stryker, a member of Fortune's board of editors and author of a recent business book entitled, "A Guide to Modern Management Methods."

Stryker said the country's 500 largest industrial mr ifav hsean largest industrial firms have an average of about 7.75 vice presidents each, ranging from 146 in the Bank of America to none in the Hershey Chocolate Co.

Weekly Livestock

CHICAGO (UP) — Weekly livestock:

Hogs barrows and gilts 50-75 lower; sows steady; No. 1 and 2 grades lightweight butchers declined most, despite the largest order buyer demand for such hogs in six weeks; week's top at 17.60 was paid Monday for a 36-head lot of No. 1 lightweights; deck of No. 1 206 lb weights brought the highest price Friday at 17.00; at the close, most mixed 1 to 3 190-280 lb barrows and gilts brought 16.25-16.75; sows 400 lbs and lighter closed at 14.00-15.50, with a few choice 270-300 lb weights to 15.75.

Cattle receipts more than 5 per cent larger than last week, second largest since early June; fed steers and yearlings closed unevenly steady to 50 lower, mainly on choice and prime steers over 1,200 lbs; heifers sold mainly steady, some 25 lower in slow late trade; vealers steady to as much as 1.00 higher; few loads of average to high prime 1,141-1.217 lb steers 24.75-25.25; most prime under 1,300 lbs 24.00-24.50; bulk choice and mixed choice and prime 22.25-23.75; several loads mostly prime heifers 23.50-24.50; mixed high choice and prime 22.75-23.25; few choice and prime vealers 24.00-25.00; bulk good and choice 19.00-23.00.

Sheep spring lambs declined 50-75; shorn yearlings cleared at mostly steady rates; receipts for the week mainly native spring lambs; good to prime spring lambs sold early in a spread of 18.50-22.00, but 21.75 was the top with the week's close; good and choice shorn yearlings with No. 1 and fall shorn pelts 98-111 lbs realized 16.00-17.00 early. Wholesale dressed lamb prices in Chicago and New York under continued downward pressure, with declines of 1.00-3.00 quoted.

Grain Futures

CHICAGO (UP) — Grain futures closed the week on a lower tone after a number of irregular sessions.

Prices staged rallies during the first part of the week on reports of dry weather in the growing belt. However, the gains were lost later when traders received forecasts of showers and thunderstorms for parts of the grain belt this week end.

Profit taking, hedging and evening up also were influenced by trade expectations of heavy week end arrivals at terminals.

Compared to Friday a week ago wheat ruied ⅜ cents a bushel higher to 3? lower; corn ¼higher lower; rye ¼ higher to ¼ lower; soybeans ¾ higher to 1½ lower; and lard 23 points higher to 10 points per hundred pounds lower.

Prices fell off Friday in the face of the weather predictions and large cash arrivals. Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth, Minn., Friday totaled 963 cars, compared with 737 a week earlier and 735 one year ago.

It was felt the increase in arrivals indicated an improvement in the boxcar supply, always a problem at this time of the year.

Corn and soybeans led the markets higher on a couple of days amidst reports of some crop damage due to dry weather.

Soybeans declined on Thursday, however, after the Commodity Credit Corporation announced it had sold around one million bushels of beans to exporters during the session.

Foundling Rabbit Found Sunday

PERTH AMBOY, N. J. (UP) — Allen Cheuse reported to police Sunday that someone left a foundling on his doorstep.

The "foundling" was a big jack rabbit, enclosed in a sturdy cage. Police said they had no idea why the owner didn't just turn the rabbit loose.

Little Girl On TV Program As Twist Of Fate

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—The channel swim:

Gloria Lockerman, the 12-year-old spelling champ, landed on "The $64,000 Question" as the result of an offbeat twist of fate. She was auditioning for "The Quiz Kids," which the producers of "The $64,000 Question" plan to put on TV, and so impressed officials that they switched her to the big money show.

Arthur Godfrey is scheduled to return to New York from his vacation on Sept. 12—only two days before his "Friends" show goes on. However, there will be no trouble about rehearsals. It's Godfrey's normal policy to rehearse only on Tuesday afternoons and on Wednesday, the day of the show. His Monday night "Talent Scouts" will be no problem either — Godfrey usually goes on that show cold anyway.

Lucy Entertains Britain

The new British commercial TV network will introduce Britons to "I Love Lucy" and Liberace this fall. Plans also are afoot to star Bob Hope in a special show from London's Palladium. CBS-TV officials are considering a new format for the "Morning" show — it's losing money. Dave Garroway is spending his spare nights at home writing a TV play.

"Omnibus" got such favorable response from its "boyhood' treatment of lawyer Joseph Welch last season that it's now reported to be planning similar segments built around Irving Berlin and James Thurber. Jackie Gleason will journey out to Hollywood for a film in April. He'll have 39 "Honeymooners" shows in the can by then.

Warner Bros. is planning to send Liberace on a cross-country tour late this December when the painist's film, "Sincerely Yours," is released. Al Morgan's "The Great Man," a novel that centers around one of the airwaves biggest personalities, went through three printings its first week. Morgan, who used to work at CBS, is currently the senior editor for NBC-TV's "Home" show.

"Monitor" To Expand

No comment dep't: Dagmar has a 30-inch TV screen.

NBC is expected to announce any day now that its weekend radio show, "monitor," will expand to a Monday through Friday slot a couple of hours each day. Hal March, emcee of "The $64,000 Question," is dating Barbara Nichols, TV's answer to Marilyn Monroe.

And our favorite Grouchism of the week:

A former sailor, appearing on "You Bet Your Life," said to Groucho Marx: "My Navy souvenirs include 13 tattoos."

Replied Groucho: "Boy, when you have an itch, you must be almost as entertaining as 'Kukla, Fran and Ollie.' "

, Appearing in the quartette were Mrs. Frederick Myers, and Mrs. Lowell Yohe, South Whitley, Mrs. Paul Urshel, Bippus, and Mrs. James Pitts, North Manchester.

The young ladies wore yellow print skirts, and white blouses with ribbon ties at the neck.

The afternoon program opened with prayer by Mrs. Guy Gross, Churubusco, district pet and hobby club leader. Whitley County Farm Bureau officers and township heads and local social and educational leaders were seated on the stage and were introduced by Mr. Gregory and Mrs. Talmadge Leedy, county S & E chairman.

Reports 4-H Growth

Robert Pontzius, 4-H chairman reported that $244 from the chicken barbecue had been turned over to the 4-H committee. "During the past year the walls and floors of the community building have been painted; the size of the parking lot has been more than doubled; new signs have been placed over the 4-H community center and at the intersections; the kitchen committee have been working for more than a year and the contracts for making the kitchen cupboards has been let," he reported.

Mr. Pontzius said the 4-H properties were still $12,000 dollars in debt. He thanked the boys and girls for bringing in their exhibits, and the parents and leaders for their co-operation; also the fair committees, as safety, programs; concessions; the REMC for running extra wiring, the business men for their industrial displays, the community for support of the auctions, the newspapers in the county for running the advance notices and the reports of the fair and the weatherman for the good fair weather.

October 15 has been set as the date for closing the list of names, on the bronze plaque for gifts of $100 or more to the Community Center.

4-H Parade

Ralph Heine, superintendent of the 4-H parade, Saturday, awarded the Squires' cup and a purple ribbon to the Thorncreek 4-H Stars for being the best marching and appearing group in the parade.

The Thorncreek girls wore white beanies and blouses and skirts with small green dots and wide bands of green around the hem.

Green skirts and white blouses seemed to be the most popular. Some groups wore beanies, some had balloons or green and white streamers fastened to yardsticks.

The Pet and Hobby clubs had fancy hats, doll, rabbits, dogs, pigeons, cats, goats, teddy bears, zinnias and other things in the parade

Champion and ribbon winner dairy cattle were included in the parade.

The South Whitley high school band in their blue and white uniforms, the Coesse band in black uniforms with red and gold trim and the Larwill band in blue uniforms added to the color of the parade.

Mr. Heine gave blue ribbons to Washington and Columbia township who tied for second place; red to Union, Cleveland, Jefferson and Etna-Troy; and white to Smith and Richland townships and Columbia City.

BUSINESS IS RELYING ON NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING TO KEEP SALES CLIMBING

In 1955's first half, newspaper advertising has made its biggest contribution on record to the continued growth of American business.

In the first six months, business invested more dollars in newspaper advertising than in any half-year in history.

Manufacturers' advertising set a new record.

So did retailers' advertising – including department stores, chain stores and all the rest.

So did classified advertising – mainstay of real estate, used cars and many another business.

Manufacturers and retailers alike are profiting from the salespower of newspapers – the salespower that stems from the fact that newspapers are the shopping medium – where consumers look eagerly for advertising – and from the fact that nowhere else can manufacturers' ads and retailers' ads work together so effectively to increase the productivity of both.

IF YOU ARE:
- a manufacturer
- a retailer
- a distributor
- a merchandise broker
- a manufacturer's salesman

...ASK YOURSELF: Is newspaper advertising being called on to do all it can to keep my sales going up?

HERE'S THE RECORD*

1955 VS. 1954

	June	1st Six Months
National advertisers	Up 15.9%	Up 9.5%
Retail advertisers	Up 8.9%	Up 6.8%
Classified advertisers	Up 17.8%	Up 14.4%
All advertisers combined	Up 12.5%	Up 9.2%

In each category—

Biggest June on record

Biggest six months on record

*SOURCE: Media Records 52-City Index. Available data from 291 smaller newspapers reporting to the Bureau of Advertising, ANPA, indicate substantial gains in these newspapers, too—e.g. national advertising in these 291 smaller newspapers was up 13.8% for June; up 4.8% for the first half—vs. 1954.

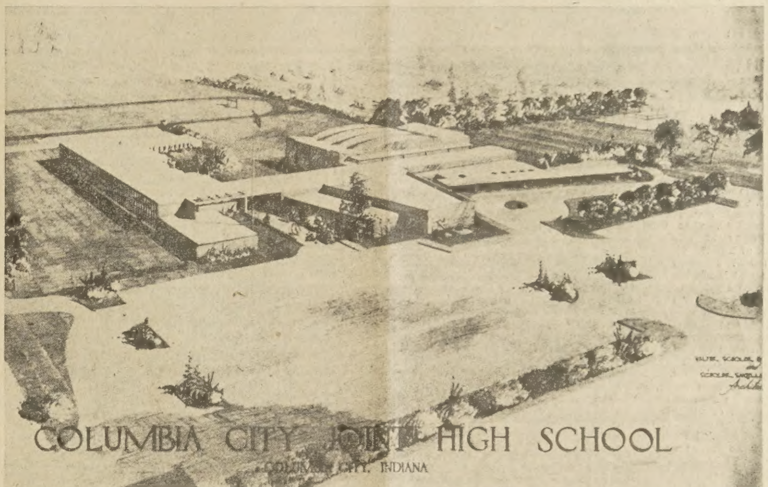
Plans For $1,750,000.00 Joint High School Approved Monday



COLUMBIA CITY JOINT HIGH SCHOOL
COLUMBIA CITY, INDIANA

PROPOSED COLUMBIA CITY JOINT HIGH SCHOOL - This is a sketch of the proposed new building looking at it from the corner of North and Whitley streets. The building will face along Whitley street, and as you view the sketch, you are looking southeast. Along the north side of the building are the classrooms, and on the west end of that wing is the one-story library. Other projections on the west side of the building are the auditorium and the smaller structure on the north side of it, the music rooms. The large arched roof structure on the right rear is the gym.

Cost Estimate Is Based Upon Past Experiences

Construction Won't Start For 5 Months

Following a public meeting in the Columbia City high school auditorium Monday evening, the members of the Columbia City Joint high school board, members of the holding company, and members of the advisory boards for each school corporation voted to have the school's architects to proceed with the plans for the new joint high school. The blueprints will not be ready for use in construction for at least five months.

Architect Emerson Scholer was present at the public meeting and, with the use of slides showing the outside appearance of the buildings and floor plans, described the proposed building. Only slightly over 100 persons attended the meeting to ask questions regarding building materials, size of various portions of the school plant, and the big question was price.

Cost

When the question of price was being discussed, M.r Scholer explained there would be 108,000 square feet of floor space. He went further and estimated the cost at $14.00 per square foot, saying that cost estimate was based on their previous experience and "a little crystal ball gazing." That price would be $1,512,000, and the building would be ready to move into but would not include the cost of any equipment. It would include a 270-car parking lot.

One of the school patrons present asked that the price be explained more specifically - that is, what would everything cost. Figuring the cost of the building at the architect's estimate, the architect

Stassen Takes Job To Persuade Soviets To Approve Exchange Plan

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — American disarmament expert Harold E. Stassen today took over the job of persuading the Soviets to approve President Eisenhower's military inspection plan.

The five-nation U.N. disarmament subcommittee was to open the second session of its current talks this afternoon.

Thus far, there was no indication of Soviet reaction to Mr. Eisenhower's plan for an exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspection of each other's territory by the United States and Russia.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told a closed session of the disarmament subcommittee Monday that the United States was "prepared to put the plan immediately into effect as between ourselves and the Soviet Union."

Kremlin Position Reiterated

Russia's Arkady A. Sobolev, reiterating the Kremlin's professed desire to "strengthen peace and lessen international tension," urged the latest Soviet disarmament proposals on the subcommittee and said:

"The next step is now up to the Western powers."

Lodge moved into the background of the crucial conference after delivering a statement of the American position at the two and one-half hour opening session and let Stassen, Mr. Eisenhower's personal assistant on disarmament, take the lead.

Stassen and Sobolev met privately for the second time in three days at lunch Monday. It was not known what they discussed.

Lodge put before the subcommittee, composed of the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Russia, details of the Eisenhower plan, which was first broached at the Big Four Summit Conference in Geneva.

Eisenhower Plan Explained

Under the aerial reconnaissance plan, he said, both the United States and Russia would be permitted to send their own planes over each other's territory in "unrestricted" flights.

Each country would use its own planes and photographic equipment, and personnel of the country being inspected would be aboard every flight. Each country would provide one or more airfields as bases of operations for inspection by the other country's planes.

The Soviet plan, outlined again by Sobolev, calls for stationing international inspectors at railroads, road junctions, sea and airports as a precaution against preparations for a surprise attack. Aside from that, it includes the long-standing Soviet demand for immediate prohibition of nuclear weapons and reduction of all armed forces.

When approaching the Main and Van Buren street intersection, he slowed his car to permit pedestrians to cross the street when he could have easily made it through the intersection before the light changed red. Another courteous act by Mr. Secrist was his waiting for pedestrians to clear the sidewalk leading onto the gas station driveway.

At all times, the driver kept within the speed limit.

The judge selecting Mr. Secrist was Lee Gross, city police chief.

In an intensified drive to curtail Labor Day traffic deaths, the Columbia City Police and Whitley County sheriff's departments will co-operate with the Indiana Traffic Safety program in the distribution of safe driving reminders to Hoosier motorists, Lee Gross, chief of police, anounced today.

U. S. Appeals To Egypt And Israel To Stop Fighting

Dulles Gives Views On International Affairs

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles disclosed today that the United States has appealed to Egypt and Israel to stop fighting in the Gaza frontier area.

He told a news conference that the appeal against using force to settle the border dispute was made in capitals of both countries within the last 48 hours.

Dulles also said, in response to questions, that there are indications, with some signs of reliability, that Russia is offering to provide military equipment to Arab countries.

But he stressed that the United States has no official information to support these reports and that there is no evidence that Russian equipment is now in Arab hands.

Dulles said bluntly that any Soviet move to introduce military equipment in the troubled area certainly would not contribute to the relaxing of tensions pledged by Moscow at the recent Geneva summit conference.

Dulles said the efforts of American diplomacy at present are being directed toward stopping the fighting between Egypt and Israel in the Gaza area. There have been bloody clashes on the disputed frontier strip for the last six days.

To underline his statement that the immediate U.S. interest is to stop the fighting the secretary flatly refused to elaborate on his offer of U.S. guarantees to Israel and its Arab neighbors against aggression by either side once agreement on a permanent border.

From Big Business To The Individual

By CLAIR M. HEKHUIS

Violent Thunder Cracks Through Torrid Heat Wave

Windstorms In Indiana, Flooding Rains In Chicago

By UNITED PRESS

Violent thunderstorms cracked through a heat wave and brought cool weather to the nation's midsection today.

The cold fronts stirred up a tornado in Oklahoma, destructive windstorms in Illinois and Indiana, and flooding rains in Chicago.

The U.S. Weather Bureau early today quoted an unofficial report that winds were blowing trees nearly parallel to the ground 15 miles northwest of Willow Run Airport near Detroit, Mich.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles feared its fourth smog alert in five days and hurricane Edith veered away from the Atlantic seaboard into the North Atlantic shipping lanes.

The cool wave dropped temperatures more than 20 degrees as it swept through the northern and central Plains States into the middle and upper Mississippi Valleys.

At Jacksonville, Ill., at least four persons were injured by a violent windstorm, which levelled one home and damaged others.

High winds lashed Terre Haute and South Bend, Ind., was battered by heavy hail. At Chicago, a 2.11 inch downpour dropped the temperature from 93 into the 70's.

No Tornado, But Rains Drench Northern Indiana

Ushering In Cooler Weather

By UNITED PRESS

A tornado threat in western Indiana failed to materialize, but heavy rains drenched northern areas and ushered in cooler weather that may last through the next five days.

The rainfall, which splashed up to nearly 2.25 inches at South Bend, made up for a period of many days without appreciable precipitation. The Weather Bureau reported 1.06 inches at Monticello, .83 at Warsaw, .75 at Rochester, .43 at Lafayette and .04 at Fort Wayne and Indianapolis.

South Bend was battered by hail.

The weatherman said the greatest storm turbulence extended 50 miles either side of a line from about Vandalia, Ill., to Lafayette, Ind., the area in which a possible tornado was expected late Monday. High winds battered the area, particularly Terre Haute.

The stormy weather killed a week-long wave of 90-degree temperatures and escored in five days ofnear normal temperatures.

The five-day outlook said normal maximums are 81 north to 86 south. Normal minimums are 58 north to 63 south. The weatherman said temperatures will hover around these marks for the period.

He said Thursday and Friday will be cool, and there will be a gradual warming beginning about Saturday.

Precipitation will average .25 inch or less occurring as very widely scattered showers about Friday.

Meanwhile, today's forecast called for comfortable highs ranging from 78 north to 83 south. A two-degree warm-up was slated for Wednesday. Low tonight will range from 58 to 62.

Before the cool air mass moved into Indiana, highs ranged up to 96 at Evansville. Fort Wayne and Lafayette were coolest with 60 highs. The mercury dropped to a low of 64 at South Bend and ranged up to 67 at Evansville overnight.

Japanese Prime Minister Calls For Vigilance Against The 'Communist Peace Offensive'

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Japanese Prime Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu called today for vigilance against "Communist peace offensives which aim at creating difficulties and dissensions among the free nations.'

Shigemitsu noted a recent "hopeful trend" in the international climate, but said this has come about largely as a result of the free world's "peace-through-strength" policy.

"Logic demands that we continue to pursue the same policy in order to 'reap the harvest of perpetual peace,' " he said. "We must beware of the Communist peace offensives which aim at creating difficulties and dissensions among the free nations.'

The 68-year-old Japanese diplomat said those offensives are now most noticeable in Asia "where the situation is still fluid and uncertain."

Shigemitsu, who signed Japan's surrender 10 years ago aboard the U.S.S. Missouri, gave his warning in an address prepared for the National Press Club. Earlier he had called on high Defense Department officials to present his ideas about increasing Japan's military forces and decreasing the number of American troops there.

Asks For Changes

"I think the time has now come when our two countries should review our defense relationship and put it on a solid partnership basis that will permit us increasingly to bear an equitable share of the burden of responsibility for keeping the peace in the area of our common interest," he said.

Shigemitsu said changes cannot be made "overnight." But he said he thought an arrangement could be found which "will prove adequate and, at the same time, elim-

More than half of the exports were engineering and electrical goods, the chamber said.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Strikes and other work stoppages last month idled 900,000 workers and 3,200,000 man-days, the Labor Department reported.

The number of workers affected was higher than any other postwar July because it included approximately 500,000 steel workers who quit work a few days. However, the total man-days of idleness was about average.

There were 425 new work stoppages in July, involving 750,000 workers. Another 225 stoppages from earlier months were still in effect in July.

The total of 650 strikes in effect during July compares with 700 in June and 580 in July, 1954.

Northwest Synod Begins Its Second Heresy Trial Today

MILWAUKEE (UP)—The Northwest Synod of the United Lutheran Church today began its second heresy trial among a group of young ministers accused of not believing all of the Bible.

The Rev. John Greberding, pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran Church in nearby Menomonee Falls, went before seven high denominational officials to answer for his doctrinal beliefs.

It was the second heresy trial in the Northwest Synod's 60-year-old history. Gerberding's close friend, the Rev. George P. Crist Jr., Durham, was found guilty on nine counts of heresy last month. Another friend, the Rev. Victor J. Wrigley, Brookfield, had been called before an investigating committee on similar charges.

The three young ministers are all in their early 30s and attended divinity school together at Minneapolis.

They have taken the stand that a literal belief in traditional church dogma is not vital to the Christian or Lutheran faith.

Specifically, they admit failure to believe in the doctrines of the virgin birth of Jesus and of his resurrection.

Crist also was found guilty of charges that he does not accept literally many of the miracles attributed to Christ in the Bible and that he denies the oral reception of the actual body of Christ in the Lord's supper.

Gerberding sat at Crist's side during his two-day trial last month. His own trial was expected to follow the pattern set at the previous hearing.

Dr. Paul E. Bishop of Minneapolis, head of the Northwest Synod, presided at the trials of both Crist an dGerberding. Gerberding's trial was closed to the public, as was Crist's, and a ruling was expected within a few days.

FDR Suggested White As Delegate To Conference

CONCORD, N.H. (UP)—The late President Roosevelt suggested Harry Dexter White as a delegate to the 1945 San Francisco conference setting up the United Nations, according to a memorandum turned over today to a Senate investigating committee.

State Atty. Gen. Louis C. Wyman, in handing over the document to the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, said Mr. Roosevelt sent the memo to Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr., to whom White was an assistant.

White, who died in 1948, allegedly was a member of a Communist spy ring which operated in Washington. He was assistant treasury secretary during World War II and was named U.S. executive director of the International Monetary Fund by President Truman in 1946.

God In History

Lesson for August 28, 1955

WHAT is it that makes the world move? — the world of men, of events, the wide world of history? What is the most powerful factor in history? Some say geography, some say climate (which is still geography), some say great men, some say ideas, some say the progress of inventions. The religious answer is strikingly different from all these: it is GOD.

Dr. Foreman

The reason why historians seldom mention God (even when they believe in him) is that they limit themselves to what can be seen and heard. True, sometimes historians are concerned with thoughts, as for instance, what were Stalin and Roosevelt and Churchill thinking of at Yalta? But thoughts are facts that scientists all admit; while God is not the kind of fact with which science can deal. So "historical science" as it is called confines itself deliberately to the kind of fact that science describes. Now God—let it be repeated—is not in that class of things at all. He is not a thing, he is not in a class. He works in history, but not in the way a man works, still less like a force such as that of wind or rainfall or volcanic eruptions. God can be seen, but only with "eyes of faith." He can be known, but by no means as simply as your cat be known. God works in history, not separately from events and men, but in men and forces. As Paul says, God is over all, through all and in all.

King's Intention

According to the Bible, God can work in and by mean of the acts of men who do not know him at all. There is a mystery here which no writer in the Bible undertakes to explain, a mystery which perhaps no human mind is capable of understanding. But the fact is believed by men of faith. Take for instance the famous king Cyrus, known to history outside the Bible as well as inside it. He was one of the great conquerors and administrators of all time. At a peak of his career he made himself master of what had been the Babylonian Empire. He knew that many a temple had been plundered and destroyed by the Babylonian kings, and he knew that the many displaced persons from all the conquered cities where those temples had been, would be grateful for the restoration of those temples. So King Cyrus, in order to make himself "solid" and popular with this mass of subject peoples, adopted the policy of returning the "gods" of those peoples and authorizing the restoration of their temple worship. It used to be thought that Cyrus was a worshipper of the Jews' God, but archaeologists have discovered the original edict or announcement of Cyrus, explaining what he was doing, and asking that all these gods whose worship he was restoring, would pray to Marduk, whom Cyrus regarded as the king over all the gods, on Cyrus' behalf. Isaiah says plainly that Cyrus did not know the true God,—but God knew him, and wrought out his purposes through him, ignorant of God though he was.

People's Devotion

The Bible shows also that God works through the devotion and service of men who do know him. We may doubt whether the proclamation of a Cyrus would have done any good if there had not been men who were eager and ready for just such a chance to return to Jerusalem and restore the worship of the true God. We have had in American history one of the many other illustrations of this same point in the freeing of the slaves. The emancipation proclamation of 1863 was not made altogether from charitable motives. There was a strong political-military purpose in it; the immediate object of the proclamation was not to free the slaves everywhere, but to win the war and restore the union. Later, when slavery was abolished by the Constitution, the freeing of the slaves would have done more harm than good if it had not been for the devotion of men and women of both races who made it their lifework to educate and uplift those who were like sheep without a shepherd. God does work in history; but he needs the service of those who understand his ways and work with him.

Israeli Officials Accuse Egyptians Of Killing Four

In Pre-Dawn Attack Today

TEL AVIV, Israel (UP) — The Israel govrenment accused Egyptian Armed Forces of killing four laborers in a pre-dawn attack today and said the Egyptians had resumed round-the-clock shelling of Israeli border posts.

(The announcement brought to six the number of deaths reported today in the sixth day of border clashes. An Egyptian military spokesman said an Egyptian soldier was killed in a border clash today and Israel announced the death today of a soldier wounded in a Sunday ambush.)

(In Cairo, in the first Egyptian comment on Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' proposals for bringing peace to the border region, a member of the ruling military junta, Col. Anar El Sadat, dismissed them as "unworthy of consideration.")

Sadat, minister of state, wrote in the semi-official government weekly organ Al Tahrir that the proposals were designed only to serve the interest of Israel and to sacrifice the Arab refugees.

He said Egypt would not budge from its official position favoring the united nations resolution calling for the partition of Palestine and that Egypt was capable of crushing any Israeli aggression.

Maj. Dan Gov, the Israeli military spokesman, said the four Israeli laborers were killed while working in a citrus grove in Bet Oved near the Gaza border.

He said the slayings followed a midnight attack by automatic weapons on a car traveling near Kfar Bilu in the citrus belt.

Gov said Egyptian forces fired from the border posts along the Gaza strip from morning until nightfall Monday and that Israel forces returned the fire.

The Egyptians resumed their fire with automatic weapon and mortar from the Gaza strip today, he said.

Still A Long Way To Go To Avert Strike Deadline

DETROIT (UP)—Emil Mazey, secretary - treasurer of the CIO United Auto Workers, said today "we still have a long way to go" in talks with Chrysler Corp. aimed at averting a strike deadline less than 48 hours away.

Special streamlined negotiating committees adjourned their talks Monday night without reporting any new progress and scheduled a meeting of the full committees of both the union and the company at 11 a.m. today.

Only a handful of the negotiators were on hand for the after hours session Monday night, working on the theory that less bulk might speed the progress of the talks.

The stripped down union committee included Nat Weinberg, the UAW's expert on the guaranteed wage and other economic issues.
Both sides refuscom menton

Both sides refused comment on the reason for the special meeting but it was believed the top brass was called in because the negotiators were ready to tackle the issue of what to do about a union demand that unionized office workers be included in a guaranteed wage plan the company has offered to plant workers.

Chet Fowler Free On $50,000 Bond

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Chet A. Fowler, 60, Indianapolis ex-convict accused in a "murder for hire" plot to assassintate Prosecutor John G. Tinder, was free on $50,000 cash bond today.

Fowler, charged with conspiracy to commit murder, was released late Monday when William T. Allison, 44, a real estate dealer, dumped the money from a canvas bag onto the desk of a deputy sheriff.

Meanwhile, Tinder gave police a confidential report on the suspected "brains" of the plot so that "if anything happens to me they'll know where to start.'

Tinder said he now believees the conspiracy was dictated by "a psychopathic individual who has a personal grudge-hate for me...but I cant prove it yet."

Fowler was implicated in the plot by Richard G. Marks, 24, admitted "contact" man in the bungled slaying attempt.

Homicide Capt. Robert E. Reilly said a lie detector test given Marks Monday indicated he was telling the truth in his confession. Marks said he was to have received $4,000 for the assassination and Fowler was to have picked up $1,000 for arraging the job.

Marks was arrested last Thursday, nine hours before the scheduled murder, when he unknowingly hired a plainclothes policeman as the triggerma nfor $2,000.

American Jets Sideswipe Each Other In Japan

Both Pilots Escape Serious Injury

TOKYO (UP) — Two U.S. F86 Sabrejets collided in flight yesterday but both pilots escaped serious injury even though one plane was completely wrecked in a crash landing, the Air Force reported today.

The jets sideswiped each other about 25 miles east of Niigata, Japan.

1st Lt. Benjamin M. Boykin, Leming, N.M., crash-landed on a beach north of the city. The Air Force said Boykin escaped with only slight head injuries even though his F86 was wrecked "beyond repair." Five unoccupied Japanese fishing boats were damaged in the landing.

1st Lt. Donald J. Horn, Grand Rapids, Minn., pilot of the other F86 involved landed his jet at Niigata with a damaged wing tip. He was uninjured.

Both pilots are attached to the 41st Fighter Squadron of the 35th Fighter-Interceptor Wing based at Yokota air base.

Pilotless Runaway Plane Terrorizes Resort Residents

SYDNEY, Australia (UP) — A pilotless runaway plane terrorized the heavily populated seaside resorts north of Sydney for two hours and 45 minutes today before an Australian navy pilot shot it down 6½ miles at sea.

The runaway, a single engine four passenger Auster similar to U.S. Air Force spotter planes, took off from Bankstown Airport 20 miles south of Sydney when its pilot stepped out to start the engine by swinging the propeller.

The Auster shot across the runway, narrowly missing the pilot, buzzed the control tower at 14 or 15 feet, circled Sydney while it gained altitude and then headed for the beaches 14 miles to the north pursued by Royal Australian Air Force and navy planes.

Aviation veterans were at a loss to explain how the light plane with no pilot and no automatic pilot could stay aloft so long and said they could not recall it ever happening elsewhere.

The planes flight was so erratic that it outmaneuvered fast jet fighters while a flier carrying a hand operated machinegun in a slow light plane was unable to draw a bead. It was finally shot down by the combined efforts of two fast naval propeller-driven Seafury fighters which pursued it for nearly an hour.

Ward Pleads Not Guilty, Released On $3,000 Bond

Henry Ward, 54, of 106½ West Van Buren street, was released from Whitley County Jail Monday on $3,000 recognizance bond after he entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of two counts of intoxication.

Ward was charged with public intoxication and driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating beverage in an affidavit filed in circuit court Monday by Edward J. Meyers, Jr., county prosecuting attorney.

Ward was arrested on the charge by Trooper Norman Pierce of the Indiana State Police Saturday after Ward had abandoned his stalled vehicle on the Nickel Plate Railroad crossing near Peabody shortly before it was struck by a 104-car freight train. The car, carried ½ mile by the westbound train, was demolished in the accident. Ward was unhurt.

Motorist Takes His Revenge On Chicago Police Department

CHICAGO (UP)—An unidentified motorist took a horrible revenge on the Chicago police department today.

Early this month, the motorist was given a ticket for not having a city vehicle license sticker on his car.

The motorist brooded for a while and then took a stroll past the Chicago Lawn police station.

In a letter to Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor, the motorist reported:

"I saw a number of swaggering dukes with guns on their hips climbing into cars. Here is a list of seven without city vehicle tags."

The letter was signed "Sucker Taxpayer."

O'Connor checked and found the seven license numbers listed by the motorists were registered to policemen.

As a result, the seven policemen were put on 20 days' suspension without pay.

Strike-Hater Offers Breakfast To Her Strikeleader Husband

CHICAGO (UP)—Strike - hater Mrs. Esther Quigley offered breakfast instead of a cold shoulder to her strikeleader husband today.

It was the first time the Quigleys had faced each other across the breakfast table in two weeks and both said they wanted to forget all about wife Esther's lockout of husband Andrew.

Mrs. Quigley showed her shop steward husband the door when he and 425 other employes went on strike against the Harrison Sheet Steel Co.

The men went back to work Monday and Quigley went back home that night.

"There was no kissing, no hugging, no tears, no nothing," Mrs. Quigley reported of the reunion. "He's home and that's the end of the story," she said over the telephone.

The 220-pound punch press operator didn't show up for the first day of work with the other ex-strikers Monday, but CIO United Auto Workers officials said he would be on the job today.

Quigley, who has taken a quiet role in the controversy, slipped in to his apartment Monday night to find his wife asleep on the couch.

She had announced he could come back home if he felt like it after she checked to make sure the men were actually back at work at the plant.

Priest, Released From Soviets, Says He Met Americans

BERLIN (UP)—Church authorities said today that a German priest of the Roman Catholic Church, released from Soviet captivity last weekend, reported he had met two Americans in the notorious Soviet slave labor camps at Vorkuta.

Church spokesmen said Father Hermann Tiehen told them that one of the Americans he met in Russia had been arrested in Berlin. The other, he said, had been arrested in Bucharest, Romania.

Churchmen said they could not release the names of the Americans immediately.

Father Tiehen was returned here by the Russians and released unexpectedly during the weekend, after spending nearly five years in the Vorkuta labor camps.

The Soviets earlier this month announced that they will release three Americans held in Soviet capitivity for seven years or longer. They did not specify the exact date for their release.

They were identified as Pvt. Wilfred Cumish, Pvt. Murray Fields and Frederick Charles Hopkins.

It was not known immediately if any of these men were the ones Father Tiehen reported seeing in Vorkuta, located above the Arctic Circle.

WILLISTON, N.D. (UP) —Rep. Usher Burdick (R-ND) watched as his bride of one month was killed in a fall from a horse Monday.

Mrs. Burdick, a novice rider, was thrown from a horse on the Burdick ranch near here when the animal made a sharp turn. She suffered a broken neck, a skull fracture, and brain hemorrhage.

The 76-year-old congressman was following in a car and witnessed the accident.

Mrs. Burdick, the former Edna B. Sierson of Bradford, Mass., was a Washington, D.C., secretary when she met her future husband. They were married July 31 and planned to take a European honeymoon after a brief stay at the ranch.

JUICY REPORT

BISMARK, N.D. — (UP) — Police made a quick investigation after receiving a phone call from a woman reporting a bloody leg dangling from the trunk of a car. They found three teen-agers hiding in the trunk eating hot dogs dripping with catsup. They were trying to save the price of admission into a drive-in theater.

EASY WORK

Dick Haymes Doesn't Know Why Rita Left Home

by ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Dick Haymes, crying unashamedly, insisted today he still doesn't know why Rita Hayworth left home but "if she doesn't come back I can't go on."

The much-troubled singer has survived battles with the immigration service, income tax department, creditors, three exwives and alimony courts. But today he sat alone and forlorn in the couple's Malibu Beach home and indicated this latest blow has done him in.

"A man is only in love once,' Haymes said. "I'm 37. I've been in love with this girl for 8 years. You can't expect that to cool off very fast.

"If she divorces me, I don't know what I'll do. I probably wouldn't hit the bottle of sleeping pills, but I'd feel pretty miserable."

Tear-Swollen Eyes

Rita, her eyes swollen from weeping, left her secret hideaway Monday to announce she and Haymes had separated "because I think it's in the best interests of Dick, myself and my children that we think things out.'

Her attorney, Samuel Zagon said there were no immediate plans for divorce.

The red-haired film star will not appear in federal court this morning for the opening of her breach-of contract suit against Columbia Pictures, Zagon planned to ask for a postponement of the suit.

The principal topic of Hollywood gossip was why Rita left the curly haired crooner after sticking by him through two years of troubles. Her friends said the actress "got fed up, and now that he's working, she decided to pull out."

Dictatorial Attitude Blamed

Others blamed Haymes' "dictatorial attitude and his desire to run her career."

Other friends said Rita and Dick "always appeared happy and they'll probably kiss and make up."

Haymes today moved restlessly around the beach home, furnished in early American style. Dirty pots and pans filled the sink. A child's car seat had been tossed in one corner. A coffee pot was left on the kitchen stove.

The singer picked up a newspaper and gazed sadly at a picture of Rita on the front page.

"Isn't she beautiful The most beautiful woman in the world,' he said.

Craig Orders Force Be Used Against Reckless Drivers

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Governor Craig today ordered police to hunt down speeding and reckless motorists as they would murderers and exercise every means to punish them.

He said if "irresponsible and reckless highway murder" cannot be stopped by persuasion, it must be stopped by force.

"The time has come to consider the wanton killing of a person with a motor vehicle in the same light as killing with a gun or a knife," he said.

"I am calling upon all law enforcement officers of our state to use every means to arrest and prosecute those drivers whose violations are responsible for the death and injury of others."

Craig called for a "strict policy" of arrests, not warnings. He also ordered police to check highway violators for drunkenness and physical or mental defects so such drivers can be cited for license suspension.

The governor asked particular surveillance during the coming Labor Day weekend. It is Indiana's "bloodiest," he said, with 67 persons killed on highways during the past three Labor Day holidays, 19 of them last year.

He instructed state police to use airplanes to spot traffic violations, more unmarked patrol cars, expanded "wolf pack" patrols, and more electrical speed checking devices.

Truce Inspection Teams Will Be Reduced Or Removed

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — Truce inspection teams will be withdrawn from four cities in North and South Korea and reduced from four to two members at the remaining six ports of entry, a spokesman for the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission said today.

The spokesman said the chief delegates of the four-nation commission will meet Friday at Panmunjom to work out final details of the reduction in recognized ports of entry and inspection teams —the first major change in the two-year-old Korean armistice.

The United Nations consented reluctantly to the Communist-supported proposals at a record-setting 5 hour and 55 minute meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission Monday.

Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks, senior member of the U.N. NAC, charged that the "unneutral obstruction and wily tactics" of Polish and Czech truce inspectors had wrecked the system set up to prevent military buildups in North and South Korea.

He said "dissolution (of the commission) is the only solution." He agreed to the reduction but made it crystal clear that he considered it a "temporary measure."

Dulles said the dramatic offer, made in a New York speech Friday, amounted to definite policy statements which were being studied by the governments directly concerned.

The next move on that front, he said, would develop when the reaction is in from Israel and its Arab neighbors.

On other international questions, Dulles had this to say:

North Africa: The United States has held informal talks with France to explain American concern over the bloody fighting between French troops and Moroccan nationalists. The secretary expressed hope that developments between now and the Sept. 20 United Nations General Assembly meeting will make it unnecessary to have the U.N. study the crisis in North Africa.

Korea: The truce inspection teams, composed of Swiss, Swedish and Communist members, should either be dissolved or their responsibility confined to receiving of reports on activities in the demilitarized zone. He did not believe roving inspection teams any longer serve a useful purpose.

;Red China: There is not much encouraging news about the American - Red Chinese talks at Geneva on getting 41 American civilians freed. Each day little minor points come up in the talks. But he is confident some result eventually will be achieved, and believes each day brings American hopes nearer to realization.

Nixon Trip: Vice President Richard M. Nixon has no intention of including Russia in his forthcoming trip to the Middle East and Africa.

Geneva Summit Conference: The important thing to remember about the recent Big Four meeting at Geneva is that it was never looked upon by the Eisenhower administration as an end, but only as a beginning toward easing East-West tensions. The first test of Soviet sincerity is under way now in the United Nations disarmament talks. The next test will be the Oct. 27 meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Geneva.

inate such frictions as are bound to arise from the presence of foreign troops on our soil.'

The United States is willing to let Japan assume a greater share of her defenses but does not want to withdraw troops from the Japanese area until it is sure the far eastern nation is strong enough to defend herself.

American officials eagerly awaited details of Shigemitsu's ideas about rebuilding of Japanese defense forces. Japanese sources sources said the foreign minister would present a definite plan.

Shigemitsu hoped his plan would convince U.S. officials that Japan will move rapidly enough with its own defense effort so that the United States can cut its forces in Japan. The United States has about 100,000 American personnel still stationed in Japan to protect the islands.

Shigemitsu also sought a cut in the current Japanese contribution to support of American forces in Japan. The Japanese contribution is pegged at the equivalent of 155-million dollars a year, but the United States has voluntarily cut this to 105 million dollars.

The Japanese leader discussed the general world situation in a two-hour meeting with Dulles. A brief statement issued afterwards said special attention was paid to meeting at Geneva and the Far the recent Big Four "summit" East.

Long-Awaited Rains Cool Off Flareups

WHITING, Ind. (UP) — Long-awaited rains today cooled off arguments between National Guardsmen and residents anxious to return to homes they evacuated in the mammoth fire at the Standard Oil Co. refinery.

A steady downpour, which began Monday night, ended what threatened to be a serious situation when many of 800 homeless persons demanded that the guardsmen let them re-enter their houses in the inner "danger" area.

The Guardsmen had orders to blockade the innermost points of a two-square-mile area until sewers were cleared of gasoline fumes and there was no further danger of the flames spreading.

The rain apparently assured the protesting evacuees that these developments would take place sooner than expected and they ceased their arguments, officials said.

About 700 persons were given the go-ahead Monday to move back into homes at the farthest points in the devastated area.

The massive blaze, touched off when a 26-story cracking plant exploded Saturday, was under control and confined to two storage tanks still afire and being allowed to turn themselves out.

Two persons were killed and hundreds were injured in the explosion and fire. Seven homes were destroyed and 100 were damaged by the blast by chunks of metal sent hurtling in all directions.

Meanwhile, the company opened an office for personal injury or property damage claims and reported that about 70 persons had put in claims, mostly for broken windows.

Pay Fewer Taxes

"I got two tax raises to balance the budget and then went out and licked the Republicans in a general election," he said. "The Republican idea of balancing the budget is to cut the income of government so the rich will have to pay fewer taxes."

He also accused the administration of using "stealth and secrecy in trying to undermine TVA," and of "corruption, misconduct and misuse of power" to promote the interests of "big business and the privileged few."

After completing his speech, the former President announced he would leave today for his home in Independence, Mo., for a rest.

His speech here was the second of his pre-election year campaign "give 'em hell" speeches.

Mr. Truman launched his speech with an attack on "special interests" in the current administration.

Many Examples Seen

He said "we have seen many examples in the past two and one-half years of the government's subservience to special interests. Those who fought the New Deal and the Fair Deal so long and so stubbornly are now reaping their reward."

He predicted the Democrats would win the presidency in 1956 because "a party which represents the privileged few rather than the many cannot long remain in power."

"I have full confidence," he said, "that the people of the country have enough wisdom to find their way through the smoke screen of propaganda that is designed to fool them."

Housewives Receive A Forewarning Of Higher Coffee Prices

NEW YORK (UP)—Housewives today received a forewarning of higher coffee prices as two of the nation's leading roasters boosted wholesale prices 3 cents a pound.

General Foods' Maxwell House brand and Standard Brands' Chase & Sanborn both moved up to 91 cents a pound.

Trade sources saw the action as a forerunner of a general increase in roasted coffee prices likely to be passed on at the retail level in the near future.

The two companies blamed the price hike on higher costs of green coffee

Ted Kluszewski Is Ad mittedly 'Big Poison' Of Redlegs Lineup, Po st Is 'Little Poison'

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Ted Kluszewski's admittedly the "big poison" of the Cincinnati Redlegs' lineup but Wally Post just as certainly rates the title of "little poison."

In fact, the 26-year-old outfielder from St. Wendelin, Ohio, has been out-homering Kluszewski for the last month and may wind up beating out his more publicized teammate in several important departments. Post boosted his home run total to 34 when he blasted two off Robin Roberts Monday night to give the Redlegs a 4-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Post is leading Kluszewski in runs scored, 100-97, doubles, 28-22, triples, 3-0 and is within range of the 235pound first baseman in four other departmetns: hits 164-167, runs batted in, 98-99, total bases, 300-312, and batting average .313 and should beat out Wally, barring a serious September slump.

Roberts Blows Lead

The Phillies, striving desperately to finish second for the best showing since their pennant-winning 1950 campaign, presented Roberts with an early 30 lead but he yielded four homers in all to suffer his 10th loss. He was gunning for his sixth straight win and 22nd of the season.

Smoky Burgess and Post broke Robin's shutout spell with back-to-back homers in the sixth inning and pinch-hitter Hobie Landrith tied the score at 33 with his fourth homer of the year in the eighth. That set the stage for Post's game-winning wallop in the ninth.

A total of 13 homers were hit by the National Leagues sluggers Monday.

The Brooklyn Dodgers blasted out three homers in routing the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-4, while the Chicago Cubs hit four round-trippers in beating the New York Giants, 63. Pittsburgh and Milwaukee were idle.

39 For Snider

Roy Campanella hit his 30th homer, Duke Snider, No. 39 and Carl Furillo No. 23 to lead Brooklyn's nine-hit attack and pave the way for southpaw Johnny Podres to even his record at 9-9.

Harry Chiti hit two homers and Gene Baker and Dee Fondy one each as the Cubs bombarded four Giant pitchers for 14 hits. Warren Hacker went the route for his 11th win while Jim Hearn suffered his 13th loss compared to 14 victories.

In the American League, the four contenders were idle and the Baltimore Orioles made the most of the all - but - empty stage by sweeping a double-header from the Detroit Tigers, 60 an d43. Erv Palica pitched a fivehitter for his fifth win in the opener and Ray Moore picked up his seventh victory in relief in the nightcap.

Honeymoon Soon Over

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (UP)—Archie Moore, who challenges Rocky Marciano for the heavyweight crown Sept. 20, said Monday Rocky had "soft touches," his last two fights "but when he meets me, the honeymoon will be over."

Moore said there was "no reason" for the second Marciano-Ezzard Charles fight "after he had punched Ez lopsided in their first fight" and he called the Marciano-Don Cockell fight "a mismatch."

Position Changes

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UP) — Three position changes of first-string players from last year marked the opening of Army's 66th football campaign Monday.

Coach Red Blaik moved All-America end Don Holleder to quarterback, to replace the ineligible Pete Vann, and shifted guards Ralph Chesnauskas and Flay Goodwin to tackle. Blaik said the current squad is one of the youngest in Army history, averaging 19 years in age.

Strategy Will Be Forgotten As Swaps And Nashua Tangle

By ED SAINSBURY
United Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UP)—Strategy will be forgotten Wednesday when Swaps and Nashua tangle in their $100,000 match race at Washington Park, and both trainers intimated today "the fastest horse will win the race."

Neither "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, Nashua's handler, nor Meschach Tenney, trainer of Swaps, would predict that a world record would be broken in the mile and one quarter gallo, each under 126 pounds.

But there was the suggestion that if pressed hard enough, either horse could clip the 1:58⅘ record hung up by Noor at Golden Gate June 24, 1950.

About A Dozen Words

Rex Ellsworth, Swaps' owner, said he would have "about a dozen words of instruction' for jockey Willie Shoemaker, while Fitzsimmons figured on little more in his last pre-race conversation with Eddie Arcaro.

Observers believed that Swaps would be let out to set the early pace and defy Nashua to catch him. Then it would be Arcaro's problem to rate his horse close enough to the front-runner to pull ahead in the final sixteenth.

Only One Loss

The winner of the race was expected to be acclaimed both as three-year-old of the year and horse of the year. Swaps has been unbeaten in eight three year old stars and Nashua has won eight of nine starts, losing only to Swaps in the Kentucky Derby.

In comparative times for the mile and a quarter distance, Swaps had the edge. He won the Kentucky Derby in 2:01 4-5 May 7 and captured the Hollywood July 9 in 2:00 3-5, while Nashua's best time for the route has been 2:03 4-5 at Aqueduct July 2.

The track was expected to be fast for the venture. Weather forecasters believed race day would be partly cloudy with temperatures in the mid-80's.

Record Price Of Half Million Paid For Stallion Adios

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP) — A record price of $500,000 was paid today for Adios, 15-year-old stallion who set several world records during the early 1940's and then sired many notable offspring.

Lawrence B. Sheppard, president of the U.S. Trotting Assn. with headquarters here and owner of the Hanover Shoe Farms of Hanover, Pa., purchased Adios from Delvin Miller of the Meadowlands Farm of Meadowlands, Pa., Washington County.

Adios was a sensational success as a sire during the last six years he was owned by Miller, one of the sport's leading drivers and trainers, who said the famous sire of pacing champions would remain at Meadowlands through the 1956 season.

Adios Harry, four-year-old son of Adios, recently won a mile event at Vernon, N.Y., in the record time of 1:55.

Adios Boy set world records as a two-year-old on both mile and half mile tracks and lat year was voted the outstanding three-year old pacer.

Among other notable offspring of Adios have been Adios Betty, world record holding filly on a mile track, and Adora, champion two year-old filly on a half-mile oval.

The half million dollar price tag was four times the previous high for standard bred horses. Hanover bought Tar Hee, a three-year-old pace, in 1915 for $125,000, the same amount paid in 1891 for Arion, a trotter by J. Malcolm Forbes of Milton, Mass.

Pirate Pitchers Are Ray Of Sunshine For Manager Haney

By RUDY CERNKOVIC
United Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pitching, a precious baseball commodity, will lighten the task of Pittsburgh Pirate officials when they review the clubs plight at an after-season-meeting.

The performance of Pirate hurlers has been one of the few "rays of sunshine" that Manager Fred Haney has seen this season.

Pirate pitchers set the best pace for longevity in the majors this season by going the distance in six consecutive games. Elroy Face, a fork ball specialist was the first and last hurler on the string.

The diminutive righthander started the cycle July 22, beating the Chicago Cubs 3-1 on seven hits. The route pattern was maintained successively by Bob Friend, Dick Hall, Vernon Law and Dick Littlefield. Face completed the string July 26.

Hurling Staff Champ

Law, the champ of the hurling staff with a 10-8 record, went the distance eight times in recording victories. He was lifted for a pinchhitter when he won his other two games.

The righthander who is an ordained Mormon minister, pitched three four-hit games among his victories including a 2-0 shutout over the Braves Sunday.

The whitewash Sunday provided some balm for the righthander who went 18 innings against the Braves July 19 but did not get credit for the victory. Bob Friend, who pitched the 19th and last inning, was the winner although he acknowledged "Vernon should have this one."

Friend (9-8) has won five of seven games in which he went the distance and Face (4-4) went the route each time he won.

Hall's Durability Proven

Hall, who made his major league pitching debut with a triumph over the Cubs when he struck out 11 batters, has proved his durability. Hall went the route in three of his four victories.

Ron Kline, whose action has been limited because of an injury, went all the way to shut out the New York Giants, 7-0, on seven hits in May and completed his mound duty in beating the Cubs 2-1 on eight hits in June.

Bob Purkey went the distance in beating St. Louis Cardinals, 4-1, on four hits and, 5-1, on seven hits before he was sent to New Orleans for more work.

Littlefield, also sidelined with injuries for several weeks, blanked the Braves, 4-0, on seven hits and split even with the Cardinals in route appearances.

Veteran Max Surkont pitched five complete games, winning three and losing two.

IHSAA Will Lose Net Total Of Nine From 1954-55 Roster

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—The Indiana High School Athletic Association announced today it will lose a net total of nine from its 1954-55 membership roster because of discontinued and consolidated schools.

The roster last season consisted of 772 members.

The following schools were discontinued, IHSAA Commissioner L.V. Phillips said:

Bowers at Darlington, Burket (Kosciusko County), Carrollton (Carrol County), Scott Center at Angola, Scotland (Greene County), Wayne Township at Huntington, and Washington Center at Columbia City.

Phillips said these schools have been consolidated:

Clarks Hill and Stockwell (Tippecanoe County) became Lauramie Township at Stockwell, Eden and Maxwell (Hancock County) joined to become Hancock Central at Maxwell, Scott and Shipshewana (La Grange County) joined to make Newbury Van Buren Township School at Shipshewana, Jefferson at Ridgeville and Saratoga (Randolph County) have became Ward Township High School at Saratoga.

Two new schools joined the roster this season. Clarksville Junior High School at Clarksville is a modified member since only the first year of high school is offered this year. It is expected to build up to a four year school.

Highland High School, near Anderson, is operated jointly by Richland and Union Townships (Madison County). Neither corporation has maintained a high school before.

Seixas And Hart Are Underdogs

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP) — Defending champions Vic Seixas and Doris Hart both appeared to be underdogs today as official prepared to make the draw for the 74th national tennis singles championship, which starts Friday.

Seivas, 32-year-old men's champion from Philadelphia, seemed to be only a long shot to retain his crown. After a poor season, Seixas took a walloping in tw singles matches and one doubles during the Davis Cup series last weekend, which saw the Australians sweep the United States, 5-0.

Lew Hoad, blond strong man of the Aussie crew, seemed to be a hot courtside favorite to win the crown with cup teammates Ken Rosewall and Rex Hartwig also drawing many supporters.

Tony Trabert, 25-year-old Wimbledon champion from Cincinnati, Ohio, who won the title here in 1953, was the only American given a chance to stop the Aussies. And Trabert, beaten by Hoad in one cup match and withdrawn from another because of blisters on his racquet hand, was strictly a question mark.

Seixas figured as the No. 2 U.S. hope with Ham Richard son of Baton Rouge, La., who lost a cup singles match to Rosewall, the third.

Miss Hart is not nearly the underdog that Seixas is, but still the reigning women's champion has been overshadowed in play this season by former champion Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Christensen Stops Poirier With TKO

NEW YORK (UP)—Danish welterweight Chris Christensen was considering fight-offers for New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles today in the wake of his upset technical knockout over slugger Gene Poirier.

Christensen, an 11-5 underdog, stopped Poirier of Niagara Falls, in their commission-delayed television fight at St. Nicholas Arena.

Lanky Chris, 29, immediately cancelled plans to return to Denmark and said he would continue to campaign in the United States, where he now has had six fights. He will renew his visa in October.

His three offers were for Paolo Melis of Montreal in another TV bout at St. Nick's on Oct. 17, Ramon Fuentes of Los Angeles at San Francisco on Sept. 29, and Don Jordan of Los Angeles at Los Angeles "sometime in October."

Meanwhile Poirier, 23, will be automatically suspended for 30 days because of his TKO defeat. That will provide healing time for the eight-stitch gash on his right brow and for minor nicks on his left brow and upper lip.

Christensen, who weighed 146¾ pounds to Poirier's 148, did the slicing job with long left jabs and accurate right crosses.

Christensen, who had lost three of his previous five American fights, was originally scheduled to meet Poirier at St. Nick's on July 25. But the N.Y. Stat e Athletic Commission rejected the match because Christensen's manager was under suspension. The fighter petitioned the New York Supreme Court for permission to sign his own contract, but the petition was denied. He had to get a new manager. Then the commission approved his match with Poirier for Monday night.

Conley To See Bone Specialist

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP)—Gene Conley, sore-armed pitching ace of the Milwaukee Braves, will see a bone specialist in Des Moines, Iowa, en route to his home at Richland, Wash.

Conley, out of action for nearly two months, has been given permission to leave the team for the rest of the season. In Des Moines, he will visit Dr. Morris Cramer, who was recommended by Charlie Root, pitching coach of the Braves' Toledo farm team, after treating three Toledo pitchers.

Conley has been warned by doctors not to pitch again until next spring because of a serious injury to the ligaments in his shoulder.

Leo Durocher Thinks Brooklyn Dodgers May Snap Out Of It Now

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK UP)—Leo Durocher thinks the Brooklyn Dodgers may snap out of it now be in just the frame of mind for the World Series.

"Now, I'm not picking the Dodgers to win the World Series," the Giants manager said. "I don't know enough about the American League teams for that. And, of course, the Dodgers aren't even in it yet.

"But I'll tell you one thing. If they make it, I'll sure be pulling for them to win. Just as hard as I pulled for them to lose all season."

Figures Worst Over

Durocher said he figured the worst may be over now for the slumping league leaders and that with the cool weather the veterans on the club may get their second wind.

"Of course, a lot depends upon their big pitchers, Don Newcombe and Carl Erskine," Durocher said. "I'd hate to see them try to make out in the World Series without those two in top shape. They could be in real trouble then."

The Giants boss, looking back wistfully to his own gloried year of 1954, declared that "we were in just the right shape to play Cleveland in the series—both mentally and physically."

Relaxed Before End

"We clinched about five days before the end of the season," he said. "After that we relaxed a couple of days, some of the regulars got a little much-needed rest, and we all had a little fun. Then, the last two games of the season with the Phillies we faced some real tough pitching against Curt Simmons and Robin Roberts. Each game was a close one, each went 11 innings, and that sharpened us up so that we were ready for those tough Cleveland pitchers.

"If the Dodgers could clinch in time to get a little rest and relaxation, then let their regulars play toward the end of the season, they might be just right," he said.

Express Train Smashes Through Heavy Bridge Plank

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (UP)—The New York Central's "Knickerbocker Limited" express train smashed through a heavy bridge plank on tracks near here late Monday.

Vigo County Sheriff John Trierweiler said teen-age boys might have laid the 2-by-8-inch plank across the rails.

The speeding eastbound train crushed the plank but stayed on the rails.

The signal system was shortcircuited by bailing wire. The sheriff said an express train which roared past the scene a few minutes later might have hit the Knickerbocker if it had been derailed.

The heavy plank had been pried loose from the floor of a bridge over Otter Creek, about five miles northeast of Terre Haute, Trierweiler said. He said teen-age boys had been swimming in the creek, but no information about the plank was gathered in questioning "dozens' of boys.

Fred Rogers Swims 23-Mile Length Of Chilly Lake Tahoe

STATELINE,, Calif. — UP — Fred Rogers, 24-year-old south San Francisco bartender, became the first known person to swim the 23-mile length of chilly Lake Tahoe Monday when he covered the distance in 19 hours 6 minutes and 6 seconds.

Rogers, a former Lake Tahoe resort swimming instructor, plunged into the 58 degree water at Kings Beach, Calif., on the north end at 11:30 p.m. Sunday and emerged at Bijou, Calif., on the south side at 6:36 p.m. Monday.

Rocky Rests

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (UP) — Rocky Marciano took a brief rest from training for his Sept. 20 heavyweight title defense Monday for a visit from his two and one-half-year-old daughter Mary Ann. Marciano's wife and daughter will remain at the training camp to celebrate the birthdays of both Rocky and his wife.

Sixty-One High Schoo l Boys Taking Part In Eagle Football Practic es Twice Each Day

Forty-three upperclassmen and 18 freshmen answered Coach Leonard Barnum's call for high school football practice and have been working out twice a day since August 15. Until late last week, the practices were limited to conditioning work outs, but helmets and pads have been issued and scrimmages started.

Included among those taking part in the practice sessions are 11 lettermen from last year's squad. eventually the squad will be split into the varsity and reserve teams, with the sophomores and freshmen composing the reserve squad. This is done to give these boys, the most of whom have had little or no previous football experience, a chance to gain that experience by playing similar squads from other schools. A schedule is being worked out for the reserve squad.

However, Coach Barnum emphasized, if a sophomore or freshman is capable of winning a berth on the varsity squad, he will certainly be a member of that squad. "We are looking for the best possible squad we can have, regardless of what year in school the boy happens to be," is the way Coach Barnum stated it.

Several positions are up for grabs as the usual graduation caused vacancies. While the lettermen will form the core of the squad, several newcomers and members of last year's reserve squad can make the veterans hustle for their jobs, and will definitely see action as the season progresses.

Candidates

Backfield candidates include: Randall Carpenter, Don Deutsch, Carl Guissinger, Richard Jones, Dan Juillerat, Joe Kreider, Jerry Lanier, John Myers, John Pence, Mike Plattner, Larry Whetstone, Ron Yant, Gary Deutsch and Tony Jagger.

Twelve boys battling for the end position are Bob Bates, John Crampton, Dave Heinbaugh, Gary Link, Dan Martin, Larry Ostermyer, Jerry Parrett, Richard Ressler, Terry Smith, Tom Stafford, Jerry Wigent and Ben Simmers.

Candidates for the center post are Darwin Zumbrun, Eddie Miller and Roger Bridge.

The eighteen freshmen that have been working with the varsity squad include Vance Brown, Roger Fisher, G. Hoover, Harvey Harris, Jack McCoy, Jerl Kniss, Jerry Nichols, Howard Fitzpatrick, Larry Preston, Mickey Quinn, DeVon Schuman, Dennie Souder, Kent Stickler, Larry Ummel, Ron Smith, Jim Grant, Larry Marshall, Tony Bushman, Bob Klopfenstein.

Student managers Doug Lanier and Bob Ernest and assistant coaches George Kind and Richard Duffield round out Coach Barnum's staff.

Otto Graham Still Undecided

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—Otto Graham, retired quarterback of the Cleveland Browns, said today he still doesn't know whether he will play again but will meet once more with Browns' coach Paul Brown when the team returns from California.

The Browns asked Graham to return when a court action denied them the services of quarterback Bobby Freeman, leaving them with only one quarterback—George Ratterman.

Ike Interested In Disarmament; Chilly To Truman's Blasts

By WARREN DUFFEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

DENVER (UP) — President Eisenhower appeared more concerned over United Nations disarmament talks in New York today than "give-em-hell" attacks on his person by former President Truman.

The President kept in close contact with the U.N. subcommittee session in New York. He voiced hopes Monday that the big power disarmament talks could produce practical results toward "an easing of tensions and the heavy burdens of armament."

"I sincerely trust that the subcommittee meeting will be marked by the same spirit of frankness and cooperation which typified the meeting at Geneva," Mr. Eisenhower said.

Sure Of Practical Results

If so, the Chief Executive said, "I am sure that the (disarmament) subcommittee work in the end can produce practical results that should lead to an easing of tensions and the heavy burden of armament that the world is presently carrying."

Mr. Eisenhower, mixing rest and golf with business on his Colorado vacation, was reported to be hoping for signs that the Soviet Union would at least thaw somewhat in its opposition to his proposal for exchanging military "blueprints."

But in direct contrast to the President's interest in the U.N. disarmament talks was the chilly White House attitude on comment about Mr. Truman's two "give-em-hell" attacks on the President and his administration.

No Additional Comment

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty indicated there would be no additional comment on Mr. Truman's second attack Monday night at Mackinac Island, Mich.

Mr. Eisenhower wound up his golf Monday at Cherry Hills Country Club just in time to escape a pelting hailstorm which lashed down suddenly upon the Denver area.

His links partners were Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame football coach; Cherry Hills pro Rip Arnold, and Tom Belshe, retired Army colonel and frequent golfing companion in Washington.

The President expected to put in a full week of golf and business at his vacation headquarters here. But another trout-fishing trip to the Fraser, Colo., ranch of Aksel Nielsen, Denver banker and old friend, was regarded a certainty in the near future.

Sam Levenson, TV Star, Yearns For Good Old Days

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Sam Levenson, who earns his living by poking gentle fun at the foibles of the past, admitted today he harbored a secret yen for the days when you and I were young, Maggie.

"Life is too fast nowadays, too complicated ,too big to grasp," said the roly-poly comic. "And as a result, I've think we've lost something—a sense of personal relationships with our neighbors.

"Take something like doors, for instance. Who would ever think of locking a door in the past? But nowadays, they've got peepholes in apartment doors," said Levenson. "Your neighbors inspect you through those little holes — you gotta have 20-20 vision to get in."

Current Summer Sub

Levenson, currently working as summer replacement for Herb Shriner on CBS-TV's "Two For The Money," moaned low about today's kids. He's currently riding herd on two youngsters of his own, Conrad, 12, and Emily, 3.

"We've been doing a miserable job in the past 25 years of raising our kids," said Levenson. "We've been intimated—we hand everything to them on a platter.

"When I was a kid, I was satisfied with a small allowance. Nowadays, the kids demand a guaranteed annual wage."

Families are falling apart, too, said Levenson. "It used to be that your cousins and uncles practically lived with you. Now you only see them at funerals."

Can't Pinpoint Blame

The blame for all this disarray is hard to pinpoint, Levenson admitted. "But I think it has something to do with our sensibilities," he said. "Nobody cares very much when thousands of people die now—casualty totals have become too difficult to grasp. But in the old days, the whole neighborhood cried when an old man would fall off his stoop."

"A guy will go into a supermarket nowadays and swipe a can of soup. It's a big impersonal organization, he'll figure, and nobody will miss it. But in the old days it was different—then you were stealing from the little corner grocery man, Mr. Jones."

Stevenson confessed that, of course, it wasn't all rosy in the placid world of the past. "I guess it's a little like my mother's meatballs," he said. "I remember they used to melt in my mouth, but I tend to forget they used to harden in my stomach."

Still there was a difference. "We used to get into mischief when we were kids, no doubt about it," Stevenson said. "But we were still scared of our parents, our teacher and the corner cop. Who's scared of a cop now? He's a buddy.

Snithing Has Disappeared

"And there was the good old institution known as snitching. That seems to have disappeared, too. Snitching was healthy—one parent would tell another, 'I saw your Sammy climbing up a fence' and the next day you can bet Sammy wouldn't be climbing fences anymore.

"We mind our own business now and we think it's a virtue, but I wonder if it really is."

Levenson turned nostalgically to his own family. "I had seven brothers and one sister—even my father was wearing hand-me-downs. Actually, my mother had 10 kids, but lost two. She was a wonderful woman. Once she got sick, I remember, but wouldn't go to see a physician. She said, 'A doctor? I'm too sick to go to the doctor.'

"My father was a poor tailor and he put me through college. You know, I was a Spanish teacher in a Brooklyn high school for a long while and I really miss teaching.

"But TV isn't so bad. After all, now I have a much bigger class."

Services For Mother Of Herman Smith Held This Afternoon

Services for Mrs. Anna Catherine Smith, 72, mother of Herman Smith, R 7, were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Mock Christian Church, North Webster.

Mrs. Smith, North Webster, died Saturday in the Soldiers Home, Lafayette. The body was taken to the Troxel Funeral Home at North Webster.

Other survivors include the husband; two other sons, Orville, Fort Wayne, and Everett, North Webster; a sister, eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The Rev. John Hartman, assisted by the Rev. Chester Reed, officiated at the services. Burial was in North Webster Cemetery.

Crowell Rites Read Here Monday

Funeral rites for Mrs. Maude Crowell were read Monday afternoon at the Smith and Sons Funeral Home, with the Rev. Graham L. Kleespie, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, officiating. A host of relatives and friends filled the funeral home. Mrs. Helen Aker played a prelude and postlude on the organ as the musical portion of the service.

Those who served as pallbearers were Perry Schinbeckler, Earl Hewes, Howard Glick, Merritt Lefever, Paul Putman, David Londt. Committal services and burial followed the funeral home rites in the Compton Cemetery.

Average Red Farmer Lives By Primitive Standard, Is Content

DES MOINES (UP)—Ralph A. Olsen, Ellsworth farmer just back from a Russian farm tour, said the average Soviet farmer was "contented" even though he lived by "primitive" standards.

"The common people never have known what good living conditions were and they are naturally grateful to the Communists for improving their lot," Olsen said in an interview.

"The man on the street or the farm was extremely curious about us and a dozen hands shot out whenever we made a gesture to shake hands," he said. "In fact, it was hard to get any privacy because of their interest."

Olsen said he saw "absolutely no refrigeration" during the one-month trip, "even in the cities." The farmers "have the bare necessities and beds are used in all rooms of a house because of lack of space.

"The women use a dutch oven even if the house has a kitchen and occasionally we saw ovens in farm yards for hot-weather cooking. Washing is done in tubs or nearby streams.

"Sanitation is completely lacking. Sometimes 10 or 12 families have to use the same outdoor toilet. Water is drawn from open wells."

Olsen said the "Iron Curtain just seemed to roll down on the trip. We took pictures almost any place we wanted to, including the Kremlin itself."

Former Army Lieutenant Icardi Pleads Innocent

By Gwen Gibson
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Former Army Lt. Aldo Icardi pleaded innocent today to charges that he lied when he denied helping murder Maj. William V. Holohan during a World War II mission behind Nazi lines.

Icardi of Pittsburgh, Pa., was freed under $10,000 bond following his arraignment of eight perjury counts before Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy.

A federal grand jury indicted Icardi Monday and formally asserted at that time that he and former Sgt. Carl Lo Dolce committed the murder. However, Icardi could be indicted only for perjury because the United States civil courts have no jurisdiction over a murder committed in Italy.

Seek Another Indictment

The Army, under World War II laws, cannot court-martial Icardi because he has been discharged. The perjury charge was based on Icardi's testimony before a House armed services subcommittee.

Meanwhile, the government was reported to be seeking an indictment against Lo Dolce in his hometown of Rochester, N.Y.

Thirteen Italian witnesses were on hand to testify before the grand jury there.

Faure Clamps State Of Urgency On All Algeria

While Trying To Pacify Morocco

PARIS (UP)— Premier Edgar Faure clamped a "state of urgency" on all Algeria today to ward off any more trouble there while trying to pacify tense Morocco.

The state of urgency previously applied only to the rebel-ridden mountain areas but today's official journal published a decree extending the emergency to all of Algeria while Faure works out final details of his delicate Moroccan plan.

Faure won cabinet approval of the broad lines of his Moroccan plan but many points of detail remained unsettled and the crisis remained. It appeared the cabinet had given in only to forestall the downfall of the government itself.

The cabinet accepted secretly the resignation of Resident General Gilbert Grandval but there was no public announcement for fear one would touch off a wave of rioting throughout Morroco.

Sultan To Leave

The cabinet also agreed reluctantly that Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa must leave the Cherifien Throne of Morocco, but it could not agree on details and the actual ouster of the sultan awaited further conferences.

Under the state of urgency French security forces can shut down newspapers and radio stations, clamp sudden curfew on danger areas, curtain off entire regions and break up meetings involving two or more persons.

Details of the bitter arguments of the cabinet meeting here becom hing public only today. The meeting was so heated that Faure threatened several times to resign—a drastic move that would cripple France at this time of crisis.

"Representative" Government

The major announcement to come from the cabinet session was that a "representative" Moroccan government would be formed within 15 days, with Arafa to leave the throne eventually. The cabinet also decided to replace Grandval with Gen. Pierre Boyer de la Tour, the present governor general of Tunisia, once Grandval's resignation is announced.

Hanging over the government was the problem of what to do with Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef who was ousted two years ago and exiled to Madagascar.

Moroccan nationalists who demand more home rule have given up hope of restoring him to the throne in face of bitter opposition by French settlers and right-wing cabinet members. But they think he should return to Paris.

Two Witnesses In Ladejinsky Case Leave Town

Forcing Postponement Of Scheduled Review

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate investigators said today two witnesses in the controversial Wolf Ladejinsky security case had left town. The investigators' counsel said "it looks like we'll have to subpena everybody to get anything."

Departure of the witnesses, top officials in the Agriculture Department, forced postponement today of a scheduled review by the Senate Civil Service subcommittee of the Ladejinsky case.

Assistant To Benson

The missing witnesses were J. Glen Cassity, security officer in the department, and Milan D. Smith, assistant to Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson.

Cassity and Smith handled Ladejinsky's dismissal from the Agriculture Department as a security risk after he had been cleared for security by the State Department.

Both officials incurred heavy criticism in Congress for their handling of the case and Benson, who had supported Ladejinsky's dismissal, reversed himself eventually and withdrew the charges against the Russian-born land reform expert.

Ladejinsky subsequently was hired by the Foreign Operations Administration and stationed in Indochina.

Subpenas Not Sent

Subcommittee Counsel Paul Hadlick said he had sent an "invitation,' not subpenas, to Smith and Cassity a week ago.

Smith was reported on an official trip to North Carolina and Cassity took annual leave to take a bar examination in Utah.

Therefore, the subcommittee postponed the Ladejinsky affair and turned to the testimony of other witnesses.

Subcommittee Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said he was sure Cassity and Smith would testify later. An Agriculture Department spokesman said they were not trying to duck testimony.

But Hadlick told newsmen, "It looks like we'll have to subpena everybody to get anything."

South Bend Man Held On Arson Charge

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—A man who admitted setting fire to his house Sunday and then going to church to hear the minister announce the home was ablaze was held on an arson charge today.

Police said Henry Woods, 46, South Bend, told them he had planned to kill himself in the fire but changed his mind after he started the blaze.

Damage was estimated at $1,500.

fees at $90,000, the cost of equipment at $108,000, miscellaneous fees including attorney fees $40,000 and the cost of the land at $67,500, the total cost would be $1,819,500.

It was immediately pointed out that the maximum legal indebtedness that the combined school corporations could assume was $1,750,000 and that the estimated cost of the proposed buildings, etc. would exceed the maximum legal indebtedness.

Superintendent Edward Glenn explained that some equipment now used in the high school could be transferred to the new building, and he felt that the cost could still be kept within the maximum of $1,750,000.

26 Classrooms

The building plant will include a two-story classroom wing housing 26 class rooms. In addition to these rooms, there will be the vocational agriculture and industrial arts shops, the agriculture classroom, and the library. There will be an auditorium which would seat 600 persons, a cafeteria that would seat 275 people and is so situated so that it could be used for concessions at basketball games, and a gymnasium that would seat 3,844 persons. Roll out bleacher seats would be used in the gym. Locker rooms would be located under the upper bleacher seats on both sides of the gym.

"The entire school plant would conveniently accomodate 850 students," Mr. Scholer stated.

Building Alternates

At the conclusion of the question-answer session that lasted nearly two hours, Mr. Scholer discussed building alternates in the event that the cost of his present plans would be prohibitive. The first alernate would be to elimniate the auditorium, which would reduce the cost to an estimated $1,421,000. The second alternate would be to eliminate the vocal and instrumental music sections, which would reduce the cost to an estimated $1,314,192.00.

At the conclusion of teh architect's comments, Jay Crawford, president of the Joint high school, summarized the feeling of the school board toward the size of the gym and the elimination of the auditorium to save money.

Mr. Crawford said, "There are more people who obtain a livelihood using public speaking, for instance, than who making a living by playing basketball. The auditorium was added to the school for the use of the band for concerts also, as well as many other enrichment activities. Therefore, we feel we should have the auditorium and a gym of 3844 seating capacity rather than sacrifice it for a larger gym."

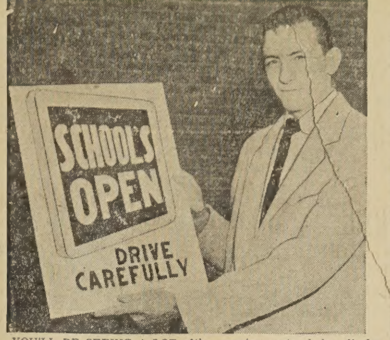
Peron Announces He Will Resign If It Will Bring Political Peace



YOU'LL BE SEEING A LOT of the warning poster being displayed above by its youthful, prize winning designer, Gene Wilkerson, who graduated last semester from Baltimore's Mergenthaler Technical High School. It is being distributed by the American Automobile Association to thousands of communities all over the United States to warn motorists to be on the alert for children crossing streets on their way to and from school.

Nearly 190,000 American Workers On Verge Of Nationwide Strikes

By UNITED PRESS

Almost 190,000 employes were on the verge of nationwide strikes today against Chrysler Corp., Westinghouse, and Pan American World Airways.

The biggest walkout threatened Chrysler. Leaders of the CIO United Auto Workers served notice that 139,000 employes would go on strike at midnight tonight in six states unless the big auto company comes up with new offers.

Simultaneously, the CIO Electrical Workers Union ordered a nationwide strike of 42,000 Westinghouse employes on Sept. 11 unless a dispute is settled at the firm's giant East Pittsburgh, Pa., plant.

In New York, a strike was threatened for any time after midnight against Pan American World Airways. Michael J. Quill, president of the CIO Transport Workers Union, said 98 per cent of the 6,000 employes involved had voted for the walkout.

187,000 Workers Involved

If all the strikes take place, a total of 187,000 workers would go off their jobs. In addition, contracts covering 24,000 American Motors Corp. employes in Michigan and Wisconsin run out Thursday and they were expected to follow the lead of the Chrysler workers.

There were some bright spots in the labor picture, however.

A tentative contract agreement between the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company and the CIO International Rubber Workers Union averted a possible strike of employes in seven states.

The agreement provided a general 12-cent hourly wage boost, plus vacation, holiday and hospitalization benefits. Plants involved are located at Akron, Ohio; Des Moines, Iowa; Fall River, Mass.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Memphis, Tenn.; New Castle, Ind.; Noblesville Ind.; and Pottstown, Pa.

Farm Machinery Disputes

In the farm machinery industry, strikes continued to idle 40,000 International Harvester Co. employes and 4,475 workers in two Allis-Chalmers Co. plants. Negotiations were continuing, however, and the Allis-Chalmers talks at Milwaukee, covering 17,000 employes, were expected to reach the critical stage today.

Jury Finds Weimer Guilty, Fines Him $75 On Hit-Run Charge

A jury of 11 men and one woman found a verdict of guilty in circuit court Wednesday morning against George W. Weimer, 34, Tri-Lakes, who was charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

The jury received the case at 11:05 and brought in the verdict at 11:35 a.m. and recommeded the $75 fine. He will also be required to pay the court costs.

The jury could have recommended up to $500 fine in addition to six months' jail sentence.

Weimer was charged with failure to notify William Overdeer when a car driven by the former struck a parked vehicle owned by the latter on June 21 at Tri-Lakes. Testimony Wednesday morning by Overdeer and Trooper James Lewinski of the Indiana State Police. the arresting officer, brought out that Weimer admitted running into Overdeer's car.

However, according to the testimony, Weimer planned to tell Overdeer about the accident later, because it occurred early in the morning.

Edward J. Meyers, Jr., county prosecuting attorney representing the State, and Robert E. Gates defense attorney, approved the first 12 persons appearing for the jury. Members of the pury were Sherman Kneller and Gladys Daily, Columbia township; Ralph Bennett and A. Phil Roberson, Etna-Troy township; Everett Grabach, Jefferson; Maurice Rudd and Russell Rhodes, and Russell Brock, Cleveland; Gerald Beck, Washington; Wilbert Luderman Thorncreek; Henry Cummins, Richland; and Lester Arnold, Union township. One jury candidate, Harold Lawrence was excused because of an injury.

Hoosier Farm Boys And Girls In Spotlight

At First Day Of State Fair

By SAM NEWLUND
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Bright-eyed Hoosier farm boys and girls were in the spotlight today as thousands of farmers and city slickers shuffled through the gates for the first day of Indiana's "biggest show on earth'—the 103rd Indiana State Fair.

This is the show which tells the world what Indiana can do—how it can produce good shorthorn steers, baton twirlers, hybrid seed corn, high school bands, raspberry pie, automobiles, newspapers and potted geraniums.

The weatherman gave cool breezes and temperatures in the 70s for the opening day and officials hoped for an attendance of 35,000 today and from 800,000 to 1,000,000 for the fair's 10 days.. Cool weather was on tap through Friday.

This year's theme is "communication and its eol i asgm&b vfg cations and its role in agriculture and industry." But all else took a backseat today as thousands of 4-H club youngsters nervously paraded their farm animals before the judges' stand on "4-H Club Day."

New Steer Champ

Judging of 4-H steers, swine, sheep and poultry was on the agenda. A grand champion steer, like one which last year brought $5,928 to Ralph Gochenour of Lafayette, was to be chosen in the Coliseum. About 5,000 4-Hers were expected Saturday for the 4-H Parade of Champions at the Coliseum.

Hard-Working Janitors, Bus Drivers Often Over-Looked In Rush Of School Activities

During the busy schedule of activities at county schools, the accomplishments of some of the hardest working men during the school year are often over-looked. Among these praise-deserving men are the school janitors and bus drivers.

If students stop to think about it, they know that paper and dirt accumulating in and around the school must be cleared away by some one. They also would realize that the school furnace has already warmed the building when the students arrive in the morning. Drinking fountains, chairs and ink wells are fixed around the school at various times. In short, the janitor at a school serves as a general handy man.

Thoughtful students also realize that a bus driver must have to arise early in the morning in order to cover his route before school starts. And, who else but a school bus driver would listen to some of the noise and complaints made by students on their way to and from school?

The school bus driver must see that his vehicle is in good and safe order. In addition to being at school when it takes up and lets out, he must be available to take classes on field trips, besides helping to "keep them in line" along the way.

All county schools have at least one full-time janitor on duty nearly all year. Thorncreek school has one, Argyle Beard. Beard, 31, has a four-year contract as janitor at the school. He is very apt at performing his duties, according to Thomas R. Cornelius, township trustee.

The school has a large number of bus drivers, nine, many of them necessary to transport high school students to Columbia City. The drivers, all of long experience, are also contracted for four years. They are Charles Wilcoxson, Max Lawrence, Void Hively, Gerald Jagger, Dallas Shively, Wayne Geiger, Harold Zumbrun, Taylor Zumbrun, and Ronald Conrad.

One full-time janitor is employed at Washington Center school William Hauser has been "custodian, watchman, and keeper of the lost and found department" for 15 years, according to Arthur Hilligoss, Washington township trustee. Hauser has been assisted the last two years by Mrs. Virgil Lee Smith.

Bus drivers in Washington are Emil Briggeman, Norman Nix, Fay White, Oren Ware, and Delbert Gibson. Briggeman has been a school bus driver in the township, "ever since children have been transported to school," Hilli-

U.N. Appeals To Israel To Accept Cease-Fire Plan

Says Egypt Has Agreed To Proposal

JERUSALEM (UP) — United Nations officers appealed urgently to Israel today to accept a cease fire in the Gaza area where a week of border clashes has brought Egypt and Israel close to a resumption of the 1948 war.

Canadian Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns, chief of the U.N. truce supervision organization, said Egypt had agreed to halt all raiding and sabotage in Israel territory and the placing of land mines on Israel roads.

But Israel authorities accused Egypt of new incidents during the night and said it was doubtful they could accept Burns' cease-fire proposal. They promised a final decision sometime during the day.

Some confusion was developing over the time of a cease-fire. Government sources in Jerusalem said Israel would consider sunset Tuesday as deadline for cessation by Egypt of the weeklong hostilities. In Tel Aviv a military spokesman announced the Egyptians had attacked an Israeli military car after that deadline passed.

In Cairo Col. Salah Gohar, director of Palestine affairs of the Ministry of War, said he knew nothing about the reported earlier deadline and that he telephoned Gaza which also had not heard. Egypt accepted the proposal for a cease-fire at 6 p.m. today.

Arthur Lourie, deputy director general of the Israeli Foreign Office, sent a letter to Burns protesting against the wording of his cease-fire order on the ground it blamed Israel as much as Egypt for the series of clashes.

Lourie made Israel's acceptance of the cease-fire order contingent on Egypt's giving a flat guarantee against further aggression. But other Israeli sources said they believed Egyptian acceptance of Burns 6 p.m. deadline constituted acceptance of Israel's warning.

While seeking a firm yes from Israel, Burns was in constant communication with Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the United Nations. He also held emergency consultations with U.S. and British representatives in Israel.

$19,885 Chest Goal Approved For 1955 Drive

Board Votes Opportunity School $2,235; 9 Other Agencies To Benefit

A broader program including a new local agency will increase the Community Chest of Whitley County goal for 1955 to $19,885, according to action taken by the Board of Directors at a meeting at the 30 Club Tuesday.

The new agency, the Whitley County Council for Retarded Children, was formally admitted to the Community Chest by the Board of Directors and will receive $2,235 from this year's drive.

Other agencies, and the amounts they have been allotted in the 1955 drive, are United Service Organization, $200; Anthony Wayne Council for Boy Scouts, $1605; Whitley County Boy Scouts, $400; Whitley County Girl Scouts, $600; Whitley County Cancer Society, $600; the Whitley County Red Cross Chapter, $5415; Northeastern Indiana Heart Foundation, $600; Brotherhood for the Blind, $50, and The Salvation Army, $4,000.

Also included in the budget are campaign expences, $300; administration costs, $800; unpaid pledges, $750, and a contingency fund of $1,500.

The 1955 goal is $1,885 above the 1954 campaign figure, but Community Chest President Clarence Gall expressed confidence in the residents of Whitley County to meet the challenge.

"We believe this year's budget is one of the best," Gall said following the meeting. "The Community Chest's object in filling all of the needs of the various agencies is included in the budget. We can be proud of the willingness of the Whitley County people to support these agencies in a united effort which avoids repeated campaigns."

Definite dates for the drive were not set by the Board, but the first steps in organizing the drive were set in motion. The campaign plans will be completed by a committee before being placed before the Board at its next meeting September 26.

The Board passed unanimously a motion giving a "vote of thanks" to the Budget and Admissions committee in its work in considering the budget requests.

The Budget and Admissions committee considered all requests to the Community Chest and passed its recommendations on the board of directors for final approval.

Indiana State Police Trooper Shot To Death

By Man Walking Along Highway

COLUMBUS, Ind. (P)—An Indiana State Police trooper was shot to death today by a man walking along a highway.

His assailant was shot three times and wounded seriously by a Columbus city policeman.

The dead trooper was Earl L. Brown, 42, Columbus.

The man who shot him was identified as Felix Joseph Donnelly, Jr., 31, Garden City Ind. a small town near Columbus. Authorities said Donnelly applied for a taxi license at Columbus last Saturday and applied for a permit to carry a gun Tuesday.

William Weddle a city patrolman, said the man suddenly pulled a German luger from his hip pocket and shot Brown when the two officers stopped him to investigate a complaint from a farmer.

The shooting occurred along S. 31-A near the Bartholomew-Jackson County line about 5 a.m. CDT. Brown died in a Seymour hospital 40 minutes later.

Gives Up Shotgun

Brown, a veteran of 15 years on the police force and a former Columbus High School basketball star, was dispatched to investigate an "unidentified subject' walking along the road on the basis of a phone call from the Columbus police department.

Police said a complaint of undetermined nature came from Ray Woehrman, R.R. 8, Columbus.

Brown picked up Weddle and the two officers hurried to the scene about 400 feet south of the Bartholomew-Jackson County line. They found a man walking along with a shotgun on his shoulder.

Weddle said he got out of the police car and asked the man for the gun. The man gave it to him, he said.

Brown got out of the car and began to search the man, according to Weddle, when the man spun around, drew the pistol from his pocket and fired once.

Shot Pierces Chest

The bullet pierced Brown's chest and shattered a rear window in the police car.

Weddle said Brown drew his service revolver but dropped it without firing it as he fell.

Weddle fired at the man three times. The man was taken to Bartholomew County Hospital in Columbus.

Brown leaves a wife, a son, a daughter and a brother, Charles, a Columbus city detective.

Three hours after the shooting, Donnelly was reported "barely alive" by doctors at the hospital.

Brown was appointed to the police force in 1940, assigned briefly to the Seymour Post, worked five years from 1941 to 1946 from the Charlestown Post, and was with the Seymour unit thereafter.

He was the ninth trooper killed in line of duty since the Indiana State Police force was organized in 1935.

Jaycee Committee Plans Labor Day Safety Campaign

A local campaign against anticipated traffic accidents over the Labor Day weekend will be waged by the safety committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, according to the committee chairman, Don Alexander.

The Jaycee committee, consisting of Harrison Harker and Warren Clapp in addition to Mr. Alexander, will display signs, slogans, and wrecked cars in an effort to remind weekend drivers that "speed is what kills."

A pile of wrecked cars will be displayed along Van Buren street just north of the Courthouse from Friday afternoon until Tuesday morning. A wrecker, a necessary implement at auto accidents, will also be displayed there. Slogans will be posted on the wrecked cars such as, "My owner drove 80 miles per hour—do you?" Window cards will be distributed in the downtown area, and posters will also be placed on utility poles. All is being done in an effort to make motorists more conscious of traffic dangers and what they can do to minimize those dangers.

Demonstrations To Try To Keep Him In Power

Workers Stream Into The City

By WILLIAM L.F. HORSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

BUENOS AIRES (UP) — President Juan D. Ueron announced he will resign if it will bring political peace to the nation.

The offer of Peron's resignation was made at 9 a.m. (6 a.m. CST) by Hugo D. Pietro secretary general of the powerful General Confederation of Labor whose six million members support Peron.

Pietro immediately called for a nationwide general strike to protest the Peron decision. Unions began mobilizing all over Argentina with the slogan, "Peron must stay."

His followers in the powerful labor organization and the party promptly called for another Oct. 17 revolution. It was Oct. 17, 1945 that Peron's followers led a general uprising that led to his eventual leadership of the country.

The revolution, hailed by Peron ever since as "Loyalty Day," was marked by bloody rioting throughout Argentina.

Workers supporting Peron began streaming into the Plaza de Mayo in the center of the city, scene of the heaviest fighting in the June 16 abortive revolt against Peron.

Wires Pour In

Transport and public services were running normally as Peronista laborers gathered for their massive demonstrations but stores began closing.

All Peronistas in the provinces of Argentina began organizing for demonstrations while telegrams poured into the capital urging Peron to remain at the head of the government.

One of the first big demonstrations was reported from Eva Peron (formerly La Plata) the big port some 30 miles from Buenos Aires which was renamed for Peron's late wife, Eva, who stayed by his side through much of his career before she died of cancer.

Area Students To Find Newly Painted Halls And New Classrooms At Schools Next Week

Students in the area will find newly painted halls and in some cases new classrooms when they arrive at their schools next week.

School officials have been busy all summer readying the students' "homes" to make them comfortable for the youths for the next eight or nine months. Some new classrooms have been constructed and will be used for the first time by pupils this fall. Leaky roofs have been repaired, floors have been refinished and varnished, walls and woodwork have been repainted, and in some cases new desks have been added to make the older schools more attractive to their tenants.

The new $100,000 building housing four classrooms will be opened to elementary pupils of Thorncreek township for the first time this fall. Trustee Thomas R. Cornelius has announced that 140 new open front desks and chairs have been installed in the new rooms. Grades one, two and three will be in the new building, Cornelius said.

New Cafeteria Equipment

Redecorating has been accomplished on four other classrooms, five cloakrooms, the library, principal's office and waiting room, the kitchen and cafeteria. New items purchased for the kitchen include an electric stove, automatic dish washer, garbage disposal, double drain sinks, plates and silverware. The new kitchen equipment was all procured with lunch program funds, Cornelius said.

Outside the school, a new walk has been built in the front from the new building to the older one. The driveway and parking lot has been stoned and the lawn has been leveled and re-seeded. A new merry-go-round has been added on the playground for the children.

A new building is also going up at Churubusco, but it is not expected to be available to students until the second semester. The new unit includes a gymnasium and industrial arts, agricultural, commerce and home economics departments, and several new classrooms. The gymnasium will seat approximately 2,500 persons.

A second unit of eigth classrooms is planned for the future. The Smith township school officials recently received approval of a $120,000 state loan for this unit. When completed, it will house the high school students and the older building will be for elementary students.

Wolf Lake Plans

Plans for a new school unit at Wolf Lake have been under definite consideration since the gymnasium burned last winter. A new gymnasium would be built along with 10 class rooms at the site of the present school, according to present plans. Guy Kesling, Noble township trustee, estimates that the building fund will have $70,000 in it by the end of the year and an additional $112,000 could be obtained by a bond issue. Architects have been working on preliminary plans so school officials can determine what can be built with available funds.

The high school students will be gone from Washington Center school and the building is being revamped for the grade students who will be bulging its walls next school year. The school will have 29 more elementary students than last year.

To absorb the additional students, the assembly and chemistry room has been partitioned off to

LET SAFETY- FIRST BEGIN WITH FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL

Mayor Thos. H. Hood has proclaimed next Tuesday, September 6, as "School's Open Day," and the day will carry a great deal of meaning for parents of the community as well as their children.

Some of the children will be crossing streets alone for the first time by themselves on the way to and from school. Many of the youngsters will be traveling the regular familiar routes to the schools, but the children and parents should be no less familiar with safety precautions.

Traffic will still be heavy and motorists will be un-used to watching for the throngs of school children who will be crossing the streets or highways.

The Columbia City police department in co-operation with the safety patrols of the city schools will provide someone at each of the major street corners near the schools. They will be stationed at the intersections, because those are the safest spots to cross streets, since traffic is best visible from all directions there. It also avoids traffic tie-ups when cars are stopped at intersections to allow children to cross the streets.

Therefore, it is urged that children, parents and motorists cooperate with city police and other safety watchmen and student patrols so that the routes to schools will become safe routes as they should be. Let safety-first begin with the first day of school.

down for day-long talks in an attempt to avert the Chrysler walkout.

Hopes were high for a settlement, even though union Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey warned "if the company wants to avoid a strike at midnight it will have to move on many issues."

The company and union have already reached agreement on basic economic issues, including a modified guaranteed wage plan, a pay boost, and improved pensions, But "side issues" threatened to stall a final settlement.

A strike would idle plants in Michigan, California, Delaware, Indiana, Georgia, and Louisiana.

Time-Study Protest

The Westinghouse dispute involved a company-ordered time study project at the East Pittsburgh plant. About 2200 dayworkers have already walked out in protest against the project and more than 6,000 production workers and 1,350 white collar employes were later furloughed.

Company officials charged that a Sept. 11 strike would be a violation of the company-union contract which expires four days later. But a union spokesman retorted that the East Pittsburgh dispute "affects every Westinghouse local.'

The CIO Pan American employes were ready to walk out to back up demands for an 18-cent hourly wage increase for hourly-rated employes and a $45 monthly pay boost for flight service employes.

The union said the walkout was backed by the votes of employes at New York; Miami, Fla.; Brownsville, Tex.; San Francisco; Seattle, Wash.,; Houston, Texas; New Orleans, La.; San Juan, P.R.; and Honolulu.

Although the union contract expires at midnight Thursday the Federal Mediation Board has stepped into the dispute and a strike would be illegal under the Railway Labor Act as long as the board is seeking a settlement.

Shortage Of Classrooms Cited To Point Up Needs Of Schools

By GEORGE J. HECHT
President and Publisher of Parents' Magazine

As our children face another year of classroom studies we must once again assess our school situation. There has been some improvement on a local level, but when we look at the picture as a whole we cannot help being appalled!

In spite of a large school building program in many localities, children are still going to school in firetraps, basements, and shacks. They are being taught in overcrowded classrooms or in double or triple sessions.

In every section of the country the situation is critical, and the shortage is becoming more acute for the high school age children than for those of elementary school age. Surely these conditions are being reflected in the rising tide of juvenile delinquency.

Here we are the strongest of the world powers. Other nations look to us for leadership, for intellectual and financial help. We must prepare our children to assume such leadership; to become enlightened citizens of democracy and of a complex world. How can we educate them for the responsibilities that lie ahead if we refuse to build enough classrooms or provide enough teachers?

Many of 70, 000 school districts of the country are straining their resources to the limit right now, but they still cannot keep abreast of the problem. We are falling behind at the rate of 67,000 classrooms every year! Help from the Federal Government is the only way to give our children the first-class education for the future welfare of this country demands.

The Federal Government cannot provide enough funds to build all the class room needed, but Federal aid such as that provided in bills now before Congress would stimulate communities to raise the money necessary to match the aid from the government.

It will bring about a faster school building program all over the country, much as the Hill-Burton Act resulted in an accelerated building of needed hospitals. When Federal money goes into a community to help construct a building it should free a certain amount of local money which School Boards can use to hire more teachers and improve other parts of the school program.

The fact that 340,000 class rooms are needed right now to meet the present shortage should be reason enough for the quick passage of school construction legislation.

Even if you are one of the fortunate parents whose children go to school in a community where the educational facilities are adequate, you cannot refrain from looking at the national picture and making your voice heard.

How safe is the future of our country if only the few are well-educated?

Peron

Peron's resignation was announced in letters to members of the Peronista Party and to the women and men's groups of the General Confederation of Workers (CGT), the three pillars of his power.

He said he would resign if this would insure political peace and end the tension which has gripped Argentina since the abortive Navy-led revolt slightly over two months ago was quashed.

All Peronista congressmen meanwhile called an emergency session for 10 a.m. and it was understood they would prepare a vote refusing Peron's resignation.

Later the state radio began broadcasting news of Peron's resignation. The announcement was accompanied by an appeal to the 2,400 unions of the CGT to walk off their jobs immediately.

Pietro took the micrphone with Alejandro Leloir, president of the Peronista Party's Supreme Council and said he would keep the people informed of the course of events.

Up to 9:30 a.m. (6:30 a.m. CST) of Argentina's armed forces were involved in the present events.

All of the city's telephone circuits were jammed as members of the CGT called workers to the plaza. Pietro instructed the workers to remain in the bullet-scarred Plaza de Mayo until Peron with draws his resignation.

Mr. And Mrs. Henry Hayden Celebrate Their Golden Wedding Anniversary Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hayden, Larwill, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage quietly at their home Tuesday. The couple was unable to have a formal reception, as had been planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden were married in the home in which they now reside August 30, 1905 by the Rev. D. S. Jones, who had been a pastor of the Methodist circuit. Mrs. Hayden was the former Britamarte Traschel, the daughter of John and Hulda Lipps Trachsel, and Mr. Hayden's parents were, Daniel C. and Elizabeth Roberts Hayden. The couple has made their home in the house in which they were married for the entire fifty years.

At the time of their marriage Mr. Hayden was engaged in papering, painting and carpentering work. Mrs. Hayden was assisting at the Post Office where her father was the postmaster.

In 1908 the Haydens purchased a hardware store owned by Everet Rindfusz, and operated the store for 36 years. Mrs. Hayden's brother, Shanton Traschel was associated with them in the hardware business for 19 years. When they purchased the hardware store it was standing where the Kistler grocery store now is located.

Both the Haydens have long been active in civic and church affairs.

Friends and neighbors have called to greet the couple on the occasion, among whom were Mr. Hayden's cousins Mrs. Ethel Brumbaugh and her daughter Louise of Fort Wayne and the Rev. and Mrs. Herman Conway and daughters, Gloria and Nada, of Springfield, Illinois.

Mrs. Heimbach And Daughter Return Tuesday

Mrs. Elmer Heimbach, Columbia township, and her daughter, Miss Isabelle Blickenstaff, Elwood, returned Tuesday from a 9-day northern trip, on which they traveled about 1,300 miles.

They crossed into Canada from the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, after seeing a centennial celebration at Saulte Sainte Marie, and traveled extensively around Lake Superior.

Family Gathers To Honor Member On Birthday

Gratifying the wish of Mrs. Walter E. Meyers, local druggist's wife, the members of her family traveled thousands of miles to assemble at her home Tuesday, her birthday anniversary.

Those included in the group were Mrs. J. C. Sanders, Sr., local resident, and Mrs. Ray Glassley of Portland Ore. who are sisters of Mrs. Meyers and are daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Baker. Their father assisted his brother, John W. Baker, in the publishing of the Columbia City Commercial, later combined with The Mail to become the Commercial-Mail. H. E. Baker later served as assistant postmaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyers' children and their families were present. These are Mrs. Robert Monahan, of Detroit, Mich., and her children, Martin, Kathleen, Dennis, and Michael. Mrs. Monahan is the former Peggy Meyers. Her husband is a city engineer in Detroit.

The Meyers' son, Walter (Bud) Meyers, senior engineer for the Creole Petroleum Corp., Venezuelan affiliate of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, visiting here during a two-month vacation with his family, also was present. With the South American residents are their 5-year-old twins, Mary Margaret and Jessie, and 3-year-old Nellie Gray.

Mrs. Sanders' son, Julius C Sanders, of Lake Jackson, Texas engineer with the Dow Chemical Company, was present, along with his wife and children, Mark, Karla and Bruce. Mrs. Sanders' sister, Miss Peggy McLean, who accompanied them here for a visit, also was present.

Mrs. Glassley's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Glassley residents of California and their three children, were not able to attend the birthday reunion here.

Being Well Dressed For School Gives Children Self Assurance

Here's Help for Mother in Choosing Wardrobes Involving No Strain on Family Budget

Do clothes have a psychological effect on children? Of course they do. Being well dressed and by that I do not necessarily mean having a lot of expensive clothes, instills in young persons a certain self confidence that is important equipment for them to take back to school.

Here are some suggestions that wardrobes, give them the self as come good students.

1. Dress your children to con of your particular community. Do ception at school.

An example or two....even if you all the other boys wear long pants,

Don't make sister wear long oot cause you did when you were little.

Curb a too feminine instinct in

2. Help your children to develop a sense of knowing what to wear for the occasion. Don't imply that blue jeans are a disgrace. They are sturdy, comfortable, ideal for play. On the other hand, don't allow beruffled dresses to go to school.

Being properly dressed for the time and place is good manners for young and old alike.

3. Avoid buying a size or two larger than is needed. It's not economy, it's waste. The child looks like an orphan, and all the joy of having something new is overshadowed, because the child is well aware that he looks absurd.

Buy the correct size, then take advantage of the grow features, which most clothes have today, when the time arrives.

4. Don't embarrass your children when you take them shopping for their back-to-school clothes. Too often, I've heard mothers discuss how fat or how thin a child is with a sales person, while the child stood silent and unhappy. Select clothes to enhance the child, but don't let a shopping trip turn into a lecture on his physical imperfections.

5. Let fashion and function work for you. Choose bright happy colors for your children's clothes and they'll, be brighter, happier children. Let self-help features

WATCH OUT FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN AT ALL CROSSINGS

OBEY! The SAFETY PATROL

Remember, it is usually not the reckless driver who hits a child with an auto, but an everage responsible driver like YOU, who has a moment of relapse at the wrong time.

Perhaps a backward glance in the rearview mirror, lighting a cigarette, turning on the radio, getting something from the glove compartment, a woman sneaking a glimpse of her make up, a thought far away from driving ---- these are the kind of drivers who run down and kill children.

Decent, law-abiding people who afterward just couldn't remember how it even happened. People like you. People who got careless ---- just for a split second ---- at the wrong time.

LOOK OUT FOR THE CHILDREN

Keep your eyes on the road and your hands on the wheel every second you are driving..

Mothproof Woolens With New Insecticide

An insect expert says that a new insecticide almost does away with insect damage to washable woolens.

H. B. Petty of the University of Illinois says the wool-protecting chemical is E-53, a mixture of DDT and chemical carriers, now available.

Petty said the housewife can protect blankets, sweaters and other washable woolens simply by adding a few spoonfuls of E-53 to wash or rinse water.

form two more classrooms.

The students will be kept warmer this winter by a new oil furnace, which will be installed by school time to replace the old worn-out one. The furnace cost about $6,500 according to Arthur Hilligoss, Washington township trustee.

Students returning will also notice redecorated rooms including the assembly hall which was damaged by rain through a leaky roof. The roof which was damaged by a rainstorm has also been repaired.

Columbia township has also added one new classroom by partitioning of the cafeteria. The school will have seven classrooms including the new one. Jay Crawford, township trustee, reports that the school is also undergoing a new coat of paint where needed.

Coesse Redecorates

A thorough repair and redecorating job is being done at Coesse before the 1955-56 school year gets underway, according to Glenn Burns, trustee. Most of the inside and outside of the school building has been repainted, Burns said. The school and gymnasium floors have been refinished and varnished. The roofs of the school, gymnasium and garage have been repaired, with the new portion covered with asphalt.

Regular painting and repairing has also been done at other county schools where needed. In addition, at South Whitley, youngsters may enjoy several new pieces of playground equipment which have been installed since school ended last year. They include 20 swings, two jungle towers, a set of see-saws, a 20-foot slide, and "ocean wave", and smaller slides and swings for the kindergarten group.

Regardless of what classroom additions have been made to county schools since last year, each is sure of being filled. A total of 3,233 students had pre-registered at all the schools in the spring. This included 64 more than the total enrollment last year. New registrations are sure to increase the final total.

Door Is Opened On New World Of Fashions For Budding Girl

This is indeed an era during which the teen age girl, budding slowly but surely into womanhood, may rise to fulfillment of her fashion aspirations as she prepares her wardrobe for the return to school this fall.

For this is the year of her complete emancipation, if she wishes, from the Raggedy-Ann fads of recent years and her introduction to the custom of dressing-up instead of dressing-down for school.

This new and important trend is welcomed, not only by discerning mothers, but by the boys as well, glory be. They show it strongly in their own move toward better grooming.

Sweeping the teen age group from the early grades of junior high through all classes of senior high, the trend is well under way with a wide range of fashions now ready for selection in stores everywhere. Here is the opportunity to learn how good taste and the application of fashion which, under her mother's supervision, is a part of every girl's education.

Planning her school wardrobe is an exciting event for the emancipated teenager. So much fashion in such great variety offers a challenge to her style sense and practicality. If she starts off with a basic jumper—very important for all—she may choose a new low torso style, a princesse line or a fullskirted belted jumper.

Eask To Care For

Plaid, tweed or solid color in a complete range of easy-care fabrics, the jumper is doubly practical. She can wear it to class with a variety of blouses and sweaters; she can wear it solo for dates.

Convertible dresses also offer multiple advantages. Detachable trims and extra jackets or overblouses invite countless variations that increase the service of basic styles. The low torso dress is slated for high school popularity in fabrics that look party-pretty but are actually tomboy-tough.

Newsy sweaters are bulky, boxy or blouselike. The teen-age planner decides which styles looks best on her, then chooses colors that will integrate with her other separates. Overblouses are an important entity and very much in line with the teen-ager's active school life.

Fashion's Long Look

Skirts carry out fashion's long, lean look with hip yokes and low-placed pockets. Pleats can be permanent and often start at the hip line for a torso effect. Dyed-to-match separates bring the costume to the classroom in a way that is attractive and just as comfortable as the haphazard separates of seasons past.

light on her budget. Big news is a synthetic blend that creates a plushy fur-like pile.

The junior miss can plan on a winter coat that's warm and luxurious as fur, light in weight and

Other smart coats are of blanket fleece and alpaca in such favored silhouettes as the A-line, the fitted and classic box styles.

Attention To Details

Throughout the high school girls' size ranges and good styling prevails.

Tailoring finesse and careful attention to details carries out the well-groomed feeling that will be so much a part of teenage life.

Safe Food Part Of Every Picnic

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (UP) Family meals outdoors are fun but there always are simple precautions to follow to insure safety with the good times.

Eleanor Ragn, staff member of the foods and nutrition department at Michigan State College, advises picnic groups to avoid foods that spoil easily.

Such foods are cream pies, cream-filled cakes, fish and egg salads, mayonnaise dishes, precooked poultry in broth, sauces, gravies and creamed dishes. These foods must be kept cold until they are eaten Miss Ragon says. That means packing them in ice. If you're in doubt about being able to keep creamed foods sufficiently cold, don't use them.

Keep all perishables in the refrigerator until just before leaving for the picnic. And plan to eat soon after you arrive.

Remember to take along your own drinking water, because sometimes there is no safe water near the picnic area.

G. I. Brides Find It's A Small World

MUSKEGON, Mich. — (UP) — Janet Rawlings and Doreen Gee, who lived six blocks from each other in Oxford, England, most of their lives but never became acquainted, now live across the street from each other here.

The two women married Muskegon men who were stationed at separate Air Force bases near Oxford but didn't meet until after they came to Muskegon with their husbands.

Both Janet, now Mrs. Harold Peterson, and Doreen, Mrs. Herbert Adams, get together nearly every afternoon for a "cup o' tay' and their husbands, who didn't know each other before either, have become good friends.

The two couples were married two months apart in 1953 and their sons were born within six days of each other.

Hunches For School Lunches

to school should meet four qualifications. They should travel well, keep in good condition without refrigertation and be easy to eat. And, of course, they should be tempting to both eye and palate.

Fresh fruits that can be eaten out of hand are perfect for the school lunch. Older children like to munch an apple or orange with chums on the school grounds.

Younger children may need to have their fruit partially prepared for eating. For them cut an apple or pear into eighths, remove the core, dip the pieces in lemon juice so they won't turn brown and wrap well in waxed paper or aluminum foil.

To make an orange both easy to eat and beautiful to behold, cut into eight sections with a sharp knife. Then cut rind from flesh at both ends of each section so that a child can easily separate flesh from rind in one bite. Before packing, tie sections together with a perky ribbon and fold under ends of rind.

Cakes and cookies are lunch box stand-bys. They should be fairly plain to travel well but once in a while it's nice to surprise children with something different. For example, cut a cupcake into fourths, crosswise, and make two little "cakewiches" by spreading two of the cut surfaces with jam or jelly; then close up and wrap. Make "crackerwiches" by filling two graham crackers with icing or peanut butter.

To make gingerbread men, use your favorite rolled molasses cookie receipe but add a bit more flour for easier handling. Roll and cut out little men using either a bought cutter or homemade pattern. Decorate each little man with bits of raisin for eyes and nose, a slice of maraschino cherry for a mouth and raisins or currants for the buttons on his coat. Bake as your recipe directs.

Synthetics Will Starve Hungry Moth To Death

NEW YORK—(UP)— The day is not far off when the torment of homemakers, the household moth, will vanish from the American scene.

So predicts the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, which says the increase in popularity of the synthetics will spell the death of this pest. The moth flourishes on woolens and furs. Further, the association says, most modern dry cleaning methods make woolens moth repellant, and washable wolens can be moth-treated at home. Cold storage of furs is a "Must" for most women.

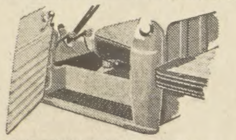
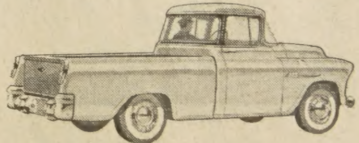
HIGH-LEVEL VENTILATION provides a more constant supply of outside air.

Plus . . . Five new high-compression valve-in-head sixes—the most advanced sixes in the industry! New, roomy Flite-Ride De Luxe cab—the truck driver's "dream cab!" Huge new Full View rear window (optional at extra cost).



NEW CONCEALED SAFETY STEP stays clear of snow, ice and mud for greater safety regardless of the weather.

NEW 12-VOLT SYSTEM delivers double the punch for quicker starting and finer performance.



NEW CAMEO CARRIER is the flagship of the Chevrolet truck fleet! It's the first truly beautiful truck ever built!

These are just a few of the reasons why new Chevrolet trucks are the most modern trucks for any job today. Come on in and see why these great new trucks will save hours and dollars on the job! Come see why anything less is an old-fashioned truck!

Rookie Howell Shaping Up As White Sox' Most Valuable Player In Feverish Stretch Run

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Dixie Howell, a 35-year-old rookie who had just about given up hope of winning a job in the major leagues, is shaping up as the Chicago White Sox' most valuable player in the feverish American League stretch run.

Howell, a strapping right-hander, came to the rescue again Tuesday night when the White Sox beat the Boston Red Sox, 7-5, and regained possession of first place by a half game.

The White Sox took over the top rung when the Kansas City Athletics surprised the New York Yankees, 4-3, and dumped them into a second-place tie with the Cleveland Indians, who defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 7-4.

Howell, making his 27th relief appearance, yielded only three hits and one run in the last five innings to raise his won-and-lost record to 7-3.

Four Boston Errors

Four Boston errors treated the White Sox to five unearned runs and miscues by Billy Klaus and Ted Williams in the sixth enabled Chicago to score thre unearned tallies that proved decisive.

The Yankees suffered their fifth loss in eight games on their final Western trip when southpaw Alex Kellner turned in a five-hitter and Hextor Lopez exploded his 11th homer in the fifth inning.

Bob Lemon received credit for his 15th victory of the season for the Indians but needed a ninth-inning strikeout by Don Mossi to end the game.

Southpaw Billy Hoeft of the Detroit Tigers took over the A. L. lead in shutouts when his sixth of the year beat the Washington Senators, 4-0.

Don Newcombe won his 19th game behind an assault that included two homers by Roy Campanella and four hits by Duke Snider as the Brooklyn Dodgers downed the Milwaukee Braves, 8-6.

Redlegs Lose Two

Ted Kluszewski blasted two homers to raise his major league leading total to 43 but the New York Giants swept a doubleheader from the Cincinnati Redlegs anyway. Johnny Antonelli tossed a five-hitter to give the Giants a 5-0 win in the opener and Willie Mays hit his 39th and 40th homers to lead them to a 9-7 verdict in the second game.

Sam Jones won his 12th game with relief aid from Hal Jeffcoat as the Chicago Cubs beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-1, and the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates split in other N.L. activity. Harvey Haddix won a 1-0 decision for St. Louis in the completion of a suspended game of July 17 but bowed in the "nightcap", 3-1, to Dick Littlefield.

About 100,000 children and young adults have enrolled in 4-H clubs organized in South Korea.

New Boxing Code For Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP) — A 114-day ban on boxing in Pennsylvania was lifted today when Gov. George M. Leader signed a new boxing code into law.

The code, planned for sometime by the new commission, was speeded to completion after the governor imposed the boxing ban in the wake of the Harold Johnson-Julio Mederos fiasco in Philadelphia last May. Johnson, allegedly drugged before the bout, collapsed at the end of the second round.

The code calls for the fingerprinting of all applicants for licenses and strict standards for the "safety, health and welfare" of fighters and permits the boxing commission to suspend any fighter, manager, promoter or handler without a hearing.

The governor said an amendment prohibiting a matchmaker from having a financial interest in a boxer would be added later.

Carl Mullen Wants Handley To Run For Governor

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Indiana AFL president Carl H. Mullen urged union Republicans today to draft Lt. Gov. Harold Handley as the 1956 GOP nominee for governor.

In an off-the-cuff speech, Mullen told about 1,000 delegates to the State Federation of Labor's convention Handley is the "most popular" candidate in a field of about 10 Republicans mentioned for governor.

Japanese Minister Ends Official Visit

WASHINGTON (UP) — Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu ends an official visit to Washington today with indications he has won for Japan a stronger role in North Pacific defense arrangements.

Testing

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (UP) — Guillermo Salas told police today he burned down one of the city's largest buildings to "test the efficiency of the fire department."

Parents Must Share More Responsibility For Child Safety

There just aren't enough regular policemen, members of the school safety patrols and adult crossing guards combined in any community anywhere, to insure perfect protection against all the traffic hazards that will be faced by children going back to school this fall.

Parents should recognize this simple fact and plan to act according, before school starts.

They should know above all that statistics reveal most accidents to the very young occur the nearer the children get to their homes and the farther they get from the screen of protection authorities have developed for them.

Beyond Protective Screen

The simple truth of the matter is that despite all the indoctrination in traffic safety this generation of youngsters receive in their classrooms, an important share of the responsibility for their security of life and limb shifts back to the shoulders of the parents themselves.

Once beyond the protective screen the child is left pretty much on his own to play, run errands, or to lose himself in day dreams.

Once beyond the protective screen, especially during the shorter days of late fall and winter, the child moves through more hazardous twilight hours.

Parents can assure greater safety for their youngsters under these conditions by setting a good example themselves: by never crossing the street in the middle of the block, by pausing to look right and left, even after the light has turned green, before stepping off the curb—especially when the children are in their company.

Parents of the very young will be wise to walk to and from school with their children occasionaly to point out the danger spots, and to urge the right kind of caution. But this should be done inconspicuously to avoid disturbing the youngster's self-confidence.

Young are Adventuresome

Above all, parents should be most meticulous about observing all traffic rules while driving as well as while walking when children are in their presence, because the boy who sees his dad break the regulations with impunity, is more likely to scorn those set up for his own safety.

Young children are adventuresome from their very nature. They frequently learn by experimenting, by taking chances, especially when they are away from supervision.

But experimenting with today's traffic, taking chances along the streets, are things from which they must be dissuaded.

Parents must take over much of the responsibility for dissuading especially when areas removed from the zones of protection are involved.

Norwegian Betters Own World Record

GOTHENBURG, Sweden (UP)—Audun Boysen of Norway bettered his own world record for the 1,000 meters run Tuesday when he clocked the distance in two minutes, 19 seconds during an international track and field meet. Boysen knocked five-tenths of a second off the official world mark of 2:19.5 he set at Gayle Sweden, Aug. 8, 1954.

More than 27,000,000 cords of pulpwood are transported to the mills in the United States every year.

Joe DiMaggio and Jimmie Fox each were chosen most valuable player of the American League three times, DiMaggio while with the Yankees and Foxx with Philadelphia and Boston.

CLEVELAND (UP) — Heavyweight Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson risks his number three ranking against ex-champion Ezzard Charles tonight for a $10,000 guarantee in their return TV-radio 10-rounder at the arena.

Police Seek Missing South Bend Woman

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—Authorities today sought Miss Anna Hatch, 81, who disappeared from South Bend with her savings of nearly $200,000 shortly before she was to appear in court for a guardianship hearing.

Her disappearance was brought out Tuesday in St. Joseph Superior Court at a second hearing to determine whether a guardian should be appointed for her. The proceedings were brought by R.T. Hatch, St. Joseph, Mich., a cousin of Miss Hatch.

Miss Hatch's attorney, Walter Shorts of South Bend, said she left Aug. 21 for New York.

The aged woman withdrew $180,000 in securities and $9,400 in cash from a South Bend bank Aug. 2. Authorities said she had been in the real estate business in an Dieog, Calif., before moving here.

The following poem by Mac Frakes was selected to use in the 'back to school" issue.

The One Room School House

How dear are the memories we often recall
When we strolled down that old country road,
With each new attraction we gladly would stall
Our attention most freely bestowed.
We'd saunter along and nearly be late -
But there's nobody living can tell
How quickly a boy can change his gait
With the sound of the last school bell.
The pot-bellied stove, a style obsolete,
The center of attraction stood;
Nothing else that I know could ever compete
With its steady digestion of wood.
It's shocking to think of the water pail
With which we were on intimate terms;
With an old tin dipper we'd freely bail
And never a thought about germs!

HIGH SCHOOL LAD achieves that 1955 "neat loko" in this knit shirt of softly brushed cotton, with placket collar and multi-colored pattern,set off by heather background. It's easy to launder, too. By Arrow.

I have no words with which to convey
My feelings of deep regret
That the old country school is passing away, —
It's memories I'll never forget.
To make improvements is the modern rule,
The new ways are all pretty slick,
But more was acquired in that old country school
Than readin', writin', and 'rithmetic.

Couple Objects To Ban

STOCKTON, N.J. (UP) — A Stockton couple objected today to Mayor Chester Errico's proclamation of a ban on "unnecessary kissing."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephens charged the ruling violates the constitutional right to the pursuit of happiness.

Errico said the proclamation was based on a list of sanitary regulations sent to this flood - stricken community by state health authorities.

Swing To Trim Look Sweeping All Age Groups

From college senior all the way down to first grader, the trend to the "neat, trim look" is in full swing for the coming school term. Gone from the classroom and campus scene is the "sloppy look" of yesteryear, with no regrets whatever from parents, who have long looked askance at many of its unsightly extremes.

The current trend to neatness does not in the least detract from the importance of sports clothes in the back-to-school picture. Quite to the contrary, it gives them new importance as the "basics" of classroom and campus attire.

Sports Clothes Coordinated

Sports coats, zipper-front jackets, blazers (now enjoying a sharp resurgence of popularity in college and high school circles) and sport shirts along with plenty of slacks (flannels, covert and chino) all figure prominently in this year's back-to-school wardrobe.

The essence of the "neat, trim look" resides in properly coordinating these various items of apparel, and in so doing, boys of all ages can learn the elements of good taste in attire and form correct habits of dress.

Teachers welcome the "new look" in students clothes for its psycholigical influence in fostering neat and orderly habits of work and application to studies.

The new favorite among outercoats for boys in all age brackets is the short coat, in rugged, nubby tweeds.

In contrast to the dary colors of the fall suits, medium value colors are the leaders in both the short and longer coats. Small two-color weave patterns with random of two colors: charcoal with brown and charcoal with navy blue.

For his after-school play (in sharp contrast to this year's classroom attire) Junior will once more trasting colors are typical.

Charcoals Popular

Boys and parents alike should note the charcoal brown and charcoal blue wool flannel suits when shopping for school. These have the rich formality of the charcoal grey flannels, with an added touch of interest in the close blending nubs (small balls of wool) in con- climb into his durable denim jeans, topped off with cardigan or pullover sweater.

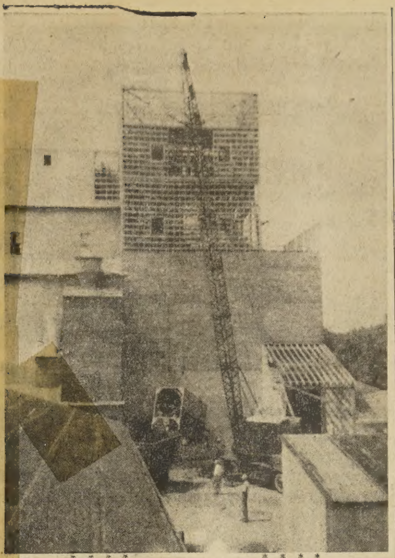
Chrysler Reaches New Contract Settlement With Auto Workers



Extensive Columbia Grain Co. Expansion Nearing Completion

An extensive program of expansion at the Columbia Grain Co. in this city is nearing completion, and manager Royal Clapp states the work will be completed in time to receive the 1955 corn crop.

In the accompanying photo above, a two and one-half ton corn cleaner is being lifted 70 feet up the outside of the new structure to be placed inside through the large opening near the top. The corn cleaner was placed in the shell of the large addition to the elevator last week by the L. L. Griffin & Sons firm from Fort Wayne. An 80-foot boom was used to lift the corn cleaner to that height.

This piece of macnmery will clean up to 1600 bushels of shelled corn per hour, and after the grain is passed through the machine it will be distributed downward into bins. The cleaner will be located 85 feet off the ground.

Handle Grain Faster

With the addition to the local elevator, purchased grains will be handled in a much faster manner A driveway will pass through the structure and grain can be dumped into three pits. During the rush seasons of wheat harvest, corn harvest, etc. the grain can be bought, unloaded and moved away as fast as it can be unloaded. When the rush of corn buying begins, the corn will be dumped shelled, cleaned and placed into bins at the rate of 1600 bushesl per hour. The elevator will also be able to handle wheat as rapidly as it can be unloaded, Mr. Clapp states. There are 12 overhead bins in the new structure which will hold a total of 36,000 bushels of grain.

The driveway will be left in the present elevator structure, and the purchase of grain will not interupt the custom grinding operations, nor will the purchase of grains interfere with the grinding, as the operations will be handled in different driveways.

New Offices

Besides the addition to the elevator, a larger office building was constructed, and new scales were installed. The new scales is an automatic, electric 50-ton unit with a 45-foot outside deck.

Construction work on the new addition was started March 15. Contractor Oscar Sheets did the cement work on the foundation, and Bontrager Construction Co. of Goshen built the frame work.

Mr. Clapp purchased what is now the Columbia Grain Co. from Mrs. John Kunberger on November 1 1936 and has operated it since that time. On April 1, 1955, the firm was incorporated with Royal Clapp, president; Douglas Clapp, vice-president; and Warren Clapp, assistant secretary-treasurer.

A date for an open house at the elevator will be announced later.

Paul Patterson Named President Of Principals

Administrators Vote To Hold 8-County Teachers' Institute

Paul Patterson, principal at Larwill school, was elected president of the Whitley County Principal's Association at a meeting Tuesday in the office of Harry T. Yoder, county superintendent of schools. Woodrow Inks, principal at Churubusco was elected secretary-treasurer and Eudolph Holycross, Jefferson Center was chosen as food distributing agent for the school urary in Fort Wayne. The second lunch program.

In other business, the principals voted to participate in two teachers institutes during the school year. One will include eight other counties and will be held in February in Fort Wayne. Tt-Lh institute will include county schools only and will be held in March.

The schedule for driver training instructions at the various schools was announced at the meeting The schedule will be Monday at South Whitley, Tuesday at Jefferson and Coesse, Wednesday at Larwill, and Thursday and Friday at Churubusco. Everett Juillerat is the driver training teacher.

Mrs. Florence Sinninger, county nurse, appeared at the meeting and spoke on plans for the immunization program at the schools during the 1955-56 school year. She also announced that chest x-rays will be made of students in grades 10-12 sometime after January 1, 1956. It is also planned to conduct the tuberculosis patch test among students in the other grades, however no definite date has been set for the program.

The principals announced that

Regional Social Security Officer Explains Benefits Of Law At Kiwanis Club Meeting

The general benefits afforded by Social Security were explained at the Kiwanis Club meeting Wednesday night by Harry Miller, assistant manager of the Regional Office of Social Security, Fort Wayne.

Miller explained that the Social Security law is 20 years old this year. The original law was changed by amendments in 1939, 1950 and 1954.

Various coverages under the law include old age assistance, which is state and county supported and administered by county welfare departments. Another type is unemployment insurance, which is distributed by the state also The largest type of coverage, however, is Old Age and Survivors Insurance, which is supported by the employe and his employer and is administered by the federal government.

The primary purpose of the latter type of security insurance, Miller explained, is to replace earnings lost by a person who retires The coverage also includes a number of death benefits. Assuming the wage-earner was fully covered, he would receive a monthly benefit payment at age 65 or upon his death, his widow would receive a monthly payment.

Death benefits to the widow before she is 65 is based upon the number of surviving children under age 18. After age 65, she receives the full monthly benefit.

The law also provides benefits to dependent parents--those who were at least 50 per cent dependent upon a child for support before his death. Such a parent receives monthly benefits upon reaching age 65.

Retirement Benefits

Retirement benefits under the social security law depend upon how much a person is earning if working and whether he or she has earned full coverage. To receive full retirement benefits, a

West Ends Talks With Russia Today On Disarmament

Will Meet Again Next Tuesday

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The West ends four days of disarmament talks with Russia today with little hope of getting Soviet views on President Eisenhower's military inspection plan before next week.

The five-national United Nations disarmament subcommittee, after a brief meeting was scheduled to adjourn for the Labor Day weekend and meet again next Tuesday.

Western experts believe Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev would have to confer with Moscow before making any firm reply to the Eisenhower plan, which includes exchange of military blueprints, aerial inspection and Soviet - backed ground inspection teams.

Talks Next Week

American disarmament expert Harold E. Stassen said he did not expect the Eisenhower plan to be discussed in substance until next week.

Informants said the secret sessions, also including Britain, France and Canada, were conducted in friendly fashion.

Stassen said he believed progress was being made. "All governments are agreed that ground inspection must be included in any plan," he said. Such agreement "is an important fact at this early stage.'

But he pointed out there was no agreement as to the extent of on-the-spot inspection to be allowed, the number of inspectors to be used, the scope of the inspection or the power of the inspectors.

Position Made Clear

The delegates met for two hours Wednesday. It was understood that Stassen made it clear to Sobolev that American acceptance of the Soviet proposal for ground inspection did not mean the U.S. would give up President Eisenhowers plans for aerial inspection of each other's territory and exchange of detailed military information.

France's Jules Moch asked pointedly why the plan was limited to the United States and Russia. He argued that France, as a strategic continental power, deserved a major role in any disarmament program from the outset.

Peron Emerges Stronger Than Ever From Crisis

Which Began When He Offered To Resign

By WILLIAM L. F. HORSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—President Juan D. Peron emerged stronger than ever today from ten drama-packed hours of crisis which began when he offered to resign and ended when he withdrew the offer with a pledge of violence against his political enemies.

Peron, in one of the most violent speeches of his career, made it clear the political truce was at an end. He gave permission to Peronistas to kill anyone rising against the government and he promised to "reply to violent action with more violent action.'

A general strike called by the six-million member General Confederation of Labor (CGT) to protest his resignation was called off today and Argentina began returning to normal. Strong police reinforcements guarded key points but no trouble was reported.

Freak Train Accident

The only casualties were seven persons killed and 31 injured, victims of a freak train accident at the village of Tucuman.

The victims, railroad workers en route to Buenos Aires to attend the mass rally for Peron at the Plaza de Mayo, were sitting on the roof of an overcrowded train. The high tension wires of a trolley line decapitated some of the victims when the train passed underneath it and flung others against big advertising posters lining the track.

Had Peron insisted on resigning Argentina would have been without a government, a congress or courts. Members of the supreme court, the vice president, Peronista senators and deputies en masse threatened to quit if he did. The CGT said it would continue the general strike indefinitely.

The signal that the immediate crises had passed was given by the great siren of the newspaper La Prensa after Peron stood on a balcony overlooking the plaza

Flanked by the heads of the three armed forces and promised the Peronistas to exact five-fold vengeance for all followers who fell in the hands of his political enemies.

Permission To Kill

One of the most violent statements of the violent speech came when he granted permission for Peronistas to kill anyone rising against the constitution, law and the legal government.

Awards To All 4-H Girls Who Were In Parade

The custom of recognizing all 4-H Girls who march in the parade at the Fair, will be continued this year by the Citizens State Bank, Forrest Orr, the president, has announced. It has been the practice of the bank for many years past to present a useful 4-H souvenir to the girls at the township recognition meetings held throughout the county during October. The purpose has been to encourage club members to march as well as to compliment them on their appearance.

Friends of the 4-H girls often point to the encouragement given the livestock clubs by public spirited citizens and say the girls who work equally hard are not similarly recognized, it is reported. The Citizen Bank's awards to the marching girls, many of whom make special costumes, are intended to help equal the score. The 4-H girls, their leaders and the Extension office have all been very grateful to the business men who have demonstrated interest in the girls program, states County Agent B. V. Widney.

Firms and individuals of this and neighboring towns support the 4-H activities with cash expenditures of one kind and another in the form of purchases, merchandise, premiums, and the like, according to the county agent. It is fine to have such good co-operation, he adds.

Every Man Responsible For Traffic Safety

The old saying that "Every man must sweep his own doorstep" has a definite application to our present day traffic troubles. For too many years, says Indiana Traffic Safety Foundation, we have sought refuge in the myth that traffic safety is the responsibility of public officials.

Our past records show beyond question the resluts of such faulty thinking. It is the responsibility of every one of us that uses the streets or highways. Trying to dodge our part of the responsibility for the safety of others and ourselves has added to the terrible price we pay annually for motor transportation.

Let's get first things first Let every man sweep his own doorstep and he will meet with surprisingly little traffic trouble on the road today.

Senators Agree Security Program Needs Improved

To Protect Rights Of Employes As Well As Government

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senators of both parties said today that three days of hearings convinced them the administration's personnel security program needs improvement.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC), chairman of a Senate Civil Service subcommittee investigating the security setup, said the hearings showed the program "is being run in a "slipshod fashion." He said it "needs a general overhaul to protect the rights of employes and to protect the government against infiltration."

Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan) said the hearings, which recessed Wednesday, showed "grounds for improvement" in the program and furnished the "basis of some recommendations to Congress." He said the subcommittee would have to work out specific proposals later.'

Though they agreed on the need for improvement, Johnston and Carlson clashed on another count. The South Carolina Democrat accused the administration giving information to Carlson but withholding it from the subcommittee.

Johnston pointed his finger toward the seat at Carlson's elbow, occupied during the hearing by Roger Robb, Washington attorney, and said the administration had been "feeding information through him to Carlson.'

Robb earlier turned aside newsmen's questions about his role and said no one was paying him for his work. He was attorney for Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott in the investigation which led to Talbott's resignation because of outside business activities. Last year Robb was counsel to the personnel security board qlich investigated J. Robert Oppenheimer and ruled against that atomic scientist.

Johnston's blast came after Carlson asked questions of witnesses in a manner indicating he had information about their security records.

Police To Conduct School's Open Safety Campaign Friday

The city police department will wage an intensive "School's Open Traffic Safety Drive" Friday in an effort to protect children returning to school Tuesday from accidents, it has been announced by Lee Gross, chief of police.

The drive will be held this weekend in conjunction with a campaign to reduce Labor Day holiday traffic accidents.

Members of the police department will be stationed on Van Buren street north of the Courthouse. Yellow cards, three by five inches in size, will be distributed to each passing motorist. The card is headed with City of Columbia City, Indiana, Department of Police and reads as follows: "Our schools are open again; Please help protect our children; Because children aren't always careful. But you can be! Drive slowly in school areas; Slow up for all intersections. If you spare a minute, You may save a life!"

Gross had originally planned to conduct a separate "Schools' Open" safety campaign Thursday However, since the police and Whitley county sheriff's office will co-operate with the Columbia City Jaycees in the Labor Day traffic safety campaign, the school warning drive will be held at the same time.

For the latter program, a station will be set up Friday afternoon, Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Van Buren street site. City and County police and members of the Junior Chamber will distribute copies of a new safe driving pamphlet to motorists.

They identified the Americans as Wilfred Cumish of Amesbury, Mass., Sidney Ray Sparks of Tenille, Ga., Frederick Johnny Hopkins (no home town given) and a man named Grisham.

The returning prisoners who arrived at Boeslau by train this morning, said the Americans were being held at the Soviet Bikovo prison camp near Moscow.

Roger Fisher Wins Award As Safe Cyclist

Is Fifth Winner In Courtesy Campaign

A safe bicycle rider has been selected as deserving of the Chicago Motor Club courtesy campaign award winner.

Roger Fisher, Columbia City high school freshman and son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Fisher, 113 Maple street, was named the winner of a $5.00 cash award and safety certificate.

Roger is a newspaper carrier for the Post & Commercial Mail and was observed for the past several days as he approached and left the paper office by Bob Fahl, the judge making the selection. On different days when Roger was seen riding his bike to the paper office, he rode on the proper side of the street and, when having to make left turns, did so in a cautious manner after giving the proper hand signal. While delivering his papers, Roger does ride his bicycle on the sidewalks, but he has been observed showing a courteous attitude toward pedestrians with the realization that bicycles are to be ridden in the street. His paper deliveries are made in the residential areas where sidewalk traffic is not heavy as it would be in the business district.

Roger is out for the high football team and rides his bike to the morning and evening practices, in addition to his paper route. He has followed a safe practice for bike riders in that he has installed front and rear lights on his bike. His lights are powered by a 6-volt battery and can be seen for a least 500 feet—he thinks they are visible at a greater distance than that.

Six Hours After Strike Deadline In Seven States

Gives Same GAW Benefits As Ford And General Motors

By LEE LINDBERG
United Press Staff Correspondent

DETRIT (UP)—Chrysler Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers union agreed today on a new three-year contract giving 139,000 striking employes the same guaranteed wage benefits that Ford and General Motors granted earlier this summer.

The settlement came a little more than six hours after a midnight strike deadline sent workers streaming out of 61 Chrysler plants in seven states.

The union said the settlement automatically signalled the end of the first major Chrysler strike since its plants were shut down by a 100-day walkout in 1950.

Settle Key Issues

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer who has been pinch-hitting for CIO President Walter Reuther as head of the union's bargaining team, said the union would do everything possible to "get the workers back on the job as quickly as we can."

Settlement of two key issues paved the way for agreement on the new Chrysler pact — a union demand that white collar workers be included in the jobless pay plan and the question of the effective date of the contract.

The union scored a victory when the company agreed during the post-deadline to include 8,000 office workers in the "guaranteed semi-

Wabash Judge Stresses Dangers Of Varied International Treaties To Self-Government

Byron C. Kennedy, judge of the Wabash Circuit Court, was guest speaker at the Columbia City Rotary Club meeting Wednesday evening. Judge Kennedy's subject was "The Threat Of Treaty Law". The "treaty law" drawing the attention of Judge Kennedy is that referred to in the Bricker Amendment, which was voted down in the last session of Congress.

Kudge Kennedy maintained in his speech that the multitude of international treaties which our country is entering into through the mechanics of the United Nations is threatening our American freedoms, including the right to local self-government. He said. "For many years Americans have been justly proud of their economic and political independence and their right to govern themselves. Since the establishment of our government under the principles set forth in the Constitution, Americans, through the congress and their various state legislatures, have made their own laws without foreign direction or interference."

Now our right to self-government and the very integrity of the republic is threatened by the program of "treaty law" contemplated by the so-called international "Bill of Rights program" of the United Nations. When actually read and analyzed, these noble United Nations proposals in the field of human rights follow the same pattern in that they are predicated on the un-American theory that our basic rights may be changed and modified and policed by international action, and our social and economic policies defined and fixed by international declarations and treaties.

Supreme Law of Land

Ordinarily the average citizen took very little interest in treaties between the United States and foreign countries, one reason being that citizens knew nothing about many of the treaties until they had already been signed. We assume that these international engagements could not result in any substantial infringement of our individual rights as citizens or destroy our American form of government. However, we need only to read Article VI of the Constitution, which provides - "All treaties shall be the supreme law of the land and anything in the Constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding" - to realize the possible dangers of international

Peron made no direct reference to his feud with the Catholic Church, but he said his opponents were using "various pretexts—liberty, justice, religion, any other thing they can use as a shield" to try to turn the clock back to 1943 (when Peron began his rise to power.)

Zollner Reveals Plans For Million Dollar Expansion

Will Add Foundry To Present Plant

FORT WAYNE, Ine. a)up)—The Zollner Machine Works today announced plans for a million-dollar expansion project with the addition of a permanent mold alumnimum foundry adjacent to its present plant here.

Fred Zollner, president of the piston manufacturing corporation, said the foundry would be completely mechanized and is expected to be finished by Feb. 1, 1956. It will add about 300 workers to the firm's payroll, bringing the total to about 1,000.

Zollner said purpose of the foundry was to "increase manufacture of pistons in truck and heavy duty field, produce pistons for passenger car accounts which purchase pistons in the form of castings and produce diversified products requiring high strength."

Number Of Hoosiers Idle In Industrial Plant Strikes Grows As Studebaker Strike Begins

By UNITED PRESS

The number of Hoosiers idle in industrial plant strikes grew to about 37,500 today as 9,000 CIO United Auto Workers walked off their jobs at the Studebaker-Packard plant in South Bend.

For a few hours early this morning, the Indiana strike-idled totaled about 54,000 as 16,400 Chrysler Corp. workers struck at plants in Indianapolis, New Castle, Evansville, and Kokomo. But those UAW members ended a brief walkout before many of them were due for work as a new contract settlement was reached in Detroit.

Picket lines bloomed at Studebaker at midnight when a contract expired. Two days ago, the workers favored a walkout by a 90 per cent vote. They turned down a last-minute request by the company for a strike deadline extension.

"Complete New Contract"

"We're negotiating a complete new contract," a union spokesman said. He said the union would seek a "pattern settlement" similar to that negotiated with Ford and General Motors, including a guaranteed annual wage, and settlement of a long-standing work standard dispute.

The company's introduction of new work standards in the South Bend plant resulted in a layoff of more than 1,000 workers. It was the source of numerous wildcat walkouts during the summer.

Union spokesmen said contract talks, which were broken off Wednesday, probably would be resumed soon, although probably not today. They said most of the issues were still "up in the air."

No significant progress was reported in marathon negotiations in the International Harvester strike which has idled about 11,179 Hoosier UAW workers in plants at Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Evansville and Richmond.

"National Issues" Settled

However, a mediator in Milwaukee said all "national issues" have been settled in the UAW dispute against Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. But local issues prolonged a strike of 1,100 workers against the firm's Terre Haute plant.

No new developments were reported in the UAW walkout at the Bendix plant which earlier idled about 9,000 at South bend.

Also out were 2,200 AFL workers at the Crosley Division of Avco Manufacturing Co. in Richmond; 1,300 UAW members at the Budd Co. in Gary, 2,164 UAW workers at the Perfect Circle Corp. plants in New Castle, Hagerstown and Richmond, 400 CIO Steelworkers at Durham Manufacturing Co. in Muncie and 230 AFL Teamsters at the Indianapolis Glove Co., Indianapolis.

In smaller strikes around the state, 97 are out at the Vincennes Steel Corp., Vincennes; 150 at the Bremen Grey Iron Foundry, Bremen; 85 at the American Screen Products Co., Plymouth; 90 at Lafayette Foods, Lafayette; 17 at Henley Greenhouse, Terre Haute; 15 at Morris Waste Material Yards, Kokomo, and 9 at Transit Sales, Indianapolis.

worker must not earn more than $1,200 per year while he is over 65 and less than 72. This requirement applies only to wages and not to earnings from investments.

To be covered for future benefits, one must have been in work coming under the social security law for a certain length of time. Basing the requirement on quarters of a calendar year, roughly three months, a person's coverage is determined by the type of work he was in.

Coverages Explained

Four quarters of coverage are given for a year in which one made $400 or more in net earnings from self-employment. After 1954, one quarter of coverage was allowed for each $100 in cash wages received as a farm employe but no more than 4 in one year. For other kinds of employment one quarter is given for each calendar quarter in which a person was paid $50 or more in wages.

A person will be fully covered at 65 or upon death if the number of quarters of coverage is at least half the number of calendar quarters passing since December 31, 1950, or since age 21, whichever is later.

Quarters of coverage may have been earned by working as an employe any time after 1936 and by self-employment after 1950, Miller explained. At least six quarters of coverage are necessary in every case; 40 quarters of co)verage insures one for life.

The social security expert passed out booklets explaining the benefits under the current law. He explained that a number of other benefits are allowed under special provisions of the law, which is changed from year to year.

Miller advised workers to have a check made on the status of their social security benefits about every three years. The national office is located in Baltimore, Md. and all permanent records of those covered are kept there.

If you want to reach 70 you'd better Slow Down and Live, says Indiana Traffic Safety Foundation.

Israel Says Its Planes Destroy Egyptian Jets

In Air Battle In Israel Territory

TEL AVIV, Israel (UP)—Israel announced today its jet fighter planes had intercepted and destroyed two Egyptian jets in an air battle well within Israel territory, the second warlike major incident within 12 hours.

The Israeli Foreign Office announced only a few hours before that Israeli troops stabbed into Egyptian territory Wednesday night and wiped out an army headquarters in swift reprisal against "hostile acts" it said brought Egypt to "active warfare."

Maj. Dan Gov, the Israel military spokesman, said the Egyptian planes were intercepted after they had ranged deep into Israel. One was blown up in the sky over the fields of Yad Mordecai and the other fell in flames north of the settlement, he said.

U.N. Meeting Reported

Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the United Nations Truce Supervisory Commission, was reported to have cabled U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold asking for an urgent meeting of the Security Council to head off resumption of the 1948 war.

The Israeli army raiders captured and then destroyed the district headquarters of the Egyptian army at Khan Yunis, an oasis-fortress 15 miles southwest of Gaza and nearly four miles inside Egyptian territory.

It appeared to be the most serious Israeli raid since that of Feb. 28 when Israeli army troops attacked Gaza and killed 38 Egyptian soldiers. Eight Israeli troops died in the Gaza raid.

Egyptian losses in the newest attack were not announced. The Israeli spokesman said one Israeli soldier was killed and eight injured.

Climaxed Border Incidents

Today's air battle and the raid on Khan Yunis climaxed a series of border incidents which were renewed in force after Egypt last Tuesday broke off negotiations with Israel on bringing peace to the Gaza area. Israeli blamed Egypt for the incidents and said Wednesday night's raid was in reprisal.

Major Gov who announced the raid on Khan Yunis said the reprisal action was taken against what Israel considered the nearest source of hostile action — the district Egyptian army headquarters.

An Israeli spokesman said the counter attack against Khan Yunis was carried out on the theory that swift retaliation could attain the goal of preventing the steadily mounting campaign of a slow motion battle of attrition.

Black Flash, 1955 Grand Champion Steer, Goes On Block At Indiana State Fairgrounds

By SAM NEWLUND
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —"Black Flash," the 1955 grand champion steer, goes on the block today at the Indiana State Fairgrounds.

The 1,116-pound ebony beauty, owned by Max Woebbeking, 16-year-old Woodburn High School student, walked off with the fair's top 4-H Club award Wednesday. He and his master blinked before a battery of flash bulbs to climax the fair's first day, dedicated to 4-H activities.

The big Hoosier exposition had the prospect of more perfect weather today, with hopes of a crowd big enough to top last year's paid attendance of 31,373. It was "Press and Publications" day in honor of Hoosier newspapers.

The opening day total of paid admissions was a disappointing 18,171.

Woebbeking, wearing khakis and a cowboy hat, got the steer award from Lt. Gov. Harold Handley, and said he was "glad" about the whole thing. He was reserve champion in 1954.

Plans For Purdue

Woebbeking, son of the H.L. Woebbeking's of Allen County, plans to study agriculture at Purdue University.

His prize steer will be sold to the highest bidder in a Coliseum auction. Last year, "Bumper," 982-pound Angus owned by Ralph Gouchenour, Lafayette, brought $5,928 at $6 per pound.

The reserve championship went to Carolyn Sue Miller, 17, Frankfort, and her 895-pound Angus, "Black Knight." Other finalists were Carolyn Bell, Frankfort, who showed the champion Hereford, and David Jordan, Rensselaer, Shorthorn.

"Black Knight" was Miss Miller's first State Fair entry. She plans to enter Purdue this fall.

Cattle and swine judging continues today and the grand champion barrow contest was the main event. The champion, which last year brought $1,044, will be sold tonight.

Newspapers were honored at the grandstand building, where more than 200 Indiana papers were on versity building's exhibit of historic publications.

Also on tap today were a high school band contest, Boy Scout parade and the opening of "big name' shows at the Coliseum. The midway, now in high gear with noisy barkers and foot-long hot dogs, was expected to help swell attendance.

Variety of Exhibits

Exhibits included everything from tombstones to grand pianos and bottled gas. Sightseers also could buy Davy Crockett hats, have termites exterminated and get a free dental examination.

Other 4-H winners:
Hampshire gilt; Don R. Weber,

Swine: Dick Nash, Sharpsville, Lebanon, Hampshire barrow; Martin Rhinehart, Flora, Duroc barrow; Myron Ridgeway, Wabash Spotted Poland China barrow; Tom Blank Logansport, Chester White barrow and gilt.

THE FARMERS ELEVATOR of South Whitley was the buyer of the reserve grand champion 4-H barrow this year. Walter Penrod bid in the Yorkshire barrow, pay-ing its owner, Carl Mishler, $94.05 for his barrow.

Airport Employe Leaves Bank With The First Big Clue To Two-Year-Old Baffling Mystery

By PAUL T. DIX
United Press Staff Correspondent

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Roger Lind, an airport employe, walked into a Monot, N.D., Bank some weeks ago to cash his paycheck. He left the bank with the first clue to a $300,000 mystery that has baffled the shrewdest investigators in the United States for almost two years.

The clue Lind carried from the tiny North Dakota bank was a $20 bill — one of 17,000 bills paid to the kidnap-killers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease.

In the days that followed three more of the ransom bills turned up. Then they stopped.

It was the first time any of the ransom notes had been seen in circulation since two business associates of wealthy automobile dealer Robert Greenlease stuffed $600,000 into a duffle bag and tossed it from a speeding car near a culvert on a lonely road outside Kansas City.

Two Officers Fired

The ransom, largest ever paid in a kidnap case, was delivered according to instructions of the kidnappers in early October. Within 48 hours the body of Bobby Greenlease was discovered in a shallow grave in St. Joseph, Mo., and Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Heady were arrested in St. Louis for the crime.

When he was captured Hall had thousands of the ransom bills packed in his luggage. The luggage was opened at the Newstead District police station. It held $293,000 of the $600,000 delivered by the Greenlease family.

Hall insisted he had most of the $600,00 with him when he was arrested. The officers who took him into custody, Lt. Louis Shoulders and Patrolman Elmer Dolan, were equally insistent that all Hall's luggage was brought into the station.

The two officers were eventually dismissed from the police force, convicted of perjury and sentenced to prison terms.

They were convicted mostly on the testimony of witnesses who said they saw Hall brought into the police station and that the luggage was not brought in with him.

The mystery of the missing $300,000 grew deeper with the execution of Hall and Mrs. Heady and the insistence of Shoulders and Dolan that they knew nothing more of the missing money.

Ransom Bills Appear

The FBI speculated unofficially that at least half the ransom money might have been burned because it was "too hot." Officially, the FBI said only that the ransom was paid in 13,401 $20 bills and 3,570 $10 bills. Serial numbers of the bills were made public.

For more than a year the mystery of the missing money remained one of the greatest in the history of crime.

Then the mysterious ransom notes began seeping into circulation. After Lind discovered the first missing $20 bill, three other $20 bills were found at the Federal Reserve Bank in St. Louis by FBI agents.

One of the bills was traced to the Union National Bank at Springfield, Mo. A second was traced to the Sedalia Bank and Trust Co., at Sedalia, Mo. There was no indication where the third bill came from.

Workers Not Entitled To Jobless Pay For Wildcat Walkouts

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Studebaker workers were not entitled to unemployment compensation for a series of wildcat walkouts this summer, the Indiana Employment Security Board ruled today.

Referee Douglas Morris made the decision, which could be appealed to the department's review board and thence to the Indiana Appellate Court.

Morris' decision applied only to the week of July 25-30, though the walkouts started July 18 and occurred intermittently through August. About 70 final assembly work-at the Studebaker-Packardpl ers at the Studebaker-Packard plant in South Bend refused to work, thereby idling all 9,000 CIO United Auto Workers.

During the weeks preceding July 25, the workers' earnings exceeded their unemployment benefits rights, so they would not be entitled to jobless pay, Morris said.

During the July 25-30 week, he ruled, they were ineligible "by reason of their participation or and died of a fractured skull.
their interest in, as individuals or as members of the same grade or class, a labor dispute (which) resulted in a substantial stoppage of work.'

A board spokesman said another hearing and ruling would be needed to cover weeks subsequent to July 30 if anyone files a claim for compensation.

White Sox Hits Road Today For Trip That Could Prove Way To Pennant Or Oblivion

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The league - leading White Sox hit the road today for a three-week trip that could prove a happy pennant excursion or a one-way ticket to oblivion.

Manager Marty Marion was the picture of optimism as he shepherded his players eastward.

"We've got the feeling we're going to win now, and it doesn't make any difference whether were on the road or at home," he said. Now that we're out front, we intend to stay there."

The White Sox concluded their home stand on a hopeful note Wednesday when Bob Keegan went the distance to beat the Red Sox, 5-2 for his first victory of the season.

Half-Game Lead

The victory preserved the White Sox' half-game lead over the Yankees and Indians, both of whom also won.

The Yankees stayed on the heels of the White Sox by beating the Athletics, 11-6, while the Indians remained tied for second place with the Bronx Bombers by beating the Orioles, 5-1.

Mickey Mantle's 35th homer plus round-trippers by Irv Noren and Gil McDougald helped Tommy Byrne to his 13th victory although the veteran southpaw needed Don Larsen's help in the ninth when Kansas City erupted for five runs.

Southpaw Herb Score pitched a three-hitter and struck out 13 Baltimore batters in registering his 14th victory but Oriole reliever Skinny Brown stole the spotlight from him by pitching hitless ball after taking over from starter Bill Wight in the first inning.

Logs Strikeout Record

Score ran his season strikeout total to 209, becoming the first rookie pitcher to strike out more than 200 batters since Grover Alexander did it in 1911. He also became the first major leaguer to fan more than 200 since Bob Feller did it in 1946.

In the National League race, the Braves exploded for four homers to beat the Dodgers, 13-8.

The Giants eliminated the Redlegs from the pennant race by beating them, 5-0, on Ruben Gomez' seven-hit pitching.

Johnny O'Brien's 10th inning single scored Preston Ward and gave the Pirates a 4-3 decision over the Cardinals as southpaw Lino Donoso won his first game since July 16.

Stan Lopata and Jim Greengrass hit homers to help the Phillies beat the Cubs, 13-2. Murry Dickson went the distance for his 11th win.

Nashua Beats Swaps In Winner Take All Race

CHICAGO (UP) — A "right' horse beat a "wrong" horse in Nashua's 6½-length triumph over Swaps in their $100000 winner-take all match race and today Swaps' owner Rex Ellsworth wanted to know why he had the "wrong" one

"I don't know what was wrong" he said "Maybe in a couple of days or so we'll know better All we know is that he wasn't right'

But right or wrong Swaps' chance to be acclaimed as three-year-old of 1955 went glimmering when William Woodward Jr's colt came winging down Washington Park's long home stretch under a whipping prod from jockey Eddie Arcaro

Nashua's Ninth Win

It was Nashua's ninth win in 10 starts this year and it avenged his only 1955 loss by a length and a half to Swaps in the Kentucky Derby at the same distance — a mile and a quarter

Arcaro broke Nashua out of the gate in front Swaps came at him twice and failed both times After a half mile under jocke yWillie Shoemaker's urging he fell short by a neck With a quarter to go under a whipping he couldn't gain ground on the outside of the inside and Nashua won going away

The victory was a major conquest for Nashua pride of the East before his match race win despite his loss in the Kentucky Derby The $100000 prize put him less than $20000 short of a new record for earnings in a single year with $689700 so far this season compared to Citation's three-year-old record of $709407

Surpassed By Two

Also the prize vaulted Nashua to third place in the all-time money-winning column with a total of $882565 surpassed only by Citations lifetime earnings of $1085-760 and Stymie's $918845

Swaps unbeaten in eight 1955 starts prior to Wednesday's downfall was the heavy favorite of the crowd of 35262 With only win betting allowed $174737 was wagered on the race $107359 of it on Swaps to make him the 1-to-5 favorite while Nashua was the 6-to-5 underdog But the backers of the Woodward entry were rewarded with $4.40 for each $2 wager.

Jackson Wins Second Victory Over Charles

CLEVELAND (UP) — Heavy weight contender Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson fresh from his second victory over ex-champion Ezzard Charles said today "I want a title fight at Miami in February"

Thirty-four-year old Charles who gave Tommy much stiffer competition in the arena Wednesday night than he did in their first fight at Syracuse N Y on Aug 3, declared. "I won't retire. I'll keep on fighting I thought I won"

Ezzard was on the verge of a knockout in the 10th round when his pitter-patter dancing opponent suddenly turned slugger and thrice sent the ex-champ lurching nearly to the canvas Jackson's youthful stamina gave him an impressive victory at the finish

The "Hurricane' from Far Rockaway, N. Y. not only added lustre to his status as third-ranking contender but he received a purse of his career

Ezzard whose right eye was nearly closed in the ninth round landed the more damaging punches during most of the bout He hurt his lanky opponent with smashes to body and head in the first, second, sixth ,seventh and eighth sessions Despite his improvement over their first fight he was far from his old-time form

As the former champion tired in the late going Jackson did plenty of leading in the ninth round when he played a tattoo on Ezzard's face with long left jabs And in the 10th Tommy turned slugger and battered his staggering opponent from corner to corner and from rope to rope It seemed that the referee might step in before the final bell

Jackson's 192 pounds gave him a one-pound advantage over Ez

Hoosier Drivers Score Clean Sweep At Minnesota Fair

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP)—Hoosier drivers, paced by winner Don Carr of Indianapolis, scored a clean race at the Minnesota State Fair Wednesday.

Carr, piloting a Helm Offenhauser, took the checkered flag barely 1½ lengths ahead of runner-up Jim McWithey of Anderson. Third place money went to Bud Randall, Fairmount, Ind.

One spectacular accident marred the race, but driver Harold Burns, of Minneapolis escaped with minor injures. Burns was thrown from his car when it hit a cement retaining wall and hurtled into an outer wall.

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Tigers have purchased the contract of third baseman Tom Sarna from their Augusta farm club of the Sally League Sarna 21 of Chicago currently is batting 311 and has 17 homers. 311 triples and 2 doubles

Slow Warming Trend As September Arrives

By UNITED PRESS

Indiana weather began a slow warming trend today as September arrived.

But first it dipped into the 40s early this morning and gave Hoosiers in some areas a fore taste of what's coming this fall.

The low was 48 at Fort Wayne and ranged from 50 to 57 elsewhere on the heels of pleasant high temperatures ranging from 69 at South Bend to 83 at Evansville Wednesday.

Today's maximum range was expected to be from 78 to 84, Friday's a little warmer at 82 to 88, and Saturday's a little warmer than Friday's. Generally fair was the outlook for all three days as Hoosiers prepared to celebrate the last summer Holiday, the Labor Day weekend.

The temperatures were a far cry from the first week in September the last two years. An all-time high at Indianapolis of 100 for Sept. 1 was set in 1953, an all-time high of 100 for Sept. 2 the same year, an all-time high of 98 for Sept. 4, 100 for Sept. 5 and 99 for Sept. 6 was set in 1954.

treaties which are proposed hastily.

Judge Kennedy illustrated that point by citing two state laws which were overshadowed by the United Nations chapter. One was a California law prohibiting mixed marriages. Since the United Nations charter is a treaty and provides for "racial equality", mixed marriages are now legal in that state. He cited a specific case which was so ruled.

California also had a law against aliens owning land. Aliens may now own land on the basis of "racial equality" provided in the UN charter. The speaker stated he would not argue whether mixed marriages were proper or whether aliens should own land but he does contend it is the right of the sovereign people of a state to make their own laws.

Judge Kennedy emphasized that this was a problem which every American should be vitally interested in and urged thinking Americans to acquaint themselves with the amendment, stating it would again come before Congress.

annual wage" plan. Both sides gave in on the effective date problem. They agreed that the effective date would be Sept. 1, 1955 ,but yearly pay increases would be moved up to April 1 next year and to June 1 in 1957.

Last of Big Three

Chrysler plant workers under the new contract won the same guar- GM workers The plan guarantees laid off workers up to 65 per cent of their normal take-home pay during ½ year of unemployment.

The Chrysler workers also won 6-cent hourly pay increases for each of the next three years, improved pension, medical and insurance plans, and an additional 8-cent hourly increase for skilled workers.

Today's settlement brought the last of the auto industry's "Big Three" producers into the guaranteed wage fold. Still remaining were the "little three'—American Motors, Studebaker - Packard and Kaiser-Willys.

American Motors contract which covers 24,000 workers in Michigan and Wisconsin expires at midnight tonight. The company and union were expected to settle on basically the same terms as the union negotiated with the "Big Three." The union has begun preliminary talks with the other two members of the "little three" but they have not settled down to steady bargaining.

A regulation regarding children who attend the Indiana State Fair was announced at the meeting. A student may attend the fair one day without being counted absent from school. For a pupil who has an exhibit at the event and must spend additional time there, he may do so. However, to be counted as present at school those days, he must make up the work which he has missed by the end of the first grading period.

Forms for school reports and records were distributed to the principals at the meeting.

Lutheran Pastor Found Innocent Of Heresy Charges

MILWAUKEE (UP)—A young Lutheran pastor has been found innocent of heresy charges but faces disciplinary action nevertheless.

The charges centered around the alleged failure of the Rev. John Gerberding, 33, to accept the literal interpretation of some passages in the Bible, particularly involving the virgin birth and resurrection of Christ.

A trial committee of the United Lutheran Church's Northwest Synod unanimously voted acquittal Wednesday night on seven charges and dismissed an eighth charge.

IH Strikers In Four Indiana Cities Get Holiday Pay Incentive

By UNITED PRESS

International Harvester Co. strikers in four Indiana cities, who make up about a third of 37,500 Hoosiers idled in labor disputes, were given a holiday pay incentive today to get back to work next week.

The company offered nonsalaried CIO United Auto Workers pay for the Labor Day holiday and any future holiday if they work at least one day during the week the holiday is observed. Heretofore, holiday pay was given only if men worked the day before and day after a holiday.

The offer affected plants in six states, including four in Indiana where 11,179 employes were on strike. The plants are in Fort Wayne, Evansville, Richmond and Indianapolis.

An IH spokesman at the Indianapolis plant said the offer was made in letter form Thursday and will be announced officially in Chicago today.

At South Bend, which has the biggest share of strikers, picket lines were maintained at the Studebaker-Packard plant and at the Bendix plant. Nine thousand were idle in each dispute.

Negotiations were broken off indefinitely in the Bendix Aviation Corp. strike, which covered 19,000 UAW men nationwide. At Detroit, a union spokesman said the company broke off talks early today while the union was "optimistic" about chances of settlement.

Martin Gerber, the union spokesman, accused Bendix of "inept bargaining" and said the company is taking a "take it or leave it" attitude.

Elsewhere in the state, a federal mediator called a meeting in an attempt to end a two-month dispute between 2,200 AFL Electrical Workers and Avco's Crosley plant in Richmond.

Also in Richmond, the Perfect Circle strike which has idled 2,164 UAW workers in three cities for six weeks dragged on in a stalemate. No negotiating sessions were scheduled.

Find Three Bills Identified As Part Of Ransom

Of Bobby Greenlease; Are Found In Chicago

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP)—Three $20 bills tentatively identified as part of the $303,720 missing Bobby Greenlease ransom money have been found in Chicago, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said today.

D.S. Hostetter, head of the FBI bureau in Chicago, said the bills were spotted this week at the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

The bills were discovered after the FBI placed agents in the bank earlier this week in hopes of turning up some of the missing Greenlease bills.

It was the biggest break at one time in the search for the missing money which Kansas City auto dealer Robert C. Greenlease paid kidnaper-killer Carl Austin Hall in a futile effort to save his 6-year-old son's life.

A $20 bill identified as part of the Greenlease ransom money was turned up Aug. 4 at Minot, N.D. One bill was found at the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis and last Wednesday FBI agents said two more bills had been discovered at the St. Louis bank.

Hostetter said a task force of FBI agents had been put to work in an attempt to unearth more of the missing ransom bills in Chicago.

Final tests were also under way to make sure that the bills are actually part of the missing ransom money.

South Whitley Industries Merges With Detroit Firm, New Name ChamberlinProducts

South Whitley Industries, Inc. and Wire Assemblies Corporation have merged and the new corporation will be known as the Chamerlin Products Corporation, effective September 1.

The Wire Assemblies Corporation was formed in Detroit in 1946 and in the spring of 1950 the South Whitley Industries plant began operations. The two corporation were in close affiliation, with T. W. Chamberlin, Detroit, serving both corporations as president.

The heater, located in the bath room of the cottage, evidently exploded spraying oil and fire or the ceiling of the room. The fire was confined mostly to the area of the ceiling directly above the heater. The heater was damaged completely and the portion of the ceiling was badly damaged also.

Mrs. Workman said that she discovered the fire after hearing a loud roar, like an explosion.

Firemen of the Four Townships Department were called to the scene, but some confusion about the fire's location delayed them. The fire was mostly extinguished by the Workmans before the firemen arrived.

California Braces For Onslaught From Heat Wave

Blamed For At Least Three Deaths, Five Major Fires

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Southern California braced today for an onslaught from a record heat wave blamed for at least three deaths and five major mountain fires which have inflicted millions of dollars damage.

The sizzling heat, which set an all-time high of 110 degrees in Los Angeles Thursday and boosted temperatures even higher in other Southern California areas, was accompanied by low humidity and created an unusual fire hazard in tinder-dry mountainous areas.

A fire in the nearby San Dimas foothills destroyed 11 structures, some of them in the mansion class, and damaged at least 10 more before it was contained late last night.

Miraculously nobody was killed and only two injured in the San Dimas fire which, fanne dby blast furnace winds up to 30 miles an hour, swiftly cut a swath through Southern Pacific station near the engulfing or charring buildings in more than 200 acres of dry brush, its path.

A butane tank exploded at the foothills and four of its freight cars on a siding were burned. The station was destroyed.

Three other major fires raged out of control in San Diego County and another fire swept mountains near Castaic in Angeles National Forest.

The 110 degrees in Los Angeles Thursday made it the hottest day in the history of the Los Angeles Weather Bureau, surpassing the old mark of 109 degrees set on July, 1891.

No relief from the heat wave is in sight and a high of 108 was forecast for Los Angeles today.

There were three deaths that emergency hospitals attributed indirectly to the record heat.

Israel Announces Egyptians Blew Up Water Well

Ending De Facto Cease Fire Along Gaza Boundary

TEL AVIV Israel (UP)—The Israeli government announced that Egyptian commandoes blew up a water well in Israeli territory today, ending what the United Nations had reported was a de facto cease fire along the Gaza boundary.

Maj. Dan Gov, the Israeli military spokesman, said the latest Egyptian incursion came in the area of Yad Mordecai where two Egyptian Vampire jet fighters were reported shot down Thursday in an air battle with two Israeli jets.

Only a few hours earlier Israel had offered to abide by a United Nations cease fire order if Egypt would halt her attacks in "whatever form." The new attack, marking the 12th straight day of border clashes, would appear to block the Israeli action.

(Reports reaching Cairo said the Arab states of the Middle East had begun mobilizing their military and political forces to support Egypt in its growing clashes with Israel.

Allis-Chalmers, CIO-UAW Also ReachAgreement

On 3-Year Contract Calling For GAW

By LEE LINDBERG
United Press Staff Correspondent

DETROIT (UP)—American Motors and the CIO United Auto Workers today agreed on a new three-year contract which extended the guaranteed wage to the auto industry's "little three."

The settlement automatically signaled the end of an eight-hour strike by 24000 American Motors employes at seven plants in Michigan and Wisconsin.

They went on strike when a midnight deadline passed without an agreement.

With only slight variations, the new American Motors contract follows the Chrysler contract negotiated Thursday and those negotiated earlier this summer with Ford and General Motors.

American Motors matched the Chrysler contract by including office and salaried workers in the jobless pay plan which guarantees workers up to 65 per cent of their normal take home pay during a half year of layoff.

American Motors workers received the same economic package granted by the "big three" producers. It includes 6-cent hourly pay increases during each of the next three years, improved pension, hospital and medical plans and an extra day's vacation.

One feature of the new AMC pact was to provide for 3,000 workers who were "displaced" after American Motors was formed last year through the merger of Nash and Hudson. The workers, who had lived in Detroit most of their lives, quit rather than move to Wisconsin when certain Hudson operations were transferred there.

department to 431.

One-Half Rejected

General requirements for applicants are that they must be residents of the state for one year, between 21 and 30 years of age, and must be high school graduates, in addition to other qualifications. Those found eligible will report to one of three central locations in the state for measurements and written mental tests.

Applicants must be a minimum of 69 inches tall and weigh not less than 150 pounds. About half of those who take the tests are rejected. Only those who make the highest scores are retained for further processing.

Those retained must still meet the stricter final tests of mental and physical examination and character investigations. The character survey is made to determine if those seeking to become troopers have the general fitness required for the position. Proof of honesty, integrity, ability to cooperate with others, and good judgement are all consdiered in determining the men's qualifications for the position.

Best Sent To School

If the applicants survive the mental and character investigations, they will report to Indianapolis for physical examination. The exacting nature of the State Police Trooper's duties require that they "be well porportioned and possess good muscular development", according to the department.

Serious diseases of eyes, skin or other parts of the body will disqualify applicants. Any noticeable deformity of the body and any deviation from a sound physical condition may cause the rejection of those who hope to become troopers.

The men who successfully pass the physical examination appear before the personnel board for a personal interview. They are graded on such items as general appearance, comprehension and judgment. From this group will be selected those men who are to attend the Recruit Training School.

Board Must Approve

During the last week of the eight-week training period, all recruits are interviewed by the Indiana State Police Board. The board approves those who are to receive immediate appointments. Those found unacceptable will be rejected permanently. All others are placed on a reserve list for appointment to fill vacancies which may occur before completion of another training school. Those men not receiving an appointment before they are 35 are declared ineligible.

Applicants are responsible for any expense incurred by them when reporting for tests, physical examination, and to the training school. Trainees at the school do not receive a salary, however each man is given room and board and sufficient funds to defray the expenses of laundry, dry cleaning, toilet articles, and other incidental items.

During his first year on the road, the trooper has a second-class rating and is on probation and may be discharged at any time. If approved by the board for a permanent appointment, he may receive a rating of Trooper 1st Class and may be discharged only on preferment of formal written charges and after a hearing before the board.

The department guarantees nc applicant of being assigned to duty near his home community. According to the board, "It is believed that he can become adapted to the work easier with less interference from his friends and relatives i he is assigned in a strange territory during his first year with the department."

Monthly Salary $290

State Troopers normally work a ten-hour day six days per week. They are subject to call, however, twenty-four hours per day.

The trooper's beginning salary is $290 per month, plus $70 pe. month subsistence, or less than $1.50 per hour. When he reaches trooper first class, he received an additional $10 per month salary

In addition, a trooper receives longevity pay of $10 per month for each three years of service up to a maximum of 30 years. A retirement plan affords a miximum of $180 per month at age 50, after 20 years of service. The retirement age is 55, but the State Police Board may extend this limit in certain cases.

A State Trooper can also secure group life insurance up to $15,000 at a nominal rate, has the available protection of group hospitalization insurance, and has his uniform, firearms and automotive equipment furnished by the department.

All police employes receive 15 days of annual leave with pay one additional day for each year of service after seven years for a maximum of 30 days.

3 Assigned Locally

Indiana State Police personnel periodically attend refresher raining courses lasting one or two weeks. This allows review of past training and affords contact with new developments in police work.

The State Trooper is empowered with new developments in police work.

The State Trooper is empowered with full police authority to enforce all traffic and criminal laws within the State, except local ordinances. The policy of the department, according to Supt. Frank Jessup, is to patrol the roads and to co-operate with county sheriffs in law enforcement.

Three Indiana State Police Troopers are presently assigned to the Whitley County area. They are James Lewinski, Norman Pierce, and Joseph (Wayne) Reese. Lewinski became a trooper September 1, 1954, and at the end of his first year will become eligible for permanent appointment and may become trooper first class. Both Pierce and Reese have served their probationary period and will attain first-class rating September 1, 1955.

Pierce has the longest length of service, having become a trooper May 16, 1952. Reese received his first assignment November 16 1953.

Lewinski, a native of South Bend resides in Churubusco. Pierce resides with his wife and young daughter at 105 Hilltop Drive. Reese resides on R 7.

A major aim of the Red Cross Nursing Services is to teach people how to help care for illness in their own families.

State-Wide Effort To Combat Labor Day Traffic Deaths

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Indiana State Police and the state's Air National Guard joined forces today in an "extraordinary" state-wide effort to sombat Labor Day weekend traffic deaths.

As thousands of Hoosier motorists prepared to hit the road for a final extended summer vacation fling, guardsmen and troopers went on a 78-hour highway traffic vigil.

State Police Supt. Frank Jessup served notice reckless motorists would get a "tough" reception.

"We're taking off the gloves for this one," he said. "Our objective will be to reduce speeds and cut the chance of tragic smashups."

Last year, 19 persons died in Indiana Labor Day weekend crashes, including 6 in a two-car collision west of Tipton.

The concerted safety effort includes police spotters supporting ground patrolmen, "wolfpack" teams of troopers cruising high accident frequency areas, electric timer speed zones operated by troopers, and unmarked prowl cars manned by uniformed state policemen.

Jessup said a squadron of 6 Guard planes and a helicopter would take off at noon to patrol highways and assist in traffic control at congested points. They will be in contact with troopers below by walkie-talkies.

The "air arm" of this operation will be commanded by Capt. Charles B. Roberts, Ellettsville. First Sgt. John W. Webster, Plainfield, will supervise the state troopers who will serev as air observers. observers.

American Motors

These workers, upon retirement, will be paid pensions at the rate of $1.75 a month for each year they worked for Hudson. Workers with 10 years of service would get $17.50 a month. Those with 30 years would get $52.50.

The union, in turn, agreed to delay company payments into a guaranteed wage trust fund until Sept. 15, 1956. This was done to give the company more time to set up a plan for administering the fund and build up a bigger cash reserve. The "Big Three" companies began paying into the jobless pay fund with the effective dates of their contracts.

Today's settlement left only two auto companies still not counted on guaranteed wage contracts. They are Studebaker - Packard and Kaiser-Willys, which along with American Motors make up the "little three."

Kaiser-Willys and the UAW have begun preliminary negotiations but have not settled down to steady bargaining.

At South Bend, Ind., 9,000 Studebaker-Packard workers were out on a strike which began at midnight Thursday when their contract expired and the workers refused to extend it.

A spokesman said the talks were broken off but probably would be resumed "soon."

The AMC negotiations followed closely the pattern set in the union's talks with Ford and General Motors last June and Chrysler Corp. Thursday.

Some 139,000 Chrysler workers in seven states struck for six hours early Thursday morning before negotiators agreed on a contract which extended the guaranteed wage principle to the firm's plant and office workers.

The settlement was reached after numerous recesses and caucuses during which the company made at least three offers and the union at least one counter-proposal.

The first of the series of offers made by the company during the marathon session was presented less than two hours before the strike deadline.

Three-Year Contract

MILWAUKEE (UP)—The Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. and the CIO United Auto Workers today agreed on a three-year contract calling for a guaranteed annual wage and 24-cent package pay boost.

Douglas Fraser, administrative assistant to CIO President Walter Reuther, said the GAW provision in the Allis-Chalmers contract was "the best ever negotiated by our union. About 17,500 employes in five states were covered by the pact.

The GAW formula provides for company payments of 65 per cent of normal take-home pay during layoffs for a maximum of 26 weeks. The GAW formulas worked out with the major auto manufacturers provide for 65 per cent for the first 4 weeks, and 60 per cent for the next 22 weeks, a UAW spokesman said.

Nathan Feinsinger, University of Wisconsin law professor, was brought in as mediator on the contract talks.

The negotiators agreed on all "national issues" for a master contract for the six plants Wednesday, but local problems held up final approval of the pact.

The UAW represents Allis-Chalmers employes at plants in Pittsburgh, Pa., Terre Haute, Ind., Springfield, Ill. Gadsden Ala. La Crosse Wis. and West Allis Wis. The Terre Haute and Springfield plants have been on strike for several weeks because of "local issues," and the other four shut down briefly last week when negotiations appeared at a standstill.

The old contract expired Aug. 1.

France Orders Nine Battalions To Algeria

Where New Clashes Are Reported

PARIS (UP)—France today ordered nine more battalions of troops rushed to Algeria where new clashes with Algerian rebels were reported to have claimed 54 lives in the last 24 hours.

A meeting of top cabinet ministers with Premier Edgar Faure also approved a new program aimed at keeping the rich North Africa territory peaceably within the French empire.

The North African coordination committee, meeting under Faure's direction, made the decisions on Algeria in spite of a split in his government on the peace plan for neighboring Morocco.

The latter, a French protectorate, is the most immediately explosive issue. But Algeria is the toughest long-term problem of France in holding its North African possessions.

Reports received by the committee today said 51 Arab rebels and three loyalists were killed in clashes in Algeria Thursday and Thursday night.

French troops reported they had fought engagements with rebels in an attempt to oust them from their mountain hideouts.

Twenty-five additional casualties were reported from Morocco and Tunisia in the same period. Both are beset with seething anti-French nationalist campaigns.

The new French resident general for Morocco, Gen. Pierre Boyer de La Tour, informed the committee he was making a hurried inspection of the scenes of the worst anti-French uprisings and massacres.

The disorders in Morocco and Algeria claimed an officially estimated total of 2,228 dead. But veterans of North African campaigns estimated the total in the Aug. 20-21 uprisings at more nearly 4,000. They explained that Arab tribesmen normally hide their dead to disguise their actual casualties.

On 10th Anniversary Of Japan's Surrender, Shigemitsu Is Demanding Increased Rights

Editor's note: Ten years ago today Japan surrendered formally to the Allied Powers and World War II came to an end. One of the United Press correspondents reporting the event was Earnest Hoberecht, who is now U.P. Vice President and General Manager for Asia. He has watched Japan's recovery and development during the past decade and in the following dispatch recalls the historic surrender and some of the changes that have taken place since then.

By EARNEST HOBERECHT
United Press Staff Correspondent

TOKYO (UP)—Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu hobbled aboard the American battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay, signed the papers of unconditional surrender, and World War II was over.

On this 10th anniversary of that moment of Japan's complete defeat Shigemitsu is in the United States demanding increased rights and privileges for Japan in her relations with America.

The changes in Shigemitsu's life in the past 10 years illustrate the changes through which Japan itself has passed.

If anyone had told me 10 years ago that Shigemitsu would be in America this week conferring as an equal with the American Secretary of State I would not have believed it.

It would have been impossible to believe any such thing as we sat there on the battleship gun mount and looked down to see Shigemitsu sign where Gen. Douglas MacArthur told him to.

Likewise it would have been hard to believe that Toshikazu Kase, foreign office representative with Shigemitsu, today would be in New York as Japan's ambassador and official observer at the United Nations.

Japan was whipped and on her knees on that day in 1945. The atomic bomb had blotted out any hope of continuing the war.

But the surrender headlines were followed by grimmer news. Victorious American forces swept into Japanese prison camps and learned the fate of tens of thousands of captured U.S. soldiers—death by starvation or disease.

America's war casualties, in the Pacific and European theaters, had totaled more than one-million. Japan counted hers, military and civilian, at more than five-million.

Not long after the surrender Shigemitsu — at the insistence of the Russians — was indicted as a war criminal. Sentenced to seven years in prison, he was paroled after serving less than five.

When he walked out of Sugamo Prison he entered a new phase of his life and symbolized the transformation of Japan from occupation to independence.

Later he again became foreign minister and, on taking office pledged friendship toward America and the free world.

Shigemitsu had gone from surrender table to jail, to freedom and to a high and respected post.

Japan had gone from defeat through occupation to freedom, and to alliance with the Western nations.

Japan is regaining her self respect and seeking what she considers her full rights as a free and independent nation in world affairs. Shigemitsus presence in the United States on this surrender anniversary tells the story as well as anything could.

Columbia City Golf League Ends Season Play With Banquet At Auburn Thursday

Thursday night the Columbia City Golf League held its annual banquet at the Auburn Country Club with 45 League members present out of the 56 members, who played at the Crooked Lake Golf Course during season's play.

Clinton L. Milliken, well known magician from South Bend, entertained the group following the banquet, and also played golf with the local golfers who played 18 holes prior to the banquet. He has been amateur golf champion of South Bend for several years as well as runner-up, and has placed in the top ten in the state.

League play ended on August 24 at the local golf course. Roy Duncan and Clair Reed copped honors in the Monday night league with a 12-3 record and Don Keirn and Vernon Trier posted identical record of 12-3 to win the Wednesday night league honors.

Runners up in the Mondya night league were "Brassie" Phillips and Tony Lefkowicz with 11 won, 3 lost and one tie with next being Charles Johnson and Paul Greiser with a 11-4 record.

In the Wednesday night league Lon Sorey and Robert Bresnahan were runners up with a 11-4 record, and next came Robert Hood and Art Trier, Jr., finishing with 10 won, 4 lost and one tie.

Lowest score posted during the league play was a 35, which Dave Holmes had on several occasions as a substitute player.

The outgoing officers for this year are: Roy Duncan president; Lewis Gregg, treasurer; Pau Greiser, Wednesday night secretary and Jack Gwinn Monday night secretary.

The officers this year have initated a plan of appointing a board of directors who in future years will select the new president. The board of directors appointed are Shinzo Ohki, chairman; Clarence Feist, Lon Sorey and Milt Schubert.

Each year starting next year the outgoing president will become a member of the board and one member will retire.

The president appointed by the board for next year is Paul Morsches, Jr. Other officers will be appointed by the new president a few weeks before league play next spring.

Contenders Begin Final Dash For MVP Award Tonight

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

The four American League contenders begin their final frantic dash to the wire tonight with a coveted "most valuable player" award as well as a World Series pot hanging in the balance.

Competition for the glamorous MVP award is as close as the pennant race itself — and it's obvious a fast finish by Minnie Minoso, Al Smith, Mickey Mantle or Ted Williams could win both. They aren't the only contenders, of course, but they're the "big men" on the contending teams and the most likely vote-getters in the MVP balloting.

Minoso, an early-season disappointment, has been a spectacular performer for the first-place Chicago White Sox in the last month. He's batted safely in 23 of the last 24 games and raised his average to .292.

Smith has played five positions for the Cleveland Indians this year. The 27-year old negro from Kirkwood, Mo., is hitting .305 and has driven in 72 runs while connecting for 20 homers.

Needs September Spurt

Mantle could easily wrap up the award and the pennant for the New York Yankees with a September spurt. Mantle leads the league with 34 homers, has batted in 89 runs and is hitting .305.

Williams, of course, is the current favorite for the award because the Boston Red Sox never resembled a contender until he joined them from "retirement." He's batting .353, has driven in 73 runs and hit 25 homers in 75 games.

The White Sox, still holding an important one-game edge in the "lost" column, open a four-game weekend series with the Indians tonight and then play the Detroit Tigers on Labor Day.

Yankees vs. Senators

The Yankees play at home to the Senators over the weekend and are in Baltimore Monday against the Orioles.

It's the reverse for the Red Sox, who need a spurt without delay if they're going to make it.

In the National League, it's all over but the shouting in the wake of the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-3 victory Thursday over the Milwaukee Braves. The triumph put the Dodgers 13 games ahead of the Braves with 23 games to play and reduced their "magic number" to 10. n other words, a team tlhat's played .649 ball for 131 games must play only .435 ball in 23 contests to clinch.

Southpaw Joe Nuxhall scored his 15th victory despite two homers by Dusty Rhodes and one by Alvin Dark as the Cincinnati Redlegs beat the New York Giants, 7-4.

The Pittsburgh Pirates beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-6, in the only other game and now are only 2½ games out of seventh place.

Sports Briefs

NEW YORK (UP)—The American League pennant race will end in a triple tie if the Chicago White Sox, Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees perform in September as they did in August.

The White Sox had a 17-12 record in August, losing a half game to the Indians and Yankees who each had a 17-11 mark.

The same paces this month would enable the Indians and Yankees to make up the half game by which they now trail the White Sox and produce the first triple tie for a pennant in major league history.

NEW YORK (UP)—Relief pitcher Jim Konstanty and utility infielder Bobby Richardson were recalled from the minors today by the New York Yankees for the American League stretch drive along with eight other players who will report next season.

Konstanty and Richardson, both with the Yankees earlier this season, will report Tuesday from the Richmond, Va., club of the International League after it closes its season. Neither would be eligible for World Series play.

Ordered to report for spring training were pitchers Wally Burnette, Steve Kraly and Ed Cereghino and shortstops Billy Hunter and Woody Held of Denver in the American Association; pitcher Ralph Terry and third baseman Buddy Carter of Birmingham in the Southern Association, and catcher Lou Berberet of Toronto in the International League.

MONTREAL (UP) — Regino (Regie) Otero, pepper pot pilot of the Cuban Sugar Kings, has been named the International League "Manager of the Year" for 1955, Dink Carroll, president of the circuit's Baseball Writers Assn., announced today.

Otero, who moulded a club almost barren of "name" players into a pennant contender, was the choice of 20 out of 35 voting scribes.

Return Of Billy The Kid May Be The Lift Yanks Need

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy the Kid charges back into the lineup today and it could be the winning pennant "lift" for the New York Yankees.

He is the type, this homecoming Billy Martin, who puts a ball club on its toes. He is of the same stamp and calibre of the occasional Eddie Stankys and Pepper Martins.

As ball players they had great deficiencies — but they won ball games.

That's Martin. He is a brash, cocky guy who throws his 165 pounds around like a combination Rocky Marciano and All-American tackle. This is a .260 hitter convinced of his talents to spot the likes of Ted Williams 20 points and beat him for the batting title.

Not that he could. Yet it is the belief which is important in a trade where phlegmatic mediocrity has become the rule rather than the exception.

Great Yankee Need

The return of this breezy, uninhibited competitor comes at a time of great Yankee need. They have, of late, bogged badly from time to time in various departments. One of the biggest deficits concerned the lack of a "holler guy," a raucous needler to get them up on their toes.

There can be no doubt but what needs inspiration from within. n a team which wins the close one provided that impetus. Joe was Californian, Joe DiMaggio, who the pre-Martin era it was another aloof and dignified but when they had him they felt that they would win — and usually did.

Martin gives them that same bold confidence, with comic relief. Suffice it to say that in the three years before he marched away to don khaki the Yankees made it five pennants in a row. He took over in the confidence department when the retiring Joe stepped out.

The stories they tell of Billy would make him appear a man of unlimited conceit. Such as the time he came up from Kansas City in 1951 and, after a period on the bench, Casey Stengel finally put him in a game in the eighth spot in the batting order.

Impudent Rookie Indignant

"What is this, a gag?" asked the impudent rookie.

"Is what a gag?" queried the startled Stengel.

"This batting order," Billy fumed, "You've got me hitting just ahead of the groundskeeper."

Stengel looked at him in wonder and then inquired sarcastically:

"Where do you think you should hit, Mr. Martin? Fourth, maybe?"

Billy looked him squarely in the eye and rasped:

"Where else?"

They still laugh at that in the Yankee locker room. But they also remember that in the 1953 World Series, just before he went away, Billy hammered out 12 hits to tie the series record.

It's in the big ones and in the tight spots that those of the Martin type always seem to come through. Like his catch which put away the 1952 series. And certainly the Yankees are in a parlous position now, squared off in a hectic stretch race with the Indians and White Sox.

So you can't blame them for feeling that the return of Billy the Kid is strictly bad news for the opposition.

Baseball Tourney Slated Here For Labor Day Weekend

Columbia City will host a six-team Labor Day weekend baseball tourney at DeVol Field which will begin Sunday afternoon and end Monday evening with the championship game. Trophies will be awarded the tourney champion team and to the runner-up team.

The Columbia City Merchants team, composed of adult players who have established a season record of 8-9, arranged the tourney. Players on the local Merchants are: Richard Duffield, second baseman; Roy Kilby, shortstop; Dale Gamble, pitcher and outfielder; Jack Cook, third baseman; Emmett Bowie, catcher; Vernon Gamble, pitcher; Bill Moog, center fielder; John Tipton, first baseman; Charles Franks, outfielder; and Junior Bender, third baseman. There will probably be a few other players who will fill in the team roster.

The tourney schedule is as follows:

Sunday: 1:30 - North Manchester vs Indiana - Michigan from Fort Wayne; 3:30 - Roanoke vs Columbia City Merchants.

Monday: 1:30 - Elkhart vs Huntington; 3:30 - winners of first two games; 8:15 - Monday's winners for championship.

Swaps-Nashua Debate Looms Today

CHICAGO (UP) — A Swaps-Nashua debate loomed today that may rival the famous "long count' of the Tunney-Dempsey fight of Sept. 22, 1927.

When owner Rex C. Ellsworth revealed Thursday that his Swaps ran most of the mile and a quarter $100,000 match race with an injured leg; so it has taken much of the luster away from Nashua's 6½- length revenge victory.

Racing fans were already dreaming of a rubber match between the two 3-year-olds when Ellsworth said Swaps apparently injured his leg in the first few strides of Wednesday's racing classic.

The extent of the injury and its exact nature may not be known for several days, trainer Meshach Tenney said.

Swaps' backers can now claim the race was not a fair match, just as boxing fans have claimed through the years that Jack Dempsey was a victim of Referee Dave Barry's long count in the eighth round of their heavyweight championship fight in Chicago.

Gene Tunney got up off the canvas to win a second decision over Dempsey, but the debate has never ended as to which was the better boxer.

William Woodward Jr., owner of Nashua, said he would "always be interested in another race," and if a third meeting could be arranged with Swaps, he would be glad to run Nashua.

"I don't know when Swaps will given a complete rest for an indfinite period, Ellsworth said.

Costa And Bell Collide Tonight

NEW YORK (UP) — Stocky Carmelo Costa and Lanky Bobby Bell collide in the "rubber match" of their "series" tonight in a nationally televised and broadcast 10 round featherweight bout tha opens a new season of Friday night fights at Madison Square Garden.

Speedy Costa, 21, was an 11-5 favorite to defend his No. 4 ranking in the feather division against unranked 26-year-old Bell.

Bell, of Youngstown, Ohio, beat Costa, of Brooklyn, in their first meeting last Dec. 6 and appeared much the stronger. But Costa, after working on his left jab and conserving his energy in training, turned the tables in decisive fashion in their return bout on Feb. 21.

Bell, who had a spotty record before he entered the army, counts his loss to Costa as his only defeat in 11 bouts since leaving the service.

Costa has not lost in four appearances this year, but drew once.

Costa weighed 129½ pounds for their last meeting. Bell 126.

U. S. - Hungarian Relations Under New Strain Today

State Department Makes Accusation

WASHINGTON (UP) — U.S.-Hungarian relations were under new strains today. The State Department accused Hungary of terrorizing the American legation in Budapest and took reprisals against the Communist nation.

The department charged that Hungary has spied on American members of the Budapest legation, including the minister himself, unjustifiably arrested 12 Hungarians employed by the legation and harassed Hungarian visitors to the legation. The United States protested these actions to Hungary July 1, it was disclosed.

In a reprisal action Thursday—approved personally by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles before he left for a two-week vacation—the State Department ordered Hungary to end its distribution of propaganda in this country.

Dulles' action means the Reds will have to suspend publication of their monthly magazine, "New Hungary," and distribution of motion pictures and photographic exhibits.

The United States protested that secret police in Budapest have been "molesting and intimidating" Hungarian visitors as they left the legation. Visitors were detained and, in several instances, were taken to "waiting automobiles, trucks, and taxis, in which they were transported away" the protest said.

The protest added:

". . . A pattern of harassment of legation staff members has been increasingly evident, particularly over the past two months (May and June).

"American members of the staff of the legation, including the American minister, have from time to time been placed under close surveillance with their every move being catalogued."

Bismarck Lions Club To Study Batch Of Pictures

BISMARCK, N.D. (UP) — The Bismarck Lions Club will study a batch of naughty pictures for a Senate subcommittee but their wives want no part of the project.

The Lions' wives agreed in thinking it "a wonderful opportunity for service." But they didn't think they should be included in the study sessions.

Club President J. S. Felvod said Thursday night that the Lions' board of directors had agreed to look over 1,000 pictures described as "pornographic" which were collected by the Senate Subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency.

For A Once-Over

Sen. William Langer (R - ND) had asked the 150 club members to give the pictures a once - over and report whether they were a threat to the nation's youth.

Langer mailed the pictures to the Lions before they had a chance to decide whether they would make the study. Fevold said the pictures had not been received yet.

Club members admitted they had "taken some kidding" about the project and Fevold said that a New York newspaper called him at 4:30 a.m. to "get my reaction about it."

Shrug Off Jokes

But the Lions shrugged off the jokes and Fevold commented he has not received any new applications for membership in the Lions Club.

"The first showing of the picture will be on Sept. 12," Fevold said. "It will be a closed meeting for Lions only. We may arrange closed hearings for the wives also, but they won't sit in with the men."

One of the wives, Mrs. Tom Kleppe, said "I don't think the wives should be in there. It's a wonderful opportunity for the Lions to help, but I don't think the

Bills

Chicago tended to confirm a belief that someone is trying to put the missing ransom money into circulation.

Greenlease paid Hall and his accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Heady, a total of $600,000 nearly two years ago for the release of his son, Bobby.

Instead, Hall killed the boy and was captured while spending the ransom money in a spree at St. Louis. Hall insisted that he had practically all of the ransom money with him when he was arrested. But St. Louis authorities found that $303,720 was missing.

Hall and Mrs. Heady paid with their deaths for the crime. The two officers who arrested Hall, Lt. Louis Shoulders and patrolman Elmer Dolan, are now serving prison sentences on perjury charges in connection with the missing money.

A sharp-eyed young woman was credited with discovering the three bills in Chicago.

The young woman, whose name was not revealed, was one of the federal reserve clerks working with FBI agents at the bank in an attempt to turn up the money.

She glanced at a stack of $20 bills which the girl next to her had already checked. The bill on the top had a number corresponding to that of one of the missing Greenlease bills.

Bank officials promptly ordered a re-check of the entire day's receipts—300,000 to 400,000 bills. The two other bills were then discovered.

Indiana State Fair Sets Attendance Record; Third Day Of Perfect Weather Beams Down

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—The Indiana State Fair chalked up one attendance record today and headed for another as the limelight shifted from champion cows and pigs to transportation.

A "Transportation Day" parade before the grandstand was the early attraction. Fair officials predicted today's sight-seers would total 35,000—nearly 4,000 more than for last year's corresponding day.

The third day of perfect weather beamed on the grandstand where spectators watched a flashy parade of vehicles—and a horse carrying Indianas first saddle mail bag. The weatherman said sunny skies and temperatures up to 80 were in store.

The grand champion steer, many pounds of fancy steaks, was sold to an Anderson supermarket operator for $6,288.

Charles S. Hughes, operator of 11 stores in Indiana and Ohio, bid $5.55 for "Black Flsah," to climax a record-breaking second day at the Fair Thursday.

The glistening black Angus, weighing 1,113 pounds, was entered by Max Woebbeking, 16, Woodburn.

Hughes also bought the reserve champion steer shown by Carolyn Sue Miller, Clinton County, for 78 cents a pound.

Gary Wilson of Wilkinson pocketed $1,230 for his grand champion barrow, purchased by Kingan & Co., Indianapolis meatpackers, for $6 a pound.

On tap today to carry out the "Transportation" theme was a grandstand parade with everything from bicycles to buses.

Vincennes Band Sharp

Officials counted 32,676 paid admissions, the largest Thursday crowd on record. Last year's record turnout was 25,490.

The other Thursday highlight was the annual high school band concert, won by Vincennes High. The blue ribbon was worth $100 in cash.

The fast-stepping crew of 102 youngsters won over 87 other bands parading in brilliant uniforms in front of a nearly-packed grandstand.

Next, in order, came Franklin, Muncie Central and Jeffersonville. North Judson tied for 7th place, Lancaster of Huntington was 9th, Bluffton 19th and Monticello tied for 20th.

The Vincennes band, led by a drum major and two majorettes, strutted with precision "dance" step in dark green uniforms and small white hats. The long line of bands was billed as the largest high school band group ever assembled for a contest.

Champ Purdue-Bound

Woebbeking showed his prize-winning steer to a crowd of buyers and spectators in a corner at the Coliseum. The slim youngster with the cowboy hat said he would use the money to enroll at Purdue University and study agriculture.

"Black Flash" brought the biggest prize since 1949, when a champion steer weighing 1,110 pounds was sold for $6.75 a pound. Last year's winner brought $5,928, or $6 a pound.

Fair goers also flocked to hundreds of industry and farm exhibits, a boys scout jamboree and parade, wild animal show, dare-devil driver's show, and a night-time variety program in the Coliseum.

Ann Holder, 17, Otterbein, won the 4-H grand champion beef showman award. Miss Holder, who won the 1951 grand champion steer award, entered an Angus named "Tiny."

Patsy Walker, Kirklin, won the grand champion 4-H swine showmanship award with a Duroc, and Don Weber, 16, Lebanon exhibited the reserve champion barrow.

Ila Showalter, Bremen, won a free trip to Washington, D.C. She wives should be included."

Jeanine Denk, Indianapolis, won a safety slogan contest with: "The chance taker is the accident maker."

Other 4-H winner; William Smith, Tipton, Yorkshire gilt; Everett Riffey, Buck Creek, Tamworth pig, and Kenneth Newcom, Tipton Yorkshire pig.

Woman Who Killed Her Baby To Be Given Mental Exam

NEW YORK (UP) —Authorities said they would recommend observation in a hospital mental ward today for a young mother who drowned her baby in his bath water "to stop his crying" and then made up a wild kidnap story.

Mrs. Christina Tegerides touched off a full-scale kidnap alert with her hysterical story that a diaper service saleswoman had cut her with a knife and taken her 2-month-old baby, George.

The alert was called off after several hours when the baby's body, wrapped in a blanket, was found in a closet shelf of the woman's home. Told of the discovery Mrs. Tegerides said the the baby had drowned accidentally during his bath.

Later, the woman confessed that she became nervous when the baby started to cry during his bath and drowned him.

"I didn't like the crying so I put him under the water to stop his crying," she said. "I feel very sorry for what I did."

"She's a very sick woman," one police official said. He said even after the baby's body was found Mrs. Tegerides would talk as though he still was missing.

Mrs. Tegerides said she began the baby's bath shortly after her husband, Andrew, went to work Thursday morning as a counterman in a luncheonette. She said after she drowned the baby she tried to give it artificial respiration but hid the body when it failed.

She said she thought about it awhile and then invented the kidnaping story. She used a paring knife to cut and scratch her arms and then ran screaming to her mother's apartment upstairs.

The district attorney's office said Mrs. Tegerides had been treated recently for a mental disorder.

the Arab governments to consider what measures could be taken to assist Egypt. He also summoned the U.S. ambassador in Damascus and protested the Israeli military actions, the reports said.

(Unconfirmed reports in Cairo said Syrian outposts across the Israeli-Syrian border Thursday opened artillery fire on Israeli positions near Jenin. No casualties were reported.

(In Amman, capital of Jordan, Premier Said El Mufti conferred with commanders of the Arab Legion and the national guard over the Gaza situation.

(A report from Baghdad said Iraqi Chamber of Deputies President Tewfik El Moukhtar urged the Arab states to rally to the support of Egypt. Egypt thus far has not requested Arab aid, but it believed public opinion in the Arab world would strongly demand the Arab governments rush to the help of Egypt.)

Military attaches from the Western embassies in Tel Aviv journeyed to Yad Mordecai to inspect the wreckage of two Egyptian planes downed there in Thursday's battle.

Effects of today's raid on the United Nations efforts for a cease-fire along the Gaza border was not officially known.

Michael Elitzur, spokesman for the foreign office, said earlier Israel would not undertake any hostile military action against Egypt if that country's government desists its guerrilla warfare. But he reiterated Israel's previous stand that acceptance of a cease fire was conditional on Egypt's undertaking to maintain peace on the borders.

Ike Is Aloof To Speculation Over 1956 Plans

DENVER (UP)—President Eisenhower, aloof to a renewed wave of speculation over his 1956 plans, today began a carefree weekend golfing reunion with old links companions of the Augusta (Ga.) National Country Club.

The President—at least publicly—ignored the wave of conjecture that followed a White House announcement Thursday that GOP chairmen of all 48 states will fly here late next week for a breakfast session with Mr. Eisenhower.

The unusual move was interpreted generally sa the first official indication that Mr. Eisenhower will be identified directly with the 1956 campaign, regardless of his role in it.

But to all outward appearances, the President's attention was, for the time being at least, more on the golf greens than the ballot box.

He had an informal evening with the Augusta delegation after their arrival Thursday night and spent the night at the Brown Palace Hotel in downtown Denver. It was his first night in Denver away from the residence of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud, since he began his extended work-and-play vacation here Aug. 14.

State Announces Child-Safety Program Starting This Week

Gov. George N. Craig has proclaimed the week beginning September 1 as School's Open Week in Indiana.

Backing up the Governor's proclamation, the State Office of Traffic Safety announced an intensive Child-Safety Educational program starting September 1.

A special kit of promotional materials has been distributed to local communities and industries throughout Indiana, and a number of planning meetings are being held in various towns and cities. Safety education troopers of the Indiana State Police and local police and sheriffs departments will spearhead the child-safety campaign.

Over 250 local Parent Teachers groups will actively participate in the programs using a special kit of promotional materials prepared by the Office of Traffic Safety in co-operation with the State PTA group.

Automobile Clubs, fraternal, civic, and industrial groups throughout the State will join with newspapers, radio, and television stations in this all-out drive as children return to school.

J. L. Lingo, State Traffic Safety Director, cautioned motorists "to use their brains instead of their brakes" in driving during this dangerous period. He warned that police will give special attention to checking violators near schools. "Our children are our most precious possessions—yet—one out of every two will be killed or injured in a traffic crash is we let present accident rates continue," Lingo pointed out in emphasizing the need for driver caution during this high accident period.

Safety Experts Say 400 Motorists Will Die During Weekend

By UNITED PRESS

Millions of motorists streamed along the highways today on their way to Labor Day holidays and safety experts said 400 of them would die before the long weekend is over.

The National Safety Council estimated that more than 40 million cars would be on the roads during the period starting at 6 p.m. tonight and ending at midnight Monday.

The estimated 400 deaths was 100 more than the toll for a normal weekend and Safety Council President Ned H. Dearborn called it "a fearful price tag for holiday pleasure."

Weather across the nation was generally pleasant for the holiday weekend, except in southern California where a record-breaking heat wave pushed temperatures far past the 100 mark.

It was warming slightly in the Great Plains, but the weather was perfect for a holiday from the Midwest to the Atlantic Seaboard.

The cool, sunny weather was expected to draw added hundreds of motorists to the roads.

New York City and its suburbs were expected to send 1½ million cars on holiday trips.

In New Jersey, officials planned to set up 222 community ambulances and first aid squads along the highways for their cautioning effect.

Nearly one million motorists were expected to drive out of Chicago during the weekend. Bumper crops of travelers were predicted in other big cities and railroads, air lines and bus companies posted extra schedules.

Community's School Teachers Attend Annual Workshop Today, Purdue Professor Speaks

The Workshop for school teachers of Whitley county and the Columbia City schools was held today in this city and got underway at 9:00 this morning with the welcome address by Superintendent Harry T. Yoder.

Dr. Allon A. Smith, professor of sociology at Purdue University was the principal speaker for the workshop and addressed the general assembly of teachers on the subject, "Principles and Problems on Esprit de Corps, Teacher Morale, Ethics and Related Ideas". Following the address by Dr. Smith, the teachers were divided into small units for discussion of specific problems. The unit leaders were Joe Metzger, Leon Alter, Ruth Luther, Betty White, Robert Forrester, Robert Humbarger, Max Gandy, and Roxie Barcus.

The afternoon program called for continuation of the discussion groups, the reports of the groups, field trips, and the climax of the workshop, another address by Dr Smith on "Personality Problems of Teen-agers".

Address

At the outset, Dr. Smith related his purpose of speaking was to pass on some of her personal ideas which could possibly make better teachers of those attending. He expressed respect to all teachers for selecting the "greatest of all vocations".

In pointing out the responsibilities of teachers of youth, he enumerated that of building - 1. good will 2. character, 3. honesty, 4. good morals, 5. manners, 6. and a co-operative attitude.

Dr. Smith placed particular emphasis on the importance of permitting a child to use his imagination build in himself a sense of belonging, and to help teach him how to study. In illustrating these points he stated a teacher should permit a student to disagree (so long as the student is serious and respectful) without lowering his grades. We do not give our children enough experience in thinking, he said, and added, we should permit them to capture our imagination because facts are forgotten but attitudes are made.

A student must feel a sense of belonging, and with care, a teacher can build within him a feeling of importance. We all must feel a degree of importance if we are to thrive, he declared.

Dr. Smith recalled experiences of acquaintances with college students who experienced serious difficulties and frustrations because they did not know how to study. Students must be taught to read and reason, and teachers can be helpful in that phase of training.

Friendliness in life was stressed by Dr. Smith, and he concluded his speech with the suggestion "Be a friend to youth and youth will reward you in a masterful manner". "Let us always be childlike but not childish - children are honest, free from hatreds, and full of sincerity," was another suggestion of the Purdue professor.

Columbia Dairy Begins Picking Up Bulk Milk At Farms In County

The Columbia Dairy in this city has inaugurated the pick up of bulk milk in Whitley county. This method of gathering milk from the farm is something new for this part of the country, and in exchange for the high original equipment cost, it offers less work on the farm, a premimum price paid for milk on the farm, and higher quality of milk sold by the dairy.

Gene Kitson, owner of the Columbia Dairy, stated the first bulk milk was picked up the local dairy August 8, and now seven dairy farmers in Whitley county have installed bulk tanks. By October 1 he plans on 17 producers with bulk tanks who will provide 2-3 of the necessary supply.

With the installation of a bulk tank, the work is lessened. When using cans, the farmer has to place them on the drain rack after they are returned, empty, from the dairy. When the farmer is ready to fill the cans with milk, he has to remove them from the rack and after being filled they must be replaced in the cooling tank. The bulk tank does away with those chores, which add up to a lot of work in a year's time.

Some of the farms have pipline milking systems which convey the milk directly into the tank from the cows, eliminating any lifting or carrying of milk. Others dump the milk into the tanks, the same as they would dump it into a milk can.

Specialization Trend

Mr. Kitson believes that the move toward the handling of bulk milk is just another phase in the general trend toward specialization in farming. This phase will make for larger dairy herds on the farms where dairying will continue, and will eliminate some of the small herds that could not be maintained economically. He also believes that it will bring about more dairy farming in the county in the long run. All of the Columbia Dairy's 17 producers of bulk milk by October 1 will be in this county.

The bulk tanks on the farm range from 120-300 gallons size. they are refrigerated and have their own individual measuring devices. When the truck driver for the dairy arrives to pick up the milk he will take a sample of milk from the tank which will be used to determine the butterfat content.

Cost Is High

The changing over to the bulk milk method was a big step for most farmers, considering the fact that the changeover represented an outlay of approximately $2,000. In many instances, the farmers would have to enlarge their milk houses and do other extensive work, possibly running the cost to as much as $4,000.

The modern method also required a cash outlay by the dairy in that a tank truck was needed to haul the milk. The dairy purchased a new truck and a 1500-gallon insulated tank with which to transport the milk. The milk is pumped out of the farm tanks onto the truck tank while being picked up and then pumped out of the truck tank at the dairy.

This method of milk handing is another step taken making it possible to provide better milk, Mr. Kitson states.

Mr. Kitson purchased the dairy on October 23, 1945. The operation has grown until the volume of milk used has increased 10 times in the 10 years since 1945. The dairy employes 20 persons and operates a fleet of 13 trucks.

Congressman Adair To Appear At Public Forum Here Oct. 9

The committee is sponsoring the public forum, which is planned to cover issues which will be before Congress when it re-convenes this winter. Among items to be discussed are highway and schoo' construction, farm legislation and Federal finances.

Members of the Public Affairs Committee will form the panel for the forum with a moderator yet to be chosen. The forum is schdeuled for 2 p.m. Sunday. Those on the committee are Riddick, John Whitefeather, attorney, and Hal Olree of the Post and Commercial-Mail newspaper.

Additional details of the October forum will be announced later.

Congressman Adair spoke on farming issues in Congress at the annual Farm Day, July 27, during the Whitley County 4-H Fair.

Langer Warns Against 'Get Tough' Policy

In Punishing Juvenile Delinquents

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (UP)—Sen. William Langer R-ND) today cautioned against a "get tough" policy in punishing juvenile delinquents.

Langer is the senior Republican on the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the West Virginia Bar Asson., he urged society to recognize that the mere jailing of a delinquent "does not automatically reform."

Find Out Why

The answer to rehabilitating a delinquent, he said, is not "punishment for the sake of punishment" but finding out "why he got in trouble' and remedying that cause.

Langer said he was "sorry to say" that some of the demands for a "get tough" attitude toward juvenile offenders come "from the bench and in the editorial columns of otherwise responsible newspapers."

He said the advocates of a "get tough" policy would weaken the juvenile court system. He urged lawyers to defend the juvenile court from "irresponsible — and generally unknowledgeable — charges that it "babies tough kids.' '

Lack Of Social Scientists

He said the real problem with juvenile courts is that they have not been provided "an adequate probation and diagnostic staff of trained and qualified social scientists."

Langer said lawyers could help more with the problem of juvenile delinquency if they had better training in handling the human side of divorce cases and other legal problems connected with broken homes.

He said courses in domestic relations in law schools are often "cut and dried, limited to detailed study of case, common and statutory law — and considered the stepchild of the curriculum."

He said law schools ought to teach potential attorneys to be "the family counsellor" as well as the family legal expert.

Public School Enrollment This Fall Will Show Two Million Increase Over Last Year

By JANE DAY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Public school enrollment this fall will show a two million increase over last year, and the U.S. Office of Education has drawn this gloomy picture of the scene:

A shortage of 138,000 teachers.

At least 500,000 pupils attending half-a-day only because of lack of space.

Thousands of boys and girls reciting their lessons in church basements, lodge halls, city auditoriums and converted Army barracks.

Education officials say the most acute shortage of classrooms this year will occur in the suburbs of metropolitan areas. Population shifts from city to country are sending more and more children to school districts where schoolhouses can't begin to accommodate them.

Barely Keeping Pace

In the heart of some cities there are actually empty classrooms. But a classroom can't be picked up and moved to where it's needed.

School construction has left a heavy tax burden on hundreds of thousands of suburban homeowners. A record 60,000 classrooms have been under construction this year. Most of them are ready for occupancy.

But education officials point out that the rate of construction is barely keeping pace with the annual increase in enrollment. It doesn't begin to cope with the fact that each year scores of school buildings become obsolete and have to be condemned.

Construction of each new classroom costs $35,000, on a nationwide average. Most of the cost must be absorbed locally, or through state aid. Federal aid is available only for schools built on government property.

As enrollment hits a record 32 million this fall school officials will be hiring more than 91,000 teachers who don't meet professional standards. About 40,000 of them don't have college degrees. The rest have degrees but have not had specific training in teaching.

Should Make Effort

The number of men and women who graduated fro mteachers colleges last spring is close to 100,000 but the school systems can count on getting only about 63,000 of them for teaching jobs. The rest have gone into other fields.

Dr. Raymond G. Gibson, chief of teacher education of the U.S. Department of Education, is urging colleges to make greater effort to steer their teaching graduates

Zhukov Family Photo Belies Press Reports

In Europe That Ike Pulled Boner

By WARREN DUFFEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

DENVER, Colo. (UP) — A large full-color photograph o fthe Zhukov family today belied European press reports that President Eisenhower pulled a boner by sending a wedding present to a "nonexistent" daughter of Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov.

The photograph showed Zhukov buxom blonde daughter Ella with other members of the family. Press Secretary James Hagerty told newsmen the photograph arrived at the Summer White House earlier this week.

Hagerty described the picture as a token of thanks for the wedding gifts — a portable radio and a pen on a marble stand. Hagerty said Mr. Eisenhower received a personal note from his war-time Russian friend with the picture. The note was not made public.

Glenn Coolman first began his business career in Columbia City in 1921 on September 13 when he and Guy Mullendore purchased the interest of Arthur Roth in a tire and vulcanizing business. It was located in the same building as Coolman Auto Parts is at present

The firm was known as Mullendore & Coolman and at first tires and vulcanizing were the mainstay of the business. It was known as the "Yellowstone Tire & Vulcanizing Co." until the Old Yellowstone Trail gave way to Highway 30.

In 1945 Mr. Coolman secured the interest of Mullendore and the present firm name of Coolman Auto Parts was established.

The line of merchandise has been enlarged throughout the 35 years of business, until it now contains practically any known auto part or accessory, tires, fishing tackle, Philgas and the making of duplicate keys. Since the end of World War II Mr. Coolman's son, Verne, has assisted in the store, and has operated a photographic department as well.

Coolman was born in Columbia City and later moved to a farm in Thorncreek township where he was raised. He first began employment at the old Harper Buggy Company building tops. Later he worked for several months at the F. L. Myers Creamery and then at the Peabody Lumber Co.

In 1918 he entered the U.S. Army and was discharged following the Armistice. He is a member of American Legion Post 98 and is a past commander of the local post. He is also a member of the Eagles, Elks and Moose, and is now serving as Governor of the local Moose Lodge.

Glenn's hobby is fishing and he spends a large amount of his "spare" time in the summer months at his cottage at Little Cedar Lake.

Finding Ransom Bills Now Spurs Hunt In Nation

For Rest Of Greenlease Bills

CHICAGO (UP)—The jackpot discovery of five of the missing Greenlease ransom bills in Chicago spurred a nationwide hunt for the rest of the missing fortune today.

The five bills were turned up in an FBI search of the hundreds of thousands of bills passing through the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. Three of the $20 bills were discovered Thursday and two more were found Friday.

The discovery strengthened FBI beliefs that someone, probably in the Midwest, is finally unloading the $303,720 in missing blood money.

The bills are part of the $600,000 which Kansas City auto dealer Robert Greenlease paid kidnaper-killer Carl Austin Hall two years ago in hope of saving the life of his 6-year-old son, Bobby.

Hill killed the boy instead and was executed along with his accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Heady. But only $300,000 of the ransom money was found, although Hall insisted he had most of it with him when he was captured in St. Louis, Mo.

The whereabouts of the missing ransom money was a complete mystery until a scattering of the bills started popping up in the Midwest in recent weeks.

One was found in a St. Louis bank and two more $20 bills turned up at Minot, N. D., early last month. Then two more were discovered in St. Louis early this week and the Chicago windfall brought the total to nine bills or $180 in missing ransom money.

The discovery prompted the FBI to send agents fanning through the Midwest in search of more bills. An effort was also underway to track the five Chicago bills to other financial institutions in the Midwest.

D.S. Hostetter, in charge of the FBI bureau here, said he expects many more of the missing bills to turn up in the Midwest.

"Someone finally has been discounting the money," he said.

The phrase "discounting" referred to an underworld practice of selling "hot money at a cut rate to someone who is willing to get rid of it.

The CBI investigation also concentrated on carnivals, gambling places, theater box-offices, race tracks, and other places where large amounts of money can change hands quickly.

Agents pointed out that the North Dakota State Fair closed at Minot four days before two bills turned up there. Two of the St. Louis bills were traced to Sedalia and Springfield Mo., both sites of recent airs.

The Michaels will land at Cuxhaven, Germany, which is near Hamburg, and travel to Marbourg, a city of nearly 40,000 located 50 miles north of Frankfurt.

Mrs. Michael is the former Bonnie Jo Bohnstedt. They were married this summer.

Fear Result Of MacArthur View Of Japan Defense

May Slow Down Japanese Rearmament

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — U.S. officials feared today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's latest statements on Japan's defense may slow down Japanese rearmament.

MacArthur said Friday he believes that Russia never will invade Japan unless it can first convert the Japanese to Communism. The World War II Supreme Far East commander also advised Japan not to reamm beyond the need to defend itself.

Officials doubted that MacArthur meant to discourage the Japanese from rebuilding their armed forces. But they said his words could kick up new debates in Japan and prevent the Japanese from providing as much defense as the United States believes necessary.

Statements During Conversation

MacArthur's statements were made during a conversation with Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu, who has just completed three days of talks with top U.S. officials on Japanese defense and related matters.

Neither th eState nor Defense departments would comment on MacArthur's statements. It was obvious neither wanted to pick a fight with the general.

But officials who were willing to discuss the matter privately agreed with MacArthur that the Soviet Union probably would prefer to take Japan through infiltration first. But they said they are by no means convinced that Russia would delay any possible attack on Japan until the population was first converted to Communism.

These officials also agreed with MacArthur's statement that Japan should have only adequate forces for her "defense." But the big question, they said, is what is meant by the word "defense."

U.S. Pressing Hard

The United States is pressing hard to get the Japanese to build up to a force of 350,000 troops. The Japanese, however, have been setting their force goal much lower—at about 180,000 by 1958.

U.S. officials fear MacArthur's words may make the Japanese feel they have the right target after all.

Authorities also were not pleased to hear MacArthur propose that all war criminals still jailed be paroled to their own governments. During the Shigemitsu talks, the United States rejected the Japanese diplomat's request for mass release of Japanese war criminals still being held and explained that each case had to be considered on its individual merits.

Fire Destroys Barn, 2 Sows At Lott Farm

Large Amounts Of Hay, Corn, Oats Also Burn; Other Animals Saved

Fire of undetermined cause destroyed the barn at the Ben Lott farm, located one and one-half miles west of Cresco, burning two sows and several thousand dollars worth of hay and corn.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Lott and their two children shortly after 9 a.m. near the front of the main barn, which contained an estimated 3,000 bales of hay and straw. Fanned by a northeastern wind, the blaze quickly spread to a hog and tool shed further west. Lott was not at home when the fire started.

Three sows and litters of 26 pigs were in the latter building when the fire started. All of them were herded out, but the two sows darted back into the blazing structure. Both were burned badly and were destroyed.

Also lost in the smaller shed were about 400 bushel of oats and 300 bushel of corn.

Two calves in the barn were herded out by Mrs. Lott after she had called the fire department. Several plows and a cultivator were also saved from the burning barn.

Firemen of the Four Townships Department came to the scene, but they were unable to control the fire before it over-took both of the buildings. The Wayne township, Allen County, Department also came to the fire later to stand by and prevent it from spreading. The roof of a nearby chicken house caught fire, but the blaze was quickly put out.

Despite Safety Experts Waging All-Out Drive

Five Persons Killed In Less Than 2 Hours

By UNITED PRESS

A gory story of death on Indiana highways unfodled in the early hours of the Labor Day weekend before the eyes of discouraged safety experts who waged an all-out drive to prevent it.

Five persons were killed in a period of less than two hours in four accidents scattered around the state.

As traffic blossomed to a busy peak Friday night with thousands hitting the roads enroutt to holiday retreats, death got in its licks early.

Up north, on Ind. 9 near Rome City, two women were killed by a car as they stepped off a bus and tried to cross a highway. They were Miss Clara Franz, 40, Chicago, and Mrs. Margaret Halpin, 50, Covington Ky.

Safety Move Futile

Ernest Turpin 25, Seymour, was killed in a three-car accident on U.S. 50 near Seymour.

Edward Schlabeman, 59, Wolcott, was killed when two automobiles collided on U.S. 24 near Monticello.

Kenneth Byers, 22, Boonville, was killed when a car struck a trailer drawn by a farm tractor. Byers was sitting in the trailer holding a lantern as a safety measure.

Miss Franz and Mrs. Halpin were killed by a car driven by James Thomas, 24, Muskegon Mich. They had alighted from a bus with Miss Anne Rohon, 50, Whiting and were crossing the highway to visit a sanatorium. Miss Rohon was not injured.

Turpin was driving five miles east of Seymour when another car

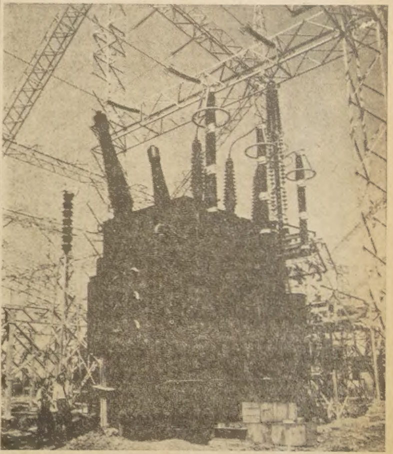
New Substation Near Roanoke Is The Largest Ever Built By I & M Electric Co.



'CHANGE-MAKER' — Two giant transformers - similar to the one pictured - will make change in electrical voltage at I & M's new Sorenson Station. Their tightly packed coils of wire, thin plates of steel, and cooling insulating oil will reduce voltage from 330,000 to 132,000 volts. The transformer has an over-all height of nearly 31 feet.

The largest transmission project ever built by Indiana & Michigan Electric Company — a huge, new substation near Roanoke, Ind., and 140 miles of 330,000-volt transmission line to link it with the company's Tanners Creek Plant near Lawrenceburg, Ind.—is rapidly nearing completion alreday delivering kilowatts to the company's service area.

Under construction almost three years, the new transmission line

American Labor Never Had It So Good Says Craig

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—American labor never had it so good, Governor Craig said Friday in a Labor Day statement.

He said this is the "greatest period of full employment and prosperity in history (and) the high wages are not being eaten away by inflationary rises in the cost of living."

About 65 million Americans now have jobs as compared to 61 million in 1952, Craig said, and unemployment now approximates 2½ million as compared to 4½ million in 1950.

He also said average wages have reached "new highs"—weekly factory wages averaging $75.76 in July—the cost of living is steady, and "for the first time since World War II, the greedy hand of inflation is not in the worker's pay envelope."

On the state level, Craig pointed to 12 laws enacted by the 1955 Legislature amending the workmen's compensation and occupational disease laws.

He said the State Labor Department received 177 requests for conciliation services during the past year and because of its efforts, "96 per cent of the differences between labor and management were sttled without strikes.'

Cool And Dark Fabrics Favored

ST. LOUIS, MO. — UP) — "Choose them cool, dark and handsome" is the formula for selection of back-to-school clothes.

Whether designed for the college, high school or even the preteen set, "transition" fabrics, dark colors, and the new longer-looking silhouette are the rule.

St. Louis manufacturers, specialists in clothes for the younger set, say that the transition cottons — which look like fall clothes should but still are cool enough for waning summer weather—far and away are the top fashion New- man-made fibers—rayon flannels, rayon worsteds, and textured nylons — promise the same performance as cotton.

Color choices range from beige to brown, pink to red, blue to violet, mossy green and oxford grays to black. Plaids are favorites, with the Black Watch the best seller.

Designers say three silhouettes dominae this fall. The sheath-like silhouette; the overblouse with pleated skirt; and the full-skirt which can accommodate that teen-aged favorite, the petticoat.

New from the St. Louis style center is the full-length coat with matching slim skirt, softly tailored with the dolman sleeve and a straighter silhouette.

Sportswear fabrics, reflecting the casual trend, are in flecked and monotone tweeds, clan plaid wools corduroys, jerseys and flannels. And Bermuda shorts and pedal-pushers continue popular.

Topping the fall back-to-school fashions is the young-looking little hat, molded in velvets, corduroys and jerseys.

A Nation's Worship

Lesson for September 4, 1955

IT WOULD be very nice to wake up some Sunday morning and find that everybody in America had decided to join our church. Suppose that up to now you had belonged to the First Universal Church of All Angels, and there was only one congregation of that denomination in your town, along with maybe six or eight other denominations. But suppose that on this Sunday morning as you walked to church you would find the Universal-Church-of-All-Angels sign on every church building you passed. Suppose you learned by the morning paper that this was because the President of the United States (himself a prominent member of your denomination) had issued a Directive ordering all churches to come over into this one — or be abolished entirely. Well, you would know that was a dream . . . because this is free America, and there is not and constitutionally can never be an official, government-supported, national, established religion.

Dr. Foreman

The Nucleus

So when we talk of "a nation's worship" in America we can't mean what we would mean in a country where everybody is dragooned into one single kind of church, a country where to be born into the nation is to be born into the church at the same time. Still, there is sense in talking about the nation at worship, for take us by and large, we do worship; the church is too prominent an object in every landscape to be overlooked. And even in free America where church and state are separate, we can learn something from the ancient Hebrews who combined church and state in one. The first thing we learn is not to be discouraged by the fact that many people don't go to church at all. The whole story of Ezra and Nehemiah, the prophecies of Haggai and of Zechariah, show us that there were great masses of indifferent people in Judea after the "Return" and the restoration of the worship at the high altar in Jerusalem. There were the same difficulties with a building program that we have; preaching fell on many a deaf ear, just like now. Worship is now, and has always been, carried on, in the true sense, not by the masses but by a nucleus of devoted men and women.

The Opposition

The Jews who returned to Palestine to get their religion organized and under way again, with public services and all, found out another thing which we Americans might as well learn,—indeed, we have learned it. That is, not only is there indifference to religion, but it has many enemies. It is nothing but prettified nonsense to suppose that everybody in the world means well, that we all desire the welfare of society. It is contrary to the facts to believe that even those who do not worship with us and will not join us nevertheless wish us well. Don't deceive yourself. There are in America, as there are everywhere, people who are "plain mean." There are businesses that injured people, businesses that contribute to crime, indeed some businesses that even a not-too-moral police force labels as crime. Those who live by the profits of these enterprises just hate the church; let's face it.

Can Government Help?

Now in ancient Palestine, say Zechariah's time, not to mention earlier times, church and state helped and supported each other. King and high priest might even be related. Especially after the Exile, church and state became practically one. In our free America—and we would not wish it unfree, for a moment—can the government do anything to help the church? Readers who belong to Sunday school classes can start a very interesting discussion by asking that question. How can Government help the church? Ought Government to try to help us? One way, surely, by which the State can aid the church, is by laws which will keep the Lord's Day free, so far as possible, from work-day necessities. Another way is by setting an example. When leaders in government set an example of sharing in the public and private worship of God, the nation is all the better for it.

Negroes Jam Funeral Parlor To View Body

Of 14-Year-Old Boy Killed In Mississippi

By DAVID SMOTHERS
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — Thousands of Negroes jammed a funeral parlor Friday night and early today to gaze on the battered face of a 14-year-old boy who was killed in Mississippi because he allegedly whistled at a white woman.

The press was so great that practically every window in the Reynar &Sons Funeral Home was shattered and the chapel itself was left "a shambles," a funeral home spokesman said.

Another mass demonstration was expected today when funeral services for Emmett Louis Till are held at the Church of God in Christ in the heart of Chicagos vast Negro section.

The funeral home spokesman estimated the crowd which jammed the 41-hundred block on South Cottage Grove Ave. at 50,000. Police were reluctant to name a figure, but said there were "thousands."

Police Break Up Crowd

Two squads of police finally broke up the milling demonstration and the funeral home locked its doors at 2 a.m.

Police said the crowd was not ugly. However, there were reports that representatives of left-wing organizations passed out pamphlets outside the funeral home.

Till's mother had ordered that the murdered boy's face be uncovered. "Let the people see what they did to my boy," she sobbed when his body was brought from Mississippi late Friday.

The boy's face showed evidence of a brutal beating before his murder. Almost all of his teeth were knocked out and the right side of his face was almost unrecognizable, the funeral home spokesman said. There was a small bullet hole through the temple.

Emmett was kidnaped from the home of his uncle near Money, Miss., last Sunday. Two white men, Roy Bryant and his half-brother, J. W. Milam, are accused of slaying the boy because he allegedly acted smart" and whistled at Bryant's wife.

Mother Sobs For Son

Last Wednesday, the boy's body was found in the Tallahatchie River near Greenwood, Miss. The killing called forth expressions of outrage from throughout the nation and the Tallahatchie County grand jury will be asked Monday to return murder indictments against Bryant and Milam.

The Negro boy, who had been visiting in Mississippi, came back home in a pine coffin Friday night.

His mother, 33-year-old Mrs. Mamie Bradley, sprang from a wheel chair to race across three sets of tracks to the baggage car where her sons body lay.

"My darling, my darling, I would have gone through a world of fire to get you," she sobbed.

At the funeral home, attendants tried to persuade her not to let the mourners see her son's face.

"But she wanted the people to see it," one of the attendants said. "There was nothing we could do."

J. Edgar Hoover Says Something Can Be Done To Halt Increase In Juvenile Crime

By J. EDGAR HOOVER
Director of the FBI
Written for the United Press

WASHINGTON (UP) — In the absence of complete records, the full story of juvenile crime is not available. Clear trends are revealed each year, however, in the statistics submitted under the FBI's uniform crime reporting program.

How are we to combat the trends which reflect a shocking number of juveniles involved in illegal activities each year?

First of all, we need to know that juvenile crime is not an uncontrollable problem. Something can be done about it. In more than a few areas of the country something is being done. A number of communities, aroused by the spreading blot of youthful crime, have succeeded in halting the increase of delinquency and in a few instances have reversed the gneral trend. No "cure-all" remedy has been found. Hard work, determination, and community cooperation appear to be the common denominators rather than specific methods of attack. The methods varied. They ranged from programs of youths policing themselves, to the courts holding parents responsible for the acts of their children. Getting "tough" with delinquents was effective in one area. Police boys clubs worked in other areas. Still others emphasized improvement of recreational facilities. While methods were many and varied, all groups stressed one thing: Prevention of crime.

Preventive efforts with relation to delinquency problems can be most effective when the specific causes of delinquency are once ascertained. These vary. Delinquents come from wealthy as well as poverty-stricken homes. It is the way a child is reared and the atmosphere of the surroundings in which he is reared that make him what he is. Almost invariably there is a cause-and-effect relationship between the delinquent and the atmosphere of the home.

Juvenile delinquency stems from adult failures and adult delinquencies. We need to restore stern standards of adult conduct. We need to debunk the debunkers who continuously slander traditional standards of conduct, morality and patriotism. We need to demand responsibility on the part of parents. The Biblical charge to "train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it" is as sound today as it was one or many generations ago.

Hoosiers Will Be Surveyed To Curb Juvenile Delinquency

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —About 100,000 Hoosiers will be surveyed in a drive to find means of curbing juvenile delinquency Governor Craig reported today.

Craig previously asked the State Council of Children and Youth to make the survey, and a questionnaire is being prepared by Dr. John Kane, head of the University of Notre Dame's sociology department.

The governor said civic groups like the American Legion, Chamber of Commerce and Farm Bureau will be asked to fill out questionnaires, which will deal with the extent and causes of delinquency and suggested solutions.

Dr. William McIntyre, head of DePauw University's sociology department, will prepare numerous case histories at Indiana Boys' School as part of the program.

Bunce - Moore Vows Exchanged At Church At Liberty Mills

Miss Jeanette Moore and Dean S. Bunce exchanged marriage vows last Saturday at the Liberty Mills Evangelical United Brethren Church. The Rev. J. O. Penrod, of Albion, assisted by the Rev. Ross Cook, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Moore, of South Whitley, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Bunce, of Bippus, are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride chose a gown with a bodice of chantilly lace over satin with long sleeves of the lace forming points over the hands. The very full skirt of tulle over an apron of the lace was worn over satin and a hoop, ending in a brush train. Her fingertip veil of illusion, edged with chantilly lace, was caught by a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses.

Mrs. J. P. Penrod, sister of the bride, and Miss Martha Chapman, of Columbia City, served as matron of honor and bridesmaid, respectively. Both wore identical gowns of mint green taffeta, while Nancy Keaffaber, junior bridesmaid, wore a pale orchid gown. Larry Bunce was ringbearer in the double-ring ceremony, and George Bunce attended his brother as groomsman, and Keith Fox and Theron Swank were ushers.

The couple will reside in Hagerstown after a wedding trip to the Smokey Mountains.

Sub Station

and station are part of the new high-voltage network being built by I & M's parent company, American Gas and Electric Company.

Searching for ways of more economical transmission of large blocks of electric power, the lines were built following years of successful high-voltage experiments by AG & E at a special laboratory near Steubenville, Ohio. The line is the first of its kind to be built by I & M, and the first in Indiana.

The new substation near Roanoke, named after I&M's Vice President and general manager C. V. Sorenson, is the largest ever built in the company's territory. At the station, power from the new 330,000-volt transmission line will be reduced to 132,000 volts for delivery over existing and new 132,-kv circuits to major substations in the I & M territory. This includes supplying power to Columbia City and Churubusco. Installations of transformers at the new station dwarf those now in use at existing stations. They weigh approximately 242 tons and contain 19,000 gallons, or 70 tons, of insulating oil.

Two sections of a similar 330,000-volt network in other areas of AG & E have been built. One is a 48-mile line from Philip Sporn Plant, Graham Station, West Virginia, to Muskingum River Plant, Beverly, Ohio; the other is a 63-mile section from Sport Plant to Kanawha River Plant, Glasgow West Virginia. A third leg, from Muskingum Plant to Lima, Ohio is now under construction and will ultimately connect with the 330,000-volt network in Indiana.

This new high-voltage network of AG & E will have greater capacity than any electric network now operating in the United States. The highest voltage carried on other lines in this country is 220,000 volts. Only one other country in the world has a higher rated line. That is Sweden, which has a line which operates at 380,000 volts.

It is the belief of these experts that more and more high-voltage lines will be built wherever large blocks of power are required. These observers point out that one single-circuit 330,000-volt line is equivalent to six 132,000-volt lines.

While providing for more efficient and economical transmission of electricity, higher voltage adds no additional operational hazard. Safety factors in 330-kv lines are equivalent to those in 132-kv lines. Maintenance of the new lines can be handled safely utilizing equipment and methods similar to those used on lower voltage systems.

On the new line between Tanners Creek Plant and the new station at Roanoke, approximately 471 steel towers--averaging four towers per mile--support the 330,000-volt cable. Providing a minimum ground clearance of 35 feet, the towers range in height from 150 to 220 feet. (The average height of towers on the company's present 132-kv system is 100 feet.)

In addition to the massive transformers at Sorenson Station, installations include 330,000-volt oil circuit breakers (in a sense, giant fuses). The mammoth "fuses" boast a height of 26 feet and are 40 feet long, tipping the scales at 66,000 pounds. In comparison with the largest breakers now in use, the new automatic switching devices stand 11 feet taller, are 21 feet longer, and weigh 32,000 pounds more than those now in use on the system. Built at an estimated cost of $4 million, the station's enclosed area includes approximately nine acres and is located two miles northeast of Roanoke adjacent to the Wabash Railroad track.

Law Enforcement Helps Hold Down The Traffic Toll

Throughout Nation During Holiday's Early Hours

By UNITED PRESS

"Gloves off" law enforcement helped hold down traffic deaths during the opening stages of the long Labor Day weekend today.

But safety experts stuck to their warning that traffic accidents will kill 400 Americans during the period from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Monday.

A United Press count showed eight deaths on the highways in the three-day holiday's early hours -three in Ohio and one each in Wisconsin, Pensylvania, Utah, Texas, and Illinois.

The 400 death estimate, set by the National Safety Council, foresaw a worse holiday death toll than last year's 368. The record set in 1951, is 453 deaths over a Labor Day holiday.

The weather was practically perfect for a holiday except in southern and central California, where a 100-degree plus heat wave was weakening a little.

Last Summer Holiday

Elsewhere, cool and sunny weather was expected to draw more than 40 million cars to the highways for the last holiday of the summer.

Traffic jams, screeching brakes and—for some—sudden death were in store for the myriads of holiday-goers. But state and city officials across the nation were determined to cut traffic hazards to the lowest possible minimum.

National Guardsmen were called out to aid state police in Washington. National Guard planes and a helicopter were sent aloft in Iowa to spot traffic jams and accidents and 10 Civil Air Patrol planes watched the highways in Colorado.

Another "air task force" of six National Guard planes patrolled Indiana skies and State Police Superintendent Frank Jessup warned motorists:

Gloves Taken Off

"We're taking off the gloves for this one."

In the southern states of Georgia and South Carolina, all state patrols were put on emergency duty and all leaves were cancelled.

Most Americans kept the safety experts' warnings in the back of their minds as they set out for parks, beaches, and picnic grounds.

President Eisenhower planned a typical Labor Day weekend of golfing at his Colorado summer headquarters. Labor organizations will hold their traditional rallies and sands of Americans will fill the parades and hundreds of thoubaseball parks.

into classroom jobs. He also has pointed out that local school officials should make an effort to keep so many teachers from straying to different jobs year after year.

Gibson also has come up with a long-range solution to the teacher problem. It is a scholarship program.

He suggests school officials seek out members of the upper third of high school graduating classes of the past two years who did not go on to college. They would be offered a scholarship to a teaching college—full tuition plus $1,000 for maintenance expenses.

After graduating the students would be required to teach for four years in their home states, thus cancelling their $1,000 "debt."

Many Egyptian Troops Pouring Into Gaza Strip

Syrian Army, Arab Legion Stand By

TEL AVIV, Israel (UP)—Cairo reports said today that thousands of heavily equipped Egyptian troops were pouring into the Gaza Strip and that the Syrian army and the Arab Legion of Jordan had been ordered to stand by along the Israeli borders.

No fighting was reported from the Gaza border, however, and the only incident to mar the unofficial cease fire in effect along the frontier was an Egyptian commando raid Friday on a small settlement in the Negev Desert.

Albert Grant, a United Nations spokesman, said the violation left good hope of continued observance of the truce since nobody was killed.

Maj. Dan Gov. Israeli military spokesman, described as "strange" an Egyptian report that Egypt was holding 18 Israelis as hostages and said nothing is known here about any Israelis disappearing across the borders.

Moved Across Suez

Cairo reports said the Egyptian troop reinforcements for the Gaza Strip were moving across the Suez Canal from the western bank to reinforce the Gaza garrison in case of emergency. National Guardsmen, once trained to fight the British at Suez, also were being rushed to Gaza.

The Egyptian high command in the eastern zone and the Suez Canal area at Ismailia cancelled discharge orders for troops completing military service and cancelled leaves.

The Cairo reports said the Egyptian government also adopted stringent internal security measures, placing large police forces at key points in the cities and checking those entering vital government services.

Ranged Along Borders

The Syrian Army and Arab Legion, both small but compact and well-equipped fighting forces, were ordered to stand along the Israeli borders for any possible emergency action, the Cairo reports said. The Syrian army was trained and equipped by France; the Arab Legion has British officers.

Other Cairo reports said Egypt's embroilment with Israel had helped unite Arab sentiments as never before since signing of the pact between Turkey and Iraq. Iraqi Foreign Minister Burhandin Bashaya stated in Baghdad that all Arab states should rush to the aid of Egypt.

Burns meanwhile returned to his headquarters in Jerusalem from an inspection trip to Chan Yunis, and was writing a report to Dag Hammarskjold, Secretary General of the United Nations.

Bendix Trophy Race Postponed

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Bendix Trophy cross-country air race was postponed for 24 hours today because of unfavorable weather conditions.

The decision to postpone the race was announced by a spokesman for the Air Force at the National Air Show, which got underway here today.

District Attorney To Investigate Death Of Bride

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The district attorney's office launched a full-scale investigation into the death of Mrs. Doris Jean Silver Oestreicher today because an inquest disclosed she was a victim of a "professional" abortionist.

But the investigation already appeared stymied for the moment by the reported illness of the young bride's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Silver, who was declared the "key witness" in the case. A physician testified the mother had been "very unhappy" about her daughter's pregnancy.

Bernard Brynman, chief investigator for the medical examiner's office, said "we can't get to the one witness (Mrs. Silver) who can give us the answer to what happened at the apartment of Milton and Rosalie Schwartz" where the heiress died on Aug. 24.

Constant Medical Care

Mrs. Silver, under constant medical care which left her unable to attend the inquest, had accompanied her 22-year-old daughter to the Schwartzes' apartment several hours before the girl's death without the knowledge of her husband, German, a vice president of Food Fair Stores, Inc.

Dr. Melville J. Aston, medical examiner, concluded the sensational inquest Friday night by ordering Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash to start criminal prosecution of every one connected with the fatal abortion and to look into "contradictory testimony' for possible perjury prsecution.

Aston declared that the two-month bride of a Miami Beach motorcycle patrolman died of asphyxia from a "foreign body" which entered her bloodstream following an "unsuccessful abortion."

He termed the abortion a "professional job" requiring "exactitude and knowledge' which was done by a "person or persons who know this sordid and stinking business well. It was done by a despicable character who preys on society—by a destroyer of life.'

Silver testified that his wife and daughter left the family's suburban Melrose Park home sometime after 5:30 p.m. He also said the Schwartzes were complete strangers to him although both Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz testified they had known the Silvers for many years.

Oestreicher, who had eloped with the pretty socialite on June 24, returned with his attorney to Florida without testifying at the inquest. He said he felt he would be able to add nothing to the investigation.

The 29-year-old son of a Chicago Wood and Coal Co. president was appointed administrator of his wife's estate, for which she had left no will. Her assets were listed at more than $5,000 but probably did not represent the full amount of her estate.

Elderly Couple Say Woman Stole Their Savings For Winter

SEYMOUR, Ind. (UP)—An elderly couple, both in their 90's, told police today a woman posing as a faith healer stole $300 they saved to "get through the winter."

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Curry, who live near Medora Junction, said a "tall, dark woman" came to their isolated rural home Thursday and staged a healing service. She claimed she could cure the ills of the 93-year-old Curry and his 92 year-old wife.

She asked for a dollar bill and a Bible, then placed the Bible in Mrs. Curry's purse. The couple stopped the service when the visitor felt Curry for "ailments," because they feared she was hunting his billfold.

Mrs. Curry checked her purse when the woman left and discovered the money they saved from the sale of eggs and chickens was gone.

It took several hours to notify police. Mrs. Curry walked to a home down the road and a neighbor walked almost two miles to a telephone.

White Sox Are One Up On Indians In Series Because Pupil Turned Tables On Old Master

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox were one up on the Cleveland Indians in their "crucial series" today—and all because a young pupil turned the tables on an old master.

"Pupil" Jack Harshman, a frustrated first-baseman only two years ago, beat the Indians for the fourth time this season, 8-1, Friday night as the White Sox clung to their half-game lead in the American League. And the man he out-pitched was Sal Maglie — the "old master" of the New York Giants when Harshman switched from first base to the mound.

Harshman, who was helped by Maglie when he made his "big switch" allowed only four hits and struck out eight batters, in winning the opener of the four-game series.

Minoso Gets Three

Minnie Minoso had three hits, including his ninth homer.

The loss dropped the Indians into third place, a game behind the New York Yankees who celebrated Billy Martin's return with a 4-2 victory over the Washington Senators. The Boston Red Sox beat the Baltimore Orioles, 8-3, to move within 3½ games of third place

Whitey Ford yielded only one hit —a seventh-inning single by Carlos Paula — in gaining his 16th win. Martin, playing for the first time since he starred in the 1953 World Series, had a single and a double and started the Yankees' winning rally with a single. He also scored on Mickey Mantle's three - run homer — Mantle's 36th round-tripper of the year.

Red Sox Take Orioles

Catcher Sammy White singled home the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning and the Red Sox went on to score three more runs and break open a close contest with the orioles.

Tom Gorman's late-inning relief pitching preserved Art Ceccarelli's fourth win as Kansas City shaded Detroit, 7-6.

Shortstop Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs hit his 40th homer to set a major league record for a shortstop in one season and spark a 12-2 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Brooklyn Dodgers reduced their "magic number" for pennant clinching to eight with a 2-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates while the Milwaukee Braves bowed by the same score to Cincinnati. Robin Roberts won his 22nd game as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the New York Giants, 5-3, in the other National League game.

Fearless Fraley's Facts And Figures

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

Wimbledon champion Tony Trabert, with a $100,000 pro contract hanging in the balance, won't even make the finals in the current National Amateur Tennis Championships at Forest Hills unless his game picks up at least 15 per cent.

That's the studied opinion of famed tennis coach Mercer Beasley, who predicts an all-Australian final "unless Tony benefits from early round play and gets better as he goes along."

Chore Even Tougher

Trabert's chore becomes even tougher when you consider that he is in the same half of the draw with hammerin' Lew Hoad, the young Aussie who beat him handily in the recent Davis Cup challenge round. The Cincinnati slugger also still is bothered by a blister on his racquet hand, and nobody even gives defending champion Vic Seixas a look in

The tennis troupe is keenly interested in the baseball penant races which brings to mind the fact that the approaching World Series will bring together two of the best-scouted opponents in history.

Brooklyn has Al Campanis, Andy High and Red Corriden eyeing the three top American League teams. With Brooklyn virtually "in," the Cleveland Indians have Steve O'Neill studying the Dodgers. His fellow observers include Bennie Huffman and Hollis Thurston of the Chicago White Sox and Tom Greenwade of the New York Yankees. They slip in like cloak-and-dagger guys but everybody knows they're on the premises.

Former Tennis Queen

Former tennis queen Maureen Connolly Brinker is "covering" the national amateurs for the San Diego Union and the London Daily Mail. Experting from the press box, she picks Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, and St. Petersburg Fla., as the women's "darkhorse" because of a "new found eagerness to play tennis."

Classified among the little-known facts about tennis is the information, exclusive here, that there are 490,464 square inches in a singles tennis court. To coin a phrase, you can't hardly get those kind of statistics, anymore.

Detroit Lions Defeat Pittsburgh Steelers 24-0

By UNITED PRESS

The Detroit Lions, who rode to three straight Western Division titles and two National Football League championships on the arm of Bobby Layne, figure it will be a lot easier fighting off the San Francisco Forty-Niners and the Los Angeles Rams this year now that Bobby's sore shoulder is well again.

Layne, out with a shoulder injury the past two weeks, celebrated his return to the lineup Friday night by leading the Lions to a 24-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers before 26,402 in the Orange Bowl in Miami.

The Rams, sparked by the pinpoint passing of substitute quarterback Billy Wade came from behind in the final period to smash the defending world champion Cleveland Browns, 38-21, in another exhibition game at Los Angeles.

Passed For TD

A 42-yard pass to Dorne Dibble earned the Lions their first touchdown in the opening period and Bobby's passes helped set up a field goal by Doak Walker in the final period. Walker also had three conversions, recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass.

Guard Jim Salsbury intercepted a Jim Finks pass in the first period 'and Dave Middleton rammed over from the two for the score After Bill Stits stole a pass from Ted Marchibroda in the final minute of the game, Harry Gilmer tossed to Jug Girard for Detroit's final touchdown.

The win was the Lions' second in four exhibition starts, while the Steelers show one victory in four starts.

The Browns, behind the running of halfback Henry Ford, jumped out to a lead in the first period and the Rams couldn't come up to them until the fourth period.

In that final quarter, the Rams pulled themselves together and the Browns fell apart. The Rams scored as many points in that one period as did the Browns in the entire game.

Wade Performs Nobly

Wade, sent into the game toward the end of the second period, performed nobly the rest of the game, completing 11 out of 17 passes, one of them for touchdowns.

In games tonight, the Washington Redskins with a 1-2-1 exhibition record meet the Chicago Bears (0-2) at Memphis, Tenn., while the Philadelphia Eagles (3-0) play the Green Bay Packers (1-2) at Charleston, W.Va.

In a Sunday afternoon game at San Francisco, the Forty-Niners (3-1) meet the Chicago Cardinals (2-1).

The Baltimore Colts handed tackle Pat Sarnese his release Friday after his failure to make the team. Colts Coach Weeb Ewbank said that Sarnese, who came to Baltimore from the Pittsburgh Steelers on a condition deal for a Colts 1956 draft choice, didn't fit in with his plans.

Penn State Coach Adds New Gray Hair To Silvery Thatch

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) — Penn State Football Coach Rip Engle added a couple of new gray hairs to his already silvery thatch today in an unscheduled pre-season weekend crisis.

With nine rough Saturdays ahead of him, Engle was confronted with anextra "nerve wracker" —whether his speedster halfback Lennie Moore will make the "grade."

The decision won't be Engle's, but that of a philosophy instructor. Moore, whose hard running last year set a new Penn State ground-gaining record of 1082 yards, flunked out last spring.

He has been going to summer school in an effort to establish a scholastic record somewhere within hailing distance of his gridiron performances.

Cracking Text Books

Cracking text books as he had opposing defense, the pistonlegged runner from Reading, Pa., winds up a 12-week make-up course today. He already has hurdled English composition, smashed through English literature, and went for 100 per cent in an education course.

Lennie will expound his knowledge of philosophy in a quiz today and his instructor — whose name has been withheld because of fears of "pressure" from old grads — will give the verdict. Engle, who has directed Penn State's football fortunes for the past five years, was saying nothing as a "neutral" party.

On the eve of the football-fateful examination, Moore, a six-foot 174-pounder, was in seclusion in a private home in the campus-adjoining town of State College. There he crammed up on the teachings of such non-footballers as Plato, Spinoza and Schweitzer.

For Engle, the wait was harrowing. After Moore got the thumb from a faculty board last spring, the Penn State coach dryly remarked: "I feel like Roy Rogers without his horse."

Only 10 Letterman

When his squad opened pre-season drills Thursday, Engle met only 10 lettermen from his 1954 squad, which won seven games while losing only to Texas Christian and West Virginia.

Should Moore fail in his philosophizing, Engle will have to rely on Ray Alberigi, a 182-pound junior from Dunmore, Pa., or dip into a not too promising bunch of sophomores to fill the left halfback spot in the Lions' split-T attack.

Penn State opens its season at home against Boston University, and then meets Army, Virginia, Navy, West Virginia, Pennsylvania Syracuse, Rutgers and Pittsburgh.

"Without Moore the road will be rough," Engle predicted. He pointed out that with a weakness at quarterback hampering a passing attack, loss of his star runner will be a rugged blow.

"All we can do, is hope for the best," Engle opined.

Golfer Wilbur Whedon Has Round Trip Glory Ride

By JACK A. CAVANAUGH
United Press Sports Writer

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (UP) —Out of a legion of golfers who hook, slice, and occasionally smack one right down the middle came Wilbur Whedon, an obscure oil salesman who hit two holes-in-one in a big time open tournament, but couldn't even gain the lead for one day.

For Whedon, who electrified the sports world with his aces on the fifth and ninth holes in the first round of the $20,000 Insurance City Open, it was a round trip "glory ride" from obscurity to fame and to obscurity again.

Because when the day was ended, he wasn't even close to the day's leaders, Sammy Snead and Mike Souchak, who had five under par 66's to set the pace for the field of 161. Whedon wound up with a 75.

Littler Also Aces

Nor did he even have the distinction of being the only "acer" because Gene Littler, the young Palm Springs, Calif., pro also cracked a hole-in-one to make this a round unprecedented in tournament play in the history of the Professional Golfers' Assn.

Whedon, a 28-year-old amateur from Farmington, Conn., hit his first ace on the 168-yard fifth with a five iron. That mollified him slightly because he had just rolled up four straight bogeys. Then after two pars 'and a bogey he used a three iron for the second ace on the 210-yard ninth hole.

Littler's ace came on the 154-yard 13th hole and it didn't help him much, either. He wound up with a par 71, five strokes behind pace-setters Snead and Souchak.

Wall At 67

Next to Snead and Souchak was Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., who carded a four-under par 67 to finish a stroke ahead of seven others at 68. Bunched at that level were Porky Oliver of Lemont, Ill., Leo Biagetti of Willoughby, Ohio, Mike Fetchick of Mahopac, N. Y., Gerry Kesserling of Toronto, Ont., Bob Kay of West Hartford, Conn., Ed Kringle of North Bergen, N. J., and Jack Burke of Kiamesha, N.Y.

At the 69 level Friday was Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, Tenn. last 'year's winner of this meet. Behind him at par 71 were 12 golfers including Littler and PGA champion Doug Ford of Kiamesha. Others with 71 were Bob Tosti of Livingston, N. J., Jerry Barber of Los Angeles, Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, Tom Strafaci of Brooklyn, N. Y., George Bigham of Kansas City, Mo., Eddie Burke of Woodbridge, Conn., Dick Mayer of St. Petersburgh, Fla., Buddy Weaver of Houston, Tex., Don Whitt of Alameda, Calif., and John Galeskiz of Watertown, Conn.

Carmelo Costa Wins Split Decision Over Bobby Bell

NEW YORK (UP)—Speedy little Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn, who won a split decision over Bobby Bell in their "rubber match" Friday night, will get a shot at the featherweight crown this fall if today's brand new negotiations are completed.

Managing director Harry Markson of the International Boxing Club began dickering with the managers of Costa and champion Sandy Saddler for the title fight. He said, "both sides want the match if agreeable terms can be arranged."

Costa, 21, was a bit sluggish Friday night in the nationally televised and broadcast 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden, but he wound up with the split decision over 26-year-old Bell of Youngstown, Ohio.

Each had won a verdict in their two previous bouts — Bell, last Dec. 6, and Costa on Feb. 21.

Saddler of New York must sign soon for a defense of his 126-pound crown. He hasn't risked the title since Feb. 25, when he won a lopsided decision over Red Top Davis. His six months were up on Aug 25.

Carmelo used close-quarter tactics at times Friday night instead of sticking to his usual long-range, hit-and-run style. And in the close-quarter exchanges, it was Bell who landed the more damaging punches, particularly to the body He rocked Costa four times with hooks to the head in the sixth and buckled his knees with a right to the chin in the seventh.

Swanson Wonders Why Humans Fuss Over Meeting Stars

By GLORIA SWANSON
Written for United Press

ROME (UP)—I shall never cease to wonder why most human beings make such a fuss over meeting other human beings who happen to be movie stars! Is it because they have always thought of them as only shadows on the silver screen?

I personally wouldn't walk from here to there to look at a movie star, to to meet one.

Well, maybe one—Garbo.

For with Garbo I should like to discuss our mutual doctor on the West Coast ; and our diets, And I suppose in womanly fashion I'd discuss my wrinkles with her!

Like Pack of Kids

My first meeting with Garbo was when Hollywood was truly glamorous, when a party just wasn't a party unless Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford were there.

And th Thalbergs (nee Norma Shearer), Charles Chaplin, Marion Davis, Norma and Constance Talmadge, Jack Gilbert, Corinne Griffith Ronald Colman, Richard and Jessica Barthelmess, Carole Lombard and William Powell—and Clark Gable standing shyly in some corner.

In those days we were like a pack of kids, which indeed we were. Nobody was in their 40s, which is where all of us are staying now.

It was the era of practical jokes. A day or a dinner party never went by without a prank. A plumber would arrive to warn you that the main water pipe in the street had burst and all water faucets had to be turned on full force. The plumber who created this Niagara Falls in the land of make-believe might have been Buster Keaton or Zasu Pitts.

After dinner it was unusual if we didn't show a movie or play games, or both. An actor's greatest pleasure is to act. So our favorite game was charades, now called "the game."

Parties, Not Brawls

Some times Chaplin gave us a one-man show. His ingenious imagination could entertain us in pantomime for hours. Or Ronnie Colman, Warner Baxter or Chester Morris—all amateur prestidigitators—with their magic and card tricks.

I can truthfully deny the rumor that Hollywood parties were drunken brawls. I saw but one fight and must confess—I was the cause of it.

Or to be very specific, the cause of it was the extreme curiosity of John Saunders (Fay Wray's husband) and some innocent pink roses in my decollete evening gown.

Wre the roses real or artificial? My escort, Herbert Marshall, objected to Mr. Saunders finding out. The fight in Ernst Lubitsch's house was on—and off—in a flash!

All this proves is that those shadows on the screen have flesh and red blood, a childish love of fun, human appetites and sometimes a curiosity that gets them into trouble—just like other human beings.

Backstairs At The Summer White House

By WARREN DUFFEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

DENVER (UP)—Backstairs at the Summer White House:

Any president receives a lot of presents, but one anonymous donor especially won President Eisenhower's fancy with a recent gift.

The unidentified well-wisher sent Mr. Eisenhower the antique conference table, chairs and rug the Chief Executive used in England when he was planning the World War II invasions of Europe.

When it first arrived, the President had the whole array set up in his White House office at Washington. He made no secret of his pride in it.

But the space-consuming layout has since been moved to a waiting room outside his office. The set likely will wind up in the Eisenhower Museum at Abilene, Kan., in which the President has a deep interest.

Sidelight:

Catholic nun pressing close to police lines for a glimpse of the Eisenhowers as they arrived for services at a Presbyterian church. When they emerged afterward she was still there, trying for a snapshot with a small camera.

Lt. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, a West Point classmate of the President's and superintendent of the new Air Force Academy, is still hoping to get Mr. Eisenhower to review the first ceremonial parade of the academy's first cadets.

The academy is temporarily located at Lowry Air Force Base, which also serves as the Summer White House headquarters. The review was supposed to have been all set. But the President's trips away from Denver and some sudden changes in plans have forced Harmon to keep his own plans flexible.

However, Harmon has been assured that something can be worked out before the president returns to Washington.

Woman Wants U.S. To Stop Acting 'Like Russia'

man-born wife of Maj. Ronald E. Alley appealed to the U.S. Army today to stop acting "like Russia" and "forgive and forget" the behavior of captured soldiers in Korean prison camps.

Mrs. Erna Alley, 33, said it is "unjust" for the Army to punish her husband and other former prisoners of war for what they may have said or done after being "tortured by starvation" by their Communist captors.

Alley, 32, is being tried by the Army on charges of calling former President Truman a "war monger," giving the Communists military information and collaborating with the enemy in other ways during his 33 months in Korean prisons.

Mrs. Alley said her husband's weight dropped to less than 120 pounds during his first year in prison under the "starvation" diet provided by the Communists.

"If those responsible for the court-martial trials would just realize what those boys went through and put themselves in their place, I don't think there would be any trials. After all, every soldier is only human and can take just so much. They want to live, see their families again and see their children grow up and be happy," she said.

"If my husband is guilty, they all are guilty. I don't think any should be punished. But do they expect more from an Army officer than Air Force officer?"

Erna, who became Alley's German war bride in 1947, said she knew that 90 per cent of the American people don't approve of the Army's POW trials.

"It's like Russia," she said. "If this happened in Russia, I could understand it—but not here in this beautiful, free country."

Complaints Common To Men Who Decide Rates A Utility May Charge For Its Services

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Do you ever grumble about your telephone bill? Or do you think your water bill is too high?

These complaints are fairly common to the three men on the Indiana Public Service Commission who decide how much a utility may charge for its services.

The commissioners are somewhat the innocent victims of consumer complaints. In a rate case, they are confronted with a mass of financial statistics and are governed in setting rates by utility law.

Next week, for example, a hearing will resume on Public Service Co. of Indiana's request to boost electrical rates in 70 counties by $4,200,000 a year. The commissioners will be handed many pages of testimony and dozens of exhibits exploring every aspect of the multi-million-dollar business.

This will be one of PSC's most meaningful decisions, because it will affect the pocketbooks of so many Hoosiers. But in the deliberation stages prior to issuance of an order, the commission will apply to this giant utility the same thinking it gives the Podunk Telephone Co.'s bid for an increase involving only a handful of persons and a few hundred dollars.

What is "Fair?"

The law governing PSC Chairman Warren Buchanan and Commissioners M. Elliot Belshaw and Wendell Tennis says merely that a utility is entitled to a "fair" return on the "fair' value of its property.

Their job is to judge what the rate base should be—in other words, what a utilitys property is worth—and what rate of return is fair to company and customers—maybe 5 per cent, 6 per cent or a fractional amount thereabouts.

Once those decisions are reached, rate-making boils down to a formula much like one a high school math student might encounter: Multiply the value of property times the rate of return and compare the answer to the utility's present earnings.

If it's less, a rate increase equal to the difference is in order. If it's more, the rates should be cut.

All this would be simple except that witnesses for the company and the public, including PSC's accountants and engineers, most always disagree on both the formula and factors.

25-year Switchboard

To resolve the differences, PSC looks to the company earnings needed to attract capital. The state's attitude is this:

In a growing economy, a utility-monopoly must expand to maintain adequate service and to meet new service demands. The costs of expansion should not be borne solely by current customers but by all those who will benefit.

For example, a new telephone switchboard might last 25 years. It stotal cost should not be tacked onto current bills, the state contends, but rather, it should be spread out over the years the switchboard will be in service.

So the utility borrows money or issues stock to obtain the dollars needed for expansion. Generally speaking, for each $3 it needs, it must put up $1 from earnings to "attract" a $2 investment. A rate increase is requested to retire the debt.

PSC decides how much a utility must earn to lure investors. Some large utilities can borrow money at 2½ per cent interest while small ones must pay 6 per cent.

The final commission order, and the amount your monthly bill will be, depends on the financial structure of each individual utility.

Court Test Ahead

The three men who decide rate cases are lawyers. Buchanan, 46, is a Rockville Republican, Belshaw, 50, a Munster Republican and Tennis, 46, a Sullivan Democrat. Governor Craig appointed the first two and reappointed the third.

Any utility customer can appear to protest at a rate hearing and 10 or more consumers can petition PSC to investigate rates at any time.

The commission was created in 1913 and now faces a basic challenge. It is being attacked in the courts on charges it gave too small a rate increase to Indiana Bell Telephone Co. and too much to Indianapolis Water Co

The water case is recent while the Bell case dates back four years.

In both cases, the legal question is whether PSC orders are final or or whether lower courts can overrule the commission and set rates. Eventually, the Indiana Supreme Court probably will rule on the question.

If it rules against PSC, Buchanan said, "the Legislature might as well abolish us."

Print Consumption Continues Climb, Report Indicates

NEW YORK — U.S. newsprint consumption for July and the first seven months of 1955 reached an all-time high.

The Publishers Auxiliary states that "newspapers reporting to the American Newspaper Publishers Asociation consumed 378,434 tons of newsprint in July, 1955 as compared with 338,471 tons in July, 1954 and 340,044 tons in July, 1953.

This is an 11.8 per cent increase over July, 1954 and 11.3 per cent increase over July, 1953.

For the first seven months of 1955, reporting newspapers used 2,785,508 tons of newsprint as compared with 2,668,959 tons of newsprint in 1954 and 2,678,433 tons in 1953.

This represents an increase of 7.7 per cent over the first seven months of 1954 and an increase of 7.4 per cent over the first seven months of 1953.

Stocks of newsprint on hand and in transit at the end of July, 1955 were 36 days supply, which is an increase of five days over the end of June, 1955, but is 15 days below July, 1954.

Total estimated newsprint consumption in the United States for July, 1955 is 497,939 tons, compared with 445,357 tons for July, 1954. This includes all kinds of use of newsprint.

Three Turncoats Making Move For Freedom

On The Basis Of Judge's Order

5 f5 f UP33 Sept. 3 ....bm618

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Three Korean War veterans now in military custody for deserting to the Communists sought freedom today on the basis of a judge's precedent-shattering action which ordered the Army to release another soldier accused of disloyalty.

Louis W. Griggs of Jacksonville, Tex.; William A. Cowart of Dalton, Ga., and otho G. Bell of Hillsboro, Miss., petitioned for their release through their attorneys.

Their action followed an order to the Army by Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman to free Pvt. John D Martin, 24, of Tule Lake, Calif. Martin, accused by the Army of collaborating with the enemy and promoting disloyalty among fellow war prisoners in a North Korean camp in 1953, was released to his attorney as a result of Goodman's order.

Among Repatriated Prisoners

Bell, Griggs and Cowart were among 21 U.S. prisoners of the Communists who rejected repatriation at Panmunjom and went to Red China. They asked to be returned to their homeland, regardless of the consequences, after becoming fed up with the Communist way of life.

Goodman's ruling Friday marked the first time a former war prisoner has been released on a writ of habeas corpus on the ground the Army had no jurisdiction in a crime committed during a previous enlistment.

Direct Conflict

Goodman's decision was in direct conflict with one handed down in a similar case last Wednesday by Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy in Washington, D.C. McGarraghy upheld the Army's right to try Maj. Ronald E. Alley, 34, charged with misconduct in Korean prison camps.

Goodman ruled that under a congressional statute the Army can only court martial a man when the offense is not prosecutable in civil court. Martin, he said, could be tried in federal court on charges of treason, private correspondence with foreign governments or activities affecting the armed forces.

The action leaves Martin a free man as far as the Army is concerned, but he is still liable to civil prosecution if the government wishes to press charges as outlined by the judge.

Dryers Brighten Gloom Of Washday

CHICAGO — (UP) — Showers on washday will cause the American housewife less gloom this year.

For about 200,000 housewives, it won't make any difference whether it rains. The clothes will be dried on schedule. For spring sales of dryers will total 200,000.

This prediction comes from the automatic clothes dryer industry, which estimates volume sales will hit the 1,000,000 unit mark for all of 1955.

In the past, sales of automatic clothes dryers have dropped with the coming of ideal weather.

"This won't be the case this year" a spokesman for the industry says. "Housewives now accept the dryer as one of the greatest of all labor-savers, regardless of

'Temporary' Quarters For 19 Years

The music department of Columbia City's schools and headquarters for the school bands have been housed in a wooden, portable type building constructed in 1936 with W.P.A. help at a cost of $6,000.

This "temporary" home for the music department has served 19 years and doubtless will remain in use until such a time as equipment is shifted to the proposed Columbia City Joint High school, blueprints and specifications for which will not be ready until mid-winter.

The music department's quarters, known as the band building, are located northwest of the West Ward school at Elm and Jolly streets. This frame structure contains two classrooms, an office, four practice rooms, and washrooms. Its location was planned to remove from the study rooms the sound of vocal and instrumental tal practice sessions, and yet to have it convenient to high school and departmental classrooms.

Shigemitsu Says Japan's Future 'Inexorably' Tied With U. S. Aims

By RALPH TEATSORTH
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu stressed Friday night that his nation's ambitions, economic and political future and military program were "inexorably" tied with the aims and objectives of the United States.

Shigemitsu, who 10 years ago Friday had signed the surrender ending World War II, stated Japan's position during a private dinner party at the country home of Bernard Baruch in Manhasset, Long Island.

Japan's foremost diplomat only a few hours earlier had a warm, 75-minute conference with Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Shigemitsu discussed the "paramount importance" to Japan of maintaining a friendly and understanding relationship with the United States during the dinner.

Hoped For Understanding

He expressed the hope and belief that "the United States would understand and appreciate the necessity of Japan having economic outlets — outlets which are necessary to her economic stability."

At this point Shigemitsu emphasized that "there is no neutralism in Japan" and that Japan, in looking toward possible non-strategic trade with Red China, has no intention of adopting any Communist political philosophy.

It was here that Shigemitsu said his country s fate was tied inexorably with that of the United States.

Shigemitsu appeared exultant over his historic meeting earlier in the day with MacArthur, his former enemy and now an admirer.

In their hour and 15-minute meeting in MacArthurs suite, the general said it was his firm opinion that Moscow had no intention to invade Japan unless it could first communize the Japanese people.

He said he thought Japan's military force should be a defensive unit, but made it clear he was speaking for himself and not the government.

MacArthur told Shigemitsu it was his personal opinion that all Japanese and German war criminals remaining in prison should be paroled to their government and those guilty of real crimes should be tried by their own courts.

Tried As War Criminal

The general, now chairman of the board of Remington-Rand, told Shigemitsu that the United States never had sought to try him as a war criminal but that Russia insisted upon it.

Shigemitsu had nothing to say publicly about the chat except that it was "interesting."

Shigemitsu ends his visit to the United States today. He was scheduled to be U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.'s lunch guest. He will spend the remainder of the day relaxing.

Lodge's invitation was extended to Shigemitsu as a friendly gesture and the lunch was not considered a formal conference.

However it was pointed out that the lunch would permit Lodge and Shigemitsu to discuss Japan's three-year-old application for membership in the United Nations.

He will leave at noon Sunday for San Francisco on his way back to Japan.

Pork Is Good Food Buy Now

WASHINGTON (UP) — Housewives can take a tip from the Agriculture Department's current farm price report—pork is a good food buy now.

The department noted in its report Tuesday that prices farmers got for hogs during the month which ended Aug. 15 were down 26 per cent from a year ago. And with this year's spring pig crop—9 per cent up from last year's —now beginning to come to market, prices are likely to retreat even further in the next few months.

While the report may have been good news for housewives, it wasn't for farmers. It showed that the hog price drop, aided by drops in prices of peaches, beef cattle, tomatoes, corn and wheat, pushed the index of prices received by farmers down 2 per cent from a month earlier.

At 233 per cent of its 1910-14 average the farm price index was 6 per cent below a year earlier and marked the fourth consecutive month of decline.

Backward Glance At City Schools Stirs Memories

Much has recently been detailed about the new joint high school which is in the planning phase and which will serve six neighboring school corporations. As neighbors talk of plans for the future in local education, memories of past schol days are stirred and stories in retrospect are elicited.

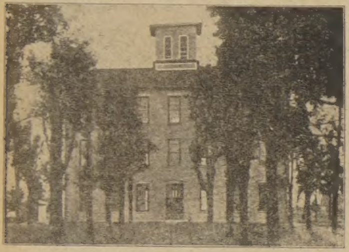
This concerns all ages, from men and women now in their 30's up to those who have passed the 60, 70, or 80-mark. Each of these thinks of something a little different as thoughts of his early school experiences stir memories of different buildings and personalities.

A brief glance backward into Columbia City education is herewith tailored that grandpa and grandma may show Jane and Junior where they became acquainted with the Three R's.

Scene Of 1st Local Battle With 3 R's

The first public school building in Columbia City (above) featured little more than the Three R's when it opened in 1847. During the preceding two years pupils attended classes in the log cabin jury rooms on the courthouse square. This building which stood on the south side of Ellsworth street between Chauncey and Line streets, was accessible by plank walks. It appeared no larger than the average one-room rural school, many of which still stand in Whitley county but none of which are in use except as storages, converted into dwellings, or have been abandoned.

The home of the George L. Pritchard at 209 West Ellsworth street now stands on the site of the town's first public school.



Few Can Recall School Days Spent Here

A few of the older citizens only will recall the above school building which was the town's educational plant prior to the erection of the west ward building in 1889. Rev. A. J. Douglas, father of the late author, Lloyd Douglas, was superintendent of this school, which served the city's youth in the '70's and '80's. A figure in the county's history which almost seemed fictional from his exploits in finance and adventure, was principal in this building for a time. This was Leigh S. J. Hunt, gold mining promoter in Korea, cotton planter in Egypt, etc. An anonymous gift from him made possible the completion of Grace Lutheran church.

This school with its belfry, had more pleasing architectural lines than two which were its near contemporaries, the severely plain east and south ward schools. Its foundation was laid the year the Civil war was closed, in 1865, but funds for its completion were lacking. Six thousand dollars was raised the next year by a bond issue but another $1,500 had to be provided before the building was brought to completion in1869. Its brick walls enclosed two rooms on the first and second floors each seating 84 people. The third floor was not used until later.

Pride Of "Fiddler's Green" Prior To 1913

The old South Ward school, replaced in 1913 by the McLaller building, was the pride of "Fiddler's Green" during its near half-century of service as part of the city's educational system.

It and two other elementary schools scattered through the town's wards, together with a parochial school operated for some years by St. Paul of the Cross parish, saw the town's youth through the 8th grade, fitting them for high school.

To the South Ward school went the children who lived in the area roughly described as south and east of the meandering course of Blue river.

This building, at Ohio and Chicago streets, lacked the beautiful setting of the McLallen school between Hanna street and Blue river. The South Ward was built in the late 1870's met the fate of demolition when the McLallen school opened in 1913.

Dwellings Replace East Ward Grounds

Dwellings now stand in the Carleton Carver neighborhood along North Madison street where once were situated the playgrounds of the East Ward pupils.

Abandoned about a half-century ago when its students were transferred to the present West Ward school, it was not replaced with a building for elementary classes until the recent erection of the Mary Raber school at the east terminal of Jackson street.

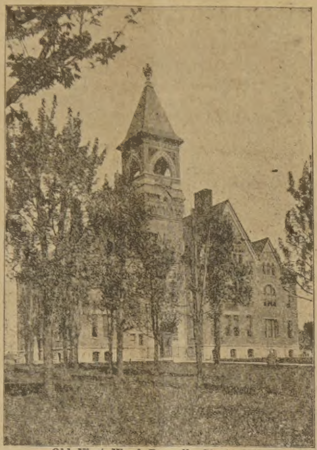
The East Ward building constructed in 1882 closely resembled the South Ward school except that it had an open rather than an enclosed belfry, and a windowed attic. To it came pupils from the northeast section of the town and from the east across "Spook Town," which was the designation in the olden days for the region surrounding the abandoned city cemetery, part of which is the site of the Mary Raber school.

Who Got The Ding-Dong

From the days of the Civil war until well past 1900, nearly every building designed for public education was not considered complete without its belfry and a bell to announce school hours, recess and lunch periods. Many households relied upon these bells as much as on the Seth-Thomas on the mantle.

What has become of all these school bells with the demolition of the old buildings to make place for belfry-less schools?

If the reader has one of these bells or knows where they are reposing and what duty they are serving, call our editorial department — maybe others are interested too.



Old West Ward Proudly Starts 66th Year

Though its exterior is somewhat changed from the way the builders left it (shown above) when they topped its steepled belfry with a weather vane in 1889, the West Ward school has started its 66th year of service with the opening of the new school year as enrollment for 1955-56 classes was taken Friday.

So sturdily was it built that it has withstood repeated bolts of lightning aimed by Nature at its bell tower. These resulted in smoldering of timbers from time to time until it was deemed safer in 192? to remove the upper portion of the tower. Even though the West Ward's affinity for lightning was greater than that of the court house, the wishes of some students that the building would have to be closed and thereby they would be granted an extended vacation never materialized. Its bell is heard daily in the west end and should the upper floor of the school be removed, a plan advanced for several years hence, it will be sorely missed by most of the town's population.

The largest of the city's elementary schools, the majority of local residents can recall the years they spent in its classrooms or marching to and from recess with the tunes played by the teachers on a piano in the school hall.

This building was constructed at a cost of $26,500 and in addition to 16 classrooms of varying size it contains an office, boys' and girls' dressing rooms and showers, and is linked with Marshall Memorial hall, constructed in 1926.

In addition to housing the elementary classes, the West Ward wing as it connects with Marshall Memorial hall, contains six high school classrooms and dressing rooms. Marshall Memorial wing contains several primary grade classrooms where it extends west of the ward building.

Town In 1904 Was Proud Of High School Next To West Ward

Shown above is the Columbia City high school built in 1904 immediately south of the West Ward building on Walnut street between Van Buren and Jolly streets. It was the pride of the town which had invested $17,168 in its eight classrooms, the small library, large assembly room, three offices and the boy's dressing and shower rooms. It contained laboratory space for science classes but 22 years later the Marshall Memorial wing had to be added to increase facilities for the growing school.

Athletic facilities were not included when the high school was built. Basketball games were scheduled in town halls for many years the old opera house at Van Buren and Line streets and later at Cotter's hall on south Main street where the Cook bowling alleys now stand. With the addition of physical education to the cirriculm the community recognized the need for school and public recreation facilities. Some of these were provided in the Marshall Memorial hall wing and in the athletic field about two blocks west of the high school, now known as DeVol field.

With the expansion of the arts courses, music departments had to be moved to a temporary building northwest of the west ward school.

Under construction now south of the alley which bounds the high school on the south is a new heating plant. This is to provide heat for the buildings clustered on the school campus when the city terminates the operation of its heating plant at the city utilities generating station on South Chauncey street.

The assembly room of the high school, until the addition in 1926 of the Marshall Memorial hall wing with its auditorium-gymnasium, was used for many lectures lyceum programs, and entertainments of a public nature.

After the city hall was built, further auditorium facilities were added and the school's assembly room reverted to its intended use solely as a study hall.

The high school has always housed the school system's adminstrative offices. With the expansion of the school system along with the population growth of the town and transfer of students from neighboring township districts, the offices had to be expanded into space previously used for class purposes.

Despite the physical limitations of the building, the City has always exhibited pride in the standards maintained by the high school and numerous loyal alumni have backed all phases of the school activities, in music, art, athletics, the academic and business departments' clubs and activities, as well as the shop and agricultural programs offered the students.

McLallen School Serves Southern District

Serving the southern section of the city in elementary education is the McLallen school, two-story structure of buff glazed brick. It was constructed in 1913 at a cost of $15,660.

With its four classrooms, large playroom, office, space for the school's maintenance staff, and playground, it is attractively situated along the north side of Hanna street.

It is uncrowded, according to the school survey conducted here by Indiana university's School of Education.

With the exception of the new Mary Raber school, the McLallen building is the most modern of schools serving Columbia City's children. It has steel stairways, terazzo floors in the corridors, and tile floors in the washrooms.

Marshall Hall Wing Increases Facilities

The 1926 wing to Columbia City High school and the West Ward building, known as Marshall Memorial hall, increased the facilities of both buildings and in it has been concentrated those activities seen by the school patrons.

This $80,000 structure, facing Elm street, houses the auditorium-gymnasium where convocations, ments, programs of the various school departments, and events of a civic nature have been staged.

This addition is integrated with the two older buildings to which it connects. A machine shop is in a leased building in the business district a block away.

Marshall hall, named for the former Indiana governor and World War I vice-president, Thomas Riley Marshall, is built of masonry with masonry and wood interior. It contains 11 classrooms on two floors and its auditorium seats 783. The gymnasium is located on the stage. Rest room, shower and dressing room facilities are in the two buildings to which it connects.

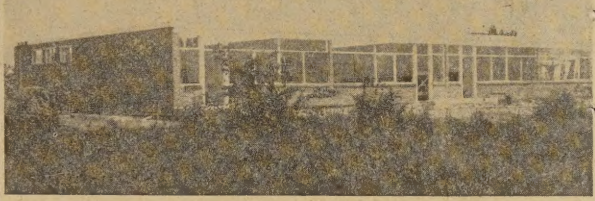
School Bells Ring

For Indiana, the total enrollment in public and parochial elementary and high schools was expected to be the greatest in history. Many youngsters will attend classes in spanking new buildings constructed during the past year as a partial answer to overcrowding. Others attended newly-consolidated schools.

From now until late October, it will be classes on a 5-day week without a letup. Then pupils will be on a brief holiday while teachers attend sessions of their professional associations.



Most Modern In City Is Mary Raber Primary School

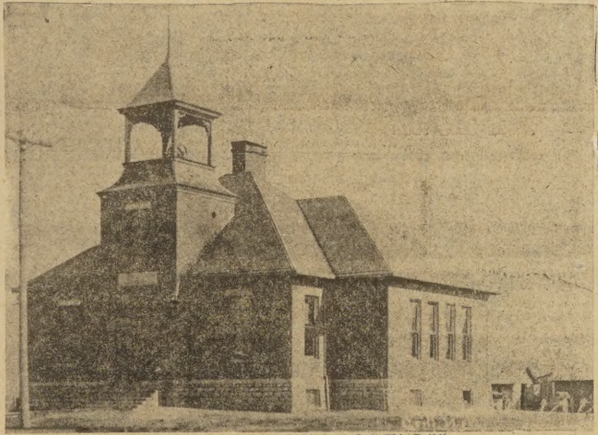
Most modern of the city's schools is the Mary Raber primary school in the east section of Columbia City. It was opened in September 1952 and dedicated the following winter on January 11, 1953, by Ralph F. Gates, former Indiana governor, who like many others in the community had Miss Raber as his first-grade teacher.

This school, planned by Edward James, Indianapolis architect, was erected and equipped at a total cost of $136,560.18. Building costs included landscaping totalled $119,943.32 while equipment placed in the school cost $16,616.86. The school city invested about $,900 additional in acquiring real estate for the building's location. The major portion of the 8-acre tract already was owned by the civil city.

The Mary Raber school is devoted to primary education of pupils whose parents live in the east and south portions of the municipal corporation. It offers instruction from kindergarden through the third grade. Pupils then are transferred either to the McLallen or West Ward schools for intermediate grade instruction.

The building, which represents the most advanced ideas in functional and modern design, contains four classrooms plus a multi-purpose room, nurse's room, and small office. It houses a kitchen and each of its classrooms open on their own garden area.

It is a memorial to a beloved teacher in the community, Miss Mary Raber who spent 56 years as a primary teacher in Columbia City but who taught four years from 1879 to 1882 in the country before entering the city school system extended from 1883 until her retirement in 1939. A portrait of this remarkable teacher hangs in the new school, was presented to the school city by members of her family.



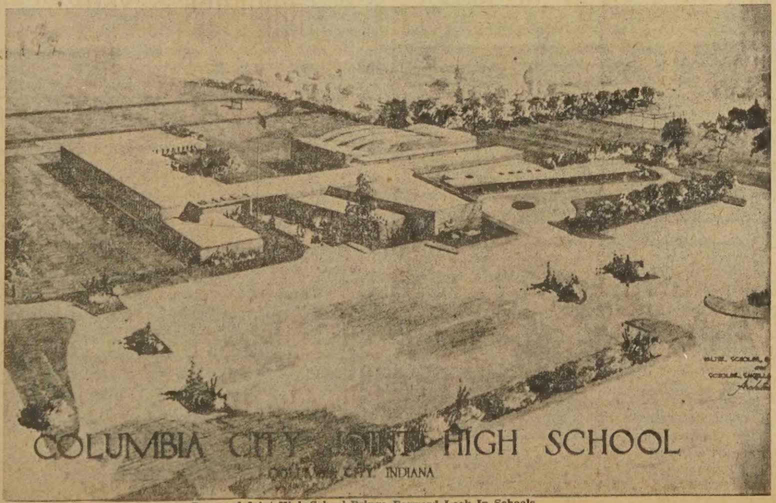
Washington Center H. S. Students Quit This Building

The old Washington Center school built in 1901 (shown above) and in 1918 expanded as enrollments grew, saw the end of high school instruction within its walls with the close of the 1954-55 academic year.

The high school students, who had been receiving their instruction there, are now enrolled for 1955-56 in tne Columbia City Joint High School and are to begin classes next week in the county seat.

Washington Center, about the time Washington township enlarged its school building, was Columbia Citys biggest basketball rival. The old Opera House never accommodated the crowd which gathered when Washington Center played against C.C.H.S.

Washington Center will use its school facilities for elementary grades henceforth. Its school plant consists of an eight room brick building with a two classroom wooden portable building nearby, a shop and a barn in a separate building, and a wood construction gymnasium.



COLUMBIA CITY JOINT HIGH SCHOOL
COLUMBIA CITY, INDIANA

Proposed Joint High School Brings Forward Look In Schools

The Columbia City Joint High school, detailed plans for which are to be forthcoming next winter, presents the forward look in education. The building and improvement to real estate as shown above would call for an investment of about $1,750,000. A 270 car parking lot would eliminate the annoying business of finding parking space for school visitors and patrons.

The building is designed to face North Whitley street (foreground). Along the north side of the building are the classrooms. A one-story library projects westward from this wing. Other projections on the west side of the building are the auditorium and the smaller structure on the north side of it, the music rooms. The large arched roof structure on the right rear is the gymnasium.

Pilot And State Police Officer Killed In Traffic Spotter Plane

National Holiday Traffic Toll Surpasses Safety Experts' Fears

By UNITED PRESS

An Indiana National Guard pilot and a state police officer were killed Monday night in the flaming wreckage of a plane used as a traffic spotter in an effort to save the lives of motorists.

Their deaths wrote a tragic postscript to the fatality-strewn Hoosier holiday that saw at least 6 persons killed in traffic, five of them in a single car-splitting crash, and eight others by drowning and miscellaneous accidents.

The heroic efforts of authorities to stem the tide of highway deaths succeeded in holding the toll below last year's 19 fatalities for the period, but couldn't prevent the count from climbing above the 11 deaths predicted for the state.

Killed in the plane wreck south of Lebanon were National Guard Lt. Isaac Shell, 34, Indianapolis and State Police Sgt. John Miller, 35, Lafayette.

Banked Too Steeply

State police said the craft was flying low over U.S. 52 and in radio contact with a patrol car as it sought out reckless drivers, speeders and other potential killers on the highways.

The plane apparently banked too steeply at low speed and plummeted into a field on a farm.

The "gloves off" ground and air enforcement campaign by authorities did not prevent one of the nation's worst wrecks which took the lives of five members of a South Bend family and left two others near death.

Killed were Ray Wittenberg, 60, his son, Arthur, 17, and three grandchildren Joel Starkweather 16, Helen Starkweather, 11 and Charlene Starkweather 10.

Critically injured in the crash along Ind. 25 south of Rochester early Sunday were Mrs. Evelyn Starkweather, 35, mother of the three younger victims, and her

Traffic accidents took more than five lives each hour of the 78-hour Labor Day weekend, a final United Press tabulation showed today.

The final count showed 443 traffic deaths during the period beginning at 6 p.m. Friday and ending at midnight Monday. The National Safety Council originally believed the death count would be 400, then feared that it might even exceed the record of 453 fatalities set during the 1951 Labor Day weekend.

Council President Ned H. Dearborn said "thank heaven' that the 1951 record, at least, was unbroken.

"But that is slight solace to the thousands of families bereaved by holiday accidents that resulted in death or serious injury," he said. "And it is of slight comfort to anyone who sincerely believes that this wholesale slaughter on the highway need not and must not be tolerated.

"We hope and believe that extra effort on the part of everyone between now and Christmas will hold ow the olidaytoll," hedy red-h olan down the year-old holiday toll," he said.

In addition to the traffic deaths, the United Press count showed 73

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING - The new Thorncreek school building which will house the first three grades is shown in a view looking from the northwest.

Constructed last year, the building was opened to students for the first time this week. The one-story building is of brick, similar to the old school which was built in 1930 and whose smokestack can be seen near the top of the picture.

The new structure contains four modern-styled classrooms, a sick room with two beds and several storage rooms.

Each classroom has closet-type wardrobes within part of one wall. Along the remainder of the wall is a drinking fountain and several storage cabinets. The opposite wall of each room is all windows, as seen in the picture, providing maximum natural lighting. The rooms also have modern fluorescent lighting.

The "blackboard" is a combination paper board material of medium dark green.

Furniture for the room will be open-front desks with chairs.

Administration Will Try To Trim Its Scheduled Military Spending

WASHINGTON (UP) — Official sources said today the administration will try to trim $1,700,000,000 from scheduled military spending for the current fiscal year in an effort to balance the federal budget.

Nearly one-half of the proposed cut — 750 million dollars — would come out of Air Force funds, officials said.

For the Army, the proposed cut would mean speeding up a reduction in strength, already ordered.

The new defense cut, which apparently was proposed from the White House level, already has run into opposition within the Defense Department.

Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles, accompanied by several of his assistant escretaries, made a secret visit during the weekend to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson at his Michigan vacation hide-away to protest the cuts.

Wilson was understood to have assured the Air Force leaders that he would not agree to any cut that would interfere with the Air Force program to build up to 137 wings by mid-1957.

The administration proposal, as reported by Pentagon officials is to cut military spending in the present fiscal year ending next July 1, to 34 billion dollars.

The original defense budget, as presented to Congress in January provided for the individual services to spend 35¾ billion dollars

The administration, however, gave over-all defense spending figure of 34 billion dollars. It explained that it hoped to reach the lower spending figure through "savings," during the year. It is this 1¾ billion dollars in "savings" which the administration is now trying to push through Pentagon opposition.

Congress approved the defense budget substantially as submitted.

The administration move to cut defense spending comes at a time when it is trying to cut over-all

Hoosiers Return To Jobs; Strikes Are Settled

Gives Holiday Added Meaning

By UNITED PRESS

The Labor Day holiday held added meaning to more than 10,000 Hoosier workers who returned to their jobs today following weekend settlements of lengthy strikes.

The new agreements left about 27,000 Indiana workers still on strike, with the largest walkouts involving 12,500 International Harvester Co. employes and 9,000 Studebaker workers.

About 9,000 Bendix Aviation Corp. employes at South Bend voted approval of a new contract agreement reached Sunday to end a 10-day walkout. The agreement affected a total of 21,000 workers at South Bend and in Mishawaka, Detroit, Elmira Heights, N.Y., Teterboro, N.J. and North Holly- Fla.

At Terre Haute, 1,100 Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. workers were due to return to their jobs today for the first time since Aug. 23, following ratification of a local contract agreement.

UAW officials in Chicago, meanwhile, were expected to reply today to a final bargaining offer from International Harvester. The company has plants in Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Evansville and Richmond.

Meanwhile, UAW international officials from Detroit prepared to enter the Studebaker negotiations, although the South Bend strike was said to be "unauthorized.'

William Ogden, local UAW president, said the strike, which began last Wednesday night when the old contract expired, was not approved formally by the union's international headquarters.

State Fair Heads Into Its Final Four Days With Attendance Running Ahead Of Last Year

By SAM NEWLUND
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—The Indiana State Fair headed into its final four days today with attendance, bulged by record crowds during the holiday weekend, running about 26,000 ahead of last year.

It was "Governor's and Legislators' Day," and Governor Craig was scheduled to make his third appearance at the fair to dedicate a new $450,000 Farmers' Building.

Monday's Labor Day crowd tapered off somewhat despite near ideal weather. Official paid attendance was 111,772, about 6,000 more than last year but well under the record for the day of 161,798 set in 1946.

The first two days of the long weekend saw record throngs jam the 238-acre area. Officials counted 32,727 paid admissions Sunday and about 20,000 veterans were admitted free, for a total of more than 152,000. The previous record was 149,000 in 1953.

Among Mondays highlights was the awarding of scholarships for leadership at the 4-H Boys Camp to Rex Dale Myers, 18, Washington, and Don Cloutier, 17, Farmersburg. Both received cash awards and a $35 reduction in fees each semester at the Purdue University School of Agriculture.

Winners of the 4-H speaking contest were Bess Kirkpatrick of Fowler and Fred Reubeck of Indianapolis. Both will get expenses paid trips to New York and Washington.

Irvin Lemler of Bourbon won a trip to New Orleans for taking a blue ribbon in the vegetable judging contest. Ben Davis High School in Indianapolis won team honors.

West Resumes Its Talks With Russia Today

Has Little Hope Of Definite Answer To Inspection Plan

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The West today begins the second week of disarmament talks with Russia with little hope that the Soviets will give a definite answer to President Eisenhower's military inspection plan.

The five-nation United Nations disarmament subcommittee resumes secret discussions after a four-day holiday weekend.

President Eisenhower's plan for aerial and ground inspection, coupled with an exchange of detailed military information between the United States and Russia, was expected to get detailed discussion.

Little Hope Held

However, top diplomats held out little hope that Russia would take a firm stand on the proposals. Last week's meetings indicated the Soviets will insist on acceptance of a disarmament plan before adequate inspection safeguards can be discussed.

Russia looked to American disarmament expert Harold E. Stassen for answers to six disarmament questions tossed into the conference by Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev. Stassen promised the answers but warned it might take a little time to provide them.

The Soviets, among other things, sought immediate agreement on limitation of armed forces plus a ban on nuclear weapons.

Soviet Disarmament Proposals

Sobolev indicated he would be willing to discuss "other matters," presumably including Mr. Eisenhower's inspection plan, only after the West takes a stand on the Soviet disarmament proposals.

Western diplomats considered the Eisenhower plan an essential "predisarmament" program and a "confidence building exercise" to demonstrate that Russia and the Western powers can work together on an inspection and control program.

British Prime Minister Anthony Eden's plan for mutual inspection of forces confronting each other across Europe's "Iron Curtain" also was considered in this category.

The Eden plan and a French proposal to use money saved by disarmament to aid underdeveloped countries also were scheduled for more detailed discussion this week.

Mystery Man Tricks Russians To Release Him

From Prison; They Thought He Was An American

BERLIN (UP)—American authorities today questioned a mustachioed mystery man with piercing eyes who tricked the Russians into releasing him from prison because they thought he was an American.

They were trying to determine the true identify of a man posing as Frederick C. Hopkins of New York City who pulled off the international hoax to get out of Russia.

H opkins and two U.S. soldiers, both listed as absent without leave were under observation at a U.S. Army hospital in Berlin following their release to American authorities Monday by the Soviets.

Five Hour Interrogation

The Americans questioned Hopkins for five hours.

He fooled the Soviets but he could not fool us," an American spokesman said. "We do not know who he is. All we know is that he is not an American. Perhaps he is a German. He is an enigma."

American authorities said Hopkins, who speaks fluent English, German and "several other languages," insisted he was an American citizen and refused to give them any help in determining his true identity.

The two U.S. soldiers released were Pvt. Michael Feingersch, 36, also known as Murray Fields, of New York City, and Wilfred Cumish, 39, of Newburyport, Mass.

Both Soldiers Tanned

Both complained they needed medical attention although they were tanned and appeared in good health. An Army spokesman said their cases would be investigated to determine whether they would be tried by court martial.

Cumish disappeared from his intelligence unit in Vienna March 24, 1948. Feingersch disappeared from his constabulary unit in Nurnberg, West Germany, June 2, 1948. They had been in Soviet prisons more than seven years.

The Soviets also released 24 other prisoners Monday. They included two Frenchmen, six Dutchmen, two Danes, two Swiss, eight Belgians and four Germans, three of whom posed as citizens of other nations.

Light In Window To Announce Rare Blooming Of Plant

Mrs. Herbert Wolfe, 205 Collinwood Avenue, has an unusual night-blooming cereus plant which has two large buds about ready to bloom. The original name of the plant is "Christ In The Manger."

The flowers stay open only one night for about 12 hours. Mrs. Wolfe started the plant from a leaf, four years ago.

Since the flower will be in bloom for only one night, Mrs. Wolfe stated that she would leave a light-on in the window when the flower opens so that those interested in the plant may have an opportunity to see it.

Murderer Flees From Death Cell To Freedom

Returns On Advice Of His Lawyer

By MARC E. THIVIERGE
United Press Staff Correspondent

QUEBEC CITY (UP) — Condemned murderer Wilbert Coffin fled to freedom from his death cell early today by threatening his guards with a "gun" made of soap but returned meekly less than two hours later on the advice of his lawyer.

The 44-year old prospector, scheduled to be hanged at Montreal, Sept. 23 for slaying one of three Americans whose bodies were found in the wilds of Quebec's Gaspe Peninsula, locked three guards in his cell after luring them there and walked out shortly after 1 a.m., EDT.

He returned before 3 a.m., still carrying a bundle of clothing he grabbed hurriedly from a cell locker after menacing two guards and the sergeant of the guard with a piece of soap cunningly carved and blackened to resemble a pistol.

Coffin's lawyer, Raymond Maher was not available for comment early today.

Embarrassed Wuebec Provincial Police, responsible for Coffin's security while he awaited transfer to Montreal's Bordeaux Jail, had refused comment early today other than to confirm that he had escaped and returned.

Coffin is scheduled to be hanged at the Montreal jail, where all Quebec executions take place, for the robbery-slaying in July, 1953 of Richard Lindsey, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa.

The mutilated bodies of young Lindsey, his father, Eugene, 43, and friend, Fred Claar, 19, of East Freedom, Pa., were found in the wilderness of the Gaspe Peninsula where they had gone to hunt bear. Coffin, who denied committing the crime, was charged on the single count of killing Richard Lindsey.

Tropical Storms Veer Away From Nation's Borders

One Drenches South Texas, Causes 11 Deaths

By UNITED PRESS

Two tropical storms veered away from the nation's borders today, but not until one of them had drenched south Texas and caused 11 deaths in the United States and Mexico.

Meanwhile, Southern California's heat wave blased on with only slightly diminished fury and forest fires raged through the state's bone-dry woodlands.

Tropical storm Gladys took a surprise swing into the Mexican interior late Monday after threatening to cause a repeat of the disastrous 1954 floods in the Texas Rio Grande Valley.

The storms's rains and high tides had already led to the drownings of 11 children. Two little girls drowned off Texas' Padre Island and nine children were reported dead in a disastrous slum district flood in Mexico City.

The Mexico City flood stemmed from two rivers swollen by Gladys' heavy fringe rains. Mexican officials counted 30,000 persons homeless and feared more dead would be found.

Also in Mexico, a party of 12 Texans was reported marooned by flood waters near San Rafael.

Meanwhile, hurricane Flora began curving toward the north far out in the Atlantic Ocean. The storm, packing 100-mile-per-hour winds, was not a danger to the U.S. coastline, but ships at sea were warned to use caution.

On the West Coast, sizzling Los Angeles was promised a "cool wave' of merely 98 degrees today. The mercury stayed out of the 100's for the first time in six days Monday, getting no higher than 99.

Weathermen could foresee no real break in the heat, which kept the temperature in the 100's over southwest Arizona, and as far north as southwest Oregon.

The heat wave was blamed for at least 51 deaths in California and the Los Angeles coroners office was on an emergency basis.

Indianapolis Woman Hurt Slightly When Car Leaves Road

An Indianapolis woman suffered injuries, but her two grandchildren escaped unhurt when she lost control of the car she was driving on State Road 9 at the Whitley-Noble county line Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Cuba Waltman, driver of the southbound automobile, was taken to Whitley County Hospital by a Smith and Sons ambulance. X-ray examinations revealed that she suffered a fractured collarbone. She was also treated for minor cuts and bruises and released. Her two grandchildren, Daryl Snyder, 9, and Cheryl Snyder, 11, did not require treatment.

Mrs. Waltman's car skidded on loose stone as it rounded the curve. It swung across the road where it struck a ditch on the east side before upsetting. Pinned in the wreckage, Mrs. Waltman was freed by several neighbors. The car was a total loss.

Kremlin's Team Of Diplomats Need To Study About Winning Friends, Influencing People

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The Kremlin's team of diplomatic negotiators had better study up some more, in the next few days, how to win friends and influence people.

That is, if they really expect to get anywhere in their talks with tough old West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer starting Friday in Moscow.

Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev and Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov did pretty well in the recent Big Four negotiations in Geneva.

Now they are going to take up directly the biggest issue in Europe. That is the future of the country they fear most next to the United States.

The Russian invitation to Adenauer to visit Moscow was given on June 7. The program, as specified later by the Kremlin, consists of three points. They are the establishment of diplomatic relations, the conclusion of a trade agreement and the establishment of cultural relations.

But the Russians may find the going tough. Adenauer is determined to talk about the unification of Germany and the return of the thousands of German prisoners still held as slave laborers.

The Russians will not be able to butter up West Germany's "grand

FALL IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Fall is a fine, fine thing for many reasons. For there can be too much of summer........and what starts as a blessing may end as a pestilence. You can drown in heat ....and when ambition withers and desires fail and work becomes a torment, who but a katydid can rejoice in an August noon?

So September lays a cooling finger on our fevers. Morning dews are heavier. The dawns grow sharp and bright. And fall itself is just around the corner.

Fall is the real New Year........ a time to plan and build and set new goals. A time to cut ourselves a brand-new slice of life...... to toss out old ideas, old styles, old hats, old useless treasures.

Fall is a time to be new!

'All You Can Drink' Stand Challenges Youths At Fair

By SAM NEWLUND
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) —Throngs of small fry are causing a furore at the Indiana State Fair. They've been guzzling too much at their favorite bar.

The bar sells only milk on tap—all you can drink for 10 cents—and Hoosier youngsters are slugging down so much the American Dairy Association is beginning to wonder if its promotional stunt was such a good idea, after all.

"These youngsters hit us hard," said Oscar A. Swank, the association's executive director for Indiana. "We'll have to change this a little next year, I think."

Rumor has it that one youngster walked into the dairy bar, paid his dime and drank 35 cups—more than eight quarts. But none of the white-uniformed "bar maids" could confirm it.

Mrs. Sylvia Roark, one of 16 waitresses, said "four cups is about average' for adults and "kids—they can drink eight or 10."

The common procedure, she said, is for "a group of them to come in and race" to see who can drink the fastest.

"We dish it out while they gulp it down," Mrs. Roark said .

"My best judgment," said Wank, "is that we sold 800 gallons of milk yesterday.' He said the youngsters drin it so fast "we were out of milk for an hour.'

Swank said he had no idea how the association could keep the offer in force next year, and still cut down on consumption. The scheme, designed to promote milk drinking, may have the opposite effect on those who dish it out.

Mrs. Roark said she often used to drink a glass of milk with a meal, but "not after this."

John Goodyear, 14, Indianapolis, was one of the heaviest drinkers. He said he consumed seven cups, or nearly two quarts, then came back about four hours later and drank three more.

"I felt terrible," he said. "No more milk for me, ever."

Citizens Would Construct Replica Of Wright Home

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP)—A move was underway in the little town of Millville today to raise funds for construction of a replica of the home in which aviation pioneer Wilbur Wright was born.

A decision to raze the present home on the Wright birthplace site northeast of Millville and construct the replica was made Tuesday. The action was taken by the Indiana Wright Memorial Commission at a meeting with the Liberty Township Wright Memorial Committee.

Construction of the replica will be based upon an artist's conception of the original Wright home. Scope of the project will depend upon the size of the fund Millville residents, who originated the idea, can raise.

The state also plans to erect a memorial at the site.

HAMBURG, Germany (UP) — The West German Cigar Producers Assn. proudly announced Thursday that West Germany's federal minister of economics, Prof. Lud Erhard has topped Sir Winston Churchill in cigar consumption.

The report said Sir Winston has smoked seven cigars a day for 60 years, totaling 153,000 cigars, while Prof. Erhard has smoked 12 cigars a day for 37 years, adding up to 162,000 cigars.

Indian Chief, Son Are Attraction At State Fair

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) Chief Brown Eagle and his son, Sky Eagle, have a job something like a department-store Santa Claus at the Indiana State Fair.

They stand under the bright sun in their brilliant native costumes, while bug-eyed youngsters stare and a few venture to shake their hands. One of them, a spunky Boy Scout, asked Brown Eagle:

"Are you real Indians?"

The chief, a 58-year-old member of the Chippewa tribe, held out his red-brown wrists and assured him he was the real thing.

The chief wears a buckskin suit and shoes with a feathered headdress which dangles to his ankles. He helps draw crowds to Farm Bureau exhibits near the Farmers Building.

They Do a Dance

Sky Eagle, 24-year-old Army veteran of the Korean War, wears a breechcloth and a headdress which isn't so long as his father's.

If you arrive at the right time, you can watch the father-son team in an Indian dance.

This is a first visit to the fair for Brown Eagle and his son. But it has been his job for years to tour fairs and outdoor shows in the summer and teach Indian lore in winter.

From time to time he may teach forestry, archery and handicraft at public schools and youth centers.

"We might be called upon thousands of miles from here,' said the chief. And always, he said, he wears his native garb.

"I'm more Indian-fied with these things," he explained. With Indian dress you can "use psychology," he said.

Born in Wisconsin

The chief, who served in the Army in World War I, was born on a reservation near Hayward, Wis. He soon learned English in an Indian school in Washington State. Later, he attended a private school in St. Paul, Minn.

Brown Eagle has been talking casually to white people for a long time and he said it gets "rather tiresome" to hear so much about how the white man won all the victories over his peoples during the nation's western expansion.

"Davy Crockett, he's all right,' Brown Eagle said, but he thought the story had been distorted in the case of General Custer. All you hear, he said, that it was a "massacre" in which the Indians defeated Custer.

"Sitting Bull outsmarted that guy," said Brown Eagle.

Scientists Wave Goodbye To Huge Runaway Balloon

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Scientists sadly waved goodbye today to a huge runaway balloon which has been bobbing 20 miles above the earth with a cargo of mice and guinea pigs for six days.

The balloon took off for Canada Monday night and the Air Force announced that it wouldn't shoot it down, even if it gets low enough for jet plane guns to hit it.

That left the balloon and its cargo up in the air until leakage or some other cause brings it down.

Scientists for the Winzen Research, Inc., which launched the balloon, said it might take weeks for that to happen. In the meantime, an advancing cool front appeared likely to waft the balloon all the way to the Atlantic ocean.

The scientists had given up hope for the 15 live mice and guinea pigs who went up with the 25-story high balloon at International Falls, Minn., Thursday.

The animals had undoubtedly died because of lack of oxygen, the scientists said. But they wanted to get their hands on the scientific instruments in the balloon's 0-9 pound gondola because of the valuable data on cosmic rays which they have recorded.

The Air Force had ordered the tests to obtain information about the possible dangers to humans in space voyages of the future.

The gondola was supported to have parachuted back to earth late Thursday. But a timing mechanism apparently went wrong and the gondola stayed up with the balloon.

Polio Toll May Fall Short Of Epidemic Of 1952

WASHINGTON (UP)—A government expert predicted today that the polio toll this year will fall far short of the big epidemic of 1952 when 57,000 Americans got the disease.

But Dr. C.C. Dauer said there are indications more cases will be recorded this year than in the relatively mild years of 1950 and 1951.

"In other words," he said, "it now looks as if 1955 will be an ordinary polio year. Assuming there are no unforeseen developments, of course."

Dauer, the man who writes the communicable disease reports of the Public Health Service, made the statements as the polio season neared its peak.

Polio generally hits hardest in the United States between mid-August and mid-September with the season arriving early in the South and moving north. After September, the number of new cases usually begins tapering off.

Dauer said it is "entirely possible" the peak this year will come in the second or third week of September. The key to what happens apparently is New York state where polio has just started to spurt.

Other factors, Dauer said, are how fast the epidemic in Massachusetts subsides and when the outbreak in Wisconsin begins to cease. He said the worst seems to be over in Massachusetts and that the peak in Wisconsin should come in a week or two.

Bishop Dedicates Mass To Conversion Of The Russians

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP) — The Most Rev, Fulton J. Sheen, auxiliary bishop of New York, climaxed an unprecedented English - language mass in a wooded dell here Monday with a plea for a "gradual and steady transformation" of the spirit of the Russian people "so eventually Christ may reign."

An estimated 100,000 persons gathered before a 40-foot icon of the Blessed Mother at Mount St. Macrina Convent to hear the bishop celebrate the unique mass.

Bishop Sheen was the first Roman Catholic bishop to offer a solemn pontifical mass in the Byzantine rite in English. He dedicated it to the conversion of Russians. The service will be beamed to Iron Curtain countries by the Voice of America.

Bishop Sheen wore the colorful robes of the Eastern Rite church for the two-hour ceremony. Seventeen priests and monsignori assisted him at the altar.

Stevenson May Reveal Plans At Fund-Raising Dinner

CHICAGO (UP) — Speculation arose today that Adlai E. Stevenson will tell whether he is going to run for president at a Democratic fund-raising dinner here Nov. 19.

Stevenson's speech at the $100-a-plate gathering was announced Thursday. It will follow a meeting of the Democratic National Committee starting here Nov. 17 and a get-together of Democratic state chairmen the next day.

Stevenson, the Democrats' 1952 candidate, has already served notice that he will announce his plans sometime in November. The Nov. 19 dinner was regarded as a made-to-order situation for an announcement.

Although Stevenson has kept silent about his political future, most top Democrats have said they think he will run again.

One of these, California Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, emerged from a meeting with Stevenson Thursday and said "he talks much more like a candidate than he did four years ago."

Does Your Child Have A Place To Read, Study?

Does your child have a well-lighted place where he may read, study, or look at pictures? Children from kindergarden age through college use their eyes a great deal, so they need good lighting where they may work uninterrupted.

Purdue Home Economists recommend that such a reading or study center should include a desk or table, chair, and good light. The desk should be large enough to hold the student's books and papers without crowding while he reads or writes. If the desk top is not of a dull, light finish, cover it with a pastel-colored blotter.

There will be less distraction if the desk is placed along a wall. Should that wall be light-colored, it will reflect additional light. For a dark wall, place a 36 x 42 inch beaverboard above the desk.

A comfortable chair of the right height will encourage good posture while the student reads or studies. You may need to build the chair up with cushions or chair pads for the little fellow so that his eye-level is at least 14 inches above the desk top. If his feet do not touch the floor, he should have a foot-stool so he will be more comfortable.

The lighting should be the type which eliminates glare and contrasts in dark and light. Illuminating engineers recommend 30 to 40 foot-candles of light properly diffused to give enough light for the child's eyes. The proper amount of light can be obtained by using two lamps which might be the familiar "pin-to-wall" lamps hung on the wall 15 inches above the study table top and 24 to 30 inches apart. A glass or plastic diffusing bowl gives better quality light for close work. A 100-watt bulb should be used in these lamps and the shade should have a white lining and be moderately luminous.

Grand Jury Calls More Witnesses Before Making Charge

SUMNER, Miss. (UP)—A grand jury called additional witnesses today before deciding whether to charge two accused white kidnapers with the "wolf whistle" murder of a 14-year-old Negro boy.

Dist. Atty. General Chatham said the 18 jurors would call at least five more witnesses before issuing a report later today or Wednesday.

The grand jury was asked to return murder indictments against half-brothers Roy Bryant and J.W. Milam, confessed kidnapers of Emmett Till, of Chicago.

The men were being protected from purported lynch threats in the adjacent Leflore County Jail at Greenwood, where they admitted kidnaping Till from his uncle's home because he allegedly whistled at Bryant's wife.

Among witnesses scheduled to appear before the Tallahatchie County grand jury were Dr. L. B. Otken of Greenwood, who examamined the boy's body; Moses Wright, Till's great uncle, and Simeon Wright, Till's 16-year-old cousin.

Chatham repeated a pledge of Mississippi officials that the greatest possible effort would be made to identify and convict Till's slayers. He would not speculate on a trial date.

But Tallahatchie County Sheriff H. C. Strider, in whose territory the boy is believed to have been slain, said he could find only circumstantial evidence implicating Bryant and Milam.

They admitted dragging the boy from his uncle's home at gunpoint, claiming he was the one who insulted Bryant's young wife with a wolf whistle the day before, but claimed they released him unharmed.

Families May Get Benefits By Social Security Act Change

Families of individuals who died before September 1, 1950, may be eligible for monthly social security insurance payments now, according to Christian H. W. Luecke, district social security manager. This provision of the 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act, Luecke said, applies if the worker died after July 1, 1940, and before September 1, 1950, even though the family's original claim for survivors benefits was denied.

Recent changes make it possible to provide an insured status under the law in such cases if the worker had at least six calendar year quarters of coverage at the time of his death. This special provision, however, will affect only monthly benefit claims, Luecke added.

Survivors who might qualify for these monthly payments are widows who are 65 or older, children who are not yet 18, and, in case the worker left no widow or children, parents who were receiving at least one-half of their support from the deceased when he died.

Luecke urges anyone who feels this provision may affect him to get in touch with the district social security office at Fort Wayne.

Heavy Cleaners Best For Wall Spots Only

MADISON, Wis. — (UP) — Use strong cleaners only to remove finger marks and smudges from walls. The cleaners will dull the paint if you attack the entire surface with them.

Experiments at the University of Wisconsin show that homemakers often mar paint finish by using strong washing powders, bar soaps, soap flakes, synthetic detergents and ammonia. Finishes roughened by poor cleaners often need redoing.

About one woman of four uses vacuum cleaner attachments on walls and dust woodwork, the experiments show. On untreated wallpaper they use wall brushes, brooms, wall sponges and dust mops.

Whatever the method, the studies show that you will be better off if you choose a gentle cleaner which gives good results with the least work.

Cadillac

No Doubt In His Mind This Time!

This happy gentleman has just taken title to his seventh motor car.

And while he would probably have difficulty recalling all the different makes and models he has purchased through the years, there is one thing he knows with absolute certainty: He never felt like this before when he took the keys and made for the open road.

For this is his first Cadillac! And what a glorious feeling it is to know he has chosen the "car of cars"!

Gone are the doubt . . . and the worry . . . and the wonder. This time he knows he's right!

And how quickly the evidence will assemble in support of his sentiment!

First of all, there will be the eloquent testimony of the car itself—its magnificent performance . . . its marvelous comfort and ride . . . and its incredible ease of steering and handling.

And then, as he travels the boulevard, there will be those quick glances of approval from his fellow motorists to tell him that he is not alone in his judgment.

And, finally, there will be that assembly of family and friends that awaits him at journey's end . . . offering final confirmation of the wisdom of his choice.

Of course, the man who takes title to a new Cadillac today enjoys the double satisfaction of having made the wisest possible choice at the wisest possible time.

Because of Cadillac's increased year-end production, for instance, he will find that he can have surprisingly prompt delivery on his new Cadillac.

And, as if this were not sufficient in itself, we are also in a position—because of our low inventory of used cars—to offer him a most generous allowance on his present automobile.

Why not come in soon—and spend an hour at the wheel—and let us acquaint you more fully with this unique opportunity?

Miss Conner And Paul E. Rice Exchange Vows Sunday At Grace Lutheran Church

Mrs. Paul E. Rice

Grace Lutheran Church was the scene Sunday of the marriage of Miss Marlene Ann Coner to Paul E. Rice. The Rev. Graham L. Kleespie heard the double-ring vows before an alter banked with candelabra and palms.

Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Conner, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rice, of Hartford City, are parents of the couple.

Miss Patricia Puckett sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony as the bride and bridegroom knelt at the alter. Miss Puckett was accompanied by Kenneth Growcock, who also played "With This Ring I Thee Wed," "Indian Love Call," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "At Dawning," and the traditional processional and recessional. He also accompanied her as she sang "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "Always."

Mrs. Donald Beard served as the bride's matron of honor, and Miss Connie Hawn and Miss Judy Langohr were bridesmaids. Miss Janelle Conner was her sister's junior bridesmaid. Shari Plew, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl for the ceremony.

Richard Jumont attended the bridegroom, and Forrest Zumbrun, Jr. and Donald Beard were ushers.

Floor-length Gown

The bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The fitted lace bodice was fashioned with a scalloped square neckline and long tapered sleeves.

The bouffant tulle skirt featured alternating panels of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. Her veil of imported French illusion was held by a regal lace crown, studded with pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses atop a white Bible.

The two bridesmaids wore honeydew gowns of bemberg crystalette over taffeta. The draped shoulders formed square necklines, and the gowns had fitted bodices and waltz-length skirts. They also wore pleated bands of the same fabric with brow veils.

Gowns Identical

The matron of honor and junior bridesmaid were attired in peacock blue gowns identical to those of the bridesmaids. All carried colonial bouquests of asters and gladiolus. The flower girl wore a white nylon dress with an overskirt of nylon tulle embrodiered with forget-me-nots. The dress had a square tulle collar and a white satin sash. She wore rosebuds in her hair and carried a white basket filled with rose petals.

The bridegroom's mother wore a fall dress of Navy blue, with pink accessories and a white pompom corsage. Mrs. Conner wore a dress of brown crepe with ivory satin contrast. She also wore brown accessories and a corsage of yellow pompons.

A four-tier wedding cake and punch were served to the guests in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony. The guests were served by the Misses Arlene Hearld, Brenda Gawthrop, Carol Meyer, and Annabelle Jenkinson.

Guests included persons from Chicago, Fort Wayne, Hartford City, Huntington, Bluffton, Syracuse, Garret, St. Paul, Minn., Wabash, and Cumberland, Md.

For her wedding trip to Niagra Falls and Canada, the bride wore an aqua knit suit with honey-dew accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses.

GOP Chairmen Gather For Their Refresher Course

In Practical Politics; State Goal

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press Staff Coorrespondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republican state chairmen gathered today for a four-day refresher course in practical political politics. Their goal: Win with Eisenhower in '56.

Although the President remained silent on his intentions, party chieftains based the course on the assumption that he will seek a second term.

The state leaders were scheduled to be greeted by Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the late afternoon and attend a reception tonight in honor of National GOP Chairman Leonard W. Hall.

Classes Begin Wednesday

Classes at the campaign school begin Wednesday with Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz), chairman of the GOP Senatorial Committee, and Rep. Richard Simpson (R-Pa), chairman of the same committee in the House, acting as instructors. They will discuss campaign techniques generally, concentrating on issues and overall strategy.

Republican leaders, sure that Mr. Eisenhower will run again and win, planned to concentrate at the school on ways to recapture Congress from the Democrats and to elect more GOP governors.

The party brass took advantage of Labor Day political statements to renew their pleas that Mr. Eisenhower lead them in '56. The state chairmen presumably will echo the same sentiments when they fly to Denver after their session here to talk directly with the President.

Nixon Confident

Nixon told a news conference Monday that the people closest to the President are "more optimistic that he will run again" than at any time since he was inaugurated.

Sen. James H. Duff (R - Pa), a leader in Mr. Eisenhower's campaign in 1952, told a radio audience he is sure "Eisenhower is going to be the guy" in 1956 and added, "I don't think he can be licked."

And Sen. Frederick G. Payne (R-Me), in a formal statement issued through his office here, said the solution of world problems "demands President Eisenhower's wise and firm leadership for another four years."

While Yankees Led Contenders in Wailing Red Sox Barged Back Into Pennant Picture

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

While the Yankees led the other contenders in a chorus of wailing about wasted opportunities, the Boston Red Sox came barging back into the American League pennant picture today at the very beginning of a very long home stand.

The Red Sox were the only ones to gain ground in the big Labor Day baseball battles as they swept a doubleheader from Washington, 10-2 and 7-2, to push within three games of first place.

The twin wins extended the Red Sox winning streak to five games and gave them seven wins in the last nine games.

Of all the four contenders, the Red Sox will be the only ones at home when, after today's idle day, play resumes in the pennant chase Wednesday. In fact, they will play 16 of their remaining 19 games at home.

Yanks Most Bitter

The Indians, Yankees, and White Sox could only wish they had done as well as Boston. And the Yankees were the most bitter about their split.

That's because the Yanks think two umpire's decisions cost them their opening game, which was won by Baltimore in 11 innings, 6-5.

In the sixth inning, two Orioles runs score on a double by Bob Hale.

Right fielder Hank Bauer of the Yanks thought he caught the ball, but Umpire John Rice ruled he didn't. In the 11th, Chuck Diering scored the winning run when Umpire Larry Napp ruled Yankee third baseman Gil McDougald had interfered with him in a play at third base.

Southpaw Tommy Byrne, batted out in the first inning of the opener, pitched fine relief ball to win the nightcap for New York, 4-3.

League-leading Cleveland bowed to Kansas City in the opener, 5-4, and then came back to win 9-2.

Southpaw Billy Hoeft of Detroit pitched a five-hitter for his 15th win to beat the White Sox, 7-2, in their opener. Then Bob Keegan and Billy Pierce joined for a six-hit shutout effort to give the Sox the second game, 3-0.

Dodgers Win Two

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers reduced their pennant-clinching "magic number" to "three" by sweeping Philadelphia, 11-4 and 8-2. They mathematically eliminated both Philadelphia and New York and now can clinch at least a tie for the pennant Wednesday night by beating Milwaukee.

In other N.L. action Monday, Sam Jones of Chicago shut out Milwaukee on five hits, 2-0 before Ray Crone of the Braves shut out the Cubs on three, 1-0; the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Giants in 10 innings, 8-5, before Don Liddle of New York won the second, 6-3, and the St. Louis Cards win a single game from Cincinnati in 10 innings, 3-2.

Frank's Suggestion Seems To Confirm Tennis Rumors

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP)—Frank Sedgman's suggestion to Aussies Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall that they turn professional seems to confirm the tennis scuttlebutt that Jack Kramer is readying the net coup of the century.

Kramer, the professional tennis off the top amateur to inject new off the top amateur to inejct new life into his cash and carry tours. Tony Trabert, the Wimbledon champion, supposedly was his choice this time should he win the U.S. amateur title currently up for grabs.

But the word around the racquet battleground is that Kramer will try to sign up all three — Trabert, Hoad and Rosewall.

There is, it is said, a possibility that he even may try to get Rex Hartwig, the Aussie doubles demon.

Such a wholesale raid on the cream of the world's amateur tennis talent, if pulled off, could well wreck Australian hopes for a long-time stranglehold on the Davis Cup. But with Kramer that would be merely one of the net results.

Open Tennis Tournaments

What he is primarily interested in is forcing international tennis authorities into sanctioning open tennis tournaments.

This long has been his ambition. Yet he had no forcing lever because he had a mere handful of the world's top tennis names. However, if he should get the current big four of the amateurs, at last he would have a contingent powerful enough to at least demand consideration.

Even if the international tennis brass scorned his suggestion for open tennis, Kramer still would be in the driver's seat. Adding Trabert, Rosewall, Hoad and Hartwig to "names" like those of Pancho Segura, Dick Gonzales, Sedgman, Ken McGregor and even such still-swatting ancients as Don Budge and Fred Perry, he could put on a series of tournaments that would threaten to run the amateurs right out of the ticket business.

Kramer's plans, it is whispered, are for a series of 20 tournaments if he collars the current big four of amateur tennis.

Plenty Of Loot

This would be in addition to his annual winter tour, meaning plenty of loot for all hands.

Up to now, Kramer quips, the "amateurs" haven't been able to afford to turn pro. They can pick up from $10,000 to $12,000 annually under the table. But Sedgman, Kramer's Australian agent, advised Rosewall and Hoad that they would be able to make $45,000 annually as pros.

If Kramer does collar Trabert and the three Aussies, you can bet he'll be in business with a vengeance. He'll have the talent then to put on some real attractive events and amateur tennis can't help but feel the rub.

Thompson Trophy Winner Says Record Will Be Broken

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Col. Horace A. Hanes, Air Force test pilot who set a new world speed record of 822.135 miles an hour to win the Thompson trophy at the National Air Show, thinks his record will be broken before long.

"It's only logical to assume that the mark will be beaten by this time next year," the tall 39-year-old pilot said after receiving the trophy Monday. "The technological improvements which are going on constantly make that certain. My mark probably will not be too hard to beat in next year's trophy event."

The greying jet pilot has been director of flight tests at the Air Force Flight Test Center, Edwards, Calif., since July, 1953. His more than 4,500 flying hours include tests of most of the Air Force's new jet aircraft including some still in the experimental stage.

The official announcement of Hanes' record flight climaxed the three-day air show at International Airport here during the Labor Day weekend.

The flight could not be staged in front of the crowd of [illegible] persons who jammed the airport on the final day. Instead, the official run for the trophy was made 40,000 feet over a [illegible] course near Palmdale, Calif., on Aug. 20.

Loose Smut Is Threat To 1955 Crop Of Wheat

Wheat yields throughout Indiana during the past season were generally good. However, within the kernels of the seed from many of these fields there rests a threat to next year's wheat crop. The loose smut infection for next year's crop occurred at flowering time this year. Since the disease is carried within the kernel, infected wheat cannot be distinguished from normal seed.

Because of the internal infection seed treating chemicals used for other diseases cannot control loose smut. The only effective control measure known at the present time is a hotwater treatment which is difficult to apply successfully without damage to the seed with the facilities available on most farms.

Purdue University botanists and plant pathologists have said that the best control practice is to plant seed only from fields known to have a low smut percentage. They have recommended that if a field had more than 1 per cent loose smut the wheat from it should not be used for seed. ince the determination of the amount of smut in a field must be made before harvest, it is impossible to know at this time how many smut spores your wheat may contain. Since 45 per cent of the fields in northern and central Indiana for which certification was applied were found to have more than 1 per cent loose smut, the chances in that area are about 50-50 that fields not involved in certification. Certified seed in the Registered class may have no more than .5 per cent loose smut.

New Racket

TOKYO (UP)—Police in atom-jittery Japan investigated today an alleged racket run by a newly-organized religious sect which guarantees its followers survival in an atomic war by selling them "world bank notes."

Police said the sect's leaders tell converts the 100,000 yen notes (about $280) protect their holders from harm in nuclear warfare and will be the only currency in circulation after the world is destroyed.

Question Of Powers Of Presiding Bishop Splits Convention

HONOLULU T. H. (UP) — A controversy over the powers of the presiding bishop split the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church today into two camps.

Southern bishops moved to check the power of the Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill because he moved the convention from Houston, Tex., to Honolulu because of racial discrimination in Houston.

The triennial hardly started before several resolutions were introduced to curb Sherrill's right to change the meeting's location.

The Rev. C. Gresham Marmion, Bishop of Kentucky, submitted a resolution to keep future conventions on the mainland of the United States.

The Rev. Charles E. Berger, Bishop of Maryland, proposed an amendment to the church's constitution requiring the presiding bishop to get approval of a majority of bishops in the United States before changing the convention site.

Delegates immediately demanded that adequate notice of a committee meeting to consider Bishop Berger's resolution be posted and that the meeting be open to the public.

In the opening session Monday 180 bishops and 654 deputies were seated as the official delegates to the 12-day convention. The woman's auxiliary totaled 511 members.

Nixon Foresees Race Between Ike, One Of 3 Democrats

DENVER (UP) —Vice President Richard M. Nixon foresees a 1956 presidential race between President Eisenhower and one of three Democratic candidates — Adlai E. Stevenson, Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, or Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Nixon expressed his views on the national political situation at a press conference after a top secret national security meeting with President Eisenhower. But he emphasized he did not discuss politics with the President.

Most Republican leaders, he said are confident the President will run again and are basing their campaign plans on that assumption.

ixon told reporters he "never saw the President look better" than he looked Monday. "I feel he is in tip-top shape both physically and mentally," he added.

The vice president admitted that the GOP may be in serious political trouble in the farm belt because of falling crop prices.

But he said he is not as pessimistic about it as some people think the Republicans should be.

He flatly dismissed the controversy over Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) as a campaign issue in 1956 and predicted the GOP will win because it is "more unified than at any time since 1952."

Nixon's repudiation of McCarthy, his one-time committee-mate in the Senate, was the bluntest brushing aside the Wisconsin Republican has received to date from a top-ranking elected official of his own party.

The vice president admitted that the McCarthy issue was a "major divisive force" in the 1954 congressional elections which the Republicans lost. But now, he said, the "McCarthy issue, leaving out the man, is no longer a serious divisive force in the Republican Party."

Baby Crushed To Death When Carriage Caught In Elevator

NEW YORK (UP)—A six-month-old girl was crushed to death and her mother critically injured Monday when the girl's carriage became caught in a runaway elevator.

Police said the tragedy occurred when Mrs. Marie Handwork, 25, pulled the carriage holding her daughter, Linda, out of an elevator in an apartment house. The carriage apparently hit a handle which operates the elevator and it started to ascent before the carriage was all the way out.

Mrs. Handwork tried to grab the carriage, which had been torn from her grasp, but lost her balance and [illegible] three stories down the elevator.

The carriage was crushed between the shaft wall and the elevator and the girl was killed instantly.

Mrs. Handwork suffered internal injuries and a possible skull fracture.

Air Strip Built For Flying Farmers At Plowing Contest

Flying Farmers from four states who will attend a special Flying Farmers Day a the National Plowing Contest on Thursday, September 15, near Wabash, will have the opportunity to land on a newly constructed 3,000 foot air strip, cleared and leveled especially for the one-day event.

The strip was cleared and leveled by a giant diesel crawler tractor donated by International Harvester Company of Chicago. It is 100 foot wide with clear approaches on both ends.

According to W. K. Delaplane, executive secretary of the National Contest, which will run from September 14th through the 17th, Flying Farmer's Day will include a demonstration by close-flying jets from a nearby Air Force base and a series of aerial crop dusting demonstrations.

It is expected over 500 airplanes, all carrying members of the Flying Farmers organization, will make use of the strip on that day.

Preview Of Autumn Weather In Store

By UNITED PRESS

A preview of autumn weather is in store for Indiana this week with cool temperatures and fair skies.

Weatherman said temperatures will be near normal during the five-day period, highs ranging from 84 degrees north to 88 south today and averaging from 81 north to 86 south through the weekend.

Day by day, it will be clear Wednesday through Friday and gradually warmer again about Saturda. Nighttime lows will average 58 north and 63 south.

The Indiana State Fair, now in its windup stages and blessed so far with sunny skies, may get through its 10-day run without a sprinkle. Only one-fourth inch of rain is predicted in the five-day outlook—for Friday.

Weathermen said those showers will be "very widely scattered."

Temperatures ranged from the 40s to the 90s in Indiana the last 24 hours. The lowest, 49 degrees, was recorded about dawn today at South Bend. The highest, Monday afternoon, was Evansville's 92.

Stevenson Blasts At Administration Of Eisenhower

On Eve Of His Speech-Making Tour

CHICAGO (UP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, in a double-barreled blast at the Eisenhower administration, said today that it has let the farm situation "steadily worsen" and caused "anxiety at home and lost confidence abroad."

Stevenson made the attacks in a letter to Henry Snow of Kasson, Minn., and in an article in the current Look magazine.

The charges came on the eve of a speech-making tour by the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate. The tour will be climaxed in November, when Stevenson has promised to tell whether he will run again for the presidency.

Stevenson's Look article attacked the Eisenhower administration on a broad front. It listed "serious failures," one of them "The anxiety at home and the lost confidence abroad that resulted from trying to please both wings of the Republican Party.'

The Snow letter was released on the third anniversary of the national plowing contest at Kasson in which both Stevenson and Mr. Eisenhower stated their farm policies.

"Since that day three years ago, the farm situation has steadily worsened under an administration that embraces flexible price supports while maintaining distressing rigidity of mind," Stevenson said.

He accused the Eisenhower administration of "taking a free, if hazardous, ride" on prosperity created under Democratic regimes.

Under the GOP leadership, Stevenson said, "big food processing corporations prosper hugely while individual farm incomes drastically decline."

In his Look article, Stevenson said Mr. Eisenhower was unable to "recovery control of the conduct of foreign policy" until a democratic congress was elected.

Nancy Sinatra Starts Her Acting Career At Bottom

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Frank Sinatra is billed as riding crest of his career, but in one studio in town another Sinatra is starting an acting career at the bottom.

The colorful crooner's ex-wife, Nancy, won a small role in a Deborah Kerr - William Holden picture, "The Proud and the Profane." And "if the director likes my work" she'll go ahead to try for other acting jobs.

Shapely, pretty Nancy is probably one of the wealthiest bit players in town, and rides to work at Paramount Studio in her Cadillac.

"I just thought acting might be fun," explained the new actress in her dressing room between scenes. "The little extra money I make will go for things for the children.

Read A Script

"I like being busy all the time. I just can't stand to sit around and do nothing. Now that the children are growing up, and becoming rather independent, I thought I'd like to find something to do. Being surrounded by show business for so long, it never occurred to me to do anything else."

Nancy is a friend of producer William Perlberg and director George Seaton who are making "The Proud and the Profane." She read their script and "found a little part. I asked them if I could do it and they said if I wanted to try, go ahead."

"We went on location to the Virgin Islands for six weeks and were caught in a hurricane," she said. "I heard locations were rough but I didn't realize how bad they could be."

It's been five years since Nancy was involved in a triangle that made round-the-world news, when her husband tripped about the country with Ava Gardner. In 1951 Nancy won a divorce.

Beautiful Brown Eyes

Since then she has lived quietly, devoting her time to the children, Nancy, 15; Frank Jr., 11, and Tina 7. For years her friends said she "carried a torch" for the singer, and her usual "escort" in public was another divorced wife, Barbara Stanwyck.

However, Nancy has been dating recently. She hasn't remarried, she explained, "because I just haven't met anybody I really like."

Nancy is short, brown curly hair, beautiful brown eyes and a pleasant, warm personality. She is tiny in stature but has a sweater size that rivals any of Hollywood's glamour girls.

One advantage of a mother-turned-actress, she laughed, is that her children are easier to handle since mama went away to work for six weeks.

"My boy brought me breakfast in bed when I got back, and everything has been so calm and peaceful and lovely,' she said.

Housewife Uses Her Sweeper On Lawn

CARMI Ill. —(UP) —A motorist passing the home of Mrs. Harry L. Ashworth couldn't resist stopping and asking the Carmi housewife what she was doing when he saw her running an electric vacuum sweeper over her front lawn.

"Why the dandelions are about to take over the neighborhood," she said, "so I just hold the sweeper on top of a dandelion that has gone to seed and—whoosh—away goes the seed and an additional crop is curtailed."

Red China Grants Exit Permits To Nine Americans

Diplomats Meet For First Time In Six Days

By MELVILLE MARK
United Press Staff Correspondent

GENEVA (UP) — Red China announced today that it has granted exit permits to nine Americans ment and they "may now depart" for their homeland.

The decision to release the nine Americans was disclosed by Communist Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan when he met today with U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson in a resumption of talks on the exchange of each other's nationals.

It was the first meeting between the Red Chinese and American diplomats in six days. The session lasttd 2½ hours and then adjourned until next Saturday.

Wang told Johnson the Americans were part of a group of 12 persons who had applied to leave China. One of the others is believed to be a Dutchman.

The United States has submitted a list of 41 persons which it says are being held by the Peiping regime.

Chinese officials listed the Americans to be freed as:

Miss Emma Angelina Barry Ralph Sharples Boyd, Mrs. Juanita Byrd Hwang, Robert Howard Parker, Howard Lischke, Mrs. Howard Lischke Ricks, Miss Eva Stella Dugay (Sister Theresa), Mrs. Nadeshda M. Romanoff, Miss Irene RomanofNf.

No home towns were given.

A communique issued following the formal talks between the diplomats said the persons listed had applied for exit permits from Red China and "could now depart.'

When Your Favorite Star Is In Peril, You Can Just Relax

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) —When your favorite TV comedian is conked with a dinner platter or your favorite actor buried in a mine cave-in, relax.

Guys like Eddie Greenstein and Fred McAliece are working behind the scenes to make sure that stars emerge as unbattered as TV wrestlers.

Greenstein and McAliece, two hitherto unsung heroes of the networks, are prime exponents of a hammer-and-saw school known as "break-it-yourself." They build such knick-knacks for NBC-TV as vases that shatter, chairs that splatter and pianos that splinter.

When Imogene Coca sat on a sofa on a TV show not so long ago and nonchalantly picked at the plugs and wadding until the arm fell off, that was one of the masterworks of Greenstein.

Balsa Wood Facade

And when Sid Caesar punched his fist through a wall on another show and 500 bricks came tumbling down around him, that balsa wood facade came from the workshop of McAliece.

The principal concern of Greenstein, McAliece and other master un-builders at the networks is the safety of the stars. That, and the assurance that the bric-a-brac they turn out will fall apart on cue.

"Take a chair,' said Greenstein. "Let's say somebody is going to hit somebody else over the head with it. What we do is cut the chair a certain way so that it's weakened at key points. We call that 'scoring.'

Another happy method of destroying furniture, revealed Greenstein, was through the use of trick lines and a trip mechanism. "The actor just pulls the trip wire —the audience can't see it—and everything just falls apart," said Greenstein.

Pleasure From Wrecking

Greenstein and McAliece admitted they got a fair amount of pleasure out of their wrecking activities.

"One of the most interesting assignments we ever had," said Greenstein, "was taking apart a piano for the Jimmy Durante show. We fixed it so the keys dropped off, the top fell to the floor and the strings snapped in a dozen directions."

It isnt all havoc, however, where Greenstein and McAliece are concerned. Occasionally, they build something meant to hold together.

"I made a totem pole with movable jaws for Paul Winchell and a man-eating plant complete with man for Imogene Coca. For another show, I had to carve a 14-inch wooden egg."

old man"—a grand old man who, at 79 years of age works like a man a generation younger. They will not be able to give him the vodka treatment because he drinks only German wines, and those lightly.

If Adenauer runs true to form, he will want to know when Russia is going to get out of East Germany, and whether it ever intends to give up the 47,000 miles of rich German territory, east of the Oder-Neissen rivers line, now occupied by Red Poland.

There are even hints that Adenauer may refuse to establish diplomatic relations unless he gets some satisfactory answers to his questions.

The Western Allies are not worried over the possibilities of Adenauer's talks. Their only concern is how long, at his age, he can last. For he runs a one-man government, and no successor to him is in sight.

At 79, Adenauer is still ramrod-straight. He is tall and keeps his figure. He rises at 6 a.m. and works 12 to 14 hours a day.

Unlike Winston Churchill, who alone can be compared to him among world leaders, Adenauer was unknown internationally until he was made chancellor in 1949, at 73. He was elected by one vote —his own—in Parliament. For years, he had been a provincial politician in his native Cologne.

Now he is practically Mr. Germany, and if the Russians are smart they will keep that in mind.

Railroad Officials Investigate Crash Of Trains In Ohio

BUCYRUS, Ohio (UP) — The most seriously injured of 31 passengers hurt in the crash of a passenger train and a freight were due for release today from a hospital here and Pennsylvania Railroad officials investigated the cause of the accident.

All but 1 of the 19 cars on the Manhattan Limited left the tracks, tossing some 200 passengers from their berths and seats. But injuries miraculously were slight and only 5 of the injured were kept at City Hospital overnight.

The Limited was believed thrown from the main line tracks as it sped toward Chicago at a reported 70 miles an hour by other cars derailed from a freight train on an adjacent track only moments earlier.

The collision threw the passenger locomotive on its side and derailed three mail cars, two express cars, five day coaches and four Pullman cars.

A preliminary report from authorities continuing their investigation today said that a broken draw bar on the freight probably set off the accident. The broken draw bar derailed a car in the middle of the freight train, projecting it onto the track of the passenger train.

Traffic Toll

deaths by drowning, 10 in plane crashes, and 66 from a variety of accidents for an overall holiday toll of 592.

The worst highway carnage was in California, where a blazing heat wave lured added thousands to the roads and 44 died. Othed bad records were posted by Texas with 34, Ohio with 33, Illinois with 30, Michigan with 25, Pennsylvania with 22, and Wisconsin with 20.

In bright contrast, three states—Montana, North Dakota, and Vermont — got through the holiday without a single highway casualty.

The worst Labor Day record before 1955 was set in 1951, when 453 persons were killed.

Police across the country had promised a "gloves off" fight to keep deaths below the 400 predicted by the National Safety Council. But the death reports started rolling in steadily as soon as the holiday started.

Fine weather across the country produced the biggest traffic jam in the nation's history—an estimated 25 million cars carrying 60 million persons.

Started Spurting Saturday

The death rate started spurting Saturday and reached its climax late Monday, when weary holidayers stepped on the gas trying to get home.

There were few big crashes—just a dreary succession of smashups which took lives by ones and twos and left tragedy in yet another American home.

Even the men fighting the death count were not immune. An Air National Guard plane acting as a traffic soptter in Indiana crashed and burned near Lebanon. The pilot and a state patrolman were killed.

But in Michigan, police said the traffic jam had actually helped slow the death rate in the holiday's last hours.

A state policeman explained that the crush was so great "We couldn't have a fatal accident. Nobody could get out of line to get hit."

Humphrey himself said last month that the budget "should and could' be balanced this year.

Freakish Weather Spreads Havoc Through California, Texas, Mexico

By UNITED PRESS

Freakish weather spread havoc through parts of California, Texas and Mexico today.

California's killer heat wave burned into its eighth straight day. The blazing temperatures and lack of moisture fanned forest fires which have charred 126,000 acres.

In Texas and Mexico tropical storm Gladys left destruction from Corpus Christi to Meico City. Flood waters spread through parts of both cities, as well as Tampico, Mexico.

The California heat has killed 73 persons and 11 drowned in the Texas-Mexico storms. In addition one person was killed in the wind-caused crash of a C124 Globemaster at Albuueue, N.M., for a total of 85 deaths.

The heat's damage to southern California farms was estimated at 10 million dollars. Many more millions of dollars' damage was done by the state's forest fires, and the losses in the Gladys storm area were yet to be counted.

A survey by dateline included:

Near San Francisco a 30,000-blaze roared to within five miles of Yreka, Calif., a community of 5,000 persons. Another fire threatened to devour the famed General Grant Grove where giant redwooas have stood for 5,000 years.

In Corpus Christi, Tex., up to eight inches of rain put a 20 to 30-square mile area under water.

In Tampico, Me., the worst disaster in city history was feared as floodwaters from two swollen rivers kept rising. Hundreds of families fled the city's shantytown and suburban Ciudad Madero. The city was isolated, with all shipping stopped, most outgoing roads under water, and railroads halted.

Four Airmen Die In Fiery Crash Of Flying Boxcar

Two Other Airmen Critically Injured

ALEXANDRIA, La. (UP)—The Air Force kept a guard today at the swampy scene of the fiery crash of a C119 Flying Boxcar in which four airmen died and two were critically injured.

Investigators were to examine the wreckage scattered through thick underbrush to seek the cause of apparent mechanical failure which brought the plane down Tuesday shortly after takeoff.

The big plane developed engine trouble on leaving the runway of England Air Force Base and plunged into the swamp about nine miles away after the pilot apparently tried to ditch it into the Red River.

Col. William A. Danie, base commander, said the plane was making a routine flight to Clovis Air Force Base.

The dead were identified as Lt. Curtis B. Larsen, 30, Denver, Colo., M.Sgt. Ralph W. Elston, 31 of Newton Ill.; S.Sgt. Grayson Spurlock of Downsville, La.; and Airman W.C Wayne J. Berger, 22, of Melrose, Wis.

Boy Is Killed, Brother Burned In Barn Fire

Youngsters Were Playing In Straw

NEW HAVEN, Ind. (UP)—Thomas Habecker, 11, was killed and his younger brother was burned seriously Tuesday night when a hay barn in which they were playing caught fire and burned to the ground.

The brother, Donald, 9, son of the Denton Habeckers of near here, was taken to Parkview Memorial Hospital at Fort Wane suffering from burns over much of his body.

Habecker, a member of the Fort Wayne Police Department, said he heard a scream and saw Donald rush out of the barn with his clothes ablaze. Habecker beat out the flames and then tried to enter the barn, but was stopped by a wall of fire.

After firemen extinguished the blaze, Thomas' body was found just inside the barn entrance.

Authorities said the boys had been tunneling in some straw, and they speculated the youngsters may have started the fire while playing with matches.

State Budget Committee Votes To Increase Wages Of State Highway Maintenance Men

INDIANAPOLIS UP)The State Budget Committee voted Tuesday to increase wages of state highway maintenance workers by five cents an hour effective immediately.

The committee also approved expenditures of nearly one million dollars for construction and repair projects.

The wage hike is expected to cost the state about $250,000 a year. It will bring the pay of road workers to $1.20 hourly, or double their 1945 wage scale.

Donald H. Clark, state budget director, said the increase was needed to maintain an adequate work force in the face of higher wages paid by industry.

Committee Chairman Laurence D. Baker said the largest fund allocation was $292,000 for construction of three new staff homes at Richmond State Hospital, remodeling of wards, and other rehabilitation needs.

Other major allotments went to the Madison State Hospital, $105,000 for sewage disposal plant and new superintendent's home; State Reformatory, $175,000 for new cell house front, new cell house locks and other repairs; Fort Wayne State School, $88,287 for cold storage building and coal and ash handling facilities; State Prison, $78,000 for fieldhouse and $15,000 for administration building; Evansville State Hospital, $74,300 for four physicians' homes; State School for the Deaf, $55,000 for accoustical euipment and repairs.

Red China May Free Americans They Still Hold

Question Of When Is Main Point

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Red China without saying when, has disclosed it may free all Americans still held in jail or under house arrest.

The question of when the prisoners will be freed is said to be the main point holding up American-Red Chinese talks at Geneva on the prisoner problem.

Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson, chief U.S. negotiator, is trying to get the Reds to say precisely when the Americans will get out of Red China. There is official fear that otherwise the Chinese Reds might announce to the world that they are freeing all Americans and then leave some languishing in China for many months or even years.

Young Gir Included

At Tuesday's session of the Geneva talks, the Reds outlined plans to isue departure permits to 12 Americans. Nine, including a 10-year-old girl, will get their permits soon. Two more will get them when applications are received. The 12th American, Charles Sidney Miner of Takoma Park, Md., will be able to leave when his business affair are tidied up.

The best official information shows that 28 Americans still are in Red China. Twenty-five, mostly priests, are in jail. Three missionaries are under house arrest, apparently at Foochow. Officials said there may be one additional American of Chinese descent who wants to leave Red China. She is Mee Sem Lai, who went from the United States to Canton, China, in 1949.

Five Weeks Of Talks

During five weeks' of talks at Geneva, Johnson has pressed for the release of all Americans believed held in Red China as of Aug. 1, the day of the first meeting. The Communists at first refused to consider letting the imprisoned Americans go before their "sentences" or cases were completed. They said this would be a violation of Chinese sovereignty because the Americans had been tried and convicted by due processes of Chinese law.

But they relented somewhat in announcing plans to free the 12 Americans.

The State department said Tuesday that release of the nine Americans and the outlines of a plan to free three more were "encouraging." It expressed the hope this was a first step toward freedom for the rest of the Americans.

Three-Power Conference On Cyprus Ends

In Failure On Future Of Island

LONDON (UP) — The three-power conference on Cyprus ended in failure today with Britain, Greece and Turkey unable to get together on their conflicting views on the future of that strategic Mediterranean island.

The meetings which opened here last Monday at British initiative were formally "suspended' today, but official conference sources said that no date has been fixed for their resumption.

An official communique will be approved by the foreign ministers later today, announcing the end of the talks.

Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin ustu Zorlu told newsmen immediately after today's session that the talks have been "ended." He announced he was returning to Istanbul with his delegation.

The dispute over Cyprus boiled into violence in Turkey. Thousands of young Turks staged anti-Greek riots in Istanbul and Smyrna, where they swarmed through the streets burning Greek churches, houses and schools in retaliation for the bombing of the Turkish consulate in Salonika.

Before the foreign ministers session here was a British compromise plan which suggested self-rule for Cyprus, but reserving British control of the crown colony's defense and foreign affairs.

The Turkish delegation made it clear that it cannot agree to self-government for Cyprus unless and until Greece provides adequate assurances that it is abandoning its claim to union with the island.

The Greek delegation was said to have expressed disappointment with the British plan because it did not provide for immediate self-determination for the Cypriots.

But Greek Foreign Minister Stephan Stephanopoulos indicated that he would give a fuller reply to the British compromise plan later through diplomatic channels.

Stassen Places Reservation On Earlier Positions

Without Withdrawing Or Disavowing Them

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United States, shelving all its previous disarmament plan, today began an all-out drive for approval of President Eisenhower's military inspection plan.

Authoritative sources said Harold E. Stassen, the President's special aide on disarmament, had served notice on the U.N. Disarmament Subcommittee that the Eisenhower plan was the only American disarmament plan at the moment.

Stassen "placed a reservation" on all previous positions taken by the U. S. on disarmament. But, he told the subcommittee Tuesday, he took this action without "withdrawing or disavowing" any previous U. S. position, while at the same time not "reafirming" them.

Russian Demand Rejected

Stassen, joined by disarmament experts of Britain, France and Canada, rejected for the time being Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev's demand for Western approval of immediate armed forces reduction and a ban on nuclear weapons.

In essence, Stassen's reply stated that:

Scientific advances in recent years have killed the possibility of a "100 percent sure" inspection system to detect nuclear weapons.

But the Eisenhower plan for exchange with Russia of military blueprints and the right of aerial and ground inspection is a sound beginning toward any disarmament system.

Arms Reduction Stand

If Russia accepts the Eisenhower plan the United States will be willing to negotiate on arms reduction. But it will not reduce armaments—either conventional or nuclear—until the best possible in-

Marine Captain McCutchen May Be The First Contestant To Go For Broke On TV Quiz Show

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Capt. Richard Sherrill McCutchen, a Marine who commutes between the Halls of Montezuma and mazuma, threw out a hint today that he might be the first contestant to go for broke on TV's "The $64,000 Question."

McCutchen, who twice flunked his Boy Scout cooking test, moved up to the $32,000 level on the CBS-TV giveaway show Tuesday night by answering a five-part query dealing with food and cooking. The lanky, crew-cut career officer will get a chance next week to double his stake or quit.

It was learned by this reporter that McCutchen stated on his application to the show that he "wanted the first $64,000 to be won by a Marine."

Decision Already Made

Questioned after the show, McCutchen smiled confidently and said:

"It wouldn't be fair to the producers of the show for me to tell you whether I'll go on. But let me put it this way — I know and I'm not saying."

McCutchen, assigned to naval ROTC at State University of Ohio in Columbus, will be permitted to bring an expert to the show as his aide if he decides to go for the full amount next Tuesday. One report had it that he might name his father, John McCutchen, a retired naval captain who also is an expert in the cooking field.

The question that thrust McCutchen to the $32,000 plateau dealt with desserts. He was asked to name the origin and describe "bombe" (France; a mold or melon lined with two kinds of ice cream), zabaglione (Italy; egg yolk, sugar and wine), olykoek (Dutch or early American; a doughnut or cruller with raisins in the center), flummery (Wales or early American; a custard pudding with fruit) and pfeffernuss (German; a highly spiced cake).

Two Quit At $32,000

If the 28-year old Marine does decide to shoot the works on the next telecast, he will be the first guest to do so. Two other contestants, opera expert Gino Prato of New York and Bible expert Catherine Kreitzer of Camp Hill, Pa., both reached the $32,000 level and quit.

One other contestant on the program, Mrs. Myrtle Power of Buford, Ga., reached the $8,000 mark in the baseball category. Mrs. Power, a widow and housekeeper for a family in Roslyn Heights, N.Y., said she had been following the sport since 1895.

Plane Dashed To Earth By Gust Of Wind

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UP) — An Air Force C124 globemaster—one of the largest military transports—was dashed to earth in flames by a gust of wind while taking off here Tuesday killing 1 and injuring 4 of the 69 persons aboard.

The huge, four-engined aircraft, attached to the Strategic Air Command and based at Biggs Air Force Base, El Paso, Tex., was hit by the blast of wind and cartwheeled into the runway at Kirtland Air Force Base here just as it became airborne, witnesses said.

Within seconds it was enveloped in flames, but passengers and crew members aided by rescue crews on the outside battered out windows and knocked holes in the fuselage to escape.

The man killed was identified as Arvin W. Harris of the 19th Bomber Squadron, March Air Force Base, Calif.

Prohibition Party Nominates Candidate For Presidency

WINONA LAKE, Ind. (UP)—Dr. Enoch A. Holtwick, professor emeritus of history and government at Greenville (Ill.) College, got off to a head start today in the 1956 presidential campaign.

The 74-year-old Holtwick was nominated by the Prohibition Party at its convention here Tuesday to become the first candidate in the running for the presidency.

Nominated for vice president was Brig. Gen. Herbert Holdridge (Ret.), 63, known as the "peace general" because of his opposition to universal military training.

A platform adopted by the convention called for immediate outlawing of all "weapons of annihilation,' and denounced the new compulsory reserve plan and UMT.

Another plank demanded the "elimination" of the alcoholic beverage industry, which was termed as "highly capitalized, strongly organized and socially irresponsible."

The platform attacked "excessive concentration of power over" the nation's economy either by monopolistic contrl of business or the government. It also urged that farm surpluses be shared "to meet world hunger needs."

Scientists Wonder Which Way Their Giant Balloon Went

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Scientists were stumped today on which way a giant runaway balloon went with its cargo of mice and guinea pigs.

They figured it should be somewhere in the stratosphere in the general region of the upper Midwest. But Coloradans insisted they had seen a balloon like it bobbing high above Durango.

Officials of Winzen Research, Inc., which launched the 25-story high balloon at International Falls, Minn., seven days ago, insisted this couldnt be.

The balloon has been staying relatively close to home — they think. It made a side trip into Canada and was last seen near Duluth, Minn., floating east.

But the Minnesota scientists admitted they couldn't be sure of the balloon's precise location because clouds have moved in to hide it.

In Colorado, meanwhile, Air Force officials planned to check today to find out whether the Durango ballon belongs to them.

A spokesman at Lowry Air Force base said he didn't think it did. Air Force observers kept a close check on their balloons, he said, and they don't have any as big as the giant reported over Colorado.

Scores of residents in southwest Colorado have reported they saw a huge, heart-shaped balloon in the sky. One of them, Mason Richards, said he followed the balloon with his telescope and noted that it had an attached gondola and the diameter of a 25-story building.

Rancher Ken Ross of Mancos, Colo., made the situation more confusing by reporting that he watched a "balloon or series of balloons" wandering over southeast Utah.

The big balloon was launched in Minnesota last Thursday as part of an Air Force project to test the hazards of space travel.

Early Wynn Tries For 200th Win Of Major League Career

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Early Wynn tries for the 200th victory of his major league career tonight when the Cleveland Indians begin their final dash to the American League wire against their favorite "patsies."

The Indians clinging to a half-game advantage over the New York Yankees and within easy range of both the third-place Chicago White Sox and fourth-place Boston Red Sox, will be seeking their 18th triumph in 21 games with the eighth-place Baltimore Orioles. Wynn himself has beaten the Orioles three times this year, shutting them out twice and allowing only two runs in the third game.

Nine-Game Swing

The game starts a nine-game eastern swing for the Indians, who have won six of their last eight games. In all they have 17 games to play. The Yankees and White Sox have 18 each and the Red Sox have 19.

Next to the Indians, the Red Sox have been the hottest of the contenders this month with five victories in seven games. Although three games behind the Indians, they have the advantage of playing 16 of their 19 games at home. In addition, they have seven big games left with the Yankees.

Frank Sullivan will be on the mound for the Red Sox against the Detroit Tigers today.

Whitey Ford, also gunning for his 17th triumph, was Manager Casey Stengel's choice to start on the mound against the Kansas City Athletics while Jack Harshman will start for the White Sox against the Washington Senators tonight.

Almost Unbearable Pressure

Both the Yankees and White Sox were hoping Tuesday's respite from the almost unbearable pressure of the mad chase would help snap them out of mild slumps.

Over in the National League, the inevitable Brooklyn Dodger victory is only a matter of hours away. The Brooklyn sluggers can clinch at least a tie for the flag by beating the Milwaukee Braves tonight and then their next victory would end it all.

Gas Leak Sets Off Explosion

EVANSVILLE, Ind., (UP)—Five persons were injured today, none seriously, when a gas leak set off an explosion at a grade school only 15 minutes before about 650 pupils were to be admitted.

The blast caused about $20,000 damage to the school's kitchen. Officials said a water shortage forced them to close school for the day.

Principal David Royalty said Janitor John Pritchett discovered the leak. Two plumbers working under the kitchen floor to repair the damage and three cooks were hurt.

The cooks were identified as Mrs. Adrian Gaffney, Mrs. Frances Brown and Mrs. Luella Jones, all of Evansville. Jack Groff, 22, Olney, Ill., and Milton Zinn 25, Evansville were the plumbers.

Zinn was hospitalized in fair condition. Groff and Mrs. Gaffney also taken to Deaconess Hospital, were "satisfactory."

The force of the explosion buckled the kitchen floor and upset equipment.

Although officials said they expected school to be resumed Thursday, they asked children to bring box lunches until the kitchen damage is repaired.

Fort Wayne Man Fined For Indeceny, Public Intoxication

Evert Rudd, 30, Fort Wayne, was assessed fines totalling $6 plus costs in Whitley County circuit court Tuesday when he was found guilty of public intoxication and public indecency.

He was also given a suspended six-months sentence to the Indiana State Farm on each count by Judge Lowell Pefley. Judge Pefley gave Rudd a choice of fulfilling the sentence or taking the six-month alcoholic treatment course operated by the Indiana Commission on Alchololism. Rudd agreed to take the course at Logansport.

The state-operated alcoholic treatment course requires strict mental and physical examinations during confinement, Judge Pefley said. The staff at the institution also works to rehabilitate those sent there and tries to help them find outside jobs during their stay.

The Fort Wayne man was arrested by Morris Carlile of the city police Monday as Dudd walked along the sidewalk parallel to West Van Buren street, after residents complained of Rudd's actions. In an affidavit filed in circuit court, he was charged with public intoxication and indecent exposure.

Teetor Denies Charge Published In The CIO News

By UNITED PRESS

Assistant Secretary of Commerce Lothair Teetor today denied a charge he conferred with Governor Craig about sending Indiana State Police to guard strike-bound Perfet Circle Co. plants in three Hoosier cities.

The charge was published in the Sept. 5 is sue of the CIO News. The publication said Craig and Teetor "have been in close harmony since the strike began July 25 at Teetor's plants in Hargestown, Richmond and New Castle."

The union newspaper added, "the buddy-buddy attitude led Craig to dispatch a small army of state police to Hagerstown for strike duty."

Teetor denied the charge in a statement issued in Washington.

Denies Strike Talks

"I have not talked with the governor of Indiana before the strike or at any time since. I have not been active in the management of the company. The management of the company is in excellent hands and they're making their own decisions," Teetor said.

The secretary's office said he still is a member of the board of the Perfect Circle Co., but resigned the chairmanship when he came to Washington in the fall of 1953.

Meanwhile, a fourth man was charged in Henry Circuit Court with criminal contempt of court as scattered incidents continued to plague the stormy strike.

Ruben Bertram was accused of violating a court restraining order against illegal picketing in an affidavit signed by Chesley Juday, manager of the firms New Castle plant. Bertram was ordered to appear in court Sept. 19.

Resume Harvester Talks

Craig has threatened to call out the Indiana National Guard if the continuing strike incidents erupt into mass violence.

No action has been taken to resume negotiations between Perfect Circle officials and the CIO United Auto Workers.

At Chicago, talks were scheduled to be rsumed today in the two-week-old International Harvester strike which has idled about 12,500 Indiana workers.

The negotiations were to have resumed Tuesday, but were put off another day at the request of officials of the CIO United Auto Workers to enable them to further study the company's "final" offer.

Farmers Challenge Ike To Re-Read Campaign Speech

KASSON Minn. (UP)—About 75 farmers challenged President Eisenhower today to re-read a 1952 campaign speech and "live up to' his farm policy promises.

They sent him a telegram after meeting in a pasture Tuesday on the third anniversary of the 1952 national plowing contest, where both Mr. Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson, the defeated Democratic presidential candidate, spoke.

The telegram said in part:

"We hereby as you to carry out your promises of 1952 and restore 90 per cent of parity as contained in your speech here."

It was signed, "Friends of Plowville, 1952." Plowville is the site of the Henry Snow farm, where the contest was held.

Snow, who called the meeting, said, "We read both of the candidates' 1952 speeches and it seemed to be unanimous that Mr. Eisenhower hasn't kept all of his campaign promises—mainly the one about high price supports."

He said the group instructed the 30-man committee which sent the telegram to as the President to "re-read his speech' and "live up to his promises.'

Many of the farmers spoke at the meeting, Snow said.

"They talked about a lot of foreclosures on farms in the past few years, the loss of farm income and how to protect the small farmer," he said.

"I don't see how we can prosper with an unbalanced economy like we have today," Snow said.

Several Democratic Party leaders sent letters to Snow, charging that Mr. Eisenhower misled the farmers in his 1952 speech.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) said, "Kasson will go down in history as the site of the betrayal of America's farmers by the Republican Party."

Stevenson wrote Snow that the GOP has let the farm situation "steadily worsen' while the administration is "taking a free, if hazardous ride" on prosperity created by Democratic regimes.

Specialist Says Many Hoosier Children Have Eye Defects

INDIANAPOLIS UP)—An Indiana University eye specialist Monday estimated that 222,000 Hoosier children have eye defects which may leave them with serious problems as adults.

Dr. Fred M. Wilson, chairman of the Indiana Committee of the National Society for Prevention of Blindness and professor at the I.U. medial school, urged parents to watch their children for signs of poor vision.

He said children with sight defects often are unaware of it and feel they are "stupid," which could lead to emotional maladjustment.

Wilson said warning signs of eye trouble include blinking, eye rubbing, inability to read comfortably or play outdoor sports, stumbling or tilting the head to one side while reading.

the guests of the Columbia Theatre for a free movie.

4 Entry Groups

Youths participating in the Bicycle Safety Rodeo are divided into four groups: boys age 10-13, girls age 10-13, boys under 10 and girls under 10. Each youth must have his or her own bicycle and will be judged on performance in seven basic skill tests in the rodeo.

Members of the Kiwanis committee which will supervise the conduct of the rodeo released a number of requirements which the bicycle must meet before its owner is allowed to enter the rodeo. The bike will be judged for sound mechanical condition, and how well it is adjusted for safe riding. The bicycle must have two good pedals, wheels and tires must be sound and the handle bars must be firmly attached to the fork.

The seat must not be loose; the brake must be well adjusted, and in good condition, and there must be a chain guard. A reflector or Scotch lite must be on the rear fender. Members of the safety council and insurance agents will be on hand at the rodeo to attach Scotch lite markers.

Register At Schools

Registration blanks for the rodeo will be distributed through schools in Whitley County. Each contestant must have the blank filled out when he or she presents the bicycle for inspection the morning of the rodeo.

Contestants will be judged on correct and safe riding position. The various tests in the safety rodeo course will cover balance, change in balance, mounting, emergency stops, hand signals and stopping, obstacle, pedaling and braking.

Details of each test will be printed at a later date for review by each prospective entrant.

Five winners in each age group were awarded prizes in the rodeo last year, the second for the event. Prizes included radios, ball gloves, blue jeans, bicycle horns and lights, badminton sets, dolls, archery sets, basketballs, and cameras. The winners last year were Jim Weigold and Brenda Reed in the 10-13 age groups and Pamela Walker and Roger Richey in the under 10 age groups.

Farm Bureau Co-op Recently Finishes Remodeling Project

The Farm Bureau Co-op has just recently completed a major interior remodeling project which began early in July.

All of the partitions in the forepart of the building have been torn down and the warehouse partition constructed about 35 feet further south, giving approximately an additional 500 square feet of display space, according to Homer Mathias, manager of the local Farm Bureau Co-op.

The Co-op offices and insurance office have been incorporated in the display room, with the insurance section moved into the southwest corner and the general Co-op offices into the southeast section of the display room.

This gives the Co-op two window display spaces.

The collapsible double door which formerly permitted truck entry into the front of the building has been removed, and a smaller double swinging door installed. Trucks no longer can enter through the front entrance.

The walls of the offices and the partition separating the display room from the warehouse are constructed of plywood in natural finish. The walls of the display room are finished in a pastel green, with the cement floor being painted grey.

General contractor for the project was Edgar Sherbahn, South Whitley. Paul Morsches, Sr., owns the building.

Congressman Is Detained By Russian Soldier

Near Moscow For Nearly An Hour

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UP)—Rep. Joe Holt (R-Calif) was detained near Moscow for nearly an hour by a Russian soldier who held a cocked pistol against his head, it was disclosed today.

The congressman's family here said Holt, who has returned to New York following a visit to Russia with other congressmen, reported the incident to them in a telephone call from the east Tuesday.

Holt told his family that U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen had officially protested to the Kremlin over the incident, which occurred last Wednesday in the outskirts of Moscow but was kept secret until now.

The California congressman said he and a member of the American embassy stopped their car in a Moscow suburb and asked if they could photograph a picturesque church and school.

Holt said he had scarcely made the request, when a Red Army soldier rushed him and pressed a pistol against his head despite the fact that Holt's companion, speaking Russian, identified him as a [illegible] American congressman.

[illegible] companion talked to the soldier to no avail as a crowd of S[illegible] citizens pressed around the [illegible].

When a Russian policeman intervened and urged the release of the Americans, the Soviet soldier pointed the gun at him and waved him off.

Only when a Red army colonel appeared, an hour later, were Holt and his companion released. Holt said no apology was offered.

Columbia City Eagles Will Apply Finishing Touches This Week, Then Meet Nappanee

After three weeks of practicing, the Columbia City Joint high school football squad has just until Friday night to apply finishing touches before the first game.

On Friday, the Eagles travel to meet the Nappanee Bulldogs, who already have a 14-0 victory under their belts. The Nappanee win was notched at Knox last week. Nappanee still boasts a runner by the name of Wright, which local fans remember from last year, and he will probably draw the attention of the Eagle defensive units come gametime Friday.

Coaches Leonard Barnum and Richard Duffield have been working with a 40-man squad and have the group narrowed down to their probable starting lineup for Nappanee. Head Coach Barnum emphasized the word "probable" in making the statement, because berths on the "first eleven" are by no means cinched, he declared.

The Eagles should be strongest in their line, because every lineman named has seen a considerable amount of action.

Starting in the center of the Eagle line will probably be Roger Bridge, who started some games last year. Guards will be two big boys, Barry Brennan and Gerald. boys, Barry Brennan and Gerald Schrader. Larry Conrad and Phil Fry are back from last year's varsity to fill in the tackle positions. At ends will be Ben Simmers and Terry Smith, both having played a lot of ball last year and returning lettermen.

The backfield will be an experienced one - with the exception of Gary Deutsch. Deutsch, a senior, was a starter last year and will undoubtedly carry much "responsibility" (pigskin too) this season. A sophomore, Larry Whetstone, has moved into the position as probable starting quarterback. He played on the freshman team last year and shows lots of promise. Playing in the right halfback spot, opposite from Deutsch, will be Richard Jones, and completing the backfield will be Ronnie Yant.

Kiner Is Retiring From Baseball At End Of Season

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Ralph Kiner of the Cleveland Indians, the leading home run hitter of the postwar era, said today he is retiring from baseball at the end of this season because of "physical reasons."

The 32-year-old outfielder, who has hit a total of 367 homers during 10 active seasons in the majors, said he was "tempted to quit" several times during the middle of the current campaign because of a back condition.

"The only thing that kept me from quitting during the season was the possibility that I might be able to help the Indians win the pennant," he said.

Retirement Definite

"But I've definitely made up my mind that this is my last season," he added. "I'm no longer in physical condition to play regularly and there's no sense in prolonging the agony."

Kiner said he had no idea what he is going to do but he emphasized that he was not interested in any possible managerial offers.

"I may go into business somewhere in Southern California," he said.

Kiner, a powerful right-handed hitter who took great pride in his accomplishments, ranks sixth among baseball's all-time home run hitters. His total of 367 homers is topped only by Babe Ruth, 714, Jimmy Foxx, 534, Mel Ott, 511, Lou Gehrig, 493, and Ted Williams, 385.

Reduced to part-time status with the Indians this year, Kiner, who is receiving an estimated $50,000 salary, has hit 16 home runs so far and is batting .242 with 51 runs batted in.

Seven Years With Bucs

Those figures are a far cry from the ones he posted while playing with the Pittsburgh Pirates from 1946 until he was traded to the Chicago Cubs on June 4, 1953.

During that stretch he won the National League home run title or tied for it seven straight years. As a sophomore in the National League, he hit 51 home runs in 1947 and then threatened Babe Ruth's all-time mark in 1949 when he hit 54.

Kiner received an estimated $75,000 salary in 1953 and the only National League player ever to top him in that department was Stan Musial of the Cardinals, whose peak earnings were between $80,000 and $85,000. In all, Kiner's estimated baseball earnings total $517,000.

Softball Tourney Slated For Play At DeVol Field

The Second Annual Columbia City Softball Tournament has been slated at DeVol Field for Thursday and Friday nights of this week and every night of next week, according to announcement by Roy Kilby.

Ten teams are entered in the tourney, the "local" team being the Wolf Lake Lumber Co. It is a local team in the sense that some players from this immediate community are members of the team. The entire team is comprised of players from all over Whitley county, and some from around Wolf Lake.

The Wolf Lake Lumber team won the district sectional tournament of the Amateur Softball Association in Fort Wayne this year, but were nosed out in the regional at South Bend 4-2. With that tourney record and its season record, the team will be one of the strong favorites to win the tournament here.

Other teams in the tourney are: Uniondale Lions Club, Simpsons Elevator of Fort Wayne, Culligans of Garrett, Markle Shell Oilers, Kennedys of South Whitley, Marion All-Stars, Huffers of Warsaw, McNatts of Jackson Township, M & S Service of Roanoke.

Tourney play will begin Thursday at 7:30 p.m. when Simpsons Elevator meets Culligans of Garret. At 9:00, Marion plays Huffers of Warsaw. Friday night at 7:30 Uniondale plays the winner of the first tourney game, and at 9:00, Wolf Lake will play the Markle Oilers. The tourney will resume Monday night.

Trophies will be awarded the tourney championship team, the runner-up team, and the winner of the consolation game.

Golfers May Register For Chamber Tourney At Crooked Lake Course

Golfers will be able to register for the second annual Columbia City Chamber of Commerce Golf Tourney at the Crooked Lake Golf Clubhouse before teeing off Thursday afternoon, Clarence Feist, chairman of the event, announced today.

The handicap tourney will be according to "blind bogey" rules. All entry fee money will go into prizes. Players may pick their own foursomes, Feist said.

Al Andrews Wins Decision Over King

DETROIT (UP)—Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., blood streaming from cuts over both eyes, won a split decision Tuesday night over Jack King, Massillon, Ohio, in a 10-round feature bout at Motor City Arena.

Basilio-Turner Bout Tonight

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio will try to beat middleweight contender Gil Turner tonight and further his campaign for a shot at the 160-pound crown.

Their nationally televised and broadcast 10-rounder in War Memorial Auditorium will be Basilio's second non-title fight since he won the 147-pound championship from Tony Demarco on June 10.

Raw-boned Carmen of nearby Chittenango, N.Y., started his middleweight drive with a decision over unranked Italo Scortichini on Aug. 10. And he is favored at 9-5 to win tonight over Turner of Philadelphia, 10th-ranking contender.

Three victories this year left Carmen unbeaten in his last 13 bouts although he was held to two draws. His record is 46-11-7.

Meanwhile Turner's record is 48-8-1.

12th Greenlease Bill Adds New Area To The Hunt

Bill Discovered In Florida

MIAMI (UP)—A 12th bill of the missing Greenlease ransom money today added a new area to a nationwide hunt for the $307,720 hoard.

The FBI disclosed Tuesday night that a $20 ransom bill was discovered at the Federal Reserve branch bank at Jacksonville, Fla.

An immediate trace disclosed it arrived Aug. 31 from the Florida National Bank and Trust Co. of Miami, the FBI said.

The bill was the 12th one in little more than a month and the 10th within about a week to turn up in widely separated parts of the country. It was the first to turn up in this area.

The FBI immediately began trying to trace the bill farther. The discovery strengthened FBI suspicions that someone is finally beginning to "unload" the missing money.

Six $20 bills were found in the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank, three in the Federal Reserve Bank at St. Louis, one at Salt Lake City, Utah, and one last Aug. 4 at Minot, N.D.

The FBI said last week it believed the money possibly is being passed at carnivals, gambling places, race tracks or theater box offices where cashiers must make change rapidly.

Traffic Deaths Fall Nine Short Of All-Time Record

By UNITED PRESS

Traffic deaths over the three-day Labor Day holiday fell only nine short of setting a new all-time record.

A final tabulation today showed 445 highways casualties between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday. The previous Labor Day record, set in 1951, was 453.

The count went far past the pre-holiday estimate of 400 deaths made by the National Safety Council.

Drownings killed 73 persons over the holiday, 10 died in plane crashes, and 66 perished in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 594.

Famous Mayo Clinic Surgeon Drowns

LAKE CITY, Minn. (UP)—Dr. Howard K. Gray, 54, prominent Mayo Clinic surgeon and brother of former Veterans Administrator Carl Gray, drowned Tuesday in Lake Pepin near here trying to recover a small boat which had broken loose from his cabin cruiser.

Gray's wife told authorities that her husband went under shortly after he jumped overboard to swim after the boat.

She said she jumped in to swim to his aid, but that he disappeared before she could reach him.

Searchers were unable to recover Gray's body.

Confederate Bill

ATLANTA UP)—Six persons offered today to replace a $100 and a $50 Confederate bill which were stolen from a money display on loan to the public library from the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

Will Take Several Weeks For Return Of Freed Americans

HONG KONG (UP)—U.S. officials said today it probably would be a "couple of weeks" before nine Americans freed by Communist China would be able to leave.

The nine have been in China for many years and will have considerable possessions to pack, the officials said. Transportation to the Hong Kong border would take at least four days.

The consulate here said it had received no official word that the Americans were being released but said it knew that Eva Stella Ducay, 62, Sister Theresa, a Carmelite nun, had applied for an exit permit last January and Mrs. Juanita Byrd Hwang, 47, in April 1954, and that both had been refused.

Rising Waters Pour New Floods Into East India

Another 48 Hours Of Rain Forecast

CALCUTTA, India (UP)—Rising waters of the Mahanadi River crumbled key embankments today in Orissa State in East India, pouring new floods into areas already devastated. Another 48 hours of rain was forecast.

The floods in Orissa were part of floods the International Red Cross said had affected 45 million persons in India and Pakistan.

Dispatches from the area said 300,000 residents were marooned in trees or were sharing elevated places with their livestock. There were not enough boats to reach the stricken areas and the government planned to airdrop foodstuffs.

Seventy army engineers were rushing to Orossa with folded boats and amphibious craft and an appeal went out to engineers employed on dams and other projects throughout India to proceed to the flood zones.

Miss Texas Steals Show In Miss America Parade

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UP) — Miss Texas, June Prichard, stole the show in the annual Miss America parade Tuesday night on a borrowed horse.

The 23-year-old beauty from Seymour, Tex. brought dow nthe house, which was considerable, adding up to 250,000, when she rode a palomino down the famed boardwalk. The white tail she said later with a blush, was on lend-lease from a farm near Camden, N.J.

June is a specialist at straddling a pony. The 5-foot 6-inch cutie claims she was born aboard a bronc, and maybe she was. Anyhow, she grew up to be a right fine looki gnblonde with a bust of 37 inches, 37 hips—that's just about right with a 23 inch middle to match.

Wowed The Epectators

At any rate, June grew up to become known as Miss Texas in the Miss America Pageant, which gets under way here today. She wowed assembled customers with a yippe-eye and a howdy to all and asunder.

You can hardly ignore the young lady from the Lone Star State. Don't be surprised if she is right up there.

Today the kids will compete in three categories — swim suit, evening gown and talent. In evening gown will be Miss Canada, Miss Chicago, Miss Connecticut, Miss Delaware, Miss District of Columbia, Miss Florida, Miss Illinois Miss Indiana, Miss Kansas, Miss Mississippi, Miss Nevada, Miss North Carolina Miss North Dakota, Miss Oregon, Miss South Carolina and Miss Texas.

Many Display Talent

In talent we will have Misses Alabama, California, Colorado, Georgia, Maine, Michigan New Jersey New York Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

Big Talent Hunt To Send Bright Youths To College

Largest Scholarship Program In History

CHICAGO (UP)—A 20½ million dollar "talent hunt" to send bright young students to college will get underway this month.

The program, announced here Tuesday, was billed as "the largest independent scholarship program in the history of American education."

It is called the National Merit Scholarship Corp. and is backed by 20½ million dollars from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corp. of New York.

The nation's 25,000 high schools will be asked this month to nominate the seniors in the top 5 per cent of their classes.

The nominees will take screening tests Oct. 26 and the highest scorers in each state will go on to scholastic aptitude tests in 300 centers across the nation Jan. 15.

The final winners will be chosen by a committee. The numbers of lucky students in each state will be determined by the ratio of the states high school seniors to that of the rest of the nation.

There will be few strings attached. The winners can choose their own colleges and study what they wish. Their support will be based on need and will range from just a $100 honorary award to full tuition and costs.

In addition, an equal "cost of education' grant will go directly to the college.

Informants said Stassen told the committee the U.S. was willing to listen to any ideas for an inspection system and that Washington's position was not "rigid or mandatory."

However, there still was no indication of the Soviet attiude toward the Eisenhower plan. Sobolev told the subcommittee the Kremlin was studying it as "an important proposal" but that he was not yet ready to reply.

Company officials and police could give nor reason for the blast nor could they identify the type of bomb. It exploded about 2 a.m.

Glass blocks in the front of the Guaranty Reserve Life Insurance Co. office were knocked down and 28 large windows were broken in the insurance office and in a tavern, lodge, drapery store, shoe store and hotel adjacent to or across the street from the office.

"I have absolutely no idea why anybody would want to damage our offices," said Jerome Kutak, vice-president of the insurance company.

New York Longshoremen Keep The World's Busiest Port Idle

Killing California Heat Wave And Flooding Texas Rains Relent Today

By UNITED PRESS

Killing California heat and flooding Texas rains relented today.

But the battle against forest fires in the tinder-dry woods and brushlands of California continued. Fires which threatened the town of Yreka and a giant redwood grove in the Sequoia were harnessed. But firefighters made little headway elsewhere.

Meanwhile, Miami, Fla., weather observers nervously watched a tropical disturbance right over their heads which threatened to develop into "hurricane Hilda."

The menacing low pressure area moved right across Miami, dousing the city with 2.11 inches of rain. Forecasters said it could become a hurricane after it drifts into the Atlantic later today.

Los Angeles' killer heat wave was expected to break a little for the first time in nine days. A "cool" 94 was predicted after the mercury climbed over the 100 mark for the eighth straight day Wednesday.

The blazing heat has already been blamed for 92 deaths and about 25 million dollars in damage to crops and livestock.

Despite the slumping temperature, forecasters warned "no definite break in the heat wave is yet in sight." And county authorities said the death rate and damage toll could continue.

There was better news in Texas, where tropical storm Gladys dumped flooding rains of nearly 17 inches on Corpus Christi.

The flood waters still covered 20 to 30 square miles in and around the port city, surrounding the homes of 80,000 to 90,000 persons. But the rains subsided and an official said "I think the worst is over."

In Mexico, however, Gladys' torrents had sent rivers out of their banks, cutting highways and rail lines along the gulf coast.

Dozens of small communities were isolated and bridges were reported washed out on highways

Farmers, Farm Organization Day At State Fair

Parade Marches Before Grandstand

By SAM NEWLUND
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Animals, bands and people marched before the Indiana State Fair grandstand today to launch "Farmers and Farm Organizations Day."

The day set aside to honor Hoosier agriculture came as judging of cattle, swine and sheep continued full blast. The only 4-H judging left involved one breed of sheep and a home economics electrical demonstration

The parade included a string of 25 colorful floats depicting the theme "Speaking of Agriculture" and 20 of them vied for the $100 first prize. There were 14 bands, all but one of them competing for a similar prize.

There were 54 pets in the parade from Farm Bureau Pet and Hobby Clubs, entered by children aged 2 to 10. Mary Jane Dragee, Delaware County, displayed her lamb and others showed off goats, dogs, rabbits an alligator and a gosling.

Meanwhile, the slump in attendance continued with Wednesday's official paid attendance totaling 58,857, about 4,000 below the same day last year.

Women and girls competed with bulky farm animals for the spotlight Wednesday.

Two Officers Killed In Crash Of Trainer Plane

At Stewart Air Force Base

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (UP)— Two officers assigned to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point were killed Wednesday in the crash of a jet trainer plane at nearby Stewart Air Force Base.

Army officials identified the victims as Army Capt. John R. Hall, 47, of Muscatine, Iowa, and Air Force Lt. Eugene C. Etz, 28, of Independence Kan.

The T33 trainer had just taken off on a routine training flight when it was forced to return and attempt an emergency landing. The plane cleared the boundary fence of the field but lacked sufficient speed to reach the runway and crashed in the midst of a construction area narrowly missing a group of workers.

Hall and Etz, both 1950 West Point graduates, were married and lived with their families at the military academy.

Fort Wayne Man Suffocates Under Collapsing Sand

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—Gerald Broxon, 44, Fort Wayne, was buried alive Wednesday when he was suffocated under a collapsing 20-foot wall of sand.

Witnesses said Broxon, a striking employe of the International Harvester Co., was at the May Sand and Gravel Co. pit shoveling sand into a two-wheel trailer when the pile started to crumble.

His wife, Violet, standing nearby, saw the slide start and shouted a warning. Broxon tried to flee, but was knocked down and buried under the avalanche. Employes of the gravel pit said he was dead when they reached him after 30 minutes of digging.

Whitley County School Enrollment Climbs To 3, 237 For Increase Of 78 Over Last Year

Enrollment in Whitley County schools for the 1955-56 school year is 3,237, according to figures released by principals of the 10 schools to the office of Harry Yoder, county superintendent of schools. The figure represents an increase of 78 over the final enrollment during last year, not counting the 55 high school students who transferred from Washington Center to Columbia City high school since the end of the last school year. Counting the 55, the total increase would be 133.

The final enrollment in the 10 county schools at the end of the 1954-55 school year was 3,159, representing 2,488 elementary students and 671 high school youths.

The present enrollment of 3,287 for this year is for 2,589 grade students and 639 high school students. The enrollment figure for elementary pupils is 110 more than for last year, while the high school total is only 32 below last year, even without the 55 Washington Center students.

The tabulations of the enrollment figures at the 10 schools compared with last year's total is shown below:

	El.	H.S.	T.	1954
S. Whitley	446	162	608	583
Col. Twp.	212	0	212	213
Etna-Troy	214	0	214	209
Jefferson	204	82	286	283
Larwill	215	140	355	327
Churubusco	457	197	654	633
Collins	114	0	114	117
Thorncreek	364	0	364	318
Coesse	193	58	251	254
Washington	179	0	179	222

The greatest enrollment increase at any one school was at Thorncreek where the number climbed from 318 to 364 for an increase of 46 pupils. Larwill went from 327 to 355 for an increase of 28; South Whitley rose 25 from 583 to 608; Churubusco shows an increase of 21 from 633 to 645; Etna-Troy went from 209 to 214 for an increase of 5; and Jefferson Center shows an increase of 3 from 583 to 586.

The biggest drops in total enrollment were at Coesse and Collins, both of which have three less this year. Coesse dropped from 254 to 251 and Collins went down to 114 from 117. Columbia township shows 1 less pupil having decreased from 213 to 212. Although Washington Center shows an over-all drop in enrollment from 222 to 179, the former figure represents high school students also, therefore the school actually has an increase of 16 elementary pupils over the 163 last year.

Adenauer Flies To Conference In Moscow

Expects To Achieve Little In Mission

MOSCOW (UP)— West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer arrived by plane today for five days of talks with Soviet leaders aimed at German unity and the release of 200,000 German prisoners.

Adenauer was met by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov.

He shook hands with the Russian leaders and chatted with them a few minutes.

After the welcoming ceremony the whole group was driven in limousines into Moscow, where the formal talks begin Friday.

In his farewell message at Bonn, Adenauer said he was going to Moscow with a pledge to serve the peace "not only in Europe but in the whole world."

Adenauer, who hopes to get Soviet approval of a united Germany and win the release of 200,000 German slave laborers, made it clear in talks with government leaders he expects to achieve very little in his historic mission.

But before his huge super-constellation took off from Wahn Airport for talks with leaders of the nation that has kept Germany divided since the war he issued this pledge:

"I am going to Moscow with the firm determination to d oall that is in our power to serve the cause of world peace."

The unprecedented trip by the 79-year old statesman was in reply to a Soviet invitation of June 7 to come to Moscow and "establish diplomatic, economic and cultural relations.' The talks last five days.

To Warn Russia

Government sources in Bonn said he wiuld warn the oviets bluntly that "normal" relations are impossible on the basis of the status quo and the continued division of Germany.

His price for diplomatic relations will be a public statement by the Soviets accepting the principle of German reunification and firm guarantees of a timetable by which this can be achieved.

In addition, he will warn that normal relations also are impossible as long as some 200,000 Germans, including about 9,000 prisoners of war, continue to be held in slave labor camps behind the

Council Reduces The 1956 Budget Figure By $9,582

Most Cuts Are Made In Office Requests

The Whitley County Council reduced the proposed 1956 budget figure by $9,582 at its meeting Wednesday in the Courthouse. The reduction calls for lowering of the amount appropriated by the County Commissioners from $276,668.50 to $267,085.50.

Most of the cuts were made in the amounts requested for various offices for salary and operating expense increases. However, the largest reduction is represented in the $2,200 from the budget for the County Home. A total of $3,000 had been asked for and the council recommended only $800. The $2,200 cut is the same as the amount of the additional appropriation requested for the remainder of this year, which was approved.

The council also approved the other additional appropriations as they were advertised recently. The $2,200 was for additional farm machinery at the County Home which was included under the additional appropriations of $3,821.25 requested for the county general fund. Other costs included in this amount are trustees salary, county commissioners' communication and transportation, Columbia township assessor's salary and the county coroner's assistant and communication and transportation.

The council also approved the additional appropriation of $62,000 for the Gravel Road Fund, the reduction in the equipment fund of $5,000, an additional appropriation of $62,590 for the county highway maintenance fund, and a reduction of $12,380 in the same fund, all for the balance of this year.

Another item reduced in the 1956 budget was a $900 request by the sheriff's department. The amount for prisoner's meals was cut $300 and the $600 requested for uniforms was disallowed entirely

The amount requested by the county agent's office was cut by $1,310. This is represented in a $660 cut in the agent's salary, $300 reduction for the office secretary the amount for extra help was pared by $200, and a request for an additional $150 for the county 4-H agent was denied.

The amount requested by the county coroner was cut by $720. The commissioners had appropriated $1000 and this was cut to $500. the per diem amount was lowered from $500 to $300 and the allotment for communication and transportation was cut from $220 to $200

The $600 which was appropriated to the probation office to help pay the secretary in the county superintendent of school's office was set aside, since her salary will be paid entirely by the latter office funds.

The recommended salary of the Courthouse custodian of $3,000 was cut to $2,500; the county commissioners' salary request was cut from $4,788 to $4,500 for a $288 reduction; a $120 reduction was

Passenger Plane Crashes Shortly After Takeoff

At Least 3 Persons Killed, 25 Injured

BURBANK, Calif. (UP)—A DC3 Currey Air Transport passenger plane believed carrying 30 persons crashed shortly after takeoff at Lockheed Air Terminal today.

At least 3 persons were killed and 25 injured, police reported.

The plane was identified by the control tower as a non-scheduled airliner which took off for Oakland, Calif., at 8:40 a.m. Airport control authorities said the plane's pilot radioed seven minutes after takeoff that the plane was having "a little trouble and am turning back."

The two-engine plane attempted its landing but fell short of the runway by about 200 yards. It crashed into two Air Force C54s and then smashed into a maintenance hangar operated by the Lockheed Aircraft Service Co.

One of the victims was an employe of the service company. He tentatively was identified as Willie Malone. Another victim was identified as the plane's co-pilot, Keith Duson.

The plane burst into flames. Its nose broke off ad the fuselage was torn open.

Christ In Manger Plant In Bloom Wednesday Night

The "Christ in the Manger" or rare night blooming cerus plant belonging to Mrs. Herbert Wolfe opened Wednesday evening.

Both flowers started opening shortly after dark and were fully opened between ten and eleven o'clock. The flowers stay open only one night. Mrs. Wolfe, 205 Collinwood, stated that about 40 people came in to see the flower. She took the blooms off about midnight and placed them in the refrigerator to hold until today.

The leaves resemble lily leaves and the plant may grow to the ceiling. Mrs. Wolfe started the plant from a leaf four years ago.

About 20 white petals make up the flower corolla. They are about 2 inches in length. The petals are surrounded by many pinkish small round sepals forming the calyx.

Extending to the front is the white pistil surrounded by many pale yellow pollen bearing stamens which are thought to resemble the Child in the Manger. The stamen stems extend into the white throat of the flower.

Hoppe Sues The Government For Back Pay

Legal Battle To Prove He Was Fired For Political Reasons

By RICHARD E. MOONEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (YP)—A mystery man—alleged to be a top executive of the Internal Revenue Service—is expected to be a central figure in an ex-official's legal battle to prove he was fired for political reasons.

The ex-official, Edgar E. Hoppe, who formerly was chief policeman over Internal Revenue employes' behavior, has sued the government for almost $27,000 in back pay.

His lawyer charged Wednesday that Hoppe was dismissed from the tax service two years ago for refusing to "whitewash a critical, adverse report on a new political appointee'—the man whose identity is still unknown.

Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey immediately stepped into the fray with a sharp statement that Hoppe was fired for "incompetence . . . a belligerent attitude and disrespect for his superiors."

Humphrey ignored the talks of politics and whitewash. But Treasury sources denied Hoppe's allegations although they refused to permit use of their names.

While two congressional committee's prepared full inquiries of the Hoppe case, and others similar to it, Rep. Herman P. Eberharter (D-Pa), a member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said an investigation may be necessary to find out if the mysterious official is "as clean as a hound's tooth."

Hoppe's lawyer, John P. Witsil, said the official now holds "one of the highest ranking positions' in the tax service. His name will come out when Hoppe's salary suit reaches trial in the U.S. Court of Claims, Witsil said. He told newsmen the case might not be tried for a year. It was filed Aug. 19.

Workers Ordered To Return To Jobs At Studebaker

SOUTH BEND (UP) —Striking CIO United Auto Workers at the South Bend plant of the Studebaker-Packard Corp. were under orders today to return to their jobs next Monday.

Officials of the UAW issued the orders after meeting with officials of Studebaker Local No. 5 Wednesday in Detroit.

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, said the international union would enter negotiations with Studebaker Division of the corporation Tuesday.

Word of the return-to-work order caused the union to withdraw all its pickets from the gates of the plant where 9,000 UAW members normally work. The local scheduled a mass meeting for 10 a.m. Saturday to explain the international union's position in ordering the men back to their jobs.

Negotiations between the Packard Division of the corporation continued in Detroit, meanwhile.

The UAW and Studebaker negotiated until last Friday, when the company refused to go on because the strike was not approved by the international union.

Local No. 5 officials went to Detroit to get approval but endorsement of their action was turned down.

They Threaten To Spread The Shipping Tieup

To Entire East And Gulf States

By PATRIC KCARR
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) —New York longshoremen kept the world's busiest port idle today and threatened to spread the shipping tieup to the entire East and Gulf Coasts if their grievances against the waterfront commission are not soothed.

The International Longshoremens Assn. (independent) called a meeting today to decide whether the 20,000 stevedores in New York would defy a court order to return to work.

Justice S. Samuel Di Falco issued the temporary restraining order Wednesday night outlawing the walkout and ordering the men to return to their jobs.

The order was handed down at the request of the 170 shipping companies in the New York shipping Assn. The employers also sought 10 million dollars damages from the dock union, charging the walkout violates the current union-management contract. A hearing on the case was scheduled for Friday.

Grievances With Commission

ILA officials admitted their grievances were not with shipping companies but with the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission.

Capt. William V. Bradley, ILA president, indicated his men would not return to work unless the governors of the two states appointed an impartial public committee to investigate their grievances against the commission.

Both Gov. Averill Harriman of New York and Gov. Robert B.B Meyner of New Jersey thus far have refused to act on the request.

The ILA walkout had effectively cut waterfront activity to a trickle within a few hours after stevedores and ten passenger liners lay idle at their berths. The freighters were unable to load or unload. Passengers disembarked from the liners but were forced to carry their own trunks and suitcases.

Same Tactics Used

Philadelphia, Boston and Baltimore longshoremen employed the same tactics today New York stevedores used so effectively Wednesday. Few ships were expected to enter or leave these ports until ILA officials gave their men a "go ahead" signal to return to work.

Spokesmen for longshoremen at New Orleans, and Galveston, Tex., said they were awaiting orders and would walk off their jobs if the word came. Canadian longshoremen, members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Union, said there was no danger of a strike in Canadian ports but a spokesman said union men would refuse to unload ships diverted there by the United States tieup.

Coaches Of Eagles Football Opponents Give Away No Secrets At Kiwanis Club Meeting

Representatives of six of Columbia City high school's 1955 football opponents gave away no secrets about their teams as they spoke Wednesday night before a Kiwanis Club audience, which included Leonard Barnum and Dick Duffield, Eagle coaches.

Duffield, program chairman for the night, had invited all of the coaches and principals of the nine schools on the local high school's football schedule this fall. Representatives came to the get-together from Nappanee, Fort Wayne Concordia, New Haven, Bluffton, Kendallville, and Warsaw. Coaches and principals from Huntington, Decatur and Garrett were unable to attend the get-acquainted meeting.

Most of the men told very little about their football teams, as would be expected with both Duffield and Barnum present with notebooks ready. Most felt their teams were not up to par, but that they expected to give the Eagles a "scrap" when the two teams met.

Nappanee Rebuilding

Bob Courtney, coach at Nappanee, Columbia City's Friday night opponent, stated that he has eight returning lettermen, who are expected to form the nucleus for his team. He said that the school was in the midst of a rebuilding program for future football seasons. He spoke very briefly, since he appeared first on the program, and didn't "want to reveal any secrets" which might help the local team Friday night.

Fort Wayne Concordia, the Eagles' opponent September 16, was represented at the meeting by By Hey, assistant football coach, substituting for Bill Cook head coach for the last three years. This is Concordia's first year in the Northeastern Indiana Conference. Hey said that the school had formerly played a tough schedule while meeting the stronger Fort Wayne teams and that they expect to win more games this year.

Hey cited reports by newspapers in the area that Columbia City along with Garrett is favored to win the conference championship. New Haven has been the big power in the conference the last few years.

The Concordia coach revealed that the team has 11 returning lettermen, will have tall ends and four experienced backs, including a rugged fullback.

'Watch Out For Kids'

The Safety committee of the Columbia City Junior Chamber of Commerce is beginning a year's program of safety planned to make citizens of this community more alert to the dangers involved in driving a car, riding a bicycle, or just plain walking.

The local committee is working with law enforcement authorities in carrying out its program and is also participating in a statewide Jaycee safety program, "Watch Out For Kids." A part of the "Watch Out For Kids" program is the following poem which was released by the state Jaycee organization.

A DRIVER'S PRAYER

Dear Lord,—before I take my place
Today behind the wheel,
Please let me come with humble heart
Before thy throne to kneel—

And pray, that I am fit to drive
Each busy thoroughfare.
And that I keep a watchful eye
Lest some small child be there

And keep me thinking constantly
About the Golden Rule,
When driving past the playground zones
Or by some busy school.

Then, when I stop to give someone
His right to cross the street,
Let me—my brother's keeper be
And spare a life that's sweet.

Please make me feel this car I drive
You gave me to enjoy,
And that it's purpose is to serve
Mankind—but not destroy.

Adenauer

Iron Curtain.

Another important matter for Adenauer was Germany's eastern frontier. For the time being it is on the Oder-Neisse line, with German territory east of that annexed by the Soviet Union and Poland.

Moscow gave a strong indication German unification would not even be cnsidered now. An editorial in the Communist newspaper Pravda strongly indicated this was not considered a major topic of the talks.

Unity For Neutrality

Adenauer fears the Soviets will offer unity and the release of the prisoners in exchange for the Bonn republic's abandonment of rearmament and the Western alliance and agreeing to a "neutral" status such as that accepted by Austria.

Government officials said the chancellor would flatly reject any such proposals and would tell the Kremlin leaders there was no hope of seducing West Germany out of her alliance with the free West.

Adenauer met with his cabinet and with the Bundestag (lower house)Foreign Affairs Committee Wednesday and warned them not to expect too much — that the main significance of the trip was that it was the first direct contact with Soviet leaders.

Republican State Chairmen Bone Up On How To Win

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republican state chairmen, sobered by an experts warning they can throw away the 1956 election despite the popularity of President Eisenhower, boned up today on how to win.

In the second day of a four-day campaign school here, they called in one adviser after another for counsel on such techniques as precinct organization, purchase of TV and radio time, door-to-door fund raising, and how to make best use of the candidate's "advance men."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, addressing the group at lunch, was expected to add his plea for a hard-hitting GOP campaign, starting now, more than a year before the election. Nixon also was expected to reassure the state party officials on what they most wanted to hear: That President Eisenhower — in his opinion — will run.

Without an exception the party officials seemed firmly committed already to that assumption. Only under prodding by newsmen would they even discuss other candidates and generally they also had taken the view they would not need to worry much about getting the President re-elected.

That, warned campaign expert Murray Chotiner, is the kind of thinking that elected Democrat Harry S. Truman in 1948, when Republican Thomas E. Dewey was considered a shoo-in.

Chotiner, a Los Angeles attorney who successfully managed Nixon's campaigns for the Senate in 1950 and for vice president two years later, told the group Wednesday Mr. Eisenhower is the best qualified and most popular candidate they could pick. He said an Eisenhower ticket unquestionably will win — providea they do their part in organizing a campaign aimed at picking up every possible vote.

Miss Alabama Has Head Start In Miss America Contest

By HARMON W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

ATLANTIC CITY (UP) — Miss Alabama, Patty Byrd Huddleston, got a head start in the Miss America contest for a nickel.

Lily Mae Caldwell, her dear pal and sponsor from the Birmingham News, learned that the pretty brunette was coming down with a bad cold. And that meant trouble, because Wednesday night when Patricia was supposed to give out with her rendition of Verdi's Mio Dio from "La Forza Del Destino,' and she was hurting in the throat.

"That child couldn't get up a whisper, much less come up with some opera," Lily Mae said.

So the lovely Lily Mae took the nearest elevator and bought herself a nickel's worth of aspirin.

Came Through Famously

Pat came through famously. She won in the talent section in the first night of the judging.

Her twin in the deal was Miss Hawaii, something of a surprise, unless you had seen her in person before. How could the kid miss? She didn't.

She won the swim suit award the first night.

Miss Hawaii is Barbara Vieira of Honolulu and she had the perfect make-up — 130 pounds, 36 bust, same around the hips and a 24-inch waist.

Barbara was thrilled to pieces that she got as far as she did in the Miss America Pageant.

"I was lucky to get here in the first place," she said.

Danced With Broken Toe

Margaret Walls, Miss Wisconsin, played something of a heroine when she did a toe tap routine Wednesday night despite a broken toe. She broke the toe in the finals in Milwaukee and forgot to tell anybody about it. A reporter who had no business back stage asked her to remove her slipper. And there was one of the blackest toes in show business.

The kids will do some more of the same tonight and Friday night, and the big winner will be named Saturday night — picked from 10 semi-finalists. She will have herself a long ride — 125,000 miles most likely and every mile will be worth at least two bits or more.

An old shoe horn with the lower edges sharpened can be used to cut corn from the cob quickly, since it curves neatly around the cob.

Panther Fights To The Death To Save His Mate

CHICAGO (UP)—A gallant black panther aging but still full of jungle courage, fought to the death with five lions to save his mate at the Brookfield Zoo.

Visitors watched in horror on Wednesday as Snowball, a 12-year old panther from Sumatra, sprang at five lions who had been let into his cage by mistake.

Snowball never had a chance. A single blow from a huge lion's paw broke his back and he was dead within moments. But his mate, spitting fury from a ledge in the cage, was unharmed.

The lions were in the panthers' cage for only eight minutes before zoo attendants, using bars, poles, and streams of water, forced them from Snowball's mangled body.

Fought For Mate

Zoo Director Robert Bean said Snowball apparently sprang into battle to save the life of his mate and himself.

A fluke of chance led to Snowball's death. He and his mate had been moved from their regular cage while it was being cleaned. Ten minutes before feeding time, keeper Cecil Aldridge, 37, let the five hungry lions into the cage.

Snowball and his mate were lying on a ledge when the big cats stalked in.

The panther tensed, his muscles standing out under his sleek black coat. His long tail twitched.

Then in a single, graceful lunge of split - second fury, Snowball leaped at the advancing lions.

Dead Within Seconds

Snowball went down under two of the lions. Then the others sprang on him with vengeful claws. The panther was probably dead within seconds, witnesses said.

Snowball was past his prime. Raised in the Sumatra jungle, he was brought to the suburban Brookfield Zoo with his mate in 1946 at the age of three. Now, at the moment of hs last battle, he was 12 years old — the equivalent of a 60-year old man.

The lions were young and husky. Each one weighed about 300 pounds to Snowball's 175. Their average age was four or five years —equivalent to a 30-year old man in the prime of life.

Snowball was a beautiful beast, despite his age. His species is known as a black leopard, although it is commonly referred to as a black panther. His body was practically coal black.

Council

made in the request for the county jail matron and the $300 increase requested for the deputy county clerk was denied, as was a $200 request for auditor's office supplies.

The county attorney's salary request was cut from $800 to $600 to remain the same; the amount for examination of records by state officials and official bonds were each cut from $1,500 to $1,200, and the budget for all township assessors was cut to allow $10 per day instead of $12.

The council also recommended a $300 reduction in the salary of the county superintendent of schools, however this is merely a gesture since the superintendents' salary is set by the County Board of Education.

All other items in the proposed 1956 budget were approved by the council. This includes the highway department, which has $8,000 earmarked for marking of county roads. The hospital bond cost estimated at $23,820 was approved, as was $315,340 for maintenance of the hospital, $120,675 for county welfare, and $22,716 for the cumulative bridge fund.

The council also approved an appropriation providing for hiring of a home demonstration agent in the county, which Whitley county does not have. It sets up $1200 for salary, $400 for extra clerical help $500 for communication and transportation, and $275 for office equipment. The State will also provide some of the necessary money for hiring of the new agent.

With all the $9,500 recommended reduction by the council, the civil county budget still calls for about $50,000 more than the 1955 amount and will mean an increase of tax rate from the present 40 cents to about 50 cents. Including the additional 28 cents for the welfare, hospital maintenance, cumulative bridge, and 4-H club fund requests, the over-all county tax would be about 78 cents, or 12 cents higher than this year.

Canary birds were named for the Canary Islands.

Fort Ticonderoga Honored By Stamp

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today that a special 3-cent stamp to commemorate the Bicentennial Anniversary of Fort Ticonderoga will be first placed on sale at Fort Ticonderoga, New York, September 18.

The stamp will be issued in sheets of fifty. The color of the stamp will be sepia.

The central design of the stamp incorporates a plan of Fort Ticonderoga, as established by Vauban, a figure of Ethan Allen, and artillery. The frame consists of a light background on which appears the lettering "Bicentennial" in script, on the left side, "Fort Ticonderoga" in two tone Roman across the top, "1755 - 1955" in script on the right side, and "United States Postage" also in two tone Roman, across the bottom. The denomination "3c" in white face Roman appears in a dark square panel in each of the four corners.

U. S. Air Force Checks Training It Gives Airmen

To Familiarize Them With Its Brainwash Technique

By PAUL SOUTHWICK
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force today checked into training it gives airmen to familiarize them with "brainwashing" techniques to find out if it is "too realistic."

It acted after Newsweek Magazine published a hair - raising account of training at a "brainwashing" school operated by the Air Force in the desert outside Reno, Nev.

The magazine said officers and men at the school are subjected to conditions which rival those at Communist prisons in Korea. It told, among other things, of 36-hour interrogation sessions, forcing men to stand in holes shoulder-deep in water and subjecting trainees to a steel "sweat box" and a tight "coffin" which imprisons them flat on its gravel bottom.

Commandant Summoned

The Air Force summoned Col. Burton E. McKenzie, commandant of the school, to the Pentagon to explain whether the training course is "too realistic" or the magazine article is "too strong."

Newsweek later said its account had been cleared by the Pentagon. 29,000 men who have gone through the school have protested. All, it was said, have agreed that the training is necessary because war "has lost its last touches of humanity."

Other branches of the armed services have set up similar schools as a result of Communist treatment of prisoners of war in Korea and President Eisenhower's stiff new "code of conduct" for U. S. servicemen.

Newsweek told of one "young and frail" lieutenant at the Air Force school who "collapsed on the ground and cried" when he was let out of a little wooden shack after hours of interrogation punctuated by a series of electric shocks.

Practice Survival

After introductory courses, the magazine said, students are turned loose in the Sierra Nevada Mountains to practice survival on two and one-half days rations. They are ordered to evade "capture." Those who do not are taken on a "death march."

Newsweek said that even the lectures which open the courses are "not for restless stomachs."

"Sample advice for life after capture: maggots contain valuable proteins and should not be removed from food; rats should be eaten ('the meat is as good as youll get'), but their heads contain poison and must be discarded: dysentery can be treated by burning a bone (including one from a human corpse) and consuming the ashes for their calcium content."

Israel And Egypt Are Expected To Maintain Cease-Fire

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United States urged the United Nations Security Council today to make it clear to Israel and Egypt that it "expects" the two countries to maintain a cease-fire in Palestine.

As the 11-nation council opened a critical session on the Holy Land situation, Russia launched and lost its usual challenge to Nationalist China's right to preside.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. welcomed the acceptance by both Israel and Egypt to the appeal of Palestine truce supervisor Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns of Canada for a cease-fire along the disputed Gaza Strip in southern Palestine.

"We must make clear, however," he said, "that the Security Council . . . expects that the case-fire will this time be maintained. . .

"The parties urgently need an agreement in their own interest, and we propose that the council call upon them to appoint representatives to meet with the chief of staff (Burns) at once, and to cooperate fully with him."

The United States, Britain and France proposed to the council a resolution calling upon Israel and Egypt to accept Burns proposals for maintaining border peace, including erection of a barbed wire barrier along the frontier and restraint of forces at least 500 meters from the demarcation line.

Last year an estimated 150,000,000 frozen chicken pies were eaten in the United States, and this year, say frozen food processors, it will be 250,000,000.

Turkey Takes Steps To Prevent Repeat Of Riots

Statement Made To NATO Council

PARIS (UP) — Turkey assured the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today that it has taken all necessary stesp to prevent a repetition of the anti-Greek riots which threatened the West's defense plans in the Mediterranean.

The Turkish statement was made as the NATO council met in secret session to debate the dynamite-laden relations of Greece and Turkey.

It came as Foreign Ministry sources in Athens reported the Greek government had instructed its delegate to ask today's conference to postpone the forthcoming NATO naval maneuvers. The sources said the Greeks also were considering a similar request with regard to the pending Balkan chiefs of staff conference in Ankara.

Ismay Hars Rports

Nato Scretary General Lord Ismay called today's meeting of the council to hear reports from both sides in the rioting which occurred in Greece and in Turkey in the past two days over the critical Cyprus issue.

It was feared the breakdown Wednesday of British - Turkish-Greek talks in London over the future of the critical Mediterrane-NATO alliance.

However, despite attacks by Turkish mobs on Greek officers at NATOs southeastern headquarters in Smyrna, Athens ordered its representatives to remain on the job and rejected press suggestions that it withdraw from NATO.

Mehmet Ali Tiney, Turkish delegate to the NATO council, delivered his country's pledge of future order in a personal report to the 15 member nations.

No communique was issued after the 75-minute secret meeting. But well-informed sources said Tiney announced his government had taken all steps it considers necessary to prevent another outbreak.

Asks NATO Safeguard

Greek Vice Premier Panay Altis Canellopopolous had announced previously that Greece would ask NATO to safeguard the lives of some 50 Greek officers, men and their families at the Izmir headquarters of Allied ground forces of southeastern Europe.

The council heard a report sent by U.S. Lt. Gen. George W. Reed, commander of the Izmir headquarters, saying the entire command was functioning "normally." This was taken to indicate that Greek personnel who had not been evacuated were receiving adequate protection.

Meanwhile, Greek Foreign Minister Stephan Stephanopoulos said in London his government would pursue by all peaceful means the right of Cyprus to have self-determination.

Drunk

PASSAIC, N.J. (UP)—Raymond McGillick denied his wife's charges Thursday that he got drunk and struck her during an argument.

"She goes by the number of beer cans she finds in the garbage," he said. "When she finds enough, she decides I'm drunk.'

Magistrate H. Dick Cohen fined him $25 anyway.

Cleveland Indians Have Pair Of 'Bouncers' To Keep Contenders From Crashing Top Spot

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The cocky Cleveland Indians have come up with a pair of professional "bouncers" to take care of any club that may have a notion to knock them out of first place.

The two pros who are doing all the heavy work for the Indians are Larry Doby and Early Wynn.

Doby took care of all the hitting Wednesday night, driving in four runs against Baltimore with a pair of homers, while Wynn took care of the pitching with a nifty five-hitter in a 6-0 victory over the Orioles.

When Doby and Wynn were through moppin gu,pet hIna dsniR through mopping up, the Indians still were a half-game ahead of the second-place Yankees, who defeated the Athletics, 2-1, and 1½ games ahead of the third-place White Sox, who eked out a 4-3 decision over the Senators.

Posts 200th Triumph

Wynn, in registering his 16th victory of the year and his sixth shutout, posted the 200th triumph of his career. The only other active major leaguer with over 200 victories is teammate Bob Feller, who has won 266.

Southpaw Whitey Ford of the Yankees hurled his second straight one-hitter to beat Kansas City. Only Jim Finigan's looping double to right field with two out in the seventh inning deprived Ford of a no-hitter.

Dixie Howell, the workhorse of the White Sox pitching staff, had to be summoned from the bullpen in the ninth inning to save Jack Harshman's victory over Washington.

The Red Sox hopped on rookie Jim Bunning for five runs in the first two innings and went on to defeat the Tigers, 7-4. Frank Sullivan was credited with his 17th victory although he needed relief from Ellis Kinder after Frank House homered with one on in the ninth.

Pennant Tie Cinched

The Dodgers cinched at least a tie for the National League flag by licking the Braves, 3-1. Another Brooklyn victory over Milwaukee today will enable the Dodgers to clinch the pennant on the earliest date in league history. They set the current record when they won the 1953 flag on Sept. 12 of that year.

Righthander Bob Friend of the Pirates turned in the second one-hitter of the day in beating the Cubs, 2-0. Frank Baumholtz infield single in the fourth inning deprived Friend of the first perfect game since 1922 as the Pirate hurler struck out eight and walked nary a man.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli, who was suspended during the weekend for "insubordination" and then reinstated, pitched the Giants to an 8-2 victory over the Cardinals.

A fine relief job by Johnny Klippstein helped Cincinnati to a 6-3 victory over Philadelphia. Klippstei held the Phils to one hit over the last 6½ innings after succeeding Art Fowler.

Hack To Manage Cubs Again In 1956

CHICAGO (UP)—Stan Hack, one of the most popular players ever to wear a Chicago Cub uniform, today had some good news from the people who really count—the front office.

Hack, who has a chance to pilot the Cubs to their best season since 1592, was signed Wednesday to manage the Cubs again in 1956. Terms of the new contract were not announced, but it was believed that Hack got a raise of some kind.

Hack said only that he was "very satisfied" with the pact.

The Cubs finished seventh last year under Hack and most baseball experts predicted a like finish —or worse—this season. But Hack maintained the club would finish fourth.

The Cubs still have a chance to climb into the first division, but it would take a whirlwind finish to beat out the Phillies or Giants.

If the Cubs wind up at the top of the second division, it will be the highest they've finished since 1952 when they won 77 and lost 77 to finish fifth.

Hack became manager of the Cubs in the spring of 1954, after owner P. K. Wrigley dropped Phil Cavarretta because of a "defeatist" attitude.

Coach Tim Campbell Dies Wednesday

FRANKLIN, Ind. (UP)—Tim Campbell, who twice led Indianapolis Tech teams to the finals of the Indiana High School basketball tourney, died late Wednesday at the age of 62.

Campbell was coach of Tech's 1929 finalists, the first Capital City squad ever to get that far, and repeated in 1934.

A native of Johnson County, Campbell was graduated from Franklin College where he was an outstanding baseball player, and received a master's degree from Indiana University.

He began his coaching career at Shelbyville High School in 1914, and went to Tech in 1928. He later joined the Franklin High School faculty and piloted the Grizzly Cubs to the semi-finals of the state tournament in 1946.

He has been a Franklin High School teacher and director of the Franklin Boys Club since 1941.

Famechon-Galiana Bout In October

PARIS (UP)—Ray Famechon of France and Frederic Galiana of Spain will meet for the featherweight championship of Europe sometime in October at the Palais de Sports. The match was announced Wednesday but the exact date of the bout is pending.

tor at New Haven, represented that school, Columbia City's opponent for its first home game September 23. Armstrong said very little about his team, except that he did not expect it to be as strong as in the past years. He said the coaches were very optimistic about future years, because of a large squad of freshmen.

Armstrong explained that New Haven also has junior high school football. He said that 85 boys came out this fall, but only 35 football uniforms were available. He lamented the fact that many of them never play varsity football, because they have to get jobs to pay for cars which they purchase.

The New Haven man said that Columbia City teams are always respected because of their record for "hitting hard."

Fred Park, principal at Bluffton, spoke for that school's football team, "which has always been in our hair," according to Duffield. Park verified this by saying that a review of past games revealed that the two teams had always played close contests.

Kendallville Asks Mercy

Park said that he could tell very little about Bluffton's 1955 football squad, except that there were 16 returning lettermen. After hearing the other representatives speak of lines averaging 180-200 pounds, Park said that Bluffton would have a line averaging about 161 pounds and backs of about 165 pounds making up the starting eleven.

O. O. "Pop" Guymon, Kendallville athletic director, appealed for mercy after hearing most of the coaches discuss heavy lines and backs. The school has had football for only three years, since dropping it several years ago. This is also its first year in the NEIC.

Guymon said that the boys on the Kendallville squad are small, and that the coach has to choose "juniors and seniors in order to have boys big enough to fit the uniforms." This year, however, he said the squad is young, consisting of mostly freshmen and sophomores. He said the team which will oppose Columbia City October 14 will have seven lettermen, but only about three of them saw much action last year.

Dick Barr, basketball coach at Kendallville, also was a visitor at the meeting, but he did not say anything about his prospects.

The Eagles' season ending opponent October 26 at home is Warsaw, represented at the coaches get-together by Frank Sanders. The Warsaw football team lost its first game last Friday night 36-6 to Plymouth, which Sanders described as "a rugged outfit." About his own team, Sanders said that 22 lettermen graduated last year. However, he has good prospects from an undefeated freshman team of last season. The Warsaw team plays this week at Wabash a team which has been shut out twice and will be "hungry" for victory, he said.

Barnum Answers

Since Barnum was the last of the coaches to speak, he had a chance to answer some of the "sob stories" given by some of the opponent schools' representatives. Barnum was frank about Columbia City's prospects, much more so than any of the other men.

He explained that the Eagles expect to have a heavy and good line from the 10 returning lettermen. In the backfield, Barnum said, Wright and Deutsch will be boys to be stopped. Wright he described as a hard runner, difficult to stop, while Deutsch is fast "and can run around you."

Barnum answered a complaint put forth by one or two of the visitors about having a transportation problem of getting rural football prospects to and from practice. He explained that only three of the front-line men on the Eagles' team this year live in the city.

All of the coaches and principals commended the idea of the get-acquainted meeting. They expressed the wish that some organization would sponsor a similar meeting in their own home towns.

Carmen Basilio Defeats Gil Turner

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio declared today, "I want a shot at the middleweight title if the match can be made."

He said Wednesday night's strong finish against middleweight contender Gil Turner convinced him he has a "good chance" to win the 160-pound crown.

In his second non-title bout since winning the 147-pound championship in June, Carmen wound up Wednesday night with a majority decision over Turner of Philadelphia. It was a thrilling 10-rounder before 4,676 at War Memorial Auditorium.

Carmen weighed 150¾ pounds; Turner, 151.

They turned in a thriller-diller fight. Each was knocked back onto his heels several times during the terrific exchanges. And Turner was half-groggy in the 10th. There were no knockdowns. Carmen, unbeaten now in 14 bouts, registered his 47th victory in 65 fights. But he finished with a three-stitch gash over his right brow and a slight cut under each eye. Turner's left brow was nicked. Gil, 24, suffered his ninth loss in 58 bouts.

Bob Brannum Is Quitting Basketball

BOSTON (UP)—Bob Brannum, former University of Kentucky basketball star and a four-year National Basketball Association player with the Boston Celtics, has called it a career. Brannum said he is quiting basketball to take a job as a sales representative for a candy company.

School Cancels Games Due To Polio Outbreak

APPLETON, Wis. (UP)—Little Lawrence College has withdrawn from football competition in the Midwest Conference because of the polio outbreak in this area but will play five of its scheduled eight games. The school already has cancelled games with Monmouth, St. Olaf and Coe Colleges.

Bob Mathias On Way To Cork

DUBLIN (UP)—Bob Mathias of Tulare, Calif., winner of the decathlon in the 1948 and 1952 Olympic Games, was on his way to Cork today to start a series of athletic lectures in different parts of the country.

Wheat Farmers Should Observe Fly Free Date

September 24 Is Date, Population High

"Follow the fly-free date this fall when sowing wheat, "advises J. J. Davis, head of the entomology department at Purdue University.

Serious damage to wheat was caused by the Hessian fly in many parts of Indiana, especially in the southwestern quarter, this year. Hoosier farmers can aid in the prevention of the "fly" next year by seeding the crop after the established fly-free date.

According to Davis, the situation this season was unusual and not a direct result of failure of wheat growers to adopt the recommended date of sowing. All damage resulted from infestation in the spring. An abundance of volunteer wheat in some areas permitted the fly to build up to large numbers last fall and provide a high population to infest the wheat this spring. In other cases the dry weather prevented fly emergence last fall and permitted carry-over until this spring when the fly emerged and infested wheat.

Yields Better Too

Davis disclosed that the best date to sow wheat to avoid Hessian fly damage has also proved the best time to seed wheat for the highest yields.

Prior to 1920, the Hessian fly caused serious losses to wheat in Indiana on an average of every other year. Since the general adoption of the fly-free date, about 1930, very little damage occured until this year.

Since the Hessian fly population is now greater than usual it is highly important that wheat growers adhere to the fly free date this fall, Davis warns.

In 1911, the Purdue entomologist inaugurated date of sowing experiments from Michigan to Tennessee and east and west from Ohio and Missouri. These tests were continued for ten years and from the 30-plus experiments, the fly free date was established. These dates proved best for yields, according to agronomists, regardless of the fly.

September 24 is the fly-free date for Whitley County.

Two More Greenlease Bills Discovered

CHICAGO (UP)—Two more bills from the Bobby Greenlease ransom money have been discovered in Chicago, bringing to 15 the number unearthed in recent weeks, it was disclosed today.

The bills mostly have been found in a check over currency in banks in the Midwest. A Quincy housewife found one.

Authorities Ask Mother Of Emmett Till To Testify

SUMNER, Miss. (UP)—Mississippi authorities today asked the mother of Emmett Till to testify at the trial of two white men charged with the "wolf whistle" murder of the 14-year old Negro boy.

Dist. Atty. Gerald Chatham said he would send a telegram today to Mrs. Mamie Bradley, 33, of Chicago, promising her "any reasonable protection she might feel that she needs" if she will appear on the witness stand.

Chatham said he considered her testimony an important link in the state's kidnap-murder case against half-brothers Roy Bryant, 30, and J.W. Milam, 36, charged with slaying the boy for "insulting" Bryant's young wife.

Chatham said he also wanted to inform Mrs. Bradley of "my personal regret and the regret of the state concerning the unfortunate death of her son."

Chatham and C. Carlton Sidney, one of five defense attorneys, Wednesday said they wanted to begin trial as quickly as possible. Sidney said the defense will not try to gain any delays.

Holt Urges U. S. Crack Down On Russian Visitors

Will Wait For Reply To Vigorous Protest Over His Detention

By JAMES F. DONOVAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON UP) — Rep. Joe Holt (R-Calif) urged today that the United States crack down on Russians visiting this country unless the Soviet government explains satisfactorily why he was detained at gunpoint in Moscow on Aug. 31.

The 31-year-old Holt said he is willing to wait a reasonable time for a Soviet answer to the State department's "vigorous protest" over his detention by a Red army officer.

But if a satisfactory explanation and apology are not forthcoming, he said, the State department should take steps to curtail the freedom of Soviet delegations coming to this country.

As the matter stands now, he said, the exchange program between the two countries is strictly "a one-way street." He explained that Russians are allowed to see many things of interest in this country, while Americans in Russia "see only what they want us to see.'

Incident In Street

Holt, who spent 15 days visiting Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev, said the incident that provoked the American protest took place in a street in a Moscow suburb last Wednesday, the day before Holt left for the United States.

Accompanied by a staff member of the U.S. embassy in an embassy car, Holt tried unsuccessfully to obtain permission to take pictures of a Russian school.

Refused by the school authorites, he said, the two Americans returned to their automobile where a Red army lieutenant demanded their credentials.

Ordered From Car

Holt said he entered the auto but the lieutenant forcibly kept the embassy official in the street. The congressman said the lieutenant also ordered him from the automobile.

When he refused on the advice of the embassy official, Holt said, the lieutenant drew his revolver, cocked it, and pointed it at Holt's head as he repeated the order.

A Russian policeman made a half-hearted attempt at one point to persuade the army officer to permit the Americans to be on their way, Holt said. But he disappeared when the officer rejected his plea.

It was not until an English-speaking Red army colonel arrived Holt said, that they were allowed to drive off. The whole incident lasted about an hour, he added.

Milwaukee Now Rushes Plans For Emergency Shots

Of Gamma Globulin To Its Children

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Milwaukee County authorities, fighting the second polio epidemic in a major American city this year, today rushed plans to give emergency shots of gamma blobuiln to its children.

The National Foundation for Infantile paralysis announced late Wednesday that polio had reached epidemic proportions in Milwaukee.

It sent 700,000 shots of gamma globulin, a temporary polio preventive, to be used in protecting children in the city of Milwaukee and its suburbs.

Milwaukee Health Officer E.R. Krumbiegel, who had requested of the shots would be used to inoculate about 89,000 children between the ages of 1 and 9 in Milwaukee. The remaining 100,000 shots will go to suburban children.

The starting date for the mass inoculation program was not yet set. But the opening of the first to seventh grades of public and parochial schools, scheduled Wednesday, has already been postponed.

leading from Veracruz and Tampico. In Mexico City, where floods made 60,000 persons homeless, the search for bodies continued. There was no official count of the dead.

In California, the fight against forest fires centered around a number of small communities southeast of Yreka which were threatened by the advancing flames.

A new fire was burning near Greenview, a town of 200 persons. Meanwhile, 200 persons were evacuated in Santa Barbara County and 13 fires involving 107,650 acres of stateland were still blazing.

Glass Houses Have Big Noise Problem

CLEVELAND, O. — (UP) — Picture windows and glass block construction make American homes lighter than ever before. They also make them noisier.

Glass doesn't absorb sound waves: it bounces them in close-order echoes.

Sound engineers are stopped, at least for the moment, on the idea of making glass itselfsound absorbent. So they have been making every other part of the room surface that way. That includes floors, walls and ceilings, with the accent on ceilings.

Home decorators now put out sound-absorbent material in attractive colors and designs so they can be put up without further decorations, since paint cuts their usefulness.

Mystery Ship Believed Carrying Arms To Far East From Bulgaria

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Officials expressed hope today that U.S. authorities in the Far East can apprehend a mystery ship believed steaming to Communist Vietnam and Red China with arms from Bulgaria.

The United States, at the request of Panama, has agreed to search the ship when it arrives at Colombo, Ceylon, and notify the captain that Panama has cancelled the vessel's registry. The ship is the Katerina S, believed to be Greek-owned although it is flying a Panamanian flag.

There was some concern that the greeting being prepared at Ceylon might prompt the ship's master to divert it to another port for fueling.

Official Expresses Hope

"We hope it goes to a port where there is an American consul," one official told a reporter.

Once the ship's registry papers are withdrawn, the Katerina S will not be able to leave Ceylon unless the master tries "to make a run for it" illegally, officials said. The ship presumably would be held up until it gained permission to unload its cargo or return home.

A State department spokesman said the United States had entered the case for Panama in accordance with "common international practice" and at Panama's request. Officials said they had heard the arms shipment was to be unloaded at Haiphong, Communist North Vietnam, and at a Red China port.

Trouble Began At Suez

The ship's troubles began at Port Said, Suez Canal.

The State department said the suspicions of the Panamanian consul general at Port Said were aroused "when the master, during a routine inspection of the ship's papers, made conflicting statements regarding the ship's destination, and subsequently left port without appropriate clearance.'

Panama determined that the ship was bound for Haiphong, a Communist port, and promptly cancelled its registry. This action was in accordance with a Panamanian decree which prohibits Panamanian vessels from calling at Communist "or neighboring ports" in the Far East.

Farmers Object To Wheat Measurement, Court Gives Ruling

The United States District Court for the District of Maryland has upheld the right of county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee representatives to enter a farm and make wheat acreage measurements for the purpose of determining compliance with the farm's wheat acreage allotment when marketing quotas are in effect.

The court held that measurement is necessary to determine whether the wheat acreage on the farm is within the farm marketing quota, and whether 15 acres or less of wheat have been planted on the farm, for which there are special provisions and exemptions. In disposing of the case, the court ruled that constitutional rights were not infringed upon by the required measurement of wheat acreages.

The decision was rendered June 17, 1955, in a civil case brought by the United States of America against three Carroll county, Maryland farmers. An appeal has been taken and is on the fall calendar of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit.

The defendants raised 20 separate defenses and objected to much of the Government's evidence and most of the exhibits. However, the court sustained the Government's position in all respect.

4-H Commercial Beef Cattle To Be Auctioned

Sale At Briggs On September 26.

September 26 is the date set for the sale of 4-H Beef cattle fed by boys in eight Northeastern Indiana counties who are enrolled in the 4-H Commercial Beef Feeding Project.

The purpose of this feeding project is to give 4-H boys experience in all phases of cattle feeding business including purchase, finance, feeding, management, and marketing. The 4-H members between 15-20 years of age purchase 5 or more feeder calves. They keep records of their feed to determine cost, rate of gain and eventually profit or loss. The Albion Production Credit Association has been sponsoring this project again, as they have in the past.

The approximately 145 head of steers and heifers will be sold through the regular market channels at the Producers Auction Market at Briggs. The 4-H calves should be at the yards between 7:00 and 9:00 a.m. the day of the sale. Regular buyers will be contacted with a special invitation to the sale of these 4-H calves which will be sold for regular commercial slaughter.

Starting at 10:30 the morning of the 26th, a fat steer grading demonstration and a review of the 4-H summaries on the feeding of these calves will be held. Paul Mitchell, Purdue University, will be in charge of this demonstration and record summary review, with the sale in the afternoon along with the regular Monday Producers auction.

Sweepstakes Ribbons In Petunia Contest Awarded To Wilbert Worrick, Thirty Club

The Wilbert Worrick residence on the Raber road and the Thirty Club were awarded the sweepstakes rosette ribbons in the judging of the petunia plantings, Thursday.

The Worrick home received a total of 43 nominations for the best planting from interested backers who have appreciated the beauty of the petunias framing their home.

The Thirty Club received the sweepstakes ribbon in the commercial and industrial division.

Other commercial and industrial placings were: the Pence Cleaners at 445 South Line street the blue ribbon; the REMC, 115 South Line street the red ribbon and The United Telephone Company of Indiana, Inc. the white ribbon.

Honorable mention in the commercial and industrial division was given to the Whitley County Motor Sales; Blue Bell, Inc.; Dr. Heritier's offic ebuilding, and Columbia Products.

Other Home Placings

In the plantings in the residence division the Herschell King home fronting on "old" old 30, in the West Park division was awarded the blue ribbon, the Robert Weir home on the Squawbuck Road the red ribbon and the Paul Carver home at the northwest corner of the North and Elm street intersection the white ribbon.

Honorable mention in the home division was made to the home of Dr. Warren Niccum, 206 South Line street, and Kenneth Waugh home on the Squawbuck road and the Robert Leach home on North Main street in the North Park addition.

Nominate County, City Plantings

Nominations came in for the pink petunia plantings around the four walks leading to the main courthouse entrances, even though these had been cut. The city hall was also mentioned as well as the park and other city plantings.

The petunia plantings were judged by the courtesy of the Tri Lakes Garden Club. Judges were Mrs. Louis Schalk, Mrs. Roy Vail and Mrs. Lloyd White.

Tht flowers were judged on the basis of appearance from the street.

The judges suggested that if the project is continued for another year that the contest be held earlier when the petunias are at their peak of perfection. Many more plantings might have been nominated.

This year the nominations for petunia plantings were confined to the vicinity of Columbia City. If the project is used again it is hoped to include a larger area in the awards.

A "petunia trail" of plantings nominated as suggested in another article.

Exiled Sultan Ready To Help Restore Peace

To North Africa Says Moroccan Nationalist Leader

PARIS (UP) — A Moroccan nationalist leader reported today that exiled Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef was ready to help the French restore peace and order to North Africa.

Si Bekkai, former pasha of Sefrou, headed a delegation which flew to Madagascar this week to ask Ben Youssef if he approved Premier Edgar Faure's peace program of limited home rule for Morocco.

We found his majesty absorbed by the profound desire to reconciliate all Moroccans," Si Bekka said on returning here today.

Si Bekkai's statement sent hopes soaring that a settlement might still be brought about by Sept. 12 the deadline set by Faure.

A key step in Faure's program is to have the present sultan, Sidi Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa leave the throne vacant for a three-man regency council and a later representative national government.

Ben Moulay Arafa, put on the throne two years ago when the French ousted Ben Youssef, has shown little inclination to cooperate and has indicated he will continue to rule despite Faure's wishes.

New bloodshed was feared in Morocco. Native Anger rose sharply after civilian "vigilantes" shot and killed 6 Moroccans and wounded 15 others Thursday in reprisal against terrorists who threw a bomb at their truck in Casablanca.

Open rebellion broke out in the French National Assembly against Faure's plans for modified home rule in Morocco. Right-wing delegates called a council-of-war meeting today to try to stop his plans for ending the grave crisis.

Convicts Riot To Protest Firing Superintendent

Who Urges Tough Policy Against Rash Of Prison Outbreaks

By FRANK W. RALL
United Press Staff Correspondent

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP) — Nebraska Reformatory convicts set fire to the prison carpenter shop Thursday night to protest the firing of a superintendent who had urged a "get tough" policy against rioters.

About 75 of the 300 inmates rebelled only six hours after Superintendent George Morris had been ousted.

Newly - appointed Superintendent M. L. Wimberley, in office only a few hours, said the outbreak was put down within an hour and the fire was extinguished. There was no violence, he said.

Protest Morris Firing

The rebel convicts protested that the firing of Morris was a "raw deal."
